Planning Board Revises Proposed Zoning By-Law

The Planning Board has given preliminary approval to several changes in the proposed Zoning By-Law. The changes are designed to answer objections raised concerning Section Three on non-conformities.

After the changes have been drafted and reviewed by the town counsel, the Planning Board will publicize the revisions and invite discussion of them by the public.

Planning Board members met Tuesday evening, March 30, to give further study to several areas on the Zoning Map which have also been the cause of concern.

A Planning Board spokesman said that it "seems premature for citizen groups to organize for the sole purpose of trying to defeat a change in zoning."

"The town's old zoning law is outdated and inadequate in many ways," the spokesman declared. "The Planning Board believes that reasonable objections to the law as recommended can and will be met. It hopes that the many concerned citizens will examine the proposed changes constructively and be willing to join in supporting the badly-needed new Zoning By-Law."

The proposed Zoning By-Law will be considered at a Special Town Meeting. The date will be determined by how many more sessions of the Annual Town Meeting take place. Originally, the Planning Board had been looking toward an April 15th date for the Special Town Meeting. A later date will be set, however, as a result of the number of sessions being held for the Annual Town Meeting.

Increase Seen Locally In Need Of Scholarships

Gerard M. O'Brien, chairman of the finance committee of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, is directing the annual drive to meet the mounting needs for scholarship funds.

"Each year the requests for scholarship aid increase," he reports. "National interest requires that students of ability be encouraged to continue their education beyond high school. With the cost of such education increasing, and an ever larger high school enrollment, more and more youngsters require assistance," he states.

Last year a total of $28,570 was awarded in grants-in-aid to Winchester young people, including $7,700 in further aid to former graduates still in college or professional school. While the Foundation has some endowment from permanent gifts, upwards of two-thirds of the total awarded comes from annual donations. If this year's increased needs are to be met, annual giving must be increased.

"Awards are made only on the basis of need," Mr. O'Brien reminds.

He urges any interested citizens to help keep pace with the growing need by giving generously to the 1971 Scholarship appeal. Checks to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation may be sent care of the Winchester Trust Company.

New Winchester High 60 Percent Finished

The new concrete, brick, and steel Winchester High School is more than 60 percent finished.

Begun in March, 1970, the project is moving along rapidly and barring unforeseen work stoppages or material delays, the new Winchester High School is expected to be ready for occupancy by February, 1972.

When opened the school will accommodate 1,500 pupils in its 83 classrooms, library, cafeteria, auditorium, and gym. The total floor area is 278,918 feet.

Brickwork in all three instructional sections is complete and concrete block work is over 70 percent accomplished. Finish work, such as painting and acoustical ceilings, will begin in April.

The only negative factors encountered thus far are the early snow which delayed some of the roof work, a seven-week concrete strike which slowed progress of the job during last summer, and labor trouble at the manufacturers' which held up the receipt of aluminum windows for a while. Despite these obstacles construction of the building is on schedule.

Seventeen-ton steel trusses to span the gymnasium were delivered in three sections and have been welded together on the site. Each of the trusses has been put in place by two cranes and the steel roof decking is being installed.

Heat piping and plumbing are nearing completion. The boiler will begin supplying steam and hot water by mid-April. Temporary heat is installed in the academic and physical education sections in order to permit work to continue there.

Next steps in the plan call for the invitation of bids on movable equipment and playfield work. Most of the bids for fixed equipment have been awarded.

The resurfacing of the Shore Road extension connecting Spruce and Nelson Streets remains to be done and will be completed by the Highway Department. The Highway Department will also construct sidewalks on Skillings Road.

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien told the Selectmen that he hopes to put a slurry seal on Ridge Street, which should last about three years. The procedure would cost one-tenth what asphalt would cost, he explained. The Selectmen voted to advise Frank Burton of Superintendent O'Brien's plans.

The Selectmen will thank Metropolitan District Commissioner John Sears for the MDC's intention to install street lights on South Border Road.

Joseph E. Capone was appointed Sealer of Weights and Measures by the Selectmen.

Dr. E. William Johansen was nominated by the Selectmen as inspector of animals.

When the boys showed up at the start point on Saturday at 9 a.m., their leaders had secured canoes, tools, and life jackets for them. They were started out at intervals to work their way downstream. Eleven troops in the Musket District were involved: Troops 508, 503, 525, 506, and 507 from Winchester; Troops 519, 514, 504, and 500 from Woburn; and Troops 539 and 546 from Stoneham. In all there were 46 canoes launched, with 96 Scouts manning them. Another 37 Scouts walked along the banks of the river, cleaning up a number of seriously polluted areas that were hard to reach.

It is estimated that every year Americans junk seven million cars, 100 million tires, 20 million tons of paper, 28 billion bottles, and 48 million cans. For the Scouts, these statistics can be measured rather personally for the purpose of the Aberjona River Challenge was to make a dent in the accumulated litter.

At five dump points along the river, trash was turned in and tokens were given in return. For example, one token was given for each solidly-packed bag of junk. A half-token was awarded

Firefighters Praised For Their Efforts

The Board of Selectmen has received a letter commending the Fire Department from Dr. and Mrs. Steven Guzak of 172 High Street. Dr. and Mrs. Guzak wrote:

"On March 3, 1971, we witnessed first hand the efficiency of the Winchester Fire Department. A fire began in our upstairs bedroom and was quickly out of control. The Fire Department was notified. Their prompt response, professional and courteous handling of the situation was very gratifying. Chief Amico and his men deserve commendation."

"This experience demonstrated the rapidity with which a fire can spread. We are now more strongly in support of construction of the Ridge Street Fire Station. Had it been in use March third, the firemen would have arrived even sooner and surely further limited the damage."

In other business, the Selectmen voted to impose a five-dollar license fee on juke boxes. Leo Martin of Chicken Out of Winchester, Incorporated, 601 Main Street, had sought permission for a juke box in his restaurant.

Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly said that Commonwealth law permits municipalities to charge up to five dollars annually for such licenses. The board voted to advise a Washington Street donut store which has a juke box that licenses will now be required in Winchester.

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien told the Selectmen that he hopes to put a slurry seal on Ridge Street, which should last about three years. School Budget Under Study, Further Discussion Coming

Town Meeting Members will continue their discussion of capital expenditures under Article Nine as the ninth session of the 1971 Annual Town Meeting gets under way at 7:45 tonight, April 1, at Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium. An early end to Town Meeting appears unlikely, since the school budget remains for further discussion under Article Eight and 38 articles on the 47-article warrant have yet to be considered.

School Budget 6100 is being reviewed by the School Committee for later reconsideration by the Annual Town Meeting. Two nearly full evenings of discussion failed to win approval of Town Meeting Members of a $5,672,924 School Committee proposal. The Finance Committee had recommended a $5,966,959 budget, a difference of $105,965.

LWV Weighs Long-Range School Building Plans

The League of Women Voters has maintained a continuing interest in the problems and solutions of the elementary school-space problem facing Winchester. To this point the Education Committee of the League has prepared a report exploring five long-range elementary school building plans for this town.

In presenting the March, 1971, report the League stresses two points: first, that it does not attempt to present finished plans, "rather it enumerates a number of ideas which have been prevalent in the town for several years and which have never been fully explored or evaluated;" and secondly, that the League is "neither supporting nor opposing any of the programs or plans described in the report."

Discussion of the problem is timely as the Town slips into acceptance of the renovations schedule outlined in the May, 1970, preliminary report of the Elementary School Building Subcommittee of the Permanent Building Committee. The Special Town Meeting in January of this year approved the acquisition of land at the Washington School site and Articles 26 and 27 now facing the Annual Town Meeting are tangent to this proposal.

Members of the LWV Education Committee preparing the report are Catherine Fallon and Rose Holahan, co-chairmen; Barbara Dollase; Patricia Globus; Jane McClellan; Constance Stoll; Marlene Rothmann; and Nancy Weller.

The League has been following such developments in Winchester since 1963-1964 in the belief that the rising elementary school population necessitates some form of expansion. At the time that the Building Subcommittee is ready to present its finalized plans to the Town Meeting, the LWV data will be updated and a new League consensus sought on the merits of that final Subcommittee plan.

Space

In selecting these five particular plans the Committee cites that the only requirement used in including any plan was that adequate seats were actually available, according to the projected enrollment and capacity figures obtained from the Winchester School Department and the 1970 Progress Report of the Subcommittee, respectively. The possibility of year-round school use was not included as a sixth plan as the League Committee did not wish to "duplicate the efforts" of the Extended School Year Committee whose findings are available in its report.

The criteria used for each of the plans consists of educational,

Thursday

The Thursday evening session, March 25, of the Annual Town Meeting ended with speculation that the preceding three-hour discussion over the School Department budget "had barely scratched the surface." The only formal action taken was acceptance of Article 7 appropriating $9,000 for the installation of rip-rap at specific sites along the Aberjona River.

Article 7

Article 7 was approved on a second voice vote after Albert A. MacDonnell, chairman of the Park Commission, stressed that the Town "had no choice," either it would have to be responsible for the project or the State would undertake the work, while providing Winchester with the bill.

When questioned as to how the Town's compliance became mandatory, Mr. MacDonnell informed Town Meeting Members that approximately six to seven years ago the State Department of Public Works, Division of Inland Waterways, had done some dredging in the Aberjona. Through Chapter 91 this gave the DPW "power over the Aberjona forever."

When Winchester submitted the Davidson Park project to the State, it was put on a waiting list. The stipulation that rip-rap be installed was a new aspect of the license which was awarded for

Tabled for review by the School Committee Monday evening, March 29, at the request of Mrs. Harriet Dieterich, chairman, was Budget 6100—Schools. The School Committee had been seeking $5,672,924, while the Finance Committee had recommended a $5,966,959 budget, a difference of $105,965.

In other action, Town Meeting Members approved Budgets 6120—School Lunch, for $40,701; 6200—School Rentals, $11,495, and 2150—Interest on Temporary Loans, $40,000.

Tabled was Budget 6110—Athletics. Under Article Nine, Town Meeting Members rejected proposals to buy a front end loader for the Highway Department for $27,840, and a rescue truck for the Fire Department for $25,000.

Budget 6100—School
Budget 6100—School was tabled at the request of Mrs. Harriet Dieterich, chairman of the School Committee. She explained that her group "would like an opportunity to review the situation."

The Annual Town Meeting defeated a School Committee amendment which would have authorized a $5,672,924 budget, 129-59. This would have increased the budget $105,965 over the $5,566,959 recommended by the Finance Committee.

Town Meeting Comments

In presenting the two versions of the School Department budget Thursday night, School Committee member Stephen R. Parkhurst referred to himself as the "heavy in the budget drama" and as the "attorney for the defense," while Raymond J. Kenney Jr., chairman of the Finance Committee, greeted his turn to speak with "I thought you'd never ask."

An aspect of the dilemma facing Town Meeting Members in their choice of a School Budget was expressed Thursday night by Dr. Joel J. Alpert, Member from Precinct 4, as a "human element here which is immeasurable in the tax rate."

The invocation at the Thursday evening, March 25, session of the Annual Town Meeting was given by Clarence G. Feldmann, reader for the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

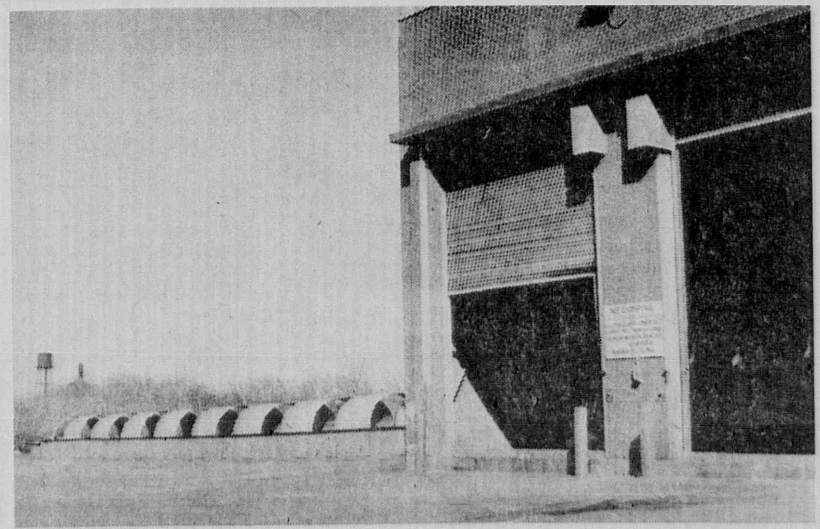

Those who have feared that youths might vote in a bloc could take reassurance, at least locally, from what happened at the Monday, March 22, session of the Annual Town Meeting. Two of the under-21 Town Meeting Members were on opposite sides of a Recreation Department budget issue. One, Robert P. Joyce of Precinct Six, favored some cuts. Another, Peter K. Tully of Precinct Two, supported the recommendations of the Finance Committee. Like their older colleagues, these younger Town Meeting Members are considering issues and, fortunately for the continuation of our traditions of government, sometimes coming up with differing viewpoints.

The School Department promptly filled the request of Town Meeting Members for information from the School Committee on compensation of professional school personnel. The complete report, asked for on Thursday evening, March 18, was in the hands of Town Meeting Members before the start of the Monday evening, March 22, session.

BEFORE repairs were made to the town incinerator Friday, March 26, this is how the surrounding area looked. The incinerator had gone out of order at 4 p.m. Tuesday, March 23. Parts ordered from a New York factory were flown to Boston and installed by Paul R. Gange, town incinerator foreman. (Ryerson photo)

AFTER incinerator personnel had worked extra hours cleaning up the rubbish, this is how the same area appeared. The incinerator was back in operation at 3:30 p.m. Friday, March 26. Persons taking rubbish to the dump Saturday found that the conveyor and pit were in operation, making it unnecessary to put any rubbish on the ground.

Following the service there will be a coffee hour in Gifford Hall, at which time the congregation will have an opportunity to meet Bishop Mathews.

Bishop Mathews was born in Pennsylvania and reared in Ohio and Texas. He was educated at Lincoln Memorial University, New York Theological Seminary, Boston University School of Theology, Cambridge University, and Columbia University.

After a brief pastorate in New York City, he became a missionary in India. During World War II, he was a major in the Army of the United States, serving in India.

Mr. Beckley Resigns From Town Meeting

Lawrence E. Beckley of Precinct Three has resigned as a Town Meeting Member with a criticism of abuses he believes are present in Winchester's Town Meeting system. In a letter to Mrs. Elsie Nelson, Town Clerk, Mr. Beckley wrote in part:

"I take this action with sincere regret. However, I have completely lost my patience with a Town Meeting system that continues to provide a forum, in the misplaced name of democracy, for the public harassment and ridicule of dedicated officers, department heads, and Town citizen members of boards and committees, giving hundreds of hours of uncompensated service to the Town of Winchester, and then adding insult to injury by squandering the further time of these people and the people of the entire town in the forced listening to statements of personal aggrandizement of certain of its members. I feel I can use my free time in better ways to serve my community.

"My resignation is in fact a challenge to the Town Meeting of Winchester to take the necessary action to prevent these abuses to its system and to restore the faith of the Town in its ability to carry out its responsibilities effectively and in the best interests of the Town," Mr. Beckley concluded.

Dean Has Had Long Career In Foreign Service

Dean Edmund A. Gullion of 3 McCall Road, whose office at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University was destroyed recently by firebombs, has had a long career in foreign service, including two and one half years as ambassador to the Republic of the Congo (Leopoldville) for the late President John F. Kennedy.

The $75,000, three-alarm fire started, according to investigators, when one or two Molotov cocktails were hurled into the building. Dean Gullion, director of the school, reported that flames destroyed a rare collection of first editions and a valuable tapestry.

Dean Gullion was born in Lexington, Kentucky. He is married to the former Patricia Palmer of Washington, D.C.

The dean is a graduate of Princeton University and the National War College.

He was chargé d'affaires at the American Embassy in Saigon from 1949 to 1952. From 1960, until being named ambassador the following year by the late President Kennedy he was acting director and deputy director of the United States Disarmament Administration. He was appointed dean at Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy in September, 1964.

Dean Gullion was quoted as telling Boston newspaper reporters that the bombing was "probably a political act."

The dean has made several trips to Vietnam at the request of President Richard M. Nixon. He supports President Nixon's Indochina policy, because, he said in a recent interview, "it is the only way for us to get out of Vietnam."

The college building was unoccupied at the time of the bombing. Dean Gullion's office door was locked.

The Heart Association, supported by the 1971 Heart Fund Campaign, which is being conducted here throughout February, estimates that more than 27,000,000 Americans suffer from some form of heart and blood vessel disease.

As a gesture of public service, and in keeping with the patriotic spirit that has been symbolic of Building #19 since its inception way back in the colonial days of 1964.

CARPETING

The builder of a large luxury apartment complex was looking for some very exclusive, very demanding tenants, so ordered his carpet from one of the country's oldest, most famous, most respected mills BUT after it was received and installed he realized that the color did not meet exact specifications. The mill had goofed. This carpet has been installed but never walked on. It's a beautiful multi-level, gold-colored fine quality nylon.

Why Is Bldg. No. 19 So Different?

1. I was dropped on my head when an infant.
2. We only carry genuine bargains at bona-fide savings. No regular goods at regular prices.
3. We sell everything with a 30 day satisfaction-or-your-money-back guarantee. The difference is that we mean it. Really!
4. Our atmosphere is more casual — to say the least!
5. Our prices are lower. Our merchandise comes from fire-stocks, freight claims, overstocks, etc. We pay less and consequently can sell it for less and still make a reasonable (heh! heh! heh!) profit.
6. Our employees are here to help you buy but not to sell you anything. They are pleasant and attentive, but not pushy and not on commission.
7. Customers are welcome not tolerated. They do us a favor when they visit our Elegant Emporium and we want them to feel at home. That's why we serve the complimentary coffee, post the humorous (we try!) signs and carnival mirrors, and make Harry wear that ridiculous moustache.

School Building Plans

operating costs in the long run." Under political advantages, the plan retains the traditional K-6 neighborhood schools.

An educational disadvantage is deemed in that a minimum of 10 years is necessary for this plan "to achieve equalized educational opportunity throughout the town." Economic problems are foreseen with construction of additions required at five sites; homotaking and subsequent costs involved at Mystic, Wyman, and Washington; "probable demolition and rebuilding of a completely new facility at Washington;" and tax rate impact.

Disadvantages in efficiency are found in a lack of provision for the long-range use of McCall and "according to the 1970 Elementary School Building Committee Progress Report, . . . of Parkhurst," that it does not fully utilize available space at Manchester Junior High (present Senior High).

Politically disadvantageous is homotaking at three sites. Since the plan would be difficult to abandon once begun and since a "no bussing" premise assumes predictable population growth patterns throughout the Town, the plan is felt to demonstrate some flexibility.

The K-6 neighborhood school: 6-9 junior high plan could be implemented in two stages. First, Mystic, Lincoln, Washington and Muraco would be converted to K-5 schools, while these sixth graders attended the newly renovated Manchester Junior High School. Mystic students would move into the empty McCall building and an addition large enough to accommodate some Lincoln pupils constructed. Lincoln would thereby be phased out, dividing its students between Muraco and Mystic.

Secondly, if the 6-9 junior high trial proved the plan workable, an addition to Lynch Junior High would be provided to meet West Side enrollment increases. All elementary schools would be converted to K-5.

The rationale for this plan finds educational advantages in that the K-5-6-9 configuration is acceptable to educators; modern facilities for Mystic and Lincoln students would be achieved simultaneously; and more sophisticated facilities would serve those students attending Manchester Junior High.

Economic advantages are cited in that only two additions are required and bussing is minimal; while politically, the basic neighborhood school concept is retained.

Advantages in efficiency are found in the simultaneous and relatively early relief of overcrowding at Mystic, Lincoln and Washington; early phase-out of Lincoln, meaning lower administrative and maintenance costs; and full use of newly renovated facilities at Manchester Junior High.

This plan is also considered flexible in the facility with which it could be abandoned after a trial period if necessary, "with no loss of time or money." If future changes should recommend conversion to a 4-4-4 plan could be affected.

Disadvantages listed are economic: two additions are necessary; political: homotaking is required at Mystic; and efficiency: no long-range use is made of McCall.

McCall as K-6

A third possibility is the conversion of McCall to a standard K-6 school following completion of the new high school. Students from Lincoln, Mystic, Noonan, Muraco and Washington Schools could be accommodated in this location.

Educational advantages seen in this plan include: the acceptability of the K-6 configuration to educators; combination of large open space with small instructional areas which "is preferred for maximizing individual learning experience;" community facilities are close; students at the new high school would be available under open campus for tutoring, etc.; and more instructional facilities not usually found in the lower grades would be accessible.

Viewed from economics standards, no new construction would be involved and a cafeteria would already be present. No homotaking is foreseen. Advantages under efficiency could possibly mean accomplishment of this plan at an early date with only one redistricting operation; overcrowding relieved quickly and simultaneously; early retirement of Lincoln for other uses; and maximum use of McCall. This plan is also considered responsive to change should it be necessary.

Disadvantages involved are educational: minimum play space; economic: renovation costs and bussing costs; and political: built-in bussing and removal of some children from traditional neighborhood schools.

5-6 Middle

Again a two-stage procedure could be implemented if the Town were to accept a 5-6 middle school plan. Sanction of this two-year configuration, an exception to the educational criteria, is documented in the report. Accordingly, following the renovation of McCall, grades 5 and 6 at Mystic, Lincoln, Washington, and Muraco could be transferred, thereby relieving such overcrowding. At that point Mystic, Washington and Muraco would be converted to K-4 schools and Lincoln students would be phased into Muraco, making Lincoln available for other Town uses.

If the first stage was deemed successful, High Street School would then be expanded to a 5-6 middle school to relieve any overcrowding at Parkhurst, Vinson, Owen, Wyman and Noonan. These schools would then be converted to K-4 enrollments, while the K-4 population at High Street was redistricted to neighboring schools.

Concerning rationale, educational advantages are seen in the quick solution to elementary space needs in the McCall area, and again as in the McCall as a K-6 school, in the increased facilities and the large open space—small instructional areas. Under economics, there would be no purchase of land or homes required; only one expansion; and limited renovation at McCall.

Efficiency would be attained by maximum use of existing facilities; retention of neighborhood schools on the lower grade level; and only one lower grade redistricting in the High Street area. Again this plan allows flexibility to change to another concept should it prove unworkable.

Disadvantages are found in economics: one addition is needed; and politically: the acceptability of K-4 schools.

5-9 Campus Plan

Implementation of a 5-9 campus plan would call for a two-part project. Initially, McCall and the Manchester Junior High would be combined into a 5-9 campus-type arrangement. Secondly, Lynch would be expanded for this grade span in order to form a complement for West Side students.

The 5-9 configuration is acceptable to educators and upgraded facilities would be available to fifth and sixth graders, thereby providing two educational advantages to this plan. Economic success might be obtained because only one addition is required and land is already available.

Efficiency could be gained through maximum use of existing facilities and an "immediate and equitable solution" to the space needs in the McCall area. Minimum expenditure would recommend a switch to another plan if necessary, rendering the plan flexibility.

The two disadvantages which might be anticipated are political: the Town's attitude to a K-4 configuration, and to safety and traffic factors.

The U.S. Department of Interior estimates that the U.S. and Canada together dump nearly 750,000 pounds of mercury into the Great Lakes. Even if this was halted, the contamination would persist 10-100 years, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

Paul Andrews Is Appointed Project Director

Paul J. Andrews, a former faculty member at McCall Junior and Winchester Senior High Schools, was appointed Project Director of the Massachusetts Department of Education.

Mr. Andrews served as advanced placement biology instructor at Winchester High School before his appointment as Supervisor of Education for the Massachusetts Department of Education in 1968.

The appointment of the former Winchester teacher came at the last meeting of the Massachusetts Board of Education when Mr. Andrews was promoted from Senior Supervisor in Education to Project Director.

Over the course of the past three years Mr. Andrews has provided consultant services on the subject of drug education, in-service training, and adult education for nearly 200 Massachusetts communities.

Mr. Andrews also serves as executive secretary to the Department of Education's Drug Education Advisory Committee and has served in that capacity since the appointment of the Advisory Committee by the Board of Education in March of 1968.

The former Winchester teacher has served as a guest lecturer on the major topic of drug education at Boston University, Salem State College, Fitchburg State College, American International College, Southern Connecticut State College, and Castleton Vermont State College.

Mr. Andrews received his bachelor of arts degree from Boston College and his master of education degree from Boston State College. Since that time the new Department of Education Project Director has received advanced graduate credits from Georgetown University, Boston University, and Boston College.

Mrs. Meyer's Parents Visit From Venezuela

Dr. and Mrs. Jose Lara-Diaz were recent guests for a few days of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Meyer of 145 Cambridge Street. The couple were on their way to San Francisco, where Dr. Lara-Diaz, chief orthopedic surgeon from Centro Medico, Caracas, Venezuela, presented a paper at the International Orthopedic Surgeons Convention.

During the couple's stay in Winchester, Mrs. Meyer was hostess at a tea for her mother, attended by 18 local women. Mrs. Meyer's mother is a volunteer worker for better relations between the United States and Venezuela. She was named "Lady of the Flowers" by Neil Armstrong and the other astronauts when she was a hostess in Caracas for the astronauts and their wives during their goodwill tour to her country in 1970. She was invited to visit NASA as their guest, because of her enthusiasm and thoughtfulness in matters concerning the Apollo missions.

Locally, Mrs. Phillip Woodward of 13 Sheffield Road entertained Mrs. Meyer and her mother at a luncheon. Mrs. Sheppard Pond of 2 Salisbury Road offered a cocktail party for the visitors, including Mrs. Nelly Molino, sister of Mrs. Meyer, who flew in to Boston with her daughter, Nelly, to join the group.

Utility Poles, Cars Don't Mix

Utility poles at Skillings and Shore roads and on Cross Street were the victims of two single-car accidents recently.

Saturday morning, while making a left turn at Skillings and Shore Roads an automobile struck a cement light pole. Damage was not extensive according to the report filed by Officer Francis R. Manzie.

A telephone pole at 126 Cross Street was broken in half early Sunday morning, March 28, under the impact of a front-end motor vehicle collision. A passenger was transported to Winchester Hospital for treatment of a bruise on the cheek, while the automobile was towed. Officers Joseph M. Crowe Jr. and Joseph E. Long investigated.

Cutting down on smoking can cause some to gain weight; witness the fellow who was down to six cigarettes a day — one after each meal.

Free Vision Screening Planned For Youngsters

Think an eye test can be fun?

Not for older folks, perhaps. But for pre-school tots who learn the "E" game, complete with "magic shoes" and a topsy-turvy "table," an eye test can be a happy adventure in growing up healthy.

Such fun will begin in Winchester at a free vision screening program to be held Saturday, May 1, at the Wyman School. Volunteers from the Winchester Lions and the Dande Lions, the women's auxiliary, trained by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness, will check youngsters for signs of visual problems between 9 a.m. and 12 noon.

The "E" game, an integral part of the screening procedure, is used to discover indications of visual faults in children who have not yet learned to read. The topsy-turvy table is actually the letter "E" that tops the usual eye chart. The "E" appears on the wall chart in diminishing sizes and rotated positions, with the "table legs" pointing in a different direction each time.

The child being screened indicates which direction the "legs" are pointing, thus permitting him to be checked even though he cannot read.

For the actual screening test, the child performs alone; however, to enable the youngsters to learn the game and overcome any possible shyness, the pre-schoolers play it in a group first. The children sit in a semi-circle before a volunteer who displays the "E" symbol, and they move their arms up, down, right, or left to correspond with the rotation of the "E" by the volunteer screener.

When the time for the individual test arrives, the "magic shoes" help to sustain the child's interest as well as aiding the accuracy of the test. To obtain a precise check of the youngster's visual acuity, the chart must be read from a distance of 20 feet. At the 20-foot measurement, the child finds two small shoe prints sketched. Standing within the "magic shoes" while he reads the chart is all part of the game for the tot.

"We hope every pre-school child in Winchester between the ages of three and six will be brought in by his parents," Michael Boodakian and Randy Kazanian, co-chairmen of the screening project, said. "A vision problem can be a tragic — and needless — handicap for a youngster going through school."

If a youngster's test performance gives evidence to the volunteer screener of a possible vision difficulty, the child is "referred." This means his parents are notified in writing of the need for the child to have a complete, professional eye examination. Each referral is subsequently followed up to see if the youngster has had the necessary examination.

Warning On Toys Enforced

The following announcement was made to all schools by Superintendent of Schools Donald A. Klemmer in view of the safety warning issued by the Food and Drug Administration.

"Replacing the hoola hoop is a new plaything to while away the idle hours of school students — the Zonka." I am sure you have seen this gadget. The Zonka consists of two spheres on a string which, when swung in an arc, smash into each other and bounce back. The trick is to try to keep this action going for as long as possible. This device is also known by some as the Clacker."

"Please announce to your teachers and your pupils that 'Zonkas' should not be brought to school or used on school property and announce to them the danger in the use of this toy. The Food and Drug Administration is currently investigating cases where the spheres, which are made of lucite, shatter completely or slightly upon impact and send out jagged chips which fly into the eye of the user. These become lodged in the eye and the chips are very difficult to remove."

"I must thank Frank Finigan (director of science) for bringing this danger to my attention."

Court Finds Guilt In Fatal On Forest Street

The operator of a motor vehicle responsible for the death of Miss Catherine T. O'Malley, 42, of 201 Washington Street on February 7 was found guilty of "recklessly driving so as to endanger" in Woburn District Court Friday, March 26.

According to Police Lieutenant Andrew Crawford, Judge Sartorelli delivered the finding after a three-hour session. The complaint was sought as a result of an accident on Forest Street on February 5 involving three cars. While exchanging papers at the side of the road following a minor accident, Miss O'Malley was struck by an oncoming vehicle. She died two days later in Winchester Hospital.

The court ruling will be appealed by Mrs. Annie Cabral, 71, of 63 Washington Street.

The woman archeologist said that one of the most warming things about probing the ancient ruins is that it made her feel so young.

Pack 508 Stars At Skit Night

Broadway came to Noonan School Friday evening at the Cub Pack 508 pack meeting. Each den performed a skit or musical number to entertain a large "First Night" group of parents and friends.

Den 2 cubs masqueraded as an animal menagerie with the king of beasts completely dominating the scene. Den 3 had a washboard band which also sang, and the "Five Farmers" were a great favorite. Den 4 had a living automobile which seemed to have more than its share of flat tires. Den 5 had some great singing of a medley of Cub songs. Webelos 1 celebrated Snoggy night with a series of Charlie Brown sketches. Webelos 2 held a beauty contest for Miss Pack 508, with some unusually stunning bathing beauties in attendance.

The Pack Inspection was won by Webelos 2, with Den 1 in second place, and Den 3 in third.

Awards for their accomplishments in scouting were given to the following boys: Wolf Badge, Mark Amey; Silver Arrow, Scott Chambers; Tot Chambers; Citizen award, Gerald Meuse; John Meuse; Traveler Award, Gerald Meuse; John Meuse; three-year service star, Peter Stackpole.

Craftsman, Geologist, and Scientist Activity Awards were presented to the following members of Webelos 2: John Breen, Thomas Connolly, Gary Doughty, Jim Fallon, Tom Foley, Patrick McCroary, Gerald Meuse, John Meuse, John Nowell, Mark Pasillo, Mark Simpson and Brian Wood.

Next month's pack meeting will be a Space Derby on Friday, April 30.

Census Bureau Interviewers To See Families

A sample of residents in this area will be included in a nationwide survey of employment and unemployment to be conducted this week by the Bureau of the Census, United States Department of Commerce, it was announced by James W. Turbitt, director of the Bureau's regional office in Boston.

The survey is conducted monthly for the United States Department of Labor. Results are used to calculate the number of persons who have jobs, the number looking for work, and the monthly percentage of unemployment, an important measure of the Nation's economic well-being.

In addition to questions on work experience, this March survey will have questions on income, labor union membership, family composition, ethnic origin, any change of residence the past year, and date of first marriage, if married.

The information is used for statistical purposes only. Facts about each family are kept confidential.

WCCA Plans Unusual Film For April 4

Sunday, April 4, at 7:30 p.m., the Winchester Council for Community Action invites all interested people to attend an unusual film at the Church of the Epiphany entitled "16 in Webster Groves—Tenement."

The film is actually two films shown on two screens placed side by side, each with a separate sound track. The sound is switched from time to time, so that the voices heard represent first one screen then the other. This technique provides a "realistic" look at two completely divergent locations and of the people who live there.

The first shows young people growing up in a typical affluent suburb called Webster Groves and their worries and problems, good times and bad. The other screen shows everyday life in a typical inner-city neighborhood.

WCCA is borrowing this film from the Lincoln Filene Center of Tufts University, as it did with the Bill Cosby film on Black History. Major Morris will act as projectionist and discussion leader. Mr. Morris, director of the Inter-Group Relations Program of the Center, has been using these films and others in working with schools and communities of newly desegregated areas.

The WCCA Steering Committee, which reviewed this film last fall, commends it highly. The public is welcome.

Mr. Moore moved to this area in 1966 and became president of Surety Bank and Trust Company. He is married to the former Helen W. Varfis of Washington, D.C., and is the father of four boys.

Editorials:

Suburbia or Shantytown?

Congratulations to the Boy Scouts and those who supported their second annual cleanup of the Aberjona River. Town, business, and civic organizations and Scout leaders joined in aiding in the collection of 35 truckloads of litter.

The Scouts and those who helped them are to be commended. The careless litterers who dumped beer cans, bottles, lumber, and other debris into and beside the river merit strong censure. The litterers' thoughtlessness caused other more concerned individuals many hours of otherwise needless work.

With ecology and conservation receiving so much serious-minded attention from sincere individuals interested in their environment, it is unfortunate that the message apparently hasn't been received loud and clear by everyone. Some untouched by a sense of responsibility should be most anxious about the kind of future world we shall have, because they will be spending the most time in it.

During a period when so many are concerned about non-returnable bottles and beverage cans, it is surprising to see so many of such containers along Winchester roadsides and in parking areas, where they stand a good chance of injuring individuals — our human resources — and damaging automobile equipment — part of our other resources.

Littering bears some relationship to vandalism. Both litterers and vandals waste material and human resources and pollute our environment.

Not all litterers are vandals, but most vandals are litterers. Litterers come from all age groups.

Scouts Remove 35 Loads Of Litter

for such items as an automobile tire, a 55-gallon drum, ten running feet of lumber, pipe, or steel, furniture, a door or window, or mattresses.

It is hard for anyone to come away nationally, but each Scout in a canoe on Saturday can tell what a mess 50 or 100 bottles can make on the local scene. They had to pick them out of the river one at a time.

prehend 28 billion bottles thrown. The winners of the contest to collect the most junk were:

First Place—Scouts D. Wilson and J. Vickary, Troop 525, Winchester.

Second Place—Scouts P. Miller and D. Ladd, Troop 525, Winchester.

Third Place—Scouts Trageser and Rozelle, Troop 506, Winchester.

Fourth Place—Scouts Parker and Hinchey, Troop 539 Stoneham, and Scouts Gow and Westwater, Troop 506, Winchester (tie).

The Scouts, who were awarded prizes such as tents, sleeping bags, and fishing gear, earned their rewards the hard way. The top point-getters were the canoes that were first into the river and last ones out and on a blustery, cold day like last Saturday, that took an extra measure of devotion.

Without the help of many organizations, the clean-up would never have gotten off the ground. The co-chairmen were particularly grateful to the drivers of the Winchester Park Department who manned the collection points all day long and the Highway Department, which supplied but this is not generally so of vandals. The Star, for example, knows of no senior citizen who goes about breaking school windows.

Concerning vandalism, it would be interesting if the School Department were to compile the costs to it, and ultimately the already overburdened taxpayer, for such acts as the repeated breaking of windows and other senseless destruction at Winchester High School and at other school buildings. With a new $13,000,000 high school in the offing, will it receive better treatment from vandals than does the present structure?

The parents of the apparently undisciplined vandals, of course, share in the expense of vandalism against public property. If they were aware of what this criminal behavior costs them in taxes each year, it might help reduce such occurrences.

One reader suggested that the broken windows remain unreplaced and the damaged equipment remain unrepaired for a period. This would eliminate, for a time, the hypocrisy of continuing to cover up irresponsible actions, and would publicly proclaim what a small element of our society is really like. We would, in modern colloquialism be "telling it like it is." The minority to blame for such acts might then have to answer not only to adults but to their peers for turning sections of Suburbia into Shantytown.

Perhaps the vandals and the litterbugs should stop to consider just what sort of world they want to live in. If they don't, they might be successful in converting it into one giant slum.

trucks and crews. The Fire Department sent Truck No. 4 and a team of men to clean up the filthy canoes so they could be returned to more normal service, and the Police Department assisted in traffic control along the way where the canoes were portaged across roads and highways.

Private groups donated equipment and money for prizes, canoe rentals, food, and other expenses. Their part in the success of the program is enormous.

EnKa Society had previously contributed a number of the canoes that were used in the race to the Minuteman Council. For this project they donated a substantial amount of money.

Derro Construction Company provided a front-end loader. Tom Derro worked at the start site, where an especially heavy accumulation of trash was removed.

Other companies donating equipment or services were: Southbridge Boat House, Concord - canoes; Blanchard Press - token printing; Bachman Foods - snack food and use of their plant site for start of race; Stop and Shop - candy; Swanton Street Delicatessen - food at cost and a cash donation; Jaquith and Company - burlap bags for rubbish collection; First National Stores - food certificates.

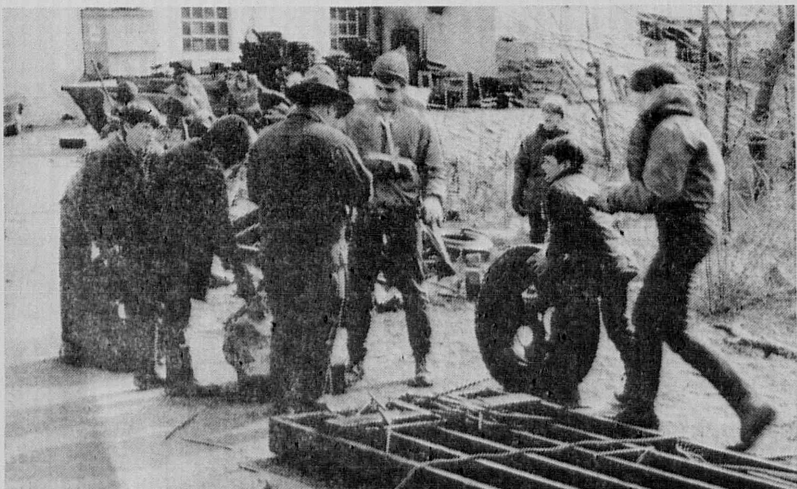

Private firms in Winchester and Woburn that gave cash donations were: Diamond Antenna and Microwave, Cummings Industrial Park, John J. Reilly Company, Edward Bernat Realty Company, Aberjona Auto Parts, J. O. Whitten Company, Winchester Carton Company, Wells Machine Company, Tanners Degreasing Company, John L. Fowle Company, New England Plastics Corporation, Koko Boodakian and Sons, Incorporated.

The Winchester Rotary Club's Chuck Wagon was again one of the biggest morale boosters of the day for the boys arrived at the end of the river in a cold, tired, dirty, and worn-out condition. Warm hamburgers, hot dogs, coffee, ice cream, candy, and soft drinks restored even the most travel-worn Scout or Scouter and left them with the feeling that there were many people in town who cared and supported their efforts.

This year, the State showed an active interest in this project and, in particular, the Registry of Motor Vehicles - Division of Motor Boats, Director Thomas Legere personally participated and Supervisor Francis Nagle assisted in the planning stages and contributed much to the safety of the activities. The Division of Motor Boats has jurisdiction in the Mystic Lakes and part of the Aberjona and their concern for a cleaner environment and better conditions for recreation again showed the Scouts that they were not working alone. The Division supplied two Inspectors with radio-controlled jeeps that aided in traffic control and for any emergency needs.

At the end of the day's work, the Boy Scouts had proved to themselves and the community that Scouts and young people are interested in doing something about preserving Nature and man's environment. They know that people, not Nature, pollute the Aberjona and they ask the public to make their effort worthwhile by disposing of trash only in the proper place.

Mr. Borggaard Seeks Facts On Middlesex Canal

Editor of the Star:

Last fall I undertook to write what I then hoped would turn out to be a comprehensive and definite article on the Old Middlesex Canal, with particular emphasis on that part of the canal that related to Winchester.

In the process of writing it down, however, I became aware that I did not know as much as I thought I did not know. Every question that I answered, or tried to answer, merely turned up a dozen other questions to which I could find no answer. Consequently, I would like to know more — all, if possible — so as to be able to get it all down in the one article at one and the same time.

But the canal has been shut down, empty, forlorn, and abandoned for upwards of 120 years; with the result that nobody living today actually knows anything at all about the canal other than that which he has read, been told, or managed to deduce from what he has observed.

The sources of information available today are limited and becoming more and more so with every passing year. All those persons interested, as I have been, in learning more about it, are obliged to have recourse to the same sources, the various libraries, historical societies, and so on. We poke around, one after the other, in the same old dry, dusty, worked-over and worked-out pile of information, hoping to find something we can use. But we all emerge, naturally, with the same gleanings; and, as a result we parrot one another, singing the same refrain as everyone else and quoting the same text in every instance.

I would like to contribute something new, if I can manage to do so, and it is with this hope in mind that I write this letter to the Star. I know that it is somewhat of a forlorn hope, at this late date, but if any reader of the Star does have an old picture, map, plan, sketch, letter, or anecdote that they might be of interest to posterity and would like to have it put down for the record, I would appreciate hearing from him in the matter.

Two Education Reports Receive Reader's Praise

Editor of the Star:

This past week, I have had the opportunity to read two reports issued recently in Winchester related to our school space needs. In my opinion, both are excellent examples of concise, objective presentations of facts worthy of conscientious study by all town citizens.

The first is "The Extended School Year — A Preliminary Study Prepared for the School Committee and the Board of Selectmen of Winchester, Massachusetts" and deals with the concept of a 12-month use of school facilities.

The committee, consisting of seven appointed citizens under the acting chairmanship of Mrs. Mary Mears, has demonstrated in its report an extremely high degree of objectivity in consolidating facts based on the experience of other communities.

The second is a "Report of the Education Committee to the Winchester League of Women Voters," and deals with several alternate proposals of "expansion necessary to provide appropriate space for elementary pupils."

Under the co-chairmanship of Catherine Fallon and Rose Holahan, a committee of eight League of Women Voters has compiled data regarding possible ways to solve our elementary school space problems and reported five alternatives in a very simple, concise, and again, objective way.

It is my personal belief that this kind of factual, unbiased reporting is among the most admirable forms of service to the community, and I would like to express my appreciation publicly to both of these committees.

In the near future, Winchester is going to be faced with some very important decisions relating to space problems within our public school system. It is my hope that in the interim, neither of these reports will be taken lightly. When the decisions are made, let them be truly in the best interest of the entire community.

BOOK REVIEW

by Ann M. Anderson
Winchester Public Library

PERIODICALS AT THE WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY

Do you know how many periodicals are available at the Winchester Public Library? The collection is perhaps more extensive than many realize. Besides the wide variety of current magazines on view on the right-hand side of the Main Reading Room, a whole year of each is neatly concealed under the one that is visible on the slanted racks.

Two categories have been separated from this main section. On the opposite side of the Reading Room, near the business reference books, are kept those which are classified as "business" magazines. These include such titles as Magazine of Wall Street, Business Week, Barrons, Banker & Tradesman, Forbes, Financial World, and others of special interest to those involved in industry or finance. We have also in this section those two well-known product evaluators, Consumer Reports and Consumer Bulletin. Altogether there are twenty-six different periodicals here.

The second group shelved separately is kept in the Downs Room and encompasses three different types. There are art magazines — Studio International, Art in America, School Arts, etc.; American Record Guide of High Fidelity and Musical America which have to do with music; and several which deal with antiquities. The Downs Room is an appropriate repository for these kinds of magazines because the books on the same subject are shelved here. (It is necessary to obtain a key from the Main Desk to use the Downs Room.)

Including these special separate categories the whole collection is rather diversified. There are the usual literary serials such as Atlantic and Harper's, several news weeklies, "ladies" magazines, sport magazines, and many which appeal to special hobbies. Model Railroader, Hot Rod, Photography, Gourmet, Travel, Natural History are some of these. Politically, the library has tried to represent different opinions, while remaining strictly neutral as we do in our book selection. We subscribe to Ramparts, which represents a point of view to the left. We also subscribe to American Opinion, which is the John Birch Society organ.

Back issues of the greater majority of the magazines are retained by the library. Because of space limitations in the Reading Room any copy more than a year old is shelved in the basement and can be obtained by applying to the Main Desk. These issues are kept, in most cases, at least five years. Many are kept longer. At least five of them go back over 100 years, and are often useful as original source material for research papers.

The library subscribes to two indexing services, Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature, and Public Affairs Information Service, which make it easy to locate articles on a specific subject. They are available for use by the public, with assistance from the reference librarian if desired.

We also have Poole's Index, which is the predecessor of Reader's Guide. It goes back to 1882. Several newspapers arrive daily or weekly including the Winchester Star, which can be read on microfilm back to 1881. All the magazines circulate. If a patron wishes to consult one which we do not have, he may check our list of the holdings of other local libraries, and go to that library to read it. Also, it is possible to obtain a Xerox copy of periodical material at 10¢ a page from the Boston Public Library.

We cordially invite everyone to come in and make use of our magazines. Any suggestions as to service or purchase of new material we will be happy to consider. Many of our most successful and popular subscriptions were started in this way.

Town Meeting Monday Session

In making her motion for tabling, Mrs. Dieterich noted that under Section 34 of Chapter 71 of the Commonwealth's General Laws, any ten taxpayers could bring suit to enforce adoption of the budget proposed by a community's School Committee.

In an earlier plea for approval of the School Committee's proposal, Mrs. Dieterich urged that the budget not be cut for several reasons.

Mrs. Dieterich said that the School Committee's recommendations would save the town money; that they were based on the group's judgment on what's best for the school children of Winchester; that the percentage of salary increases under collective bargaining was the lowest of any municipal department this year; that inflation, particularly in the cost of utilities and transportation, has been an important factor; that eight people were cut from the staff; that no administrator was receiving a salary increase this year, and that the budget had already been substantially cut.

"Any further cut such as those the Finance Committee has suggested, can only result in the decline in the quality of the educational program," Mrs. Dieterich maintained. "Even the amount asked for will result in the curtailment of some programs."

"Are we at least willing to keep the school programs where they are?" Mrs. Dieterich asked.

In contrast to a proposed ten-and-one-half percent increase in Winchester's school budget, Mr. McGovern pointed to these jumps: Stoneham, 11.3; Belmont, 12; Needham, 12, and Braintree, 11, with salary negotiations not included in the latter community. With support of the Town Meeting Members, Mr. McGovern pledged that the School Committee would "continue the work we have been doing."

Jack A. Wilson of Precinct Four said that communications between the School Committee and the town had "not been too good."

Commenting that the tax rate had doubled since he moved to Winchester eight years ago, Mr. Wilson said that he didn't believe that the school system has become "twice as good, even including inflation."

He termed it "ridiculous" to pay teachers to be lunchroom monitors. He suggested that junior police be used for traffic duty. He urged more support for the School Committee during collective bargaining periods, when it was being "pushed from one end."

Some programs should be dropped, he declared.

School Committeeman Stephen R. Parkhurst maintained that the education of ten years ago "will not suffice today any more than education today would suffice in 1981."

Experimentation with junior police programs had taken place at the High Street and Lincoln Schools, Mr. Parkhurst said.

Eugene B. Rotondi of Precinct One asked which communities had not increased their school budgets this year.

Mr. McGovern said that he knew of none.

Chairman Raymond J. Kenney Jr. of the Finance Committee saw a "substantial amount of latitude in this budget." He believed that "certain deletions" could be made without affecting the quality of the educational program.

Nothing that School Committee members are held responsible as officials of the Commonwealth, he said that the members are also responsible to the voters of Winchester and "are glad to listen to your suggestions," but "the decision is ours to make."

Richard K. Schroeder of Precinct Five said that besides schools, other factors determining the desirability of a town as a place to live included its general surroundings and its tax rate. He said that a rate of $82 a thousand, in excess of five percent of fair market value of a home, was a high tax rate. He said that by adding such items as amortization of the loan on the new Winchester High School, interest and maintenance of school grounds, would bring the actual school budget figure to $8,100,000.

He saw no way to keep the tax rate down except by reducing appropriations. As an answer to the "anguish" and "frustration" which he said was being experienced by Town Meeting Members, he moved that Budget 6100—School be remitted to the School Committee for further study, recommending that it be reduced by $106,000 to bring it in line with the Finance Committee proposal.

School Committeeman Lane McGovern noted that the School Committee "has been working on this budget for months and months," and had eliminated various positions.

"We have been thorough," he continued. "We probably have done a more thorough job than School Committees have done in the past."

A number of cuts recommended by the Finance Committee had already been made by the School

Committee, Mr. McGovern stated. "We have done a job," Mr. McGovern went on. "We are talking about a difference of 55 cents on our tax rate."

Mr. Schroeder's motion that Budget 6100—School be recommended to the School Committee for further study and a $105,955 reduction was defeated.

Harry L. Parker of Precinct Five said that he saw an "obvious strong desire on the part of Town Meeting Members to hold the line and cut taxes" but added that the body "haven't done very well so far."

"Although the School Department budget is quite large, personal service budgets for all other departments are $2.8 million," he said.

He claimed that no significant cuts had been made in the $2.8 million figure nor had there been cuts made in the permanent salaries of any other departments.

Mr. Parker found it distressing that the Finance Committee was "very eager to hold the line and to cut back and recommended $106,000 to help renovate Town Hall."

Mrs. Sally Kincaid of Precinct Two maintained that the "discussion goes far beyond a $106,000 difference."

"What the School Committee should be hearing tonight is the depth of concern and persistence of the discussion," Mrs. Kincaid said.

"The Finance Committee has given the town an opportunity which has long been needed. The Finance Committee has said, 'The buck stops here.'"

"I suggest to the School Committee that what it is hearing is dissatisfaction, suspicion, and the uncertainty of the town as a whole, because the town truly does not truly know where the school system is going."

She suggested that the School Committee "bring the town along with what is happening after town meeting and after the town budget."

Mrs. Kincaid said that this "would prevent rumors and dissatisfaction of the type now hovering about the High Street School," where she said an additional $150,000 would be needed to complete the lower area.

"Lack of this kind of discussion is what creates the suspicion," Mrs. Kincaid continued. "Questions must be answered and then support will be forthcoming," she concluded.

Earle F. Littleton of Precinct Three observed that the length of discussion "indicated a new interest of the taxpayer in regard to his taxes."

"There is little we can do about our state and federal budget," he declared. "There is something we can do about our town budget."

"For the first time, people are asking questions and they want some answers. They want to give the School Committee directives for the coming year," he continued. "We have built a bureaucracy in the name of education."

He said that some of the programs instituted in the Winchester school system during the last five or six years should be abolished.

Mr. Littleton called for a reduction of out-of-state travel. He said that Winchester had received 2,000 applications from prospective teachers. Of the 68 hired, only five were from out-of-state, he maintained. Out-of-state travel should only be authorized for personnel giving papers at conferences or moderating meetings at conventions, he stated.

He questioned why $5,000 was being spent on consultants "to search for a superintendent," but "the decision is ours to make."

Richard K. Schroeder of Precinct Five said that besides schools, other factors determining the desirability of a town as a place to live included its general surroundings and its tax rate. He said that a rate of $82 a thousand, in excess of five percent of fair market value of a home, was a high tax rate. He said that by adding such items as amortization of the loan on the new Winchester High School, interest and maintenance of school grounds, would bring the actual school budget figure to $8,100,000.

He saw no way to keep the tax rate down except by reducing appropriations. As an answer to the "anguish" and "frustration" which he said was being experienced by Town Meeting Members, he moved that Budget 6100—School be remitted to the School Committee for further study, recommending that it be reduced by $106,000 to bring it in line with the Finance Committee proposal.

School Committeeman Lane McGovern noted that the School Committee "has been working on this budget for months and months," and had eliminated various positions.

"We have been thorough," he continued. "We probably have done a more thorough job than School Committees have done in the past."

A number of cuts recommended by the Finance Committee had already been made by the School

Committee, Mr. McGovern stated. "We have done a job," Mr. McGovern went on. "We are talking about a difference of 55 cents on our tax rate."

Mr. Schroeder's motion that Budget 6100—School be recommended to the School Committee for further study and a $105,955 reduction was defeated.

Harry L. Parker of Precinct Five said that he saw an "obvious strong desire on the part of Town Meeting Members to hold the line and cut taxes" but added that the body "haven't done very well so far."

"Although the School Department budget is quite large, personal service budgets for all other departments are $2.8 million," he said.

He claimed that no significant cuts had been made in the $2.8 million figure nor had there been cuts made in the permanent salaries of any other departments.

Mr. Parker found it distressing that the Finance Committee was "very eager to hold the line and to cut back and recommended $106,000 to help renovate Town Hall."

Article Nine

A proposal by the Board of Selectmen that $27,840 for a front end loader for the Highway Department be added to capital expenditure items proposed under Article Nine was defeated. Also rejected was the Selectmen's recommendation that $25,000 be appropriated for a rescue truck for the Fire Department. Discussion on Article Nine will continue at the Thursday evening, April 1, session of the Annual Town Meeting.

The Finance Committee has recommended that $63,345 be voted. This would permit the purchase of a $55,115 Gradall for the Highway Department, and four police cruisers for $10,200.

Although the front end loader and the rescue truck were denied, the Selectmen still seek a one-ton truck costing $3,771, and a half-ton truck for $2,530. The Selectmen had asked that $59,141 more be spent for capital equipment under the article than had the Finance Committee.

Chairman Ralph M. Swanson of the Board of Selectmen said that his group favored a "conservative level of replacements" for capital equipment to avoid a "big impact in any particular year."

He said that it would cost $8,000 to put the town's 12-year-old front end loader into condition and that the Selectmen did not feel that it was worth repairing.

Mr. Rotondi said that his construction firm had an 18-year-old front end loader which "runs beautifully." He advocated spending $3,500 for repairs to enable the town's front end loader to "last another ten years."

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien, asked for an order of priorities for Highway Department equipment, said that the Gradall was the first need and the front end loader second.

The Finance Committee recommended unfavorable action on the proposed purchase of the front end loader, and the motion was lost.

In seeking $25,000 for a new rescue truck, Chairman Swanson said that the present vehicle was purchased in 1954 and its engine was rebuilt in 1968. He said that it was extremely difficult to get needed parts. He noted that Lexington and Medford, which had purchased similar vehicles in 1954, have since replaced theirs.

He termed it poorly laid out to meet today's requirements.

Fire Captain Peter L. Galuffo, speaking for Fire Chief L. Francis Amico, said that such trucks usually have a life span of 15 years, while Winchester's rescue truck is 17 years old. Many times the truck stands by for use as an ambulance in the absence of such a vehicle, he said.

Unfavorable action on the proposal was recommended by the Finance Committee, and the motion was defeated.

Town Meeting Thursday Session

the project, according to Chairman MacDonnell. The banking material is apparently necessary for flood control.

The amount appropriated is for the installation of rip-rap for 2,000 feet along the easterly and westerly side of the Aberjona River in Davidson Park, estimated to cost $40 per load of 10-20 tons, and for the necessary labor. The project will be contract bid, since it is felt that Town employees can not accomplish the heavy machinery work.

The Finance Committee, originally urging unfavorable action, changed its recommendation in view that it was now a State requirement.

School Budget

Following discussion and a vote, the School Committee was all in favor of the Highway Department budget, Item 6100 of Article 8. At approximately 11 o'clock the Meeting was adjourned with the intention of reopening discussion Monday night.

Representing the School Committee was Stephen R. Parkhurst, who highlighted the eight-page fact sheet provided to Town Meeting Members. The difference between the School Committee and the Finance Committee recommendations being debated that evening were personal services, $42,495 ($4,812,446-$4,769,951); other expenses, $51,520 ($813,235-$761,715); and capital outlay, $11,950 ($47,243-$35,293). The gap in totals is $105,965.

Elaborating on the fact sheet Mr. Parkhurst noted that the overall collective bargain increase, affecting the personal services budget, was the smallest percentage in years and less than that increase in other Town departments this year. Because salaries effective until June, 1971, were negotiated in the previous year, savings can not begin until September of this year.

"Winchester has been willing to pay the going rate for the best teachers in past years. We pay more than most, less than a few towns." Although most towns are considered to exceed Winchester's bachelors' degree starting salary, the Town has no such schedule for a doctor's degree.

In response to Member Richard D. Dexter, Precinct 5, it was stated that the combination of step-rate increase and shift in schedules overall affects less than half of the teachers. One-third of this staff is already on the top level. Step-rates are used in other Town positions. There were no increases in fringe benefits for 1971-1972 as the result of collective bargaining.

It was suggested by Mr. Parkhurst at this time that two methods could be employed to "turn the budget downward": renovation of the elementary school buildings for an ultimate reduction in instructional costs per student, and communication with State Representatives to oppose legislation which is so costly to towns, such as the mandatory school lunch provision law.

Finance Suggestions

The Finance Committee was asked to supply those areas in which it felt that the School Committee might make cuts in order to meet the lower proposal. Raymond J. Kenney Jr., Finance Committee chairman, prefaced his reply by saying that "we also want the School Committee to want by way of education" and that it is the "Town itself which is responsible for the education of its children."

While the School Committee had "trimmed and shaved" on its budget "without scratching the body," the Finance Committee did not feel that its cuts would "draw blood." If the less than two percent difference between the two versions could be eliminated, a "dollar for dollar" loss to education was not anticipated.

Mr. Kenney emphasized that the areas which he would cite had already been cut in many cases by the School Committee and that his committee was not recommending the elimination of total accounts or programs, but rather a deeper incision into them.

The Finance Committee is asking for $42,495 less in personal services. Items cited for such possible cuts included the superintendent of schools for the balance of 1971, $9,000; eight additional aides, $12,800; four more curriculum councilors for July-December, 1971, $20,000; temporary secretarial help, $8,450; overtime secretarial help, $2,500; teaching assistant (July-December, 1971), $1,200; guidance department head at Senior High School for balance of year, $5,000; turnover for 40 teachers at about $10.00 per year on a one-third year basis, $120,000; step-rate increments, $79,000; and stipends for 11 directors and coordinators under second ratio differentials, $26,000.

Other Expenses

The $51,500 difference between the two other expenses budget versions might be removed by reductions in: increased educational supplies in their elementary program, $6,000; new programs, $41,000; audio-visual hardware and software, $21,000; textbooks, $53,000; library books, $19,700; and computer-time rental for the math program, $45,000.

Concerning the capital outlay budget, Mr. Kenney noted that the School Committee's $26,000 cut in maintenance was "not the sort of cut" that the Finance Committee had wanted. A $12,000 cut, representing the difference between the two statements, would leave $15,000 for "new" capital outlay expenses; $6,000 for library furnishings at the High Street School; and money for replacements.

In the athletics budget the Finance Committee was suggesting that accounts totaling $6,200 for various assistant coaches might be attacked. It was not recommending the elimination of any sports programs.

In conclusion Mr. Kenney stated that a "turning inward and turning around was necessary" in the School Budget. Mr. Parkhurst later matched this by observing that "once we turn inward, which is another way of saying that the quality of education will decline in Winchester, we won't reverse that decline because once we hit downgrade, we'll be there for a long time to come."

Reply

In reply to the Finance Committee's proposals, Mr. Parkhurst explained that a $42,000 cut in personal services would have to be an actual reduction of $125,000, a "pretty deep incision." Also, the School Committee is gambling that there will be a 15-20 per cent turnover this year. "If every teacher stays, we won't have the money to pay them." Flexibility to allow for the hiring of some experienced teachers as replacements is also desired.

While there has been no increase this year in administrators' salaries, the School Department, due to the new payroll system adopted by the Town, will owe an additional $13,000 in salaries for an extra day of pay.

Elimination of $20,000 for the Curriculum Councilors, the School Committee spokesmen continued, would mean the end of the council entirely. The position of head of the High School guidance department will not be filled until September, or perhaps later. And the 11 directors and coordinators are actually the department heads in the school system whose salaries are negotiated. Secretarial overtime is necessary to compensate for the lack of full-time help which can not be afforded.

"It would be impossible to make reductions in the other expenses budget without affecting the quality of education. These materials are needed to support the teachers which we've hired." The increase in educational supplies for the elementary program was said to be "more than offset" by the decrease at the secondary level. There are no "new programs."

Concerning audio-visual equipment, the sum requested is 65 per cent replacement, 35 per cent for new materials. In view of the increasing library book circulation, the School Committee feels that the new high school library request had been "cut down to practically zero" already and that the bookkeeping account is necessary to revitalize what can not be replaced in new texts due to previous reductions. The computer program was a continued request of the mathematics department, scheduled to begin in September.

The lateness of the hour terminated further elaboration of that committee's budget version.

Dialogue

Earlier in the evening Town Meeting Members had expressed opinions and questioned the School Committee on specific points.

Town Meeting Member Mrs. Sally Kincaid, Precinct 2, stated that the School Committee had made several assumptions while requesting its higher figures. Among these were the supposition that increased benefits would result from the new high school, that the curriculum development budget was important, that lunch room supervisors were worthy of the stipend they are receiving ("highest in the state"), that provisions for audio-visual materials should be continued, that collective bargaining is being carried on wisely, and that the proposed elementary schools renovations plan had been adequately evaluated.

Consideration of these points brought to light the fact that at present the new high school is scheduled to be manned with the existing staff. The original bond issue is meant to cover equipping of the new plant. "There is no reason to believe we will have to come back for more."

The amount proposed for the curriculum council had been reduced to $41,483. It is felt by the School Committee that keeping abreast of future opportunities in education is one way by which the Town might take advantage of ultimate reductions in costs.

Lunch room supervisory positions were not always easy to fill, the School Committee contended. Such a place at Muraco School had to be advertised before someone was attracted to that post. Concerning evaluations of the audio-visual benefits, collective bargaining, and the renovations

New Town Meeting Members and those following the proceedings of the Annual Town Meeting in person or by listening to radio station WHSR-FM would be helped if each Town Meeting Member rising to speak gave his full name and precinct. In a town of more than 22,000 persons, even those most in the public eye are unknown to many.

Town Meeting time is an extremely busy period for Mrs. Elsie Nelson, Town Clerk. Among her Town Meeting duties is the keeping of a record of actions taken. If Town Moderator and State Representative Harrison Chadwick leaves the rostrum to speak on an issue, Mrs. Nelson acts as moderator. Mrs. Nelson has been Town Clerk since 1957.

The invocation was given at the Monday, March 29, session of the Annual Town Meeting by the Rev. Herbert K. A. Driscoll, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church.

Town Moderator and State Representative Harrison Chadwick tried to boost the morale of Town Meeting Members as they met for their sixth session. He noted that Burlington and Framingham had already had eight Town Meeting sessions and Natick had held six.

As the school budget came up for its second evening of discussion Monday evening, Moderator Chadwick urged that speakers limit themselves to new information and new material that would influence the voters. He hoped to eliminate a rehash of Thursday evening's comments.

Laughter arose when Town Moderator Chadwick acknowledged a motion to put Budget 6120—School Lunch, "on the table." Mr. Chadwick, adding to the humor, said that it should "certainly taste good, since it's a $10,000 meal."

Finance Committee Chairman Raymond J. Kenney Jr., in announcing a reduction from $75,000 to $40,000 on Budget 9150—Interest on Temporary Loans, jokingly commented, "The Finance Committee appreciated your support (on the school budget) earlier this evening and we have our own way of saying thank you."

Chairman Ralph M. Swanson of the Board of Selectmen explained that he had worn a pink shirt to the Annual Town Meeting so that "when I bleed, it WON'T show."

Some suggestions, called "constructive," were said to be under consideration at that time. These include curriculum functions and a management study on the roll of the principal which may bring about recommendations for elimination of two assistant principals or for one principal for two schools. Stipends are continuing to be cut, Mr. Parkhurst continued. More will be negotiated out in the future.

Such things as longevity, offered to those teachers 35 years and older, are also negotiated, a process which did not exist when the former speaker had been a member of the School Committee. Mr. Parkhurst also shared some doubt as to the professionalism demonstrated by some of the teaching staff.

Discussion was ended Thursday night with no action taken.

Service Clubs Hear Congressman Macdonald

A shift in power to the United States House of Representatives in Washington politics was noted by Congressman Torbert H. Macdonald of the Seventh Congressional District in a talk here Wednesday, March 25.

Congressman Macdonald spoke at the third annual joint meeting of the Winchester Kiwanis, Lions, and Rotary Clubs at Sons of Italy Hall. The Winchester Jaycees also had been invited to attend.

"For much of the past two years the main source of initiative in Washington has been alternately the White House, the Supreme Court, and the Senate," Congressman Macdonald pointed out. "In recent months, much of this initiative has swung away from these branches of government and the occasion has been seized by the House."

Although Congressman Macdonald's district includes 13 cities and towns, 60 percent of his mail comes from Arlington, Belmont, and Winchester residents, he said.

Congressmen must remain close to their constituents, he continued, because every two years they must seek a "renewal of their lease" from voters.

Congressman Macdonald said that he had voted against the supersonic transport plane proposal because he "thought it a waste of money that could be spent better."

"In my judgment, the needs of the vast majority of the people in this country far outweigh those of the select few who would have stood to gain from this project," Congressman Macdonald continued.

Speaking of the appointments by President Richard M. Nixon of conservative jurists to the United States Supreme Court, Congressman Macdonald commented that he believed that "most people in the country welcome if not a swing to the right at least a swing back to the middle."

John F. Mercurio Jr., president of the Winchester Kiwanis Club, presided.

Others seated at the head table included Kiwanis New England District Governor Warren Bolton;

Mr. Finigan Urges Humane Use Of Science

"We cannot forego the many benefits of science. We cannot turn back the clock. We must not throw away our considerable achievements for the sake of something new just because it is new. We must learn to use wisely our science in a humanistic way."

FRANCIS X. FINIGAN

So declared Francis X. Finigan, director of science of the Winchester Public Schools. Mr. Finigan, president of the National Science Supervisors Association, gave the luncheon address at the 19th annual convention of the National Science Teachers Association in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Finigan's topic was "The Need for Change in the Teaching of Science." Over 7,000 persons attended the convention and its accompanying exposition.

Calling for an awakening by science educators to the need of social responsibility in science, Mr. Finigan reported on the shifts of emphasis that are taking place in research, education, and society to which he believes the science community must adjust.

"Somehow the notion has arisen that science is not a thing of life, but something apart, powerful, mysterious, and threatening," Mr. Finigan observed.

"We have started to recognize many things in science education. But change is not easy. Even the great Max Planck wrote rather cynically that ideas change in science only because old scientists die. Although he was referring to content, the same idea probably holds for science education," Mr. Finigan continued.

"We need more and better science education at all levels for non-scientists so that they will be cognizant of the humanitarian changes due to the scientific venture," Mr. Finigan went on.

"The future in spite of its grave visage is the greatest challenge we have had. We must respond with positive attitudes and action," Mr. Finigan said.

"We are at a critical juncture in science education. Since the choice is ours, I am sure that we will choose the path that leads to both scientific and social responsibility," he concluded.

Spring Arrives Clean-Up

For a fire safe home, clean up. This is the basic message of Spring Clean-Up, Fire Chief I. Francis Amico announced today. "Clean-up makes good sense for a lot of reasons," says the Chief. "It's a kind of anti-pollution measure all of us can take."

"But most important of all is that it helps make the lives of you and your family safer from fire."

"According to the National Fire Protection Association, which has been gathering and analyzing fire records since 1896, more than half a million homes in this country were hit by fire last year. About 6,600 people died in these fires."

"Rubbish is one of the top causes of building fires the NFPA records show."

"So what it comes to is this: clean up our homes — as well as our places of business and all other buildings — and we'll cut the number of dangerous, killing fires. So our goal for Spring Clean-Up is to make every home in this community safer from fire."

Spring Clean-Up is sponsored internationally by the National Fire Protection Association to promote fire safety throughout the United States and Canada.

A wine and cheese tasting party will be held in the Boat Room at 8 p.m. The bus will leave from the Museum's Fenway entrance for Winchester at 9 p.m.

The party will be limited to 50 persons. Mr. Paul J. Berberian may be contacted at 729-1745 for reservations.

Head Of Church Expansion Group

J. Alden Cheever of 147 Ridge Street is chairman of the Expansion Committee for the Park Street Church. Under the committee's direction, construction of the new $1,015,000 Christian Education and New Ministries Building began this week. It is expected to be completed in 1972.

The six-story structure will replace a two-story building at 1 Park Street, purchased by the Congregational church in 1953. The addition will house a departmentalized Sunday School, youth activities, library, business offices, and flexible multi-purpose rooms. The church edifice will connect with the lobby on the ground floor of the new structure.

Mr. Cheever is treasurer of Birch Brothers in Norwood.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

Most insurance companies are content to confine themselves to general lines — life, fire, health, accident, etc.

A few companies write surplus lines. They insure the things most people would not try to insure. Professional performers are the best customers for this type of coverage.

Marlene Dietrich and Betty Grable insure their famous legs. Pianist Liberace insures his hands. Janis Paige insures her eyes. Performer's fame and livelihood depend on these parts of their anatomy. They willingly pay enormous premiums for policies which pay fabulous sums.

Surgeons insure their hands. Football players are insured. It is possible to insure against multiple births, if application is made within the first four months of pregnancy.

Registered dogs, cats and horses are insured. It is also possible to insure rabbits and parakeets — if you want to pay the premium.

"Term Insurance"

Mr. Ball would welcome comments and questions on his column. Call him at John H. Eddy and Company located at 39-41 Thompson Street, Winchester.

State Health Magazine Features Michael Saraco

Michael D. Saraco Sr., director of the Board of Health, is the subject of a feature article in this week in Public Health, a weekly publication of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health for public health and allied workers.

Mr. Saraco was interviewed by Mrs. Mimi Bianca Bowler, managing editor of the magazine. The story appeared in its March 8, 1971 issue. Mr. Saraco was the first individual in the publication's Profiles series from outside the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

Mrs. Bowler's article notes that Mr. Saraco has a "keen interest" in public health and has completed "numerous courses at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in an effort to increase his knowledge in this area."

When Mr. Saraco was appointed in 1958, according to the article, "the position was on a part-time basis and the Board occupied rented quarters on the second floor of a building in the business district. Today, the scene has changed dramatically."

"Modern facilities, including a small laboratory, are now housed in the Town Hall. Mr. Saraco devotes his entire time to improving and preserving public health in Winchester. His staff now includes a full-time secretary and several part-time assistants."

"The board of health is a policy-making group and the health agent or director carries out the directives of the board," the cigar smoking director said. He stressed the importance of a "good working relationship" between the board and the agent. "Communication is also imperative," the jovial director said. Mr. Saraco provides members of his board with copies of all the correspondence dispatched from his office in an effort to keep the board informed.

"Mr. Saraco explained that although the board is a regulatory agency, its major function is to provide education and consultation. 'Solving problems through education and tangible explanations is much more effective than using police powers,' he said."

"Enforcement of the sanitary code, which includes inspecting housing, restaurants, recreational facilities, private sewage disposal systems, and swimming pools, constitutes a major portion of the local health officer's responsibilities. Establishing immunization clinics for diseases such as polio, rubella, and mumps also comes under the jurisdiction of the board of health."

"In an effort to establish a better rapport with his constituents, Mr. Saraco has developed an interesting system for conducting inspections. He is building in health education while performing his routine duties."

"If problems are corrected through education the chances of repeating the violation are much lower," Mr. Saraco commented.

"His sincere interest and dedication to the problems of public health make Mr. Saraco highly respected by his associates in the health field.

"Recently, Mr. Saraco was named by Dr. Alfred Frechette, Commissioner of the Department of Public Health, to serve as chairman of the department's Task Force on Environmental Health. According to Mr. Saraco the purpose of this 80-member group is to 'condense the many phases of environmental health into several working areas and eventually come up with legislation for basic health services.' Mr. Saraco has assumed this position with his usual enthusiasm and vigor."

"As a member of the recently appointed Board of Certification of Health Officers, Mr. Saraco is playing an instrumental role in establishing criteria for the selection of health officers."

"A good health officer must have a knowledge of administration, public health law, and educational methods, as well as a firm background in the basic tenets of public health," he asserted.

"The Board was established to set guidelines that will aid local boards of health in the selection of qualified personnel."

"Currently, Mr. Saraco is serving as president of the Massachusetts Health Officers Association. This organization provides 'a mutual aid pool for every health agency, according to Mr. Saraco. The programs this year are aimed at increasing the tie between the organization and the State Department of Public Health."

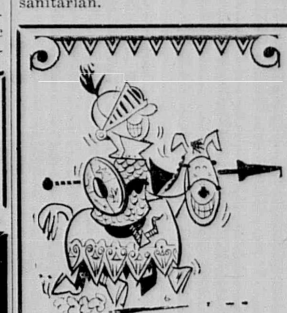

"The local health agency is the grass root in public health and keeping health agents informed about current developments is vital to the successful execution of programs," he added.

"A lifelong resident of Winchester, Mr. Saraco is married and has five children and seven grandchildren. During World War II, he served with Merrill's Marauders, the famed Ranger group which operated behind Japanese lines."

"In his spare time, he enjoys fishing, hunting, and boating. He is careful to note that his boat is not painted with a mercury-based paint," the article concludes.

Mr. Saraco is serving a four-year term on the Board of Certification of Health Officers. He is a member of the State Advisory Commission for Community Colleges on Public Health Sciences. A Town Meeting Member for 24 years, Mr. Saraco is a former member of the Finance Committee. He belongs to the Winchester Lions Club.

Professional memberships held by Mr. Saraco include those in the American Public Health Association, the Northeastern Association of Boards of Health, and the National Association of Sanitarians. Mr. Saraco is a registered sanitarian.

M.S.P.C.A. To Focus On Cats

Mrs. James Gustin will open her home at 219 Ridge Street for the April meeting of the Winchester Auxiliary to the M.S.P.C.A. Members and friends of the auxiliary will gather at 1:30 p.m. on Monday, April 12, to learn about the breeding, care, and showing of cats.

Cats are divided into two main groups of breeds: short-haired and long-haired, and most cat associations in the U.S.A. recognize eight short-haired breeds. Three of these breeds will be shown at the meeting.

Mrs. L. Zinnetti of Somerville breeds and shows the Abyssinian cat. They are a medium sized cat, ranging in color from reddish-brown to silver and are recognized by the ticking, or dark-colored tips of their hair.

After the demonstration Mrs. Dean Carlton and her committee will serve tea.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

Are your closets one reason you are moving? Many a family has found that storage space is the first thing they outgrow. As the family increases, so do interests, and interests often mean a place to put things. Need for more storage is one of many you'll want to tell your Realtor about.

In figuring needs, present and future, there are a few guidelines you may find helpful. Winter outer-clothes require four inches of rod space apiece when hanging in a closet. Men's clothing need two and a half inches; women's, two inches. Figure on an average of nine books per running foot of shelving. Records need shelves both higher and deeper than books - figure on fourteen inches deep and fourteen inches high.

Camera Replaces Textbook For Student Michael Hallet In University's Film Course

Michael Hallet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hallet of 247 High Street, was the subject of a lengthy feature article in the Salt Lake City (Utah) Deseret News on Saturday, March 20. It was illustrated by a large color photograph of Mr. Hallet shooting a scene from his first student film, with his sister-in-law, Judy Hallet, as the star.

Mr. Hallet, a freshman at the University of Utah, is enrolled in a degree program with an emphasis on film. He is a graduate of Winchester High School.

His sister-in-law, a graduate student in French at the same university, is making a French language movie for her master's thesis. Mrs. Hallet is described by Deseret News Staff Writer Paul Swenson as "the most experienced film maker in the class."

Mrs. Hallet met her husband, Stanley, while serving in the Peace Corps in Tunisia. Stanley is a graduate of Deering Academy in Portland, Maine, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is an assistant professor of architecture at the University of Utah. Both he and Mrs. Hallet became interested in film about the same time.

"Using a compact film editing room, they have built into their small, rented Avenues home, they have jointly turned out movies on the Teachers Corps, Salt Lake's Repertory Dance Theater, and freshman orientation," Mr. Swenson wrote.

"Seeing a film is better than reading a report," Mrs. Hallet told Mr. Swenson. "We want to use a camera to document the world around us as objectively as possible."

"I'm hooked on film, too," commented her brother-in-law, Michael Hallet. "The first time I pulled the trigger on a movie camera was to shoot some stuff for the film I'm making now in Professor (Mort) Rosenfeld's class."

"Most of Rosenfeld's students feel the justification for a film should be 'something personal,' and it was a head-on collision near Boston last summer on a black, rainy night — a wreck that nearly killed Mike and his girl friend — that inspired his first film," Mr. Swenson wrote.

"The movie stars Mike's sister-in-law Judy in a very atypical driver education film," Mr. Swenson continued. "The Beach Boys romp on the sound track while Judy passes her driver's test and buys a sports car (when she applies the traditional kick to the tires, the salesman takes off his sport coat and uses it to rub out the bluish."

"But then the music changes to a funeral organ and there are quick disturbing cuts to broadside and head-on collisions, and to headstones and a graveside service. The movie's final scene of Judy smiling as she moves the new car off the lot is tempered by the impression that she is driving to her death," Mr. Swenson wrote.

Besides the two Hallet sons, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hallet have a daughter, Eileen.

HOUSEBREAK

The Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 in October of 1970 for the project "Comprehensive Attacks on Auto Theft and Burglary." In connection with this heightened focus on burglary, the Department will present "Housebreak," a column suggesting ways in which Winchester residents may assist these efforts against crime in weeks to come through the pages of The Star. Look for it.

Be observant of strange cars and trucks; copy the registration number if you feel uneasy about the vehicle or its occupants. It could be of value to your Police Department later.

Remember that the police are just a phone call away. A simple call to the desk officer may answer your question, confirm your doubts, or ease your fears about many matters, for instance a strange caller at your door claiming to be a sales person or merely inquiring about your neighbor.

The Police Department wants to know who is in your neighborhood and what they are doing. Remember, we have caught housebreakers before when an alert neighbor has recorded the number of a strange vehicle.

Ecumenical Service Set For Tuesday

The Winchester Ecumenical Association will sponsor an Interfaith Service of Repentance and Reconciliation at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 6, at the Parish of the Epiphany, 70 Church Street. The service will focus attention on Holy Week as a time for reflection, especially as it relates to the Vietnamese conflict. The public is invited.

Following the service, informal discussion will be held on the response of the religious community to the war.

The Ecumenical Association also invites the Winchester community to participate in a Good Friday Witness for Peace from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, April 9, on Tremont Street at Park Street, Boston. Sponsored by the Society of Friends, the silent vigil will give people an opportunity to meditate on the Vietnamese situation and religious response to it, according to the Ecumenical Association.

Dick Fahey On All-New England
Track Team List

Dick Fahey, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert J. Fahey of 10 Ware Road, Holy Cross senior, was recently chosen as a member of the All-New England College Track and Field Team by the New England Intercollegiate Track Coaches Association. Richard has been a standout runner for Holy Cross during the winter season in the distance events, running the mile and two-mile and also participating in the two-mile relay. In the New England Intercollegiate Track Meet held recently at the University of Connecticut he captured third place in the mile run with a time of 4:12.7 and also ran with the Holy Cross two-mile relay team, which took third place in that event.

Dick served as captain of the Holy Cross Country Team this past fall and also was selected as member of the All-New England College Cross Country Team. His outstanding achievement during the fall season was placing fifth out of a field of 200 in the New England Intercollegiate Cross Country Meet held at Franklin Park, Boston.

The teams will participate in League play with teams from such communities as Melrose, Arlington, Woburn, Needham, Dedham, Hudson, Marlboro, Weston, Norwood, Walpole, Cambridge, and Boston. League play will be on weekends commencing Saturday, April 17 and continuing until the latter part of June.

Age eligibility requirements are as follows: Division AA, may not have attained the age of 19 before July 1, 1971; Division B, will not attain age 15 before July 1, 1971.

Each boy selected for a Bays team will be assessed a nominal fee for uniform and equipment.

The tryouts will be held at McDonald Field on April 3 and 4 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. for Divisions AA and B, while Division C will hold tryouts on the same dates from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

SELECTMAN SHERMAN W. SALTSMARSH JR. presented two Boston Bruins hockey game tickets to Ralph Cefali recently. Mr. Cefali won the tickets in a drawing held by the Winchester High School Student Council. The tickets had been donated to the Council by Selectman Saltmarsh. Funds raised by the students and teachers will go toward charitable organizations to be selected by the Student Council.

Winchester High School Team Had Good Basketball Season

by John F. Parrell

Contrary to the description of the Sachem quintet in one of the Boston papers, "a weak team in a strong league," the Winchester High basketball team had a very creditable season. Although they did not "make the Tech," the boys played some good basketball and were a much better club than their 10-10 record indicates. The term "weak" was not at all descriptive of their efforts, which saw the team by lost by only six points. There were single point defeats in three games, and the second Wakefield game was lost by only three. Victories in these games would have made a 14-6 qualifying slate.

Without further belaboring the unfortunate terminology, it might well apply to a team such as Lawrence, which has now gone several years without a win, and most recent reports show the consecutive league losses now are up into the fifties. Not even the unfortunate Woburn Tanners, who dropped 18 straight this year, deserve such a connotation. They had flashes when they played surprisingly well. The scribe dropped the word in place of the more descriptive "non-qualifying" and it is being mentioned only to correct any false opinions that might arise locally.

Coach Vandy French's team lost to Class C finalist, Sharon, by one point, and subsequently defeated them. This was Sharon's only loss until they dropped the Tech final to championship Barnstable. The second one point loss came to the hands of Coach John Killilea's Melrose Red Raiders, Class B semi-finalists. Watertown's Red Raiders, Class B finalists also eked out a single pointer over the Sachems. So, it can be seen that the Winchester team was no setup for their opponents. In the final game with State champion Lexington they were well behind at the half, but scrapped to the very end as they outscored the Minutemen during the second half.

Considering the fact that Captain Bob Bigelow was the only returning veteran, the local team did quite well. They outscored the combined opposition in the "strong league" by an average of 65 to 45 which is proof positive of their overall strength. Of course Captain Bob was the big gun as a scorer, as he ran his career total to 1,003 points, but every player on the team gave his all every minute of every game. There never was even the slightest tendency not to keep trying and every team that faced the Sachems left the floor fully aware that they had been in a real tough ball game.

The Bay State group is coached by Jack Leane of Brockton High. Other outstanding players who have been selected include: Peter Anderson and Bob Curry of Hyde Park; Bob Pike, Quincy; Jim Burke, Needham; Steve Stronker, Dorchester; Bill Noel, Revere; Brian Sullivan, Brockton; Ron Williams, Boston English, and Bill Rosary, Barnstable. Kevin Smith of Abington and Gerry Kavanagh of Bishop Stang are alternates.

Squirts Lose
To Melrose, 5-4

The Winchester Squirts opened the season Saturday, March 27, with a 5-4 loss to the Melrose Squirts. The game featured superb goal-tending by Steve Ferrullo.

Winchester dominated the first period with three goals. The first came early in the game on a break-away by Allyn Stillman, which beat the Melrose goalie through the pads. Stillman scored his second goal of the game shortly afterwards on a fine pass from Ruddy Pronski. Mark Fazio scored his first goal of the season when the Melrose defense failed to clear the puck from in front of their own net.

The second period opened up with a goal by Melrose forward Brickley, who got by the Winchester defense and fired a flip shot over the outstretched glove of the goalie. Shortly afterward Winchester forward Allyn Stillman got a penalty for cross-checking. Mel-

Help Wanted!

Tryouts for positions on the Little League teams will be held Saturday, with all those who have registered fighting for their favorite positions.

However, there is a definite need for more help from any man who is interested in the program. In the minor league, three National teams are still in need of managers.

Any interested man should call 729-6434 for further information.

rose capitalized on a power play as Mark Aradagna scored on a fine shot that just beat the Winchester goalie between the pads and the post, but Winchester struck back as Bill Strazullo scored on a rebound shot off the stick of Bubba Sanford.

Melrose had a chance to score late in the second period on a penalty shot taken by Melrose's Dellapascua, but was robbed on a great save by goalie Mike Schromm.

The third period belonged to Melrose, as they scored on a power play while Ron DiVenezia was off for boarding. Melrose's hustling forward, Jim Turner, scored to make the score, 4-3, Winchester.

Mark Aradagna scored the tying goal on the stick side while there was a mad scramble in front of the Winchester crease. Mike Jackson drew the third penalty of the game for cross-checking. Mark Aradagna capitalized, scoring his third goal of the game for the hat trick, and the winning goal to give the Melrose Flyers a well-earned win over Winchester, 5-4.

The next Winchester Squirts game will be played at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, April 3, at Melrose Hockeytown U.S.A. against Manchester.

Because of political troubles in Poland, the great composer Chopin left for Paris. On his way, news reached him of the capture of Warsaw by the Russians and this event inspired his "Study in C minor."

Sons Of Italy
Team Wins, 5-1

SOI goalie Mike Fitzpatrick played his third game in a row, allowing only three goals in the final three games. The SOI closed out the year in third place with an 8-7 record, but were playing the best hockey of any team in the league over the final six games.

The previous Tuesday, the SOI won 7-1 over Polaris. This game was highlighted by two short-handed goals by Fran Manzi.

Bob Nutile was an important factor in the final game, scoring two goals and assisting on two others.

SOI coach Tony Bruno was impressed by the good play of the team in the final six games and feels they were the best team in the league over the last month of play.

Duplicate Bridge Club

On Wednesday, April 7th, the Club is holding its annual Charity Game for the benefit of the American Contract Bridge League; for 1971 the League has chosen the National Multiple Sclerosis Society as its beneficiary. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

There were a number of good games in Section A on Wednesday, March 24th, the best being scored by Ev and Bob Blackler North-South and by Jerry and Nelson Bell East-West.

A large field of thirteen tables settled down in Section B, and after the play and the scoring, relative newcomers to the Club, — Ann Oppenheimer and Mary Sullivan, were the North-South winners; East-West the matched-up-at-the-door partnership of Eileen Brennan and Ralph Green came in first.

West led the King of diamonds. How would you proceed in the South seat?

Our South did his careful thinking after the first lead, and it paid off for him. The 10 and 9 of diamonds are losers in the South hand, but one can go on the Ace of spades, so all looks serene if clubs break 3-3. But what if they don't? In that case, South has to play the Ace and King of clubs and ruff a small club with North's Jack of hearts before drawing trumps, and that's the way our South played it, making 6H.

West's King of diamonds was taken by South's Ace; the Ace of clubs, King of clubs and club ruff followed. North's Ace of spades was played for the discard of South's 9 of diamonds. Then the Ace and King of hearts were led. A small spade was ruffed by South, and the Queen of hearts led to take out the last trump. Now South's clubs are good, and the 10 of diamonds is given up at the end for the only losing trick.

How did the eleven North-Souths playing the hand fare? Seven made six and four made five.

N.B. Of course a club lead by West makes it easy for South to make his six.

Lexington Is State Titlist

by John F. Parrell

Coach Stan Boynton's Lexington Minutemen have swept over all opposition to become the undisputed state champions in basketball. They marched through 18 Middlesex League games undefeated to take the Middlesex League championship and also took outside games from Boston English and Hyde Park. They then played through the Tech Tourney, winning every game and trounced Watertown for the Class B title.

Then came the state finals at Boston Garden in which they won top honors by beating a determined Boston English team. To reach the final they bested hard nosed Somerville, 66-60, in a hard fought game. The Minutemen accomplished this outstanding feat by some excellent play on defense, and some well executed pass off which netted key hoops in crucial moments. They have a great star in Ronnie Lee, but the real reason for their success is the excellent team spirit, which brought them back twice from deficits in the final with English. They were one of the few outstanding teams in a season of individual stars, and are a credit to the Middlesex League, which they represented so well.

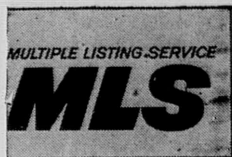

Paging An Accountant!

by John F. Parrell

In last week's issue of the Star the story of the annual basketball game between the seniors and the faculty was given thorough coverage. The scoring summary was taken from the official score book and showed a verdict for the students by 54-53.

However, the faculty team claims that the scorer was in error, and that the actual tally was Faculty 53 — Students 50. It would require the wisdom of Solomon

Federal Tax Bite Is $824,736,000 Locally

Taxes are again in the spotlight in Middlesex County, what with the day of reckoning, April 15th, just around the corner.

Uncle Sam will be present that day, hand extended, to receive all offerings in the form of personal income taxes based upon 1970 earnings.

The big question in each taxpayer's mind, as he struggles with the various forms and schedules he must fill out, is how big the bite will be this time.

Last year, approximately $845,016,000 in personal income taxes left the local area, bound for Washington.

This time, based upon Government estimates, the overall amount is expected to be somewhat less. This is due to the favorable factor of a smaller surtax, 2 1/2 percent, and despite the fact that many people earned more money in 1970 than in the previous year. The reason is that there were many more people than usual who were unemployed.

As a result, the Government expects to collect $88.3 billion in personal taxes, or $1.9 billion less than last April.

Middlesex County's share of the tax load was determined by an unofficial breakdown of the payments received from Massachusetts as a whole, which totaled $5,084,000,000.

Local residents contributed close to 27.4 percent of that amount, or about $845,016,000.

This year, in line with the changed economic situation and with the revised figures contained in the budget that was recently submitted to Congress, the personal tax returns from the local area will be around $824,736,000, it is estimated.

Large as this amount is, it may be the smallest sum they will be called upon to pay, on an annual basis, for some time to come.

The expectations for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1971, run considerably higher. The budget counts on personal income taxes reaching $93.7 billion, which is $5.4 billion more than at present.

For Middlesex County residents to be able to carry their current share of that tax load and, at the same time, maintain their present standard of living, their 1971 incomes will have to be about 6.1 percent higher than they were in 1970. (Park Row News Service)

Local Residents Heavily Insured

Residents of Middlesex County, reacting to the nation's economic downturn during the last year or two, have set about putting their own finances on a sounder footing.

Notwithstanding the fact that their paychecks have been on the rise, most families have been affected by the recession.

The higher cost of living, the growing amount of unemployment and other domestic problems, combined with the war in Vietnam, have led them to postpone some of their non-essential spending.

Most of the money they would have spent, under normal conditions, went into savings accounts, into reducing general indebtedness, and into life insurance and health insurance.

From the standpoint of insurance, Middlesex County residents are better protected, as a result, than they have ever been.

In the local area, the amount of life insurance in force at the beginning of this year reached a new high of approximately $10.545-147,000.

The facts and figures on the distribution of insurance, nationally and by states, are contained in the 1970 Life Insurance Fact Book. They show that the average family increased its protection by $1,600 in the past year.

The additions have brought the overall amount of life insurance in force in the United States to more than $1.4 trillion. Massachusetts's share of this total is placed at $39,997,000,000, as compared with the $37,034,000,000 reported a year ago.

Not included in these figures are the coverage provided by the Federal government for veterans and others and insurance issued by fraternal organizations.

The report states that a sharp increase in the number of young families with bigger incomes and often greater responsibilities may have been another major factor behind the 1970 surge in insurance coverage.

For the average family in Massachusetts, the amount of insurance carried is found to be equivalent to its net earnings, after taxes, for a period of 25 months.

In Middlesex County on this basis, for the average level of income prevailing in the local area, ownership of life insurance now comes to approximately $26,850 per family.

The average elsewhere in the United States is $21,100 per family and, in Massachusetts, $24,700. (Park Row News Service)

Bartlett School Enrolling For Fall Learning

The Bartlett Private Elementary School, 34 and 36 Bartlett Avenue, is accepting enrollment for September, 1971, in kindergarten, sub-primary and grades one through six. Bartlett School, opened in 1933 by Mrs. Norine D. Casey, is directed by Miss Norine T. Casey, who received her bachelor of arts degree from Wellesley College, her master of arts degree in teaching from Harvard University and who has directed Bartlett School since 1954. Miss Casey was listed in the first edition of "Who's Who of American Women."

Children four years of age are eligible for the kindergarten class, those five or almost five for sub-primary class. Kindergarten and sub-primary classes are mornings only, with emphasis on the teaching of reading and printing as well as painting, coloring, and cutting activities. One hour each morning is spent in a music room with guitar and piano singing and dancing activities. The morning ends on the playground where the children may enjoy a sandbox, slide, seesaws, and swings.

It is not essential that a child attend Bartlett School kindergarten or sub-primary in order to be eligible for grade one.

Children in grades one through six bring a thermos lunch to school and have lessons until 2:30 p.m. Reading is taught through phonetic analysis in grade one.

Both cursive writing and manuscript printing are introduced at this level. Mathematics lessons are divided between traditional and modern math.

English lessons are divided into periods devoted to literature, creative writing, and grammar. Science lessons stress a love and protection of the environment.

Children in all grades enjoy lessons in music and art. Individual instruction is offered to the older students. Intermediate grade children have swimming and gym periods at the Arlington Boys' Club. French is taught in the intermediate grades.

Transportation is provided for families living in Arlington and adjacent communities. Car pools are arranged for children in other communities.

Regional School Plans Completed For Open House

Parents of prospective students have been extended a special invitation to attend open house at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational High School, Wakefield, on Friday, April 2.

Superintendent-Director Douglas J. Tilley said that while the parents of present Northeast students and the general public would find the open house event interesting and informative, the parents of prospective students would particularly benefit from a visit during open house to see first-hand the type of instruction their sons and daughters would receive as Northeast students next fall or subsequent school years.

"The staff and students have worked very hard," Supt. Tilley said, "to make this open house as exciting and attractive as any industry presentation, such as the home show or flower show, which draw thousands of people every year. The best part of our Open House is that admission is free, while industry shows charge a fee just to browse around."

Every vocational shop at Northeast is planning a display of finished work to be exhibited in convention-style booths in the auditorium, as well as live demonstrations in the shops, with students and instructors going about typical daily activities. Academic instructors and students will utilize the wide variety of audio-visual instructional aids in classroom demonstrations.

Technicians who installed some of the more sophisticated equipment in the 6½-acre school building, will augment the instructional staff to explain the use of the equipment to visitors.

The newly installed closed circuit color television system will be fully operational for open house, airing videotaped and live programs in continuous demonstration.

A variety of athletic activities has been scheduled for the gymnasium, and a water ballet has been in rehearsal stages for weeks as an added attraction.

Hours for the open house have been set from 7 to 10 p.m. Supt. Tilley pointed out that ample, lighted parking facilities are available on school grounds to accommodate visitors.

Instant Shield 'n' Seal self sealing plastic is available at The Winchester Star. Provides permanent protection for snapshots, clippings, licenses, receipts, credit cards, diplomas, certificates etc.

Cooking Party On April 12

A new kind of cooking party to entertain and inform housewives will be staged by the Sons of Italy at their meeting on Monday, April 12, in the Sons of Italy hall on Swanton Street, Winchester, at 8 p.m. On stage will be Mrs. Jeanne Ambuter, who will conduct a cooking session in which gourmet dishes will be prepared with full directions and comments on kitchen techniques, shopping advice, and serving suggestions.

Mrs. Ambuter has chosen for her menu theme, "Heritage Cooking." Some recipes have historic associations in American history. However, Mrs. Ambuter has made a careful conversion to modern measurements and cooking techniques. Each woman attending will get a printed copy of all recipes used in the program and a free cook book of unsophisticated recipes.

Part of Mrs. Ambuter's state setting is a work table with a large overhead mirror which allows everyone in the audience to see clearly all the details of food preparation. Some lucky winners will go home with the gourmet dishes as door prizes.

Mrs. Ambuter is a food consultant and researcher for new food products. She lectures and cooks for display. After many years as an advertising executive during which she wrote about food for publications, instruction booklets, trade papers, radio, television and commercial films, Mrs. Ambuter chose to talk and demonstrate interesting dishes for women with similar interests in food. Her daughter, Mrs. Robin Longstreet, herself an accomplished cook, will assist Mrs. Ambuter on stage.

Hospitality chairlady for this program will be Mrs. Rose Fiore, who, along with her committee, will provide coffee and dessert following the program. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

School Athletics
Equipment Listed
In Inventory

The uneven distribution of physical education equipment among Winchester's public schools, both elementary and secondary, has been a subject at recent School Committee meetings.

An inventory of the real equipment available in each school as compared to that apparatus which has been recommended by the physical education department for each building has been prepared for School Committee members. Dates in parentheses represent the year of installation.

Gymnasium — Recommended

In the elementary schools both gymnasium and playground equipment is discussed. Gymnasium pieces suggested for each institution include a basketball court and baskets; two volleyball standards and nets; four climbing ropes; eight sectional mats, one mat truck; vaulting box; reuther board; pegboard with metal sieve holes; two chinning bars; balance beam; horizontal bar; a set of parallel bars and conversion kit; physical-educator; and ball bin with locking device.

Gymnasium — Real

According to the inventory count Parkhurst is the only school having a basketball court and baskets.

DIGGING IN for the En Ka Plant Sale at Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm, Cambridge Street, on Tuesday, April 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., are (left to right) Mrs. George Gowdy, chairman of the Plant Sale; Mrs. Russell Strout, chairman of the 1971 En Ka Street Fair on May 21 and 22; and Mrs. Warren Carley, co-chairman of the Plant Sale. A large percentage of all purchases at the Plant Sale go to En Ka Society for their help to various local charities and youth groups.

Under volleyball standards and nets High Street has six (1970) and Muraco has two (1968); the remaining schools have none. High Street (1970), Lincoln (1970) and Muraco (1967) each have the favored number of climbing ropes, four. Mystic has two (1970); Vinson-Owen has one (1967); the others have none.

Under mats and mat truck, High Street has one truck; Lincoln has no truck and four mats; Muraco has no truck and eight mats; Mystic has no truck and three mats; Noonan, three mats; Parkhurst, five mats; Vinson-Owen, four mats; Washington, four mats; and Wyman, four mats.

High Street (1970) and Muraco (1968) each have one vaulting box. Other sites do not have such apparatus. Concerning chinning bars High Street (1970) and Muraco (1968) both have two, while the other seven buildings each have one dating from either 1969 or 1970.

High Street and Muraco are the only schools having a balance beam, both installed in 1970. A physical-educator is available at Muraco (1968), Noonan (1970), Vinson-Owen (1969), and Washington (1969). High Street, Lincoln, Mystic, and Wyman do not have such a device.

None of the schools possess the recommended equipment such as a reuther board, pegboard, horizontal bar, parallel bars, or ball bin.

Playground — Recommended

Playground pieces suggested for each elementary site include two basketball backboards; softball backstop; soccer-football goalposts; horizontal bars or overhead ladder or giant musclemat; a set of fixed parallel bars; and 12 road cones.

Playground — Real

From these recommendations the only equipment presently at the schools is one musclemat (1970) at Lincoln and at Vinson-Owen. Vinson-Owen also has a saddle mate lion.

Secondary Equipment

A related inventory of physical education equipment available in the high and junior high schools was also available as of March 19.

Under balance beams the Senior High has two and Lynch and McCall Junior Highs each house one. The Senior High has a spotting belt; Lynch, three (1961); and McCall, none. Each of the secondary buildings has a vaulting box. Only the Senior High has a chalk stand.

Of the three schools Lynch has three basketball standards, the Senior High has four; Lynch, six (1961); and McCall, two. Both the Senior High and McCall have two horizontal bars each; Lynch has one (1961). Two side horses are provided in the Senior High, while one is found in each of the junior highs.

Under mats the Senior High has 12 resiliite, 18 hair (1965), and four wrestling mats. Lynch has 18 hair mats, and McCall has nine resiliite (1965-1969) and 12 hair (1969) mats. Sectional panel mats are not used in any of the secondary schools.

Lynch and McCall both have a set of parallel bars. All three schools are provided with a set of uneven parallel bars. Under stall bars the Senior High and McCall have three each; Lynch has two. The Senior High also has four pairs of still rings, while the junior highs both have two pairs of still and two sets of traveling rings each.

The Senior High is equipped with two reuther boards; Lynch has one; McCall has none. The Senior High has one springboard, while the junior highs both have two. Lynch has four pegboards (1968); McCall has two; the Senior High, none. A ball pump is available at the Senior High and at McCall; Lynch is provided with two.

Lynch is the only school of the three to have a volleyball net, of which it boasts two (1961). All three buildings each have two high jump standards and one heat board. The Senior High possesses three transporters; McCall has two; Lynch, none. The Senior High and McCall are both installed with a set of low parallel bars, while Lynch has none.

Equipment which none of the secondary schools possess include a ball rack or container, a vaulting box, wall parallel bars, and physical-educators.

School Committee Deliberates Budget

The Winchester School Committee sandwiched a special meeting between sessions of the Annual Town Meeting on Tuesday night, April 6, to act upon routine and procedural personnel matters and to continue work on its jeopardized budget.

Under personnel matters approval was given to amend the Rules and Regulations to adopt the salary schedule agreement with the Winchester Education Association for the school year 1971-1972. This covers teachers, custodians, clericals, and other related School Department staff members.

Concerning principals and assistant principals, a motion to waive the Rules and Regulations and authorize the administration to base their salaries for the school year 1971-1972 on the 1970-1971 salary guide was tabled. Committeeman Stephen R. Parkhurst said that the Committee was in "no position to act on this" due to the fact that negotiations with this group have not been completed.

Unanimous approval was given to the continuation of employment for the school year 1971-1972 of Raymond J. Dickman, principal of Mystic School, and Mrs. Mary T. Sullivan, a first grade teacher at Lincoln and a head teacher. In waiving Winchester's "recommendation" for retirement at 65 years, it was noted by Chairman Harriet H. Dieterich that State law, which cites age 70, supercedes that of the Town. Neither person is presently under longevity.

Steps

Also adopted was a motion to authorize the administration to move to the next step all tenure personnel in the school system and place them on the new salary guide.

Henry B. Perry, assistant superintendent for personnel, stated that this action was not automatic and that a large number of personnel were not on tenure. This year there have been no recommendations to withhold increments on any person as has been experienced in the past.

The evaluation procedure for tenure, Mr. Perry continued, is based upon informal reports and visitations. Committeeman Dr. Richard B. Lawrence suggested that future consideration be given to an "administratively feasible" method of tenure review such as is followed in business organizations more than once a year.

Question arose over whether persons acting as coordinators

Budget

The School Committee then retired into an executive session of approximately two hours in which discussion included the personal services account of the School Department budget. Disagreement was expressed between members of the Committee and Arthur J. Hewis Jr., a Town Meeting Member representing Precinct 1, as to whether open discussion of personnel would in reality "adversely affect the public security... or the reputation of any person."

Superintendent Klemmer cited a "drop in morale" among School Department staff as a recommendation for an executive session on personnel services and certain parts of the other expenses account. It was the suggestion of Clara M. Hewis of 91 Swanton Street that more openness might remedy speculation among personnel, thereby lessening this morale problem.

Town Boards Will Discuss Center Plan

The revitalization of Winchester Center will be the topic when the Board of Selectmen and the Planning Board meet at 7:15 p.m. Monday, April 12, at Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium. The boards will discuss Article 35 on the warrant for the Annual Town Meeting, the Winchester Center plan, after the Selectmen's 6:30 p.m. meeting at Town Hall has ended.

The Selectmen decided Monday evening, April 5, that they wanted more information on the proposal before it was considered by Town Meeting Members.

Article 35 calls for temporary closing of Main Street between Washington Street and the traffic circle under the overpass, at an estimated cost of $1,000 for sawhorses and labor; naming a committee for architectural and design review, and implementing engineering studies of several alterations in the configuration of Winchester Center.

In other business, the Selectmen agreed that a five-dollar juke box license for Chicken Out of Winchester, Incorporated, of 601 Main Street, is unnecessary. The Board rescinded an action it had taken Monday evening, March 29, on the matter.

The Selectmen noted that the firm has a common victualer's license. Under Section 183A of Chapter 140 of the Commonwealth's General Laws, no fee is chargeable for a juke box license to a person holding a common victualer's license under Section 2.

Fire Chief I. Francis Amico sent to the Selectmen school vandalism and fire prevention recommendations made by Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Safety William F. Powers and State Fire Marshal Ralph L. Garrett. The Selectmen voted to forward the suggestions to the School Committee, the Permanent Building Committee, and the Police Department.

Firemen's Relief Entertainment Will Be May 13

The Firemen's Relief Association Annual Entertainment has been a Winchester institution for approximately 80 years. To continue a two-year tradition, announcement of the Thursday, May 13, event has now been mailed to residents' homes.

This year's program will consist of entertainment by top area performers in the Winchester High School auditorium, followed by dancing until midnight at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Members of the Firemen's Relief Association, organized in 1895, appreciate the support given by residents in the past. President Joseph J. Faga again hopes that everyone "will join us in having a ball on May 13. We promise you will have a pleasant evening."

Court To Hear Petition On Assessing Winchester For Regional School Costs

A hearing will be held at 9:30 a.m. Monday, April 12, at Middlesex Superior Court in Cambridge on a petition for a declaratory judgment to determine the proper method of assessing Winchester and 11 other participating communities their share of the 1971 budget for the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School in Wakefield.

Parties to the action include Winchester, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, and Winthrop. The petition was prepared by Wakefield Town Counsel Mario L. Simeola.

District School Committeeman J. Edward Sharkey of Winchester and representative of the other towns had obtained oral and written advice from counsel that the original assessments had been overstated, especially to Winchester.

Mr. Sharkey had maintained that "full enrollment," as referred to in the agreement, meant the number of students based on quotas established by the committee.

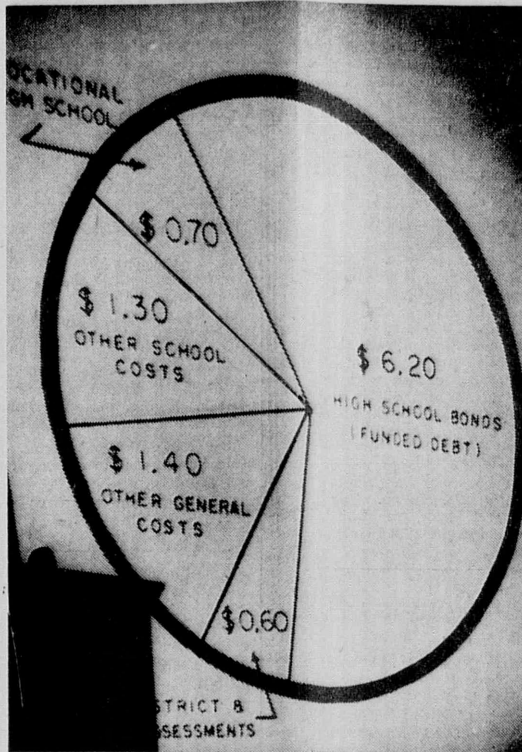

The Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational District School Committee had voted to ask the Massachusetts Department of Education's legal department for a ruling concerning cost apportionment.

Mr. Sharkey's position was confirmed in the ruling. William J. Wallace, general counsel for the Massachusetts Department of Education, said that his opinion was written in collaboration with Attorney Joseph Robinson of the Massachusetts School Building Assistance Bureau.

"The clear intent of subsection IV (D) of your agreement is to apportion costs for each calendar year on the basis of the number of pupils from each member municipality who are enrolled in the regional school on the previous October 1," Mr. Wallace wrote. He continued:

"The school was opened on September 6, 1970. There was an enrollment of 846 pupils on October 1, 1970. Therefore, the cost should be apportioned on the basis of the 846 pupils who were so enrolled."

"It is true that subsection IV (D) contains a provision that costs shall be apportioned on a different basis in the 'formative years' of the region. This provision was put in the agreement only for the reason that it was

Constellation's X-Ray Energy Million Times More Than Sun's, Local Astrophysicist Learns

Boston and New York newspapers recently publicized the findings of a Winchester astrophysicist, Dr. Walter H. G. Lewin of 25 Squire Road, and an associate, Dr. Jeffrey E. McClintock of 12 Norwood Street. Research by Dr. Lewin's scientific team revealed that the constellation Centaurus has an X-ray energy output in one second of flaring about a million times greater than the total energy released by the sun in a second.

Dr. Lewin was born in Holland. He received his bachelor's and doctor of philosophy degrees at Delft, the Netherlands. He is with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Center for Space Research. He, Mrs. Lewin, and their four children have lived in Winchester since November, 1969. The children are Paulina, ten, a fifth grade pupil at the Vinson-Owen School; Manuel, nine, in the third grade at the school; Emma, six, a kindergarten pupil at Vinson-Owen, and Jakob, four.

Dr. McClintock was born in Seattle, Washington. He was awarded his bachelor of science degree by Stanford University and his doctor of philosophy degree in X-ray astronomy by MIT. He has remained at MIT on a research assignment.

Describing the source of X-rays as "strangely unlike any other known," John N. Wilford of the New York Times wrote:

"The phenomenon, which was discovered in data from a high-flying scientific balloon, was described by astronomers as an indication of massive celestial explosions that could be a 'very crucial key in stellar evolution.'"

"The magnitude of the fluctuations was as if the sun increased its power by five times in a few seconds," the New York newspaper quoted Dr. Lewin as saying.

"The X-ray energy coming from the constellation rose to a peak and then fell to a minimum over periods as short as 15 seconds," the article reported.

"The 550-foot-diameter MIT balloon reached 10,000 feet higher than any other balloon-borne X-ray detectors had ever flown," the story continued.

"A report of the MIT group's findings, is contained in a paper submitted to the Astrophysical Journal," it concluded.

Winchester Red Cross Offers Letter Reprints On Treatment Of POW's

"It could have the greatest impact yet on North Vietnam's treatment of United States prisoners-of-war."

The comment, made by Clarence S. Lyon, chairman of the Winchester Red Cross chapter, was in reference to what will probably be the biggest protest yet over North Vietnam's treatment of its American prisoners.

The 17,750,000 copies of the April issue of Reader's Digest are carrying a protest letter that readers are asked to clip and mail to the American National Red Cross in Washington, D. C., where they will be tabulated and then forwarded to the president of North Vietnam.

It is the latest effort in the 18-month Red Cross campaign to gain humane treatment for the American captives. The Red Cross is asking that North Vietnam repatriate all sick and wounded Americans, and release or transfer to a neutral nation all those whose health has been jeopardized by long confinement, said Mr. Lyon.

Mr. Lyon also stated that the Winchester Red Cross Chapter has available upon request reprints of the Digest's coupon letter. The magazine also is offering up to ten additional copies of the protest free to readers requesting them, while larger quantities are being made available to companies and organizations on a non-profit basis.

Annual Town Meeting To Resume On Monday

The ninth session of the 1971 Annual Town Meeting will get under way at 7:15 p.m. Monday, April 12, in Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium. Still remaining unsettled under Article Eight is the school budget issue. Also yet to be acted upon are 35 articles on the 47-article warrant.

The School Committee discussed its $5,672,924 proposal for Budget 6100 at its Tuesday evening, April 6, meeting. It also scheduled a joint meeting with the Finance Committee on the topic for Wednesday evening, April 7.

A $5,566,959 school budget, $105,965 less than the School Committee wanted, had been proposed by the Finance Committee. Two nearly full evenings of discussion had failed to win approval by the Annual Town Meeting of the School Committee's recommendations.

Town Meeting Members tabled the budget at the request of Mrs. Harriet Dieterich, chairman of the School Committee, so that her group could give it "further study." The matter could be removed from the table Monday evening, April 12, if the School Committee members had a new proposal ready.

Thursday

The Thursday evening session, April 1, of the 1971 Annual Town Meeting closed with a reaffirmation of procedure, a change of pace from previous budget labors under Articles 8 and 9.

Action was completed on Article 9 with approval conferred upon two items in the main motion, four Police Department cruisers at $10,200 and a Highway Department Gradall at $53,145, and one item in an amendment, a Water and Sewer Department half-ton pick-up truck for $2,330. The total appropriation for capital equipment under this article was $65,875.

As in the previous action of March 29 which saw a Highway Department front end loader and rescue truck for the Fire Department rejected, Town Meeting Members turned down a request by the Cemetery Committee for a one-ton truck at $3,771.

Reverting to Article 8, the budgets for the Police Department, Item 3000, $535,204 total, and for Highways and Bridges, Item 4500, $284,886 total, were adopted. Bids to amend to an increase in each budget were defeated.

Draft Board Office To Move

Selective Service Local Board No. 108 is expected to move from 13R Church Avenue, Woburn, on Monday, May 31. The office, which serves draft registrants in Winchester and Stoneham, will be relocated in Cambridge, at a site to be determined.

No replacements have been named for Chairman Charles A. Murphy and Member Frank P. Hurley, who recently resigned from Local Board No. 108. The office of State Selective Service Director Victor C. Bynoe said that appointments are made by the President upon the recommendation of the Governor.

According to a reaffirmation of procedure, budgets listed in future Reports of the Finance Committee will include both the recommendation of that Committee and the budget requested by the individual department. This practice, believed to date back to the 1961 Annual Town Meeting, will provide Members with the opportunity to study proposals prior to their presentation on the floor.

Discussion of Article 9 was resumed Thursday night with the request by the Water and Sewer Department for a half-ton pick-up truck. An appropriation of $2,330 was made for this equipment.

Ernest A. Phillips Jr. of the Water and Sewer Board explained that replacement of the six-year-old truck has been recommended from last year's and this year's budgets. The impact on the tax rate was given as one and one-third cents per $1,000 assessment. Repairing the present truck for another year of use was estimated at $500.

The intended purchase, which is not subject to sales or excise taxes, will be an econo-van-type body that can be closed and locked, affecting greater efficiency and hopefully lessening the liability incurred with open vans. The combined department presently own five "miscellaneous" vehicles purchased through Civil Defense at a total of $250, or $50 each.

It is the intention of the Water and Sewer Board in the future, Mr. Phillips informed Members, to trade-in their vehicles every three or four years, expecting to purchase one or two pieces each year. The rationale is to pay less initially and limit maintenance costs.

Discussion arose over a discrepancy in figures concerning the combined number of the two departments' personnel and vehicles. The personnel figure cited by Raymond J. Kenney, chairman of the Finance Committee, was four lower than Mr. Phillips' 26 due to his elimination of three clerks and a water registrar who

Town Meeting Members took these actions during the eighth session of the Annual Town Meeting Monday evening, April 15, at Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium:

1. Approved these budgets: 5100—Snow and Ice, $233,200; 7750—Workmen's Compensation Law — Compensation, $42,000; 8500 — Water, $254,401; 8800—Cemetery, $105,691, under Article Eight.

2. Defeated Article Ten, which would have established a Capital Planning Committee.

3. Approved Article 11, providing $1,000 for appraisal and other expenses for the Conservation Commission in acquiring land.

4. Approved Article 12, granting the Conservation Commission $14,000, to add to $25,000 previously authorized, to acquire ten acres of land from Anthony and Carmella M. Rosetti for conservation purposes.

5. Voted not to meet on Maundy Thursday, April 8, in keeping with tradition.

6. Voted to hold the ninth session at 7:45 p.m. Monday April 12, at Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium.

Budget 5100 — Snow and Ice was approved by Town Meeting Members, as amended, for $233,200. The Selectmen were successful in getting an additional $3,800 over the $229,400 originally sought. The extra funds will be used to put the Highway Department's 12-year-old front end loader in condition.

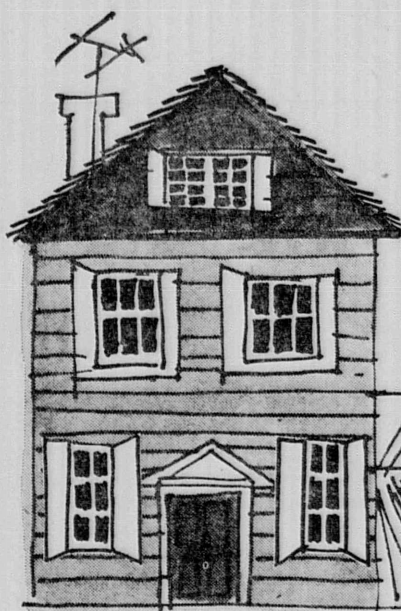

A motion by G. William Carter III of Precinct Two that Budget 5100 be tabled until Article 17 was acted upon was defeated. Mr. Carter believed, he said that Article 17, calling for the town to "reconsider its present policies for snow and ice removal, take appropriate action to limit the use of salt on the roads and sidewalks, and substitute a method of snow and ice removal that would minimize damage to the community by salt" might have budgetary effects. Chairman Ralph M. Swanson of the Board of Selectmen said that the Selectmen did not believe that Article 17 would affect the budget.

Let There Be Light

In the last few decades we have come a long way from the gloominess which the Western World seemed to believe to be the only way of honoring the departed. The emphasis on black, the marathon "wakes" which left survivors physically exhausted and psychologically drained, the entire atmosphere of bleak hopelessness, has been greatly softened or even eliminated. The funeral rites are just as reverent, but now as we remember the dead we also consider the living and in warm and gracious surroundings we endeavor to remove some of the sting from their tragedy rather than adding to the burden they must bear.

Children's Choir Concert Planned By Unitarians

The celebrated Chicago Children's Choir will perform in Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church on Thursday evening, April 29, at 8 p.m.

This famous choir, composed of children 10 to 18-years-old, has appeared on television often, has sung several times with the Chicago Symphony, and has performed with three opera companies. At the invitation of the U.S. Government, they sang six concerts at Expo 67 in Montreal and were asked to extend their tour to include two Canadian provinces.

They have entertained in many parts of this country and will be on tour in the New England area during the latter part of April. Families in the Unitarian Church will extend overnight hospitality to them.

Last summer the Chicago Tribune helped to raise $23,000 in 10 days in order to accept invitations from England, Denmark, and Germany for the choir's visitations. The children are considered valued goodwill ambassadors.

Membership in the Chicago Children's Choir cuts across all economic, cultural and racial lines. Able in seven languages, their repertoire includes some of the finest music written for children's voices, ranging from plainchant to Poulenc, from 17th century glee to rousing, foot-tapping gospel hymns.

Their director, Christopher Moore, founded the group in 1956 as an experimental program in the First Unitarian Church of Chicago. In 1963 Urban Gateways, a citizens' corporation providing cultural enrichment projects for disadvantaged children, became the choir's co-sponsor.

Training choruses are now established at seven sites in three Chicago inner-city neighborhoods. Concert voices are chosen from about 400 in training at these centers and the church. These choirs raise approximately one-third of the program's expenses during their tours. The remainder is shared by Urban Gateways and the First Unitarian Church of Chicago.

The public is cordially invited to hear this exceptional choir of children's voices. An offering will provide an opportunity to help carry on this excellent musical project.

Social Security Checks To Show Increases Voted

First checks to include the new ten percent monthly benefit increase authorized in legislation acted upon this week by Congress will reach 26 million social security beneficiaries on June 3.

Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, said that the regular June 3 checks covering benefits for May will reflect the new higher monthly amount. Separate checks, scheduled to reach beneficiaries later in June, will cover the amount of the increase for January through April.

Mr. Ball emphasized that social security beneficiaries do not need to get in touch with a social security office to get the checks. The payments will be mailed to beneficiaries automatically.

It will take a little over one month, Mr. Ball said, to refigure the benefit amounts for all beneficiaries, including the adjustment to take account of events that have affected their individual benefit payments for a particular month in the retroactive period. Over 2.5 million such adjustments are required in a typical month, he said, for such reasons as the death of a beneficiary, the remarriage of a widow, a child's attainment of age 18, or a beneficiary's earnings.

The refiguring of benefit amounts is being scheduled so as to avoid delay in the regular delivery of the April 3 and May 3 checks, he said. Those checks will be for the amounts payable to beneficiaries before enactment of the 10 percent increase.

By the first of May, the new records will have been produced by the computers on magnetic tapes showing the new monthly amount for each beneficiary and the amount of his retroactive increase. The Treasury Department will need the month of May to print the checks and turn them over to the Post Office Department for delivery to social security beneficiaries on June 3.

Junior Circle Hosts Speaker On Fashions

The spring meeting of the Winchester Junior Circle of the Florence Crittenton League was held Tuesday evening, March 30, at the home of Mrs. John Carroll, 54 Emerson Road.

President, Mrs. Edward T. Rodriguez, conducted a short business meeting prior to the evening's speaker. The main topic of business was the annual spring dance to be held May 1 with the theme "Around the World." Anyone interested in tickets may contact Mrs. Edward Hinds, 729-5877.

The speaker for the evening was Miss Frances Selfo, free lance fashion consultant. Miss Selfo is a member of the Boston Fashion Board, former director of the Academie Moderne and presently is a staff member of Aquinas Junior College. She spoke on "Fashion Trends of Today."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward R. Haddad and her committee as members of the group continued talking informally with Miss Selfo.

Mrs. Ostrakh Is Speaker At Mystic

Mrs. Herbert Ostrakh was the speaker on Wednesday evening, March 31, in the Mystic School auditorium, at a parents' meeting of the Mystic School Mothers' Association. Mrs. Ostrakh spoke on the elementary school drug education program, which she and her husband have developed.

She described the approach at the fifth- and sixth-grade levels and also in the junior high and high schools. Mrs. Ostrakh said that in the fifth and sixth grades, the approach in drug education is through science and social studies projects. Through these projects are conveyed essential messages, such as that a decision one individual makes can affect the society in which he lives.

This ties in with conclusions reached in the junior high and high school personal ethics programs, in which it is brought out that drug abuse is not an individual's own business," Mrs. Ostrakh said. Rather, drug abuse affects: 1) the individual; 2) his family; 3) his community; and 4) society.

Following Mrs. Ostrakh's talk, there was a discussion period. Refreshments were then served by Mrs. Richard J. Theriault, hospitality chairman, and her committee.

Roman Club Visits Museum

The Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum was the scene Thursday evening of a meeting of the Lynch Junior High School Roman Club.

A group of 19 members, under the supervision of Mrs. Edith Phelan, paid an unusual visit to this museum, observing the art of the Romans and the later Italians. In place of guides three students, Vincent Palumbo, Joseph Vick Roy, and George Zettler, well prepared by a prior visit, lectured to their fellow students, each one being responsible for a different floor of the palace. The open court and the lavish flowers were also of great interest to all the members. Guards in the museum, as well as bystanders, seemed impressed by the maturity and seriousness of purpose shown by club members.

Their trip was concluded by attendance at the museum's evening concert.

WE RUN A NO ACCOUNT STORE

The other day the bank sent us two of their most persuasive executives. They wanted us to honor credit cards. They said it would increase sales by at least 15%. They said people would spend more freely... even buy things they didn't need. They said they took all the risk, did all the collecting, all the bookkeeping... for a mere 3 1/2% of the sale. We turned them down. Why?

1. We're in the bargain business. We don't let ourselves. You come here to save money. If we raise our prices by 3 1/2% to cover this bank charge, maybe you won't come here anymore.
2. As I said, we're in the bargain business, not the finance business. If you can save enough money by shopping here you'll arrange your own financing.

And Then There's the Moral Aspect

You are our friends, not our victims. We really don't want you to spend more than you intend to. We don't try to "sell" you anything. We just try to run a "fun" place to buy, and at the lowest prices in New England. If we make it too easy for you to go into debt, are we really friends or foes?

A pipe froze and broke spraying water all over the stockroom of the Newton branch of a chain of "discount" department stores. Any package showing even a remote possibility of damage was turned over to the insurance company who foisted it upon us. Now, (if we get YOU in here), we'll just abolish the perfect merchandise, in not quite perfect packages, upon you at 30% to 60% off the VERY, VERY Competitive prices of this nationally known discount store. Author, Subject Of Yankee Story Are Local Women

An article in the April issue of Yankee magazine, written by a Winchester woman, features another local woman.

The author is Mrs. Winfield G. Knopf of 233 Main Street. Her subject is Miss Eleanor R. Banks of 12 McCull Road.

Mrs. Knopf's article, "The Rock Lady," appears in the Small Business and Crafts section of the publication. Mrs. Knopf, who studied writing at Northeastern University, may expand the article to book length. This is her first published article.

Miss Banks is known to many townspeople through her work with Staff and Key, the Gilbert and Sullivan group which entertains here each year. She founded the Mineral Rock Club of Winchester and a Cambridge branch.

"Oddly enough, it was Miss Banks' initial career as a singer (voice studies at Columbia won her a scholarship to Salzburg, Austria) that led her to minerals. Through her music, she became friends with the Trapp family, and it was at their summer camp in the Green Mountains that Eleanor first discovered the joys of rock collecting. A small piece of mica, curved by prehistoric buckling of the earth's surface, aroused her curiosity and started her along the road to becoming the 'Rock Lady,' Mrs. Knopf wrote.

"A few years later, the Winchester Mineral Club was born. Now, 11 years later, the club is still thriving," Mrs. Knopf continued, noting that a few of its "graduates" are already geologists.

Pine Street Residence Entered

Entry into a Pine Street residence was apparently gained sometime Saturday, April 3, by breaking a glass pane located on the back porch.

Officer John E. Guarente noted "very little" ransacking in his report. Known to be missing at that time were a portable television, two radios, stereo receiver and amplifier, and a small toy bank.

Now that they've been to the moon and taken pictures of Mars, scientists are looking for signs of intelligent life on Earth.

Larcenies Reported

Winchester police are investigating a number of larcenies which have occurred recently, several involving the ransacking of automobiles.

Complaints brought to the Station on Wednesday, March 31, included the loss of a tape deck, two front speakers and tapes from a Wedgemere Avenue car; portable radio from a Squire Road automobile; man's raincoat and hat, later found at the rear of the Indian Hill Road residence; and hat and keys from a vehicle parked on Cox Road.

On Friday items taken from automobiles included $2 in change on High Street; 30 keys, papers, and credit cards on LaGrange Street; and tires and wheels at Bonnell's Body Shop, Main Street. A snow blower from a Forest Street yard, a wallet at Winchester High School, and a pocketbook and gloves from the kitchen of a Yale Street residence were also reported as missing items.

A Ledyard Road homeowner found that a stereo phonograph and AM/FM radio with an eight-track cartridge player could not be located, though there were no signs of forced entry.

On Saturday a vehicle parked on Mystic Valley Parkway was discovered ransacked, though nothing was known to be missing at that time. A Swanton Street address was relieved of money from a number of washers, dryers and a food dispensing machine and an automobile left at Wedgemere Station lost its hub caps.

Police arrested a 16-year-old Medford boy for larceny of a bicycle on Main Street Sunday.

On Monday a pocketbook was said to have been taken from a vehicle while it was parked on Foxcroft Road and a Lloyd Street resident informed police that a bicycle was missing.

Brush Fires Mark Increase

The Winchester Fire Department has been pressed into increased activity recently, primarily due to recurring grass and brush fires at scattered locations.

A peak was reached Friday, April 2, with 10 runs, seven of them for grass and brush, most taking place between 2 and 7 p.m. Two visits were necessary to the George and Charles Roads area on the Woburn line, where burning brush has been frequent lately.

Apparatus was called out seven times on Sunday, four of them falling between 2:12 and 3:31 p.m. that afternoon. Brush was responsible for three runs in this total. A blaze in the Metropolitan District Commission woods at the rear of Winford Way kept Engine Four working nearly two-and-a-half hours at that time.

VA has eliminated its 5 per cent funding fee on guaranteed and direct loans to post-Koreans vets.

Parents For Single Session Group Is Formed

Winchester residents concerned with the local implementation of the state school lunch law met Sunday evening, April 4, and formed the Parents for a Single Session group.

The group is interested in seeing implementation of the school lunch law in Winchester and in a shorter elementary school day.

Initial research presented at the meeting by representatives of various school districts showed that disparities exist among Winchester elementary schools as to the way the school lunch hour is operated, a group spokesman said.

The Parents for a Single Session is planning a future panel discussion to include state and federal legal aspects of the law, implementation with the greatest economy and least alterations to existing schools, how the lunch preparation facility can be used as a teaching station, and the effects of an in-school lunch program on the development of the child as a complete individual.

The next meeting of The Parents for a Single Session will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday, April 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Bloch of 49 Wildwood Street. All interested residents are invited by the group to attend.

Park Reopens On April 11

Shaheen's Fun-O-Rama Park at Salisbury Beach, reopens for the 17th season on Easter Sunday, April 11, with numerous new entertainment attractions.

For the remainder of April, Fun-O-Rama Park will be open Sundays only from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m., according to Roger Shaheen, owner. Then on April 30, the weekend schedule will commence when the park will be open Friday and Saturday evenings at 7 and Sundays at 1 p.m.

Secretary Volpe Reviews Progress In Transportation

By John A. Volpe, Secretary of Transportation

Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, formerly of Winchester, reviews the progress made by the United States Department of Transportation in 1970, in the following article. The former Governor of Massachusetts was named to his cabinet post by President Richard M. Nixon in 1969.

Late in October, a young magazine writer — a friend of mine — was full of complaints. He was doing a piece on transportation and had finished it. Unfortunately for him, Congress was passing a number of important laws, which forced him to rewrite his article — four times in a period of 12 days.

This flurry of legislative activity, moreover, came near the close of a year of solid transportation progress. Transportation turned the corner in 1970.

This fulfilled President Nixon's hopes, for he had included mass transportation and airport and airways development in his top 10 priorities for the 91st Congress.

The new legislation can best be appreciated by examining it against a background of the transportation challenges that faced us in January 1970.

Airport Airways

The average airline passenger waiting for his plane to take-off cannot help but be impressed by all the busy activity at our modern big city airports. The crowds of passengers are large, the planes lined-up for take off. In modernized cargo sheds, computerized conveyor systems are operating 24 hours a day moving huge volumes of air freight. But this activity is precisely the problem.

For the past ten years aviation grew tremendously. Air cargo doubled every three or four years. Airline passengers increased at a steady rate of more than 10 percent a year. Yet the supporting systems of aviation — our airports, navigational aids, air traffic control — have not kept pace. These must all be modernized and enlarged and improved.

The first major transportation bill passed in 1970 is designed to meet this need. Our Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970 authorizes the Department of Transportation to commit approximately $600 million annually for the next five years to improve and modernize airports and air navigation and traffic systems. A large portion of these funds will come from user taxes on aviation fuels, air freight bills of lading, and passenger tickets.

The votes by which this bill was passed by the Congress emphasize its importance. (The Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970 passed the House 337-6 and in the Senate 77-0.

Railroad Passenger Service

The challenge in railroad passenger service is the reverse of aviation's problem. During the Sixties inter-city railroad passengers and passenger trains declined steadily. A decade ago, there were 1500 passenger trains. Today, there are less than 400. Yet we need modern rail passenger service.

Our new National Rail Passenger Service Act of 1970 will maintain and encourage this needed service. The Act authorizes our Department to establish a quasi-public corporation to operate essential rail passenger service. This corporation will help ease the financial drain on the rail industry and permit the railroads to improve their remaining service.

The Federal government will provide $40 million for initial organization; $100 million in loan guarantees for the purchase of rolling stock and other equipment and $200 million for emergency loan guarantees to participating railroads. The Department of Transportation determined the basic route structure. Railroads which contract with the Corporation will have all of their passenger service taken over by the Corporation and will, at the same time, contribute cash and/or equipment to the Corporation.

Here again, the voting for the rail passenger bill was indicative of its importance. After being passed by the House of Representatives by a voice vote, the bill sailed through the Senate by the overwhelming vote of 78 to 3.

Railroad Safety

The second railroad problem was safety. During the past decade, train derailments more than doubled. The disaster potential is even greater because of the increasing volume of hazardous materials — chemicals, explosives, and highly volatile fuels — being transported by the nation's railroads. For example, our freight trains are now moving, every year, about one million tons of industrial explosives. This is over and above tons of military explosives, radioactive materials, rocket fuel and other hazardous materials.

The danger of these cargoes was evident in one accident which saw a large railroad car rocketed through the air for a third of a mile. In another accident, a railroad car burned for 15 days. In all, twelve railroad accidents in 1970 necessitated the evacuation of people from the accident areas. Railroad safety is an urgent priority. Our new Rail Safety act permits the Department of Transportation to issue more comprehensive rail safety standards — including standards covering the shipment of hazardous material. The new Act established a central, round the clock information and reporting safety system and authorizes us to begin a new rail safety research program.

The vote in the Congress, again, emphasizes the importance of the measure. After passage in the Senate by a voice vote, it passed the House unanimously — 358-0.

These new railroad laws will help all parties — the railroads, their passengers and the shippers who use them.

Mass Transportation

Our fourth transportation challenge needs no delineation: automobile traffic jams are strangling our cities.

A few statistics will dramatize the extent of this problem. We are adding to our highways more than 10,000 automotive vehicles a day — every day of the year. Most of this growth is occurring in metropolitan areas where about 75 percent of our population now resides. The inevitable result is horrific lines of bumper-to-bumper traffic. To free this congestion, we need a revitalized urban public transit service.

Public transit, too, is a story of decline. In the 17-year period from 1950 to 1967, public transit passengers decreased 50 percent; the number of public transit vehicles dropped from 87,000 to 58,000; and a total operating surplus of $66 million fell to a loss of $67 million. Action was needed and it came in the form of our Urban Mass Transportation Assistance Act of 1970. This Act provides for $3.1 billion in Federal aid over the next 5 years to be given to our cities and towns to help them upgrade and enlarge their bus and rapid transit rail systems. This new law will be a major tool in helping cities revitalize themselves.

The vote for the Urban Mass Transportation Assistance Act was also overwhelming. It sailed through the Senate, 84 to 4, and through the House of Representatives, 327 to 16.

St. Lawrence Seaway

The Congress also gave a boost to the St. Lawrence Seaway when it agreed — as part of the Merchant Marine Legislation — to eliminate interest payments on the Seaway's remaining $133.5 million debt, as well as on $22.4 million of deferred interest debt. This measure insures that tolls need not be increased and, thus, assists the continued growth of the Great Lakes ports and the economy of the Midwest.

Transportation Planning

Our legislative program represents only one phase of our effort to provide the nation with better transportation. The past year also saw us achieve new breakthroughs in policy and planning. We began work this year on a "first-time-ever" project — a well-defined National Transportation Policy. This policy will serve both as a guideline for long-range planning and as a model against which program goals and objectives can be judged.

We also launched a new National Transportation Needs Study. This study is our second "first-of-a-kind" effort, and it will indicate what types and amounts of transportation services will be needed throughout the country. Inputs from each of the 50 Governors as well as mayors and other local officials, citizens groups and private industry will go into the study.

This Needs Study will form the basis of new programs by the Department of Transportation to give individual states more flexibility in spending Federal transportation funds. For example, under the present arrangement, some states must spend all Federal highway money for highways whether they need them or not. We are now examining concepts of unified transportation funds, or other means of giving Governors and Mayors a voice in how transportation funds are spent.

Research and Development

The third phase of our program — transportation research and development — also moved forward in 1970. We took over the former NASA Electronics Research Center in Cambridge, Massachusetts, and converted it into a central source of research and development data for transportation.

Nearly 100 projects are being studied and developed at the center — highly advanced projects involving all of our Administrations. Scientists at the Center are conducting laboratory experiments leading to the development of an oil spill surveillance system for the Coast Guard; a crash sensor for the Highway Safety Bureau; and grade crossing train for the Highway Safety Bureau; and grade crossing train detection systems for the Federal Railroad Administration.

School Committee

Mrs. Mears was the only Committee member to register a negative vote for the move into executive session.

The Committee was working toward an intended budget meeting with the Finance Committee on Wednesday night, April 7. After discussion of the other expenses account, it was felt at the time of adjournment that enough possible cuts had been located to meet the Finance Committee's recommendations if necessary.

During this review it was brought out by Assistant Superintendent for Administrative Services William F. Clark that transfers of funds may have to be requested of the Finance Committee this fall for an anticipated $7,500-$8,000 further increase in fuel oil and for the installation of smoke density alarms in 11 schools at $750 each if the State decides to enforce this issue. Responding to a request for figures on vandalism, estimates of $8,000 in broken glass and $4,000 in thefts for this year were cited.

Accounts tabulated by Mr. Parkhurst fluctuated in additional total cuts, other than in personal services, of $32,000-$35,000. Items named for possible further reduction included library books, books and subscriptions, travel outside the Commonwealth, hired equipment, innovative supplies, new software, maintenance, sidewalk to High Street School, etc.

The Federal Railroad Administration is building a High Speed Ground Transportation Test Facility at Pueblo, Colorado, where tests of Tracked Air Cushion Vehicles and Linear Induction Motors and other advanced transportation vehicles will be conducted. Meanwhile, in our Northeast Corridor Transportation Project, operations of the Metroliner and Turbo train demonstration runs are continuing and showing promise.

Safety

Efficient transportation, however, means more than increased speed, comfort, and dependability. The key word is safety and in August we gave safety a new emphasis. I established on my own staff a new Assistant Secretary of Transportation for Safety and Consumer Affairs and appointed Admiral Willard J. Smith — former Commandant of the Coast Guard — to the new post.

In 1970 we awarded contracts for developing three extraordinary safety cars. These vehicles will be, in effect, mobile crash laboratories. Our requirements are that these new cars will protect the lives of occupants in head-on crashes up to 60 miles per hour. The cars also must be built so that passengers can survive rear-end and roll-over accidents up to 70 miles-per-hour.

In addition to these outstanding safety features, the cars will feature better braking; improved handling and visibility; and more accessible controls. It is our plan that the experience and new safety features derived from these cars will later be incorporated in standard production models.

It was also my privilege to sign agreements with the Federal Republic of Germany and with Japan providing for the exchange of information on the development of smaller experimental safety vehicles.

We also undertook a number of actions during 1970 to guarantee more safety in production models. We issued standards affecting tires, headlights, strength requirements for passenger car door, powered windows and many other elements of the car.

One of the most significant standards calls for the installation of passive restraint devices in all passenger cars produced after July 1, 1973. Passive restraint devices — such as the air bag — operate automatically in a crash and require no action by the occupants. This standard will do much to reduce highway fatalities and injuries.

Alcohol and Driving

Any discussion of highway safety sooner or later turns to the problem of alcohol. Half of all highway fatalities are alcohol-related. The National Highway Safety Bureau has stepped up its alcohol countermeasures.

We have asked certain states to stiffen their drunk driving laws and we have sought to impress upon local courts the necessity for pre-sentence investigation to determine whether the defendant has serious drinking problems. We have also sought to impress upon courts the seriousness and danger involved in the crime of driving while drunk.

Our alcohol countermeasures are but a beginning. We plan a major program early next year as well.

The various safety efforts by government, by private industry and by individual firms are already paying dividends. It appears that 1970 will mark a definite turning point in highway fatalities. Preliminary 1970 figures indicate a fatality rate of 4.9 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles. If it holds up it will be the lowest rate in history.

Advice On Roses Given Gardeners

There's no secret to growing beautiful roses. Any gardener can do it by following a few simple rules.

Site selection comes first. Roses need at least 6 hours of sunshine each day. Failures usually result because gardeners pick a site that pleases them rather than the roses. So, avoid shaded areas and try for a spot on the south side of the house.

Any good garden soil will produce roses. Heavy or light soil that is lacking in fertility can be improved by adding organic matter. Spade the rose bed 12 to 18 inches deep and work in a 2 to 4-inch layer of organic material.

Select plants with thick canes which show no signs of shriveling and choose only varieties recommended for your area. Dig the hole deep enough so the bud union is just above soil level when planting is completed.

In established rose beds, cut back canes to 10-15 inches and remove dead wood. Cuttings, fallen leaves, and other debris should be removed and burned, since fungi of diseases may be present. After cleaning the bed, apply about 2 inches of clean mulch over the entire area.

Black spot is a common disease of roses. Caused by a fungus, this disease can be very destructive and it usually appears every year. One of the best control measures is to keep the foliage of the rose plant dry when applying water.

A fungicide such as ferbam at 2 tablespoons per gallon of water will give satisfactory control. Make applications every 7 days during wet periods, which are favorable for black spot infestations. It's best to start now with an insect control program and continue spraying every two weeks throughout the garden season. Broad-spectrum insecticides have proven to be highly effective in controlling major rose pests.

It's best to spray in the early morning or evening when winds are light. However, to control the spread of fungus many gardeners will not spray at night. Cover both sides of leaves with a light spray until foliage begins to drip.

Fertilize roses at least once a month, through August. Some gardeners prefer to split the recommended amount and apply plant food twice a month. Use a complete fertilizer such as 12-12-12, or similar analysis at the rate of 2 pounds per 1000 square feet of bed.

Let's hear it for the drunks.

It's not the drink that kills, it's the drunk, the problem drinker, the abusive drinker, the drunk driver. This year he'll be involved in the killing of at least 25,000 people. He'll be involved in at least 800,000 highway crashes. After all the drunk driver has done for us, what can we do for him? If he's sick, let's help him. But first we've got to get him off the road.

Do something. Write the National Safety Council, Dept. A, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60611. And your voice will be heard.

Scream Bloody Murder.

Coupons Needed For Jaycee-ettes' Hospital Project

The Winchester Jaycee-ettes held a dinner meeting in the Kewwood Restaurant, Lynnfield, on Wednesday, March 31. Mrs. Charles Price, president, presided over the business meeting.

The local Chapter is participating in a Massachusetts State Jaycee-ette project and would appreciate assistance from Winchester residents. Boxes will be placed in Renton's and Purity Markets to collect Betty Crocker coupons toward the purchase of two Amana mattresses for the Boston Floating Hospital.

These mattresses are used in connection with respiratory ailments. Collection boxes will be in the stores until Monday, April 26.

A Tupperware party provided funds to purchase a playpen for the Mystic Valley Health Association Day Care Center. Several Jaycee-ettes have visited this center which is one of the Chapter's continuing projects.

March 17 was a busy day for Jaycee-ettes, as well as the Irish. Baked goods were provided by members for the St. Patrick's Day Party at the Fernald School, Waltham, followed by a visit to the Stoneham Jaycee-ette Chapter.

New projects include "Healthy Baby Week" in May and the annual Leadership Award to be presented to a deserving senior girl at graduation exercises.

The spinster expressed no lament at her situation in life: "I have a dog that growls, a parrot that swears, a fireplace that smokes, and a cat that stays out all night. Why should I want a husband?"

The Dangers Of Spring

With spring here, hazardous, icy roads have been put aside until winter as an unpleasant memory. As a result, motorists might be tempted to relax their alertness and attention when driving. It isn't safe to do so, however.

Accident hazards still remain. Dogs who suddenly change their course and dart into the road are one such danger. Still another potential threat is the cyclist who does not follow safe bicycling practices. Another cause for concern on the part of drivers is the well-being of children going to and from school, or playing after school, sometimes forgetful of traffic dangers.

The Police Department, under the leadership of Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler and Safety Officer Donald E. Pigott, continues to carry the message of pedestrian and bicycle safety to pupils in the schools. The Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles and other organizations help.

Parents have a responsibility to lead in training their children to be safety-conscious cyclists and cautious pedestrians. But the motorists must do their part. They are required to drive at speeds "reasonable and proper" for the circumstances.

Motorists should be especially watchful in school or playground zones. By being constantly alert and concerned, motorists may avoid becoming involved in a tragedy in which a child is injured or killed.

Letters To The Editor

School Teacher's Financial Value To Town Subject

Editor of the Star:

How much is a school teacher worth or what is his or her worth to the pupils over whom he or she has the duty of teaching?

Are the school teachers of today as dedicated as they were 50 or 60 years ago? How many teachers today, stay after school today to help pupils who are interested or who find a certain subject difficult? Truthfully, I do not know but the indications are that they are not as dedicated as of yore.

This writer has been kept after school for a measure of discipline and the teacher had to remain after school for maintaining said discipline. One cannot be a true and dedicated teacher without discipline and his or her pupils will not respect said teacher without it, nor will the pupils learn much.

At what age should the average pupil receive the best teachers? This writer has always been of the opinion that the best and highest paid teachers should be in the first five grades but it is doubtful if a high school teacher will agree with this opinion.

The child during this period is at the height of his or her learning ability, eager to assimilate facts and figures which are new to said pupil. If a child does not start in the right direction, it will be most difficult for said pupil to finish right, within the limits of its ability to learn.

Teachers are responsible for their pupils in the event that pupils fail to learn a promotion. More often than not it is failure on the part of the teacher and not the inability of the pupil to learn.

A teacher in the grade schools of Winchester with particular reference to the Noonan School is not the kind of a teacher, when reference was made in one of these letters, to phone and call this writer a nasty old man, who makes a good teacher. It would appear that more teachers than not teach for security reasons and not for the joy of teaching.

Should a school teacher be given a bonus for possessing a M.A. degree or a Ph.D.? What is the cost of said bonus to the taxpayers of Winchester? $400 extra for said bonus to each holder of said degrees, multiplied by the number of holders amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The Personnel Board upped said bonus by 25 percent or $100, over which it had no control, which makes the bonus, today, $500, amounting to about $300,000, almost one dollar on the tax rate. The Legislature of Massachusetts sets the minimum amount paid to the teachers which it created in 1836 and it did not take into account whether or not the towns and cities, meaning the taxpayer are able to pay said sum.

The authority to pay said bonus by statute can not be found as far as this writer has researched the question but School Committees pay no heed to the taxpayer. Wouldn't it be something if the Winchester School Committee to favor the taxpayer, cut out paying said bonus and save the taxpayer one dollar on the tax rate?

The percentage or number of teachers who live outside of Winchester would not have any love for this writer but would rather see him strung up to the nearest yardarm by depriving said teachers of part of their living?

This letter should have been written one week ago as the Town Meeting is struggling with the budget of the School Committee but it is one way of cutting said budget. Mugging would be in the offing, as this writer was actually mugged in the broad daylight on leaving the Dorchester Court some weeks ago, as a result of which three days in bed were necessary. What price glory, for it is hard to believe, which is one reason why the middle of the street is safer.

Once again it is Vox Clamantis in Deserto.

Reader Analyzes Role Played By Finance Group

Editor of the Star:

In addition to all of the other difficulties under which the Town Meeting labors — difficulties which have driven many thoughtful members out of the Town Meeting and made ordered deliberation difficult — I believe this year the Town Meeting suffers from an additional handicap which deserves the attention of the Town. I refer to the role of the Finance Committee in the Town's budget-making procedures and its articulation of this role.

1. An obvious function of the Committee is the review of budgets of the various departments for correctness and completeness. In this connection it is both necessary and desirable for the Committee to question the responsible department closely as to the contents of the budget, both to aid the understanding of the Committee and to test the propriety of the budget.

2. A second function of the Committee is to disclose to the Town the salient features of all budgets and to present an over-view of the Town's financial situation. This includes a statement of the implications to the Town of the expenditures represented by the individual and collective budgets but does not necessarily involve a judgment with respect to the desirability of the budgets as presented.

3. It probably follows from the foregoing functions that the Committee is in a position to identify wasteful expenditures and to call these to the attention of the responsible department and the Town. This action requires an exercise of judgment on the part of the Committee as to what constitutes waste, but the judgment is relatively limited.

For example, the Committee might criticize the purchase of a capital item on the ground that it is replacing an item still in serviceable condition or on the ground that it will serve a function more economically served in other ways. The judgments involved are essentially financial and do not include consideration of the desirability of the function to be performed.

I doubt that many would quarrel with any of the above roles for the Finance Committee. There are, however, additional roles which the Committee might assume and which involve more important substantive judgments.

4. The Committee may undertake to evaluate on a relative basis the proposed expenditures of the various departments and may rank them in priority of importance. For example, the Committee might include that it is more important this year for the Highway Department to add a given piece of capital equipment than for the Forestry Department to increase the scope of its services.

5. Most difficult of all, the Committee might attempt to arrive at a judgment as to the maximum amount of money which the Town should spend during the year, either with or without regard to the importance of being given priority to the Town Meeting is charged. The Finance Committee should proceed with extreme care in these areas.

Most importantly of all, if the Committee undertakes these functions it should clearly so state, both to the various Town departments whose budgets are under review and to the Town as a whole so that the premises of the Committee will be clearly understood.

Having had some experience of my own this year in securing the Committee's approval of a budget, I am particularly sensitive to the importance of being given reasons for the Committee's position on a given matter. It is one thing if the Committee believes that it has uncovered a specific item of waste or inefficiency, but is quite another if the Committee is objecting to an expenditure on the more basic ground that there are other expenditures in the Town of higher priority or that the Town should be working against a fixed limit of aggregate expenditures requiring, in its view, a proportionate reduction of all budgets.

It is an abdication of the responsibility of the Committee for it to pick a specific dollar amount of requested reductions without explanation. In this connection, it is particularly unhelpful for the Committee to name such a figure and then state that it is not up to the Committee to tell the department how to spend its money. If the Committee has a figure in mind, it must also have a reason for the figure and must carefully explain the reason to the department involved.

Failure of the Committee to think through its position and make its position clear to the concerned departments substantially increases the likelihood of disagreements such as the disagreement this year with respect to the school budget and the significant number of private disagreements involving various other departments which, fortunately, were resolved prior to Town Meeting.

Elementary School Lunch Program Topic

Editor of the Star:

At recent sessions of this year's Town Meeting many people spoke to the issue of school lunches. A primary concern was the stipend of $700 paid to teachers currently supervising the students during the lunch time.

Prior to the March 29th session several parents contacted 15 communities surrounding Winchester to update information previously collected. Not one of the 15 communities paid teachers an extra stipend, much less mileage from one school to another, which is currently being paid to a teacher from the Washington School to service the Muraco at lunch time.

Winchester suffers one very serious problem on this issue, that is, to this date the School Committee has not established a lunch program for the elementary schools. What we have operating is a babysitting service for the students that are bussed.

At the present time Muraco school has 107 students remaining for lunch with two teachers to supervise — a ratio of one teacher to 53 pupils. The ratio is only mildly excessive when compared to other towns. What is extremely excessive is the length of the lunch time, which is currently one hour and 15 minutes.

All 15 communities contacted reduce the time to ½ hour when on single session. In no instance did we find lunch being made available only to bus students and a remaining quantity going home.

Of the 15 communities questioned there were none without (at the very least) a scheduled winter months program. Winchester does not even have that.

Although efforts have been made by many people from varied areas of the town both the Superintendent and the School Committee refuse to consider this matter seriously. When the Community Schools Association requested the school committee to consider a single session for the winter months Dr. Klemmer initiated a poll of the teachers and principals. One could hardly call polling the teachers a serious attempt to solve this problem.

It seems somewhat insidious to me to poll teachers when they have no cause to be involved since they have a signed contract which protects them from supervising a lunch program. The contract, however, does not prevent them from doing this for an extra stipend.

I still ask why not poll the parents and maybe even the students themselves. We are currently spending $3,967 per year to supervise 262 students at lunch time in a program that is not planned!

On several occasions citizens have asked the School Committee to explain how they plan to implement the new State law Chapter 87L. The only answer that has been given so far has come from Mr. William Clark, the Assistant Superintendent, and I quote, "We are awaiting for instructions and standards from the state."

One wonders why we are waiting — the state has had standards established for over 30 years. Other communities are not waiting — Reading has already applied for and received assistance from the State and Wellesley has a plan ready to operate (without any structural changes to buildings) to operate beginning January, 1972. Maybe what we are waiting for is the available funds from the State to be exhausted, leaving the Winchester taxpayer to support the entire expense.

Mr. Borggaard Writes Of Need For Playground

There is an old saying that, "It's the wheel that squeaks that gets the grease." Well, maybe we don't "squeak" enough on our way but I notice (and, very dangerous for me politically, most likely many of my constituents have noticed, too) that, while other sections of the town do get new basketball courts, new tennis courts, kiddie play lands, etc., we cannot even manage to get the rocks bulldozed away or the grounds levelled off on our own meagre little allotment of recreational area.

For several years, now, I have had to take a lot of chiding and ribbing for my part in helping to persuade the Town Meeting to purchase this small area for use one day as a playground, thereby "squandering" 25, (or was it 40) thousand dollars of the taxpayer's hard-earned money before the developers got around to cutting it up for house lots. (I hope they call it Borggaard Park someday to make up for all the abuse I have had to take about it since then.)

But, in all seriousness, I would like to know if it is not about time for the people in my neighborhood to get together and demand a little work be done by the town to make of this area something other than the brush-grown, rock-covered cow pasture that it has always been, and still is.

In spite of the pill, I notice, there doesn't seem to be any race suicide up my way. There must be upwards of 100,000 kids now living east of Highland Avenue and all are playing hockey in the streets. Good luck to them — but with all the air-conditioned gold plated Cadillacs now rushing through these same streets it hardly does seem to be the best place for them to be playing. Maybe we could entice some of them to play on the playground, if we had a playground.

Let's organize a pressure group and picket the Town Hall. I'll carry one of the banners!

Parent-Faculty Group Thankful

Editor of the Star:

On behalf of the Parent-Faculty Association of Winchester High School, we wish to thank the people of Winchester for their enthusiastic support of the Old Time Movies, presented at the high school on March 25 and 26. With this support this program has provided an important contribution to the Winchester Scholarship Fund, as well as providing a few hours of merriment for those who attended.

Specific thanks are due to Cradock Apothecary, Anderson's Jewelers, and the Winchester Sport Shop, who graciously served as our downtown ticket offices. The co-operation of the elementary schools, both in sending out flyers and in selling tickets, was greatly appreciated.

We are grateful to the Misses Lucille Piazza, Debby Yavner, Nancy Hilliard, Dorothy Elliott, Gretchen Henningsen, and Judy Russell of Troop 467 of the Girl Scouts, who sold food to the hungry and beverages to the thirsty.

The real keystone of the ticket sales effort was the solicitation by the team of room mothers of the high school. Through their efforts every family who had a student in the high school was made aware of the movie program.

It has been a real pleasure for the board of the PFA to work with such a great team.

Police Thanked By Sullivans

Editor of the Star:

We would like to express our sincere gratitude to Officers Cogan and Perritano of the Winchester Police, who responded so promptly following my recent accident. They were both compassionate and highly efficient in transporting me to the hospital.

Since last May, when other equally fine officers tried their utmost to help my late husband on an emergency call, we have had great reason to be thankful for the efforts of the Winchester Police Department. These men perform their duties extremely well and we are grateful.

BEGINNER'S GUIDE TO BRASS RUBBING

by Richard J. Busby

A friend recently complained on returning from a trip to England that he had been unable to see any brasses — they were invariably covered with paper and a prostrate figure whenever he chanced to visit a cathedral or parish church with the goal of examining one of these examples of medieval sepulchral art. Brass rubbing, even more so than gravestone rubbing in New England, has become a favored tourist activity. In fact, appointments must often be made weeks in advance to insure the opportunity to rub undisturbed.

It is estimated that in Great Britain alone there are about 4,000 figure brasses (plus 3,000 consisting solely of inscriptions). Many, of course, are off the beaten track, but the popularity of the better known ones is quite remarkable.

The attraction of monumental brass is multifold. Many brasses are extremely attractive and well executed. When carefully rubbed (Busby says it can take all day) they can produce handsome works of art ranging in size from a few inches to several feet high and wide. Brasses are historical artifacts valuable for their artistic qualities, for the information on dress, coiffure, heraldry, domestic pets, armour, social class, and genealogy which are incorporated in their designs. Like gravestones they are unique in the realm of historical artifacts in that they are fixed in time and space and give a precise definition to their times. Brasses represent personages both famous and unremarked, in a few cases they may recall ancestral houses and be significant to the rubber as much for their personal relationship as for the quality of the brass itself.

Rubbing brasses is essentially a simple matter. It calls forth the same magic invoked by a child rubbing a pencil over a piece of paper with a buffalo nickel underneath. The result is rewarding and once the basic technique has been mastered lends itself to creative variation and imaginative uses. The technique is described at length in this volume with specific suggestions as to kind of paper and sources. The implements for rubbing — lumber crayons, lead balls (once used by cobblers to darken the raw edges of new shoe heels), special wax cakes produced for the Monumental Brass Society — are also described along with the fine points of paper positioning, brass cleaning in preparation for the actual rubbing, and the science of taping the paper to the stone or brass or pieces of paper together where the brass is larger than the paper at hand. Variations may be easily produced by using crayons and papers of different colors. Very effective but more complicated is the use of clear wax for rubbing with color being painted on — it will penetrate the incised areas where the wax has not left residue thus producing a "positive" print of the brass. (Instructions for dabbing with ink, a more exacting technique, are also given.)

For the collector of rubbing who finds that his collection has outgrown his ability or facilities for display, Busby provides classification schemes which besides aiding in the practical organization of such a collection provides a capsule summary of the types of brasses generally in existence. The storage and display of brass rubbings is also an important facet of the hobby and Busby describes in detail various methods which have been found effective by collectors.

One of the most fascinating aspects of this handbook is the section on innovations. Brasses, of course, were originally made of smooth platens of metal incised and laid on stone or some other supporting material. The traditional method of rubbing produces generally a "negative" reproduction. A couple of young graduate students, however, have developed a major variation of the art which utilizes aluminum foil (of the grade used for milk bottle caps). The foil is placed over the grass and the image is transferred to the foil by means of a soft, nail brush. An exact replica of all incised areas will result including any scratches or dents. The foil can later be backed with fiberglass resin or sodium ciliate and mounted on wood to produce a handsome reproduction of the original brass. Photographs in the book illustrate how effective this new method of brass rubbing can be. The thoroughness of this small volume is well demonstrated by the illustrations and accompanying instructions on photographic and silk screen reproduction of ones own rubbings. Two lists complete the volume: an annotated bibliography and list of all the best brass locations in the British Isles. The latter might well serve as the beginning of a tour guide for a summer holiday.

do not apparently use the vehicles. Mr. Phillips maintained that with four trucks in each department and five "miscellaneous" vehicles, the departments were "not overstaffed on vehicles."

The Finance Committee was recommending unfavorable action for this year, while the Board of Selectmen and Public Works Council sanctioned the purchase.

Cemetery Truck

The Cemetery Commission lost its bid for a one-ton truck at an appropriation of $3,771. Roughly paralleling the preceding positions, the purchase was favored by the Commission, Selectmen, and Public Works Council, but not approved by the Finance Committee.

While Ralph M. Swanson, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, stated that the 10-year-old vehicle was "used to its completion," Mr. Kenney said that it was felt to be "mechanically serviceable" at a present mileage of about 6,600. Noting that the Cemetery Department possesses another truck and a "travel-all," the Finance Committee did not feel that it was a good expenditure this year.

In his presentation, Dean W. Carleton, chairman of the Cemetery Commission, reported that his group had no present plans for such frequent turnover of vehicles. "If we can get 10 years out of a truck, then we'll do it."

At this point the Annual Town Meeting had taken action on each of the capital equipment items. It was agreed to take each approved item, four Police Department cruisers, one Highway Department gradall, and one Water and Sewer Department pick-up truck, separately.

An appropriation of $10,200 for four police cruisers was passed. Chairman Swanson explained that it was procedure each year to make these replacements at approximately the same sum. It is considered to be the "most economical and best way for the Town" to operate in this matter. Running practically 24 hours per day, mileage totals up to 50,000 per year. Maintenance is provided once a week. A turn-in value of approximately $1,500 is anticipated. If they are driven any further this value "becomes zero," Mr. Swanson contended.

Citing constant use and a safety factor, the Finance Committee concurred with favorable action. While Town Meeting Member Jack A. Wilson, Precinct 4, offered that "maybe this is the year to break tradition," Precinct 1 Member Arthur J. Hewis Jr. suggested that a better system of Town maintenance could help to reduce the need for such rapid trade-in of vehicles. This idea was reiterated with discussion of the Gradall.

Gradall

Purchase of a Gradall at an appropriated sum of $53,145 was approved under Article 9. Several suggestions for amendments were overridden in the process. Chairman Swanson began discussion by revealing his Board's favor for replacement of the 14-year-old piece of equipment. He complimented it as "probably the most used piece of equipment in Town." "We can't operate without it."

The Gradall has been utilized at a cost of $2,500 over the 14 years, "something of a record" for low maintenance costs. It is operated about 2000 hours per year. An estimate of $26,163 was supplied by Hedge and Matthews Company of Needham, distributor of Gradall parts, to rebuild the present machine. Parts are guaranteed for 90 days. The estimate includes $14 per hour labor costs for a six-week job, leaving 60 percent of the total for parts. This contractor's equipment company was the only firm consulted for rebuilding costs. A $6,000 turn-in on a $60,000 vehicle has been cited.

The machine is used by all Town departments, Mr. Swanson continued. He was later corrected when it was determined that apparently Framingham is the only other town in the area, excluding cities, to own such equipment. He argued that no other piece of equipment could perform the work for Winchester which the Gradall accomplishes. Concerning comparative costs, replacement by a backhoe, for example, would depend upon its size. The current Gradall was described as a more efficient machine for the Town's use than its predecessor.

Approval

The Finance Committee approved purchase of the Gradall, accepting its use as explained by the Board of Selectmen and Highway Department. They expect that the annual investment will be overcome through use by the Town.

Two members, Eugene B. Rotondi, Precinct 1, and Ralph M. Atkinson, Precinct 3, expressed the opinion that this was not the particular piece of equipment which the Town should purchase.

Mr. Rotondi also argued the specific uses to which Winchester puts its present Gradall. He made a subsequent motion to amend by substituting $10,000 for repair in place of a $53,145 purchase. He felt that such an expenditure on the basis of one estimate was ill advised. The motion was defeated 131 to 36 with five Finance Committee members voting in favor.

Supporting the purchase was Henry C. Heitz Jr., Town Meeting Member from Precinct 6, who reminisced back 13 to 14 years ago when he recalled the same "no use argument." Feeling that the machine has been worth the expenditures, he anticipates that the new equipment will be even more profitable for the Town. John T. Horn, caretaker of veterans' graves, cited 36 years of experience in Winchester before terming the Gradall "the best piece of equipment in the Town." He reiterated its uses and noted that the operator must be licensed by the State in order to drive it on the highway.

Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr., also defending the past operation and maintenance of this vehicle stated that the same two men had been responsible for the Gradall, the "most versatile piece of equipment the Town owns," these 14 years.

Suggestions that this item be laid on the table until further estimates could be obtained were made by Mr. Hewis and Member William R. Zettler, Precinct 4. A formalized motion for this amendment was made by Precinct 3 Member Ralph M. Atkinson. The motion was lost.

The adoption of the $53,145 appropriation was carried 105 to 73.

Activity then reverted to Article 8, Item 3000. A total budget of $535,204 for the Police Department as recommended by the Finance Committee was approved.

The Board of Selectmen presented an amendment to increase the other expenses budget by $3,135 for an "overdue" painting of the interior and exterior of the Police Station. Forty years having elapsed since the last painting, it is felt that the present covering is no longer able to protect its surface.

Mr. Kenney explained that this project was originally budgeted and then deleted. If this was the priority item which some persons believed it to be, the Finance Committee reasoned, then those funds available should be allocated in that direction. As an increase, however, unfavorable action was recommended for this year. The motion was lost.

Action on Item 4500 of Article 8, the Highways and Bridges budget, fell into the same pattern. A motion to amend by substituting $121,115 in the other expenses account for the Finance Committee's $106,115 was introduced by the Selectmen and subsequently voted down.

The $15,000 increase was sought for repairs to streets and sidewalks to offset the loss of State bond issues. Chairman Swanson stated that this sum was necessary to continue an "adequate program." The $35,000 account would be divided with $25,000 for street repairs and $10,000 for sidewalks.

While recognizing that Chapter 90 funds will not be available this year, the Finance Committee was budgeting $20,000 for both street and sidewalk repairs, estimating that this would mean eight or nine roads would have to await maintenance in another year.

A question arose as to what had happened to the "left over" streets and sidewalks for which repair funds had been allocated last year. Mr. Swanson responded that those included in the budget had been done, while those in a special article had not. Usually the areas to be repaired under the budget and any special articles are planned in conjunction. The particular number of sites chosen are dependent upon the amount appropriated.

Procedure

A question of procedure was raised during discussion of the Highways and Bridges Budget and postponed to its "proper place." As the Thursday evening session adjourned Town Meeting Members reaffirmed their support for a direction of the 1961 Annual Town Meeting that the Finance Committee include in its Report both the budgets which it recommends and that which is requested by another department when such a discrepancy in figures exists.

Moderator Chadwick advised Members that Chapter 39, section 16 of the Massachusetts General Laws charged the Finance Committee with preparing such a composite budget detailing both the recommendation and the request.

Chairman Swanson said that the front end loader required repairs to its brakes and transmission. The Finance Committee recommended favorable action.

A proposal by the Selectmen that $27,840 for a new front end loader be added to capital expenditures items under Article Nine lost at the Monday, March 29, session. The Finance Committee had recommended unfavorable action on the suggested purchase.

Budget $500—Water

Town Meeting Members approved Budget $500—Water, as recommended by the Finance Committee, for $252,404.

Budget $800—Cemetery

Town Meeting Members approved Budget $800—Cemetery, for $105,691, $4,600 more than had originally received Finance Committee approval. The extra funds will be used to help replace some of the tools and equipment stolen from the Wildwood Cemetery grounds by burglars Thursday evening, March 25.

Dean W. Carleton of the Cemetery Commission said that items taken included power mowers, leaf blowers, drills, rakes, a battery charger, two alternators, electric saws, and gas chain saws. He believes that the culprits were a "group of professionals who had an idea that we had equipment like this." The articles could be sold for "mostly household use," he noted.

The burglars "knew exactly what they could peddle, and exactly what it was worth in money," Mr. Carleton continued. The property was uninsured, he observed, in answer to Joseph G. Albani of Precinct Four.

Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. explained that insurance rates in relation to the value of the equipment would not make it worthwhile for the Town to insure such items.

Noting that Town insurance policies will be coming up for renewal in August, 1972, Selectman Saltmarsh said, "We are going to have a real hard time in 1972 finding a market for these insurance policies." He said that Town properties are covered for vandalism, but not for theft.

Justin M. James Jr. and Richard D. Dexter, both of Precinct Five, suggested that a reasonably priced burglar alarm might be considered for Wildwood Cemetery, which is away from the center of town.

Ralph W. Hatch of the Cemetery Commission said that the cemetery's spring cleanup would be delayed if the items were not replaced. Mr. Carleton said that their group would try to replace the items in an order of priority.

Workmen's Compensation

Reconsidering Budget 7750—Workmen's Compensation Law—Compensation: Town Meeting Members added $16,000 to the $26,000 which had been approved for this purpose on Monday, March 22. The necessary two-thirds vote was forthcoming.

Chairman Swanson explained that $23,220 had already been spent this year. He anticipated an average expenditure of $18,000 for the remainder of 1971, based on the experiences of the April 1 to December 31 periods for 1968, 1969, and 1970.

Since $2,779 remained in the budget, $15,912 was required for the rest of the year, Chairman Swanson estimated. Already this year, there have been four hernia cases, one municipal employee with a broken leg, another with a strained chest, and one with a ruptured disc.

Favorable action was recommended by the Finance Committee. The expanded budget passed with little discussion.

Article Ten

Article Ten, creating a Capital Planning Committee, was defeated, 104-55. The Finance Committee favored the proposal, but the Board of Selectmen was opposed to it.

Chairman Raymond J. Kenney Jr. of the Finance Committee said that the proposed nine-member group "would collate and correlate data from many existing sources." It would have prepared an annual program of recommended capital budget expenditures.

Chairman Swanson pointed out of the Planning Board, had called for a sense-of-the-meeting motion during discussion of Item 4500. Michael D. Saraco, Member from Precinct 6, initiated this consideration when he noted that the amendments made by the Board of Selectmen to Items 3000 and 4500, particularly, had been unknown to him before their presentation on the floor that evening, leaving him no time to study the proposals.

After stating that in past years this method had been used, the Selectmen also urged that this practice be resumed. Mr. Kenney cited two possible reasons as to why it had fallen into disuse: time, dependent mostly on a printing schedule; and viability, concerned with the fluctuating opinions of the department's on their own budgets and recommendations.

that the Planning Board was charged with such a long-range capital equipment program. He added that reactivation of the Public Works Council was a "major step." A new committee would be "superfluous," he continued.

"Another permanent committee, with all the expenses it would entail, is not necessary," Chairman Swanson went on, anticipating "wasted effort and money."

"We need consolidation of government in the Town of Winchester, not expansion," Chairman Swanson concluded.

A motion by Chairman Otto E. Schaefer Jr. of the Planning Board that Article Ten be referred to the Town Government Study Committee for study and for a report at the 1972 Annual Town Meeting was defeated.

Mr. Schaefer noted that the Planning Board had not offered the town a capital equipment program for six or seven years. He said that the Planning Board would attempt to reinstitute its former activities and to implement the recommendations of its consultants in that area.

If the Planning Board did not undertake capital planning expenditures by the next Annual Town Meeting, the Town Government Study Committee could then present a proposal similar to Article Ten before it, Mr. Schaefer suggested.

Mrs. Barbara S. Hankins, chairman of the Town Government Study Committee, was opposed to Mr. Schaefer's motion. She said that she favored passage of Article Ten, noting that the Planning Board was now heavily involved with zoning and subdivision control.

Article 11

Town Meeting Members approved Article 11 which granted $1,000 to the Conservation Commission to be spent for appraisal and other expenses in obtaining more land. The proposal had Finance Committee support.

After Mr. Schaefer's motion was defeated, following further discussion, Article Ten lost, 104-55.

Article 12

Article 12, granting the Conservation Commission an additional $14,000 to buy ten acres of land, was passed by the Annual Town Meeting, 133-21. The property is at High Street Extension near the Lexington line.

Stephen A. Moore of the Conservation Commission explained that the purchase of the property from Anthony and Carmella M. Rosetti had been authorized by Town Meeting Members in 1969.

The $26,000 previously provided is insufficient, Mr. Moore continued. He noted that state and federal funds will aid in the project.

Mr. Kenney said that the Finance Committee supported the proposal, terming it an "extension of the town's wishes of two years ago."

The Planning Board also favored the idea, Mr. Schaefer observed.

The Selectmen's approval of the suggestion was voiced by Mr. Swanson.

Asked for the assessed value of the land by Henry C. Heitz Jr. of Precinct Six, Mr. Moore said that 5 acres of the property are assessed at a total of $72,000. The town would purchase ten of these acres, however, leaving five for house lots, he pointed out.

Next Meeting

Town Meeting Members approved a motion by Jeremiah McCarron of Precinct Six that no session be held Monday Thursday, April 8, in keeping with Annual Town Meeting tradition. The ninth session was set for 7:45 p.m. Monday, April 12.

William A. MacKenzie of Precinct Two opposed the holiday idea. He urged that Town Meeting Members "get this series of Town Meetings over with."

"This thing has dragged out for a long time. Some good Town Meeting Members might not run again," he continued. Mr. MacKenzie said that those wishing to participate in religious observances could do so, but he objected to calling off a Town Meeting session for the purpose.

known that the District would need an administrator, secretarial help, and certain other services while the regional school was in the planning and construction stages.

"It was also true that bond payments would become due during these formative stages. There fore, it was necessary that the agreement contain an alternative method of apportioning the costs during this formative period. The alternative chosen was that all such costs be based on the number of pupils from each member municipality who were receiving education at public expense in grades nine through 12.

"However, to say that this alternative method should be continued after the school was opened would, in my opinion, be placing a rather strained construction on the agreement. The enrollment was clearly accomplished on October 1, 1970, when 846 students were enrolled.

"Of course, it is true that in all regional vocational schools, the full and complete enrollment is not accomplished in the first year. But there is nothing in the agreement which indicates in any way that the accomplishment of enrollment means a complete and full enrollment as ultimately planned. Such a construction would mean that certain member municipalities would be paying for the education of children other than their own while other municipalities would be getting a free ride.

"In a few other regional vocational school districts, involving towns only, enrollment was accomplished for grades 9-10 in the first year. Yet, no one has advanced the theory that this was not an enrollment.

"You mentioned that the enrollment increased from 846 on October 1, 1970, to 1001 on February 1, 1971. The simple answer is that your agreement provides that October 1 is the date for determining the apportioning and not February 1.

"To sum up the entire situation, the clear and unequivocal intent of the agreement is to have the apportionment of capital and operating costs shift from one calendar year to another depending on the number of pupils who are actually enrolled in the regional school on October 1 prior to the calendar year involved.

"Under Chapter 71, of the General Laws as you know, the regional school district committee has the right to employ counsel for the district.

"I would suggest that this be done in this case. The counsel is in the position to render an opinion concerning interpretations under the agreement." Mr. Wallace concluded.

The annual luncheon and meeting of The Fortnightly will be held Monday, April 12, at 12:30 p.m. in the Kernwood in Lynnfield.

Winchester Center Plan Described To Merchants

The new Concept Plan for Winchester Center was the subject of discussion at a meeting of the Winchester Business Association Tuesday evening, March 30, at Knights of Columbus Hall. Approximately 30 local business people attended the meeting.

President James Olivier introduced the other officers of the association: Hugo LaFauci, vice-president; William Sullivan, treasurer; Abraham Curwitz, secretary; and Jack Chitel, Bette Donald, and Jason Dade, directors.

Otto E. Schaeffer Jr., chairman of the Planning Board, described the new Concept Plan. The plan involves closing off Main Street from the intersection of Main and Washington Streets at the present High School to the traffic circle in the center at the intersection of Main and Mount Vernon Streets. Pedestrian malls and customer parking would be provided on this section of Main Street as well as other areas near the center. The object is to make Winchester Center a more attractive, more convenient location in which to shop. If the entire plan were implemented Winchester Center would become a "mini mall."

This is the subject of Article 35 of this year's Town Meeting. The Article asks only for a temporary closing of Main Street for a trial period.

Included in the Concept Plan are several areas in or near the center to be zoned for mid-rise apartments. The old New England Laundry site is a natural location for an apartment building, according to Mr. Schaeffer. The Chairman of the Planning Board said that in spite of what the Town might do, the Winchester Business Association and its members were the biggest key to business success in the town.

Following Mr. Schaeffer's comments, President Olivier enumerated several recent accomplishments of the organization: town Christmas lighting; annual art show; representing the business community before the Board of Selectmen, the Planning Board, and several public hearings; conducting interviews with representatives of the news media; "shop Winchester first" advertising; and liaison with the School Department concerning the extended school year proposal.

Much interest was shown in the Association's activities by a general question and answer period prior to conclusion of the meeting.

Representative Hatch Gives Views Before LWV

New members of the Massachusetts General Court are better talented than "ever before," State Representative Francis W. Hatch Jr. of Beverly, House Republican floor leader, told members of the League of Women Voters here.

The improved legislative climate "has been created partially by the League of Women Voters, partially by the press, and partially by themselves," Representative Hatch said at the LWV's annual legislative luncheon Thursday afternoon, April 2, at the Church of the Epiphany.

Representative Hatch said that he considered a strong two-party system important. He expressed his hope that the GOP in the House "in the next few months can assume a more aggressive posture."

The state legislature has enacted "the most spectacular legislation," Representative Hatch continued. He mentioned that the General Court had "taken care of most of the environmental problems," mental health reorganization, and "now we're stuck with making these things work."

Several problem areas were mentioned by Representative Hatch. These included welfare, run largely by the executive branch; county government; the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, with a 1975 anticipated loss of from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000, and an operating cost per mile twice that in New York, Chicago, and Cleveland; civil service; the cut in the size of the House of Representatives, with Massachusetts having the second largest legislature in the nation and an "unwieldy body;" mental health, with administrative and geographical problems; the "major environmental problem" of overpopulation, and the abortion law.

Referring to abortion legislation, Representative Hatch termed it an "enormously complicated, very emotional" issue. Opinions on both sides are "strong," he observed.

"Enormous work" and "a long time" would be required to change public attitudes and the "basic feeling" in Massachusetts on this matter, Representative Hatch predicted.

Representative Hatch paid tribute to Town Moderator and State Representative Harrison Chadwick, who was also present. Representative Hatch described the local legislator as "eminently qualified and listened to."

Credit for the state legislature's new electric roll call was given to Representative Chadwick by Representative Hatch. Representative Hatch noted that Representative Chadwick's committee responsibilities included legislative procedure, transportation, and taxes, pointing out that he was in charge of the tax task force in the House.

Besides Representatives Hatch and Chadwick, head table guests included Mrs. Donald L. Puffer, LWV president; Mrs. Ernest J. Dieterich, chairman of the School Committee and LWV past president; Mrs. Raymond Champoux, LWV vice-president; Mrs. Charles L. Morgan, LWV legislative chairman; Mrs. Frederick D. Herberich, LWV past president; Mrs. Philip Hanks, LWV past president and chairman of the Town Government Study Committee, and William T. Jordan, Editor of the Star.

Mrs. Robert Stowe headed the luncheon committee. Mrs. John Craig was in charge of decorations. Tickets were the responsibility of Mrs. Richard Freeman.

The Burlington Y-Wives Club invites all their members and guests to join them on their annual "mystery ride and dinner" at a good restaurant. April 14 is the date. The agency noted that at current GI Bill training allowances, it spends about $6,300 during the 36 months required for a veteran to earn his college degree.

Armed with this degree, a veteran can then expect to earn about $213,000 more in his lifetime than he could if he were only a high school graduate, according to the Bureau of Census.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue estimates it will collect roughly $40,000 in taxes on the extra income.

Thus, the Federal Government stands to get back more than six times its original investment of $6,300.

Last year, participation in all of VA's educational programs peaked at 1,025,000 in November—a 31 percent increase over the 783,000 trainees on the rolls in November, 1969.

Veterans and servicemen become eligible for educational benefits after serving more than 180 days of active duty, any part of it after January 31, 1955, or if discharged for a service-connected disability after any length of service.

Enterings Investigated, One Prevented

The Town office-garage building off Palmer Street was entered sometime after its Thursday evening closing, March 25, and a Town truck used by the thief (ves) to haul away an estimated $8,000 worth of equipment.

Discovery was made Friday morning, March 26, by a Town employee, Thomas Moran, superintendent at Wildwood Cemetery, was notified, who in turn contacted Winchester police.

According to the report of Officer Joseph N. Perritano, a pane of glass was broken in an office window. It appeared that a hammer and lawnmower blades were used to pry open padlocked doors.

Besides the 1961 truck, office equipment, various tools and machines, and over $1,000 in personal tools belonging to mechanic Thomas Comeau were taken.

Later that day Officer Francis R. Manzie was called to a Worthen Road home to investigate a breaking and entering. A resident, who was watching television in the living room, heard shuffling in the kitchen, but believed it to be caused by another occupant of the house. Later it was discovered that the rear door had been jimmied and a pocketbook was missing.

On Saturday residents at two locations on Forest Street reported such incidents. Officer Frank Tranchita investigated each. At 9:45 a.m., it was found at one site that various articles was found at a corner of the house.

Another Forest Street homeowner was alerted to the fact that his home had been entered when he returned at 11:05 p.m. to find all of his lights turned on. A rear window had been pried with a screwdriver. Upstairs rooms were ransacked. Known to be missing at that time were a color console television and money taken from a metal filing cabinet which had been forced.

Police were quick to catch two Woburn men Monday night following an alert from a Carlisle man of suspicious behavior. The men, 24 and 29-years-old, were arrested for attempted breaking and entering in the nighttime by Officers John Oliver and Peter Morgan.

The two men were seen standing in an alley outside the J and J Machine Corporation, 751 Main Street at 7:15 p.m. Through an identification of their automobile, one man was picked up on Swanton Street. While he was being booked at the station, 45 minutes after the alert, the second man entered headquarters to inquire about the first and was arrested at that time on the same charge.

To reduce the risk of heart attack, according to the Heart Association, eat less saturated (animal) fats and avoid high-cholesterol foods, don't smoke cigarettes, maintain normal weight, exercise regularly and moderately and see the doctor periodically for a physical checkup, enabling him to begin prompt treatment of any high blood pressure or diabetes that may be present.

HOUSEBREAK

The Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 in October of 1970 for the project "Comprehensive Attacks on Auto Theft and Burglary." In connection with this heightened focus on burglary, the Department will present "Housebreak," a column suggesting ways in which Winchester residents may assist these efforts against crime in weeks to come through the pages of The Star. Look for it.

Replace burned-out light bulbs at the entryway to your house and along the sidewalks to front and rear doors. This will enable you to identify the person at your door or walking about your property during night hours.

Call the Police Station if you notice that a street light is burned-out. Though this is reported routinely by officers, occasionally a light will escape notice for several days.

It will save you and the Town money. Light is a great crime deterrent.

En Ka Holds Spring Meeting

En Ka Society's spring meeting held last week in the Dartmouth Street home of Mrs. Paul A. Walters Jr. in one of the harbinger of the season to many of the society's members.

This year spring-in-the-air was said to definitely be the theme as members enjoyed a seafood luncheon served by Mrs. Winthrop S. Knox Jr. and her committee. Progress reports followed.

Mrs. William M. Hopkins, president of En Ka, presided. Mrs. Edward W. H. Little, finance chairman, announced the following recent recipients of En Ka gifts: Winchester Scholarship Foundation; Winchester Visiting Nurse Association for furnishing its new quarters; and Friends of the Winchester High School Band and Orchestra for defraying costs of their exchange concert trip.

Mrs. Harry L. Benson reported on the continuing success of the En Ka Exchange and announced that only spring clothing items are being accepted in the shop at this time.

Next the spotlight was turned on Mrs. Russell B. Strout, chairman of the 1971 En Ka Street Fair, which is to be called the "Penny Candy Fair." On May 21 and 22 all the favorite rides and attractions will be featured in a new location, the municipal parking lot and the K. of C. Hall.

The afternoon closed with an informational talk by Raymond King, executive secretary of the North Metropolitan Home Maker and Home Health Aid Services, whose offices are located in the Continuing Care Unit of the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. King explained the service, which caters to residents of eight surrounding communities and Winchester, as a non-profit community-sponsored agency that recruits and trains women and then provides these qualified persons to private homes where illness or other crises disrupt normal family routine and help is needed. Briefly, it offers "Help at home in time of crisis."

This is a new agency in this area and is only this week starting its second class for trainees. Being a young organization with no traditions to bind it, Mr. King commented, it can try many new concepts for the temporary support and at home care of children, elderly persons, and convalescents.

Mr. King noted that the North Metropolitan Home Maker Services is an accredited member of the Massachusetts Council for Home-Maker Services and is funded by the United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

Rubbish Is Main Target In Clean-Up

Household rubbish is the main target of Spring Clean-Up in Winchester.

And while most people don't think of the many useless things they've got stored away around the house as rubbish—that's what it is and it's a major fire hazard, Fire Chief I. Francis Amico has warned.

He explained that rubbish does not cause fire, except in some infrequent cases of spontaneous ignition. But it is the kind of fuel that fire feeds on, and all it needs is any stray spark to start it.

There are many different kinds of household rubbish, but these fast-burning items are among the most dangerous: old bedding, cast-off clothing, mattresses, old furniture, curtains, draperies, lampshades, magazines, papers, linoleum and rags.

The Chief advised everyone to check for quick-burning rubbish in closets, attics and basements—these are the likeliest places for home fires to start, according to the records of the National Fire Protection Association.

Two out of every five women in professional and related jobs are teachers, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Host Program Needs Families In This Area

Winchester area families are needed to entertain English-speaking European teachers in their homes for one or two weeks this summer, it was announced recently by The American Host Program.

According to Stuart Perkins, board chairman of the Host Program, who is president of Volkswagen of America, American Host is one of the few non-governmental programs designed to show the American way of life to foreign teachers by pairing them with American families.

Now in its ninth year, American Host has opened doors to better understanding for more than 2,000 European teachers who have passed on their new understanding of America to their students.

Mr. Perkins said that being a "host family" is open to anyone. All we ask for is hospitality—a private room for a guest and free time for one or two weeks to introduce the guest to friends, neighbors and perhaps fellow teachers. American Host arranges all transportation. Host families are asked to meet their guest upon arrival in their community. Teachers and host families have an opportunity to correspond for at least a month before meeting.

Arrangements for participating as a host family can be made through:

Patriot's Day Is April 19

Patriot's Day, commemorating the first battle of the Revolutionary War, will be celebrated this year in Massachusetts on its traditional calendar date, April 19, according to the Public Affairs Department of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Recent law designates the third Monday in April for observing Patriot's Day. However, in 1971 the Monday holiday scheduling coincides with the former traditional calendar date. In 1972, the holiday will be celebrated on April 17.

Although designated as a legal holiday, Sunday Laws will not apply to the Monday celebration. Work permits will not be needed and, while municipal, county and state offices will be closed, the area's department stores and specialty shops will remain open during regular business hours.

Patriot's Day is one of five Massachusetts holidays celebrated on the new Monday schedule.

For a complete explanation of Massachusetts holidays and the application of holiday laws and restrictions, free copies of the Chamber's handy publication, "1971 Legal Holidays in Massachusetts," are available by writing to the Public Affairs Department, Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, 125 High Street, Boston 02110, or by phoning 426-1250.

Heart and blood vessel diseases are not just a problem of older people. They kill more than 250,000 Americans aged below 65 yearly.

REAL ESTATE

CORNER

by Ann Blackham

Confused about kitchens? When shopping for a new house, it's easy to become confused, because there seem to be as many different types of kitchens as there are houses. But actually, there are only four basic types. Everything on one wall; everything on opposite walls; everything on adjacent walls (L-shaped); and, everything on three walls (U-shaped).

Your present kitchen falls into one of these. Do you find it convenient to use? Then you'll probably want another one in the same pattern. If you find it inconvenient, you'll probably be shopping for one of the other types. Be sure to tell your Realtor what your absolute requirements are—but you may change your mind when you see a house with other dream features! That's part of the fun of new house buying.

Open House At Regional School Well Attended

Open house at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School in Wakefield on Friday evening, April 2, was perhaps the best attended of any such exhibit at trade schools in the Commonwealth, District School Committeeman J. Edward Sharkey of Winchester said. All available parking spaces were filled before the doors opened. Visitors were forced to seek spaces on the road leading to the school. Exhibits in the swimming pool and gym received much applause. All departments were in operation to show products of the recently-opened school. Mr. Sharkey said that he was exceptionally pleased to meet so many Winchester residents, some of whom were seeking information on next year's ninth grade entrance possibilities for their children.

Mrs. Boyle Ends 27 Years' Service In School System

Mrs. Irene Boyle was honored at a retirement party after 27 years of service in Winchester public schools cafeterias. Manager of McCall Junior High School cafeteria for the past six years, Mrs. Boyle has worked in food services since 1943.

A group of 50 friends celebrated with Mrs. Boyle in the Carriage Room at Carrolls in Medford on Wednesday, March 31, and presented her with a check to use in good health and their best wishes on her retirement.

Principal of McCall Junior High School, Joseph C. Forte, commended Mrs. Boyle for the fine job she has done and praised her for her long years of dedicated service to the schools and McCall in particular.

Presenting the good wishes of the group, Mrs. Catherine O'Brien, school lunch supervisor, thanked Mrs. Boyle for her years of hard work and said of Irene, "It's nice to know that even with the overcrowded conditions and the problems you run into in food service work, capable and dedicated people like Irene will always be in there doing their best."

As cafeteria manager Mrs. Boyle has supervised the six cafeteria workers and 12 student volunteers in McCall cafeteria in addition to giving on-the-job training of personnel. She has had the responsibility for overall maintenance and cleanliness of the area and has ordered the food needed to prepare menus set up by the school lunch supervisor. As manager she has also had to do some of the cooking when the staff is short-handed and is responsible for the accuracy of money records as well.

Local Youths Active In Speed Skating Program

by John F. Parrell

More than 60 of the younger boys in Winchester are actively participating in the speed skating program which is held every Tuesday evening at the Cambridge rink. Those six and seven year olds are competing in the Pee Wee division. The ones five and under are in the Toddler group.

This early training program has had great success in developing expert skaters. It is hoped that this will eventually show in the ability of those reporting for Winchester High hockey a few years from now.

Several families have more than one child involved in speed skating. The Jeannettes of 17 Chestnut Street, have five enrolled. The Stillman's of 224 Ridge Street are close behind with four skaters. There are three Conleys from 21 Laurel Hill Lane, their neighbors, and the McCarthys of 208 Forest Street, have a like number. Families with two participants are the Pronskis of 128 Washington Street, and the Strazzulos of 28 Bellevue Avenue.

Maurice and Allen McCarthy, Art Holohan, John Boyle, Anthony Celli, and Chris Parker have shown to good advantage in the Pee Wee races. Toddlers from Winchester who have turned in good performances include: Mike McCarthy, Scott Stillman, and Robert DiVincenzo.

The Winchester Squirts squeezed by Manchester, 4-3, in a tight hockey battle which went right down to the final seconds. It was an action-packed game that consisted of sharp passing and great defensive play by Jimmy Willing, Tony Donlon, and Mike Jackson.

Winchester jumped to a quick three-goal lead as Bill Strazzullo scored early in the game, after he received a pass from Allen Stillman right from the free-off, which beat Manchester goalie Doug Hopkins on the glove side.

Shortly afterward, Buddy Pronski made an excellent pass to Bubba Sandford, who fired it home, to make the score 2-0. Allyn Stillman scored on a center ice pass from Bill Strazzullo as the first period ended in favor of Winchester.

Manchester bounced back in the second period as Robin Lorenz scored a short-handed goal to put his team on the scoreboard. Maury McCarthy, Manchester's little powerhouse, scored on a sharp pass from Billy Allard.

Later on Mike DiCenzo got a penalty for boarding, as the Stillman-Blanch-Strazzullo line pulled through. Bill Strazzullo scored his second goal of the game, when Rickey Blanch dug the puck out of the corner and gave it to Strazzullo as Winchester went ahead, 4-2. David Williams kept Winchester away as the second period came to a close.

Manchester tried to catch up as Robert Wheeler scored, to bring the score within one. It was up and down hockey as Winchester came closer and closer to its first win of the season. Steve Ferrullo performed magnificently in the goal. Manchester's goalie, Larry Jacobs, was pulled in favor of a sixth skater, but to no avail.

The game puck was given to Mike Schromm, who played an outstanding game.

The Winchester squirts will take on Malden at 2:20 p.m. Saturday, April 10, at Hockeystown, U. S. A.

Soccer Tryouts Are Extended

Due to scheduling conflicts, the tryout period for the Winchester soccer in the Boston Area Youth Soccer League AA Division, for boys 18 years old and under, will be extended to include Saturday, April 10. The final tryout session will be held starting at 3 p.m. at McDonald Field, immediately following the C Division practice, which will begin at 1:30.

There are still many openings in the team, according to Coach Delys Bokil.

Writing Finis To Basketball Season

by John F. Parrell

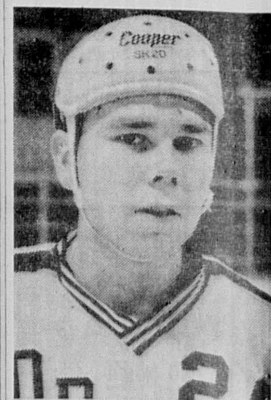

Bob Bigelow Stars In Hoop "All" Tourney

Fully justifying his pre-season selection by a national magazine which placed him as among the 100 outstanding schoolboy basketball players in the country, Captain Bob Bigelow of the Sachems played in outstanding fashion over the weekend. As a member of the Massachusetts all star team which played in the Capital Basketball Tourney at Albany the local boy turned in an excellent performance.

After a series of elimination practices teams of ten players were selected to represent their respective states. Taking part in the series were teams from New York, Connecticut, and Rhode Island as well as the Bay State. The Massachusetts team, coached by Jack Lehane of Brockton High, lost in the first round to New York, the eventual winner, 111-105. Connecticut bested Rhode Island to gain the finals. The title game found New York again on top as they romped over the Nutmeg State quintet, 107-87. Massachusetts closed out their tournament appearance by winning handsily over Rhode Island with the final tally, 99-76.

The leading scorer in both games for Massachusetts was Bob Bigelow, a he chalked up 23 points and added 26 in the finale. Steve Strother of Dorchester High had 19 and 20 to take the runner up scoring honors. Both boys were selected for the all-tourney team, along with Mel Montgomery and Gus Williams of New York and Earl Wilson of Connecticut.

Thus, Captain Bob has added a fitting postscript to his schoolboy career which saw him setting a final figure of 1,093 points in regular season play and last year found him one of the outstanding players in the Tech tourney. Just where he will eventually play his collegiate basketball is still uncertain, but he will probably be found any evening during the summer playing with his many friends and hoop associates in Boston, Roxbury, or wherever basketball is being played. It is his game, he loves every minute of it, and it will probably be quite a few years before any Winchester player reaches the high point of excellence which Bob has shown during his years at the local school.

FRED MCCORMACK, 1968 graduate of Winchester High School, has been awarded his numerals in junior varsity hockey at Norwich University, Northfield, Vermont. A freshman physical education major, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. McCormack Sr., of 7 Copley Street.

With the steady rise in college education may become as expensive costs, the day is not far off when as ignorance.

Annual Awards Made At CAGE Team Dinner

The annual dinner for the Winchester Country Club last week. The players did full justice to the excellent meal of chicken a la Maryland with all the fixings. Awards were made for outstanding performances. Letters and certificates were also presented.

Coach Vandy French was the toastmaster. He conducted the post prandial in an entertaining and efficient manner. Head table guests included Principal Vincent Larocco, Athletic Director Henry Knowlton, Paul Mulloy, who coached at Lynch Junior High over the latter part of the season, and your writer. All make brief remarks and complimented the boys on their fine team spirit and play over the recently completed schedule, which ended up with a 10-10 record and missed qualifying for the Tech by only half a dozen points.

With a strong nucleus of returning veterans for next year, and promising boys coming up from McCall and Lynch, prospects for the coming year are bright. However, a suitable replacement for this year's captain, Bob Bigelow, will pose a problem. Coach French emphasized the necessity of keeping in shape throughout the year and stressed that the summer program of the Recreation Commission should attract every basketball hopeful. For the past two years this program has shown great development and increasing interest.

With the Ginn Field court now black topped, and plans for lighting well under way, future Sachems teams should be able to gain much valuable experience in the summer league games. Recreation Director Donald Spinney has been working hard with the Metropolitan District Commission and the Boston Edison Company on the matter of installation of lights. At late reports all hurdles had been cleared and the only thing remaining to be done was the actual work of putting the lights into position and operation.

The Thomas H. Black Memorial award, emblematic of the most valuable player, was presented by Coach French to Captain Bob Bigelow. The permanent trophy, in the shape of a full size brass basketball, is the donation of the coach's mother, Mrs. Frances French, and is in the school trophy case. It memorializes one of Vandy's high school contemporaries, who was killed in an accident while serving in the Marine Corps. Last year's winner was Captain Tim Fahey, now a student at Dartmouth.

Paul Horn, varsity manager par excellence, was presented with a basketball statuette for his outstanding work and service to the team for the past three years. Such trophies are normally given to the top scorers or outstanding players but the coach and the team all felt that Paul richly deserved special recognition.

Junior varsity letters and certificates were given to: John Hefferman, Peter Wakefield, Rick Erickson, and Assistant Managers Bob Higgins and Bill Hudson.

Vincent Palumbo Wins Gold Medal

Vincent Palumbo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Palumbo of 6 Thornberry Road, won a gold medal in the Boys' Club Varsity Regional Championships at Harvard Pool in Cambridge Saturday, April 3. He represented the Waltham Boys' Club in the 200-yard breaststroke event.

In the trials, he placed first with a time of two minutes, 30.5 seconds. In the finals, he won in two minutes, 30.4 seconds.

Vin turned 15 years of age on March 6. The event he won was for the Boys' Club varsity team, composed of boys aged 16-19. Under the rules, boys under 16 could participate if they met the qualifying time of two minutes, 45 seconds, or less.

Participating in the meet were boys' clubs from Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and Massachusetts. Waltham won the divisional and sectional championships, and then went on to win the top regional honors.

Vin is a ninth grade student at Lynch Junior High School.

Making a sign? The Winchester Star has several types of letters and numerals — plastic stick ons, cardboard, boat letters, permanent super stick vinyl plastic.

Dwight Bellows Is Honored By Tennis Group

Dwight (Deb) Bellows was honored by his fellow tennis players in Winchester Wednesday evening, April 7, for 25 years continuous service to the Winchester Tennis Association. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Association, held at the Indoor Tennis Center on East Street.

He received a tennis travelling case and a silver cigarette box. The box was inscribed "To Dwight E. Bellows, master of the lob and keeper of the books for 25 years. In grateful appreciation from his friends in W.T.A."

The Winchester Tennis Association was founded in 1929 in Winchester. Deb was one of the early supporters of the Association and served as its president in 1944. Since that time he continued to serve as secretary-treasurer. In addition to his normal duties, he uses the basement of his home at 2 Lantern Lane, directly alongside the tennis courts, as the repository for the supply of tennis balls necessary to keep Association members going during the long April to October season of chasing lobs and drop shots on the Palmer Street courts.

The annual meeting of the Association signals the start of a new outdoor tennis season. From the looks of things at Palmer Street a few of the courts should be ready for play most any day now.

Released Time

Elementary school students in Winchester public schools will be released from classes at noon on Tuesday, April 13, to permit teacher workshops.

Little League Final Tryouts End Saturday

With some 800 boys enrolled for Little League activities it was necessary to schedule an additional day for the team tryouts. In this way every boy will have a good chance to show his wares and to fight for his favorite position.

The nine and ten year old boys will have their session Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and those in the 11-12 year old group will be working from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

BOWLING

SOI Men

The Winchester Lodge No. 1580, Sons of Italy, bowling semi-finals got under way Tuesday evening, March 30, with 15 teams battling for four final positions.

The Angels upset Frank Gagli's (315) Tiger team in the battle for first place in the American League.

The Tigers were two pins ahead going into the last string when Bill Redmond and Slim Lentine of the Angels came up with a 115 and 116 string to sink the Tigers.

Having won first place in both halves in the National League, Moose Bellino's Patriots drew a bye. They will bowl the Angels for the club championship.

Second and third play-off spots in the American League ended in ties at the end of regulation play.

Tom Treacy (305) and the Reds dumped the Red Sox and Tony Saraco (304) out of the play-offs when they won a two box roll-off after the official 30 boxes had been rolled.

John Riccio (312) bowled well in the Sox's losing cause.

The other tie match saw the Cubs down the Mets in a two-box roll-off and earn the right to go into the third place finals.

Frank Michienzi (320) and Arka Amico (308) tried hard for the losers. But even though the Cubs did not have a 300 score, their well balanced scoring was enough to win the match in overtime.

The National League's second place match had an early turning point when a Cowboy bowler bowled a 75 and the Browns won the string by two pins. Jeff Gaudioso (308) then led his team to an easy sweep.

The Chiefs had an overall good team performance and downed the Bills, despite Chuck Costello's excellent 325.

Joe McGrath (311) came up with his best effort of the season to help his captain, Mike Saraco (311) win for the Chiefs.

Sonny Mistretta (321) and Tony Brencola (303) of the Colts were too much for Dick Tofur (300) and the Rams in the National League's fourth place roll-off.

The Colts will go against Mul Fiere's Twins who were awarded fourth place in the American League.

Scouts Prepare For 1971 Show

The kickoff meeting for the 1971 Musket District Scout Show, held recently in Winchester, was attended by representatives of the 40 plus scouting units of Winchester, Stoneham, and Woburn area. This meeting began an intensive period of preparation by units culminating in the annual scout show to be held on the weekend of April 24th and 25th at Stoneham Town Hall. This show is designed to portray the many aspects of scouting to the public and will have demonstrations and displays of campcraft, merit badge skills, Cub Scout projects, and Explorer high-light tours among its many presentations.

The recent meeting was opened by Clay Atchison of Stoneham, the district activities chairman. He introduced this year's scout show committee, which includes General Chairman Lewis Pickett Jr. of Woburn, Program Chairman Robert Parker of Stoneham, Ticket Chairman Thomas Marsh of Stoneham, Physical Arrangements Chairman James Murray of Woburn, and Health and Safety Chairman Donald Thomas of Arlington.

Each of these men then explained his portion of the show arrangements to the unit representatives present and answered questions raised. Tickets for the show were distributed to local units by the Scouts. Money raised through the sale of tickets benefits scouting in two ways. One half of the money is held by individual units to support local programs. The second half is used by the Minute Men Council, Boy Scouts of America, to help service the 20 communities of this council. Six such shows are run throughout the council with a major theme of conservation for this year.

Troop 508 of Winchester has returned the first show application from this town. Their theme will be a series of displays, slides, and posters portraying the pollution problem. A number of additional units have notified the committee of their pending application to participate.

Tickets may be obtained from any Boy Scout or Cub Scout in the area or purchased at the show.

Mathematics To Be Topic At Parkhurst

On Tuesday evening, April 13, at 7:45 p.m., in the auditorium of the Parkhurst School, John J. Waite Jr., director of mathematics in Winchester and chairman of the mathematics curriculum council, will discuss the overall picture of mathematics in the Winchester school system.

Following Mr. Waite's presentation, there will be an opportunity for parents to go into small groups to discuss the subject with mathematics teachers from the Parkhurst School representing primary and intermediate classes.

This evening meeting has been arranged by Mrs. Joseph Dagnese, program chairman of the Parkhurst Parents Association, in cooperation with Andrew A. Allan, principal of Parkhurst.

The U.S. Department of Interior estimates that the U.S. and Canada together dump nearly 750,000 pounds of mercury into the Great Lakes. Even if this were halted, the contamination would persist 10-100 years, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

Time To Check Winter Damage To Plants, Lawn

As the snow slowly retreats then disappears on the home landscape, it is time to check plants and lawn for winter damage. It is also time to keep this same damage in check to prevent further injury.

First of all, look over lawn areas for signs of snow mold disease, erosion, matted grass, and winter accumulated debris. A thorough raking with a flexible bamboo or steel rake should put the grass in good order. Then fertilize and reseed bare spots to encourage an early green revitalization of the grass. Also apply limestone if this has not been done the last three years.

Next, look over woody plants, trees and shrubs and prune out any branches damaged by winter snow and ice. Also remove any screens or coverings placed over these plants for winter protection. Finally, rake out leaves and other debris which have blown into shrub borders.

Flower beds, too, require attention at this time. Clean up dead plant debris and fertilize perennial flowers to give them a good start. Protect spring flowering bulbs from rabbits with a repellent or fence.

Use all the non-woody debris gathered during a spring cleaning of the landscape to start a compost pile. This will provide a source of rich humus to spade into the garden in the future.

Holy Thursday, April 8

Group First Holy Communion at 6 p.m. Solemn Liturgy at 7:30 p.m. This is the anniversary of the Lord's Supper when Jesus ate the Passover meal with His apostles. Unselfish love is the theme of this day. A wheat and grapes motif will be used as decorations symbolizing the bread and wine. Communion will be distributed under both species.

Adoration of Blessed Sacrament following through the night to 3 p.m. Good Friday.

Good Friday, April 9

Today, the cross is the symbol which dominates our liturgy. The celebrant wears red Mass vestments to honor the Lamb whose blood saves us. A penitential service and Stations of the Cross will be offered on Friday afternoon at 3 p.m., and will be geared to the children of the parish and their families. On Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., the traditional service will be held with readings, homily, and veneration of the cross. No Mass is offered this day, but Holy Communion will be distributed to commemorate the supreme sacrifice.

Holy Saturday, April 10

The new order of the Vigil Service at 7:30 p.m., has made the meaning of this holy night shine through more clearly. The Easter candle is lit symbolizing, Christ, the Light of the World. A series of readings, responses, and prayers follows, with a film used to bridge the readings. Baptismal promises will be renewed. Holy Communion will be distributed.

Easter Sunday, April 11

Sunday (7, 8:30, 10, High Mass 11:30 a.m., Folk Mass, 5 p.m.) Organ music will be presented at all Masses except the 5 p.m. Mass which will be a folk Mass. The message, spirit, and impact of Easter go on throughout the year. Each Sunday is a miniature Easter celebration, reminding us that:

"Christ has died, Christ is risen, Christ will come again."

LUTHERAN CHURCH

The cantata, "The Seven Last Words," by DuBois, will be presented at St. Paul Lutheran Church, Route 2, Arlington, at 8 p.m., Good Friday, April 9. The performance will differ somewhat from the usual performances. There will be the addition of a spoken narration.

This series of narrations written by David Buehler of Arlington and read by Keith Bonn of Winchester establish the chronological order of the passion events and provide additional dramatic impact. The choir will sing from the choir loft at the rear of the nave, while the congregations' attention will be focused upon a series of slides projected in the chancel at various points in the cantata.

The traditional solo roles of the cantata have been adjusted to define the roles more clearly and make the account more understandable to the listener. This has been done by using a wider variety of voices to portray principal characters.

Luther Enstad of Winchester will do solo work. The music director of St. Paul Church, Mr. Enstad is voice instructor at Emmanuel College, Boston, as well as his numerous solo and choral involvements in the greater Boston area. Mrs. Blanche Ashenden of Somerville is the organist at St. Paul, and will accompany the cantata.

The Easter festival will be observed with two services Easter morning at 9:30 and 11 a.m. These will be identical services. Pastor Tomsdalen's sermon will be, "The Last Enemy - Death."

The call to worship will be a special fanfare by a brass trio and organ, followed by the choir singing the chorale, "The Strife is O'er" by Palestrina.

The children and adult choirs will combine to sing, "Come ye faithful, raise the strain," arranged by Sateran.

Family Spending Figures For County Are Revealed

Is the average Middlesex County family spending more money for its daily living than families in other areas with similar incomes?

How closely does the local spending pattern conform to the guideline budget set up by the Bureau of Labor Statistics?

The amount of money a family needs — for food, shelter, medical care, clothing, and the like — is subject to the living costs prevailing in its community.

For food, for example, the American Institute of Public Opinion recently reported, on the basis of a poll, that the typical non-farm family in the East now spends $8 more a week than its Midwestern counterpart and $5 more than similar families in the West.

The spending picture in Middlesex County, according to the most recent findings of the Standard Rate and Data Service, shows food costs getting an average of $27 per week per local family.

This is more than is being spent per family in many parts of the country, especially the non-urban areas. The average in the United States is $26.

The figures apply to the average family. Those with special needs or wants spend more for food than others, adjusting their remaining expenditures accordingly.

In areas where consumer spending is at a high level, the answer lies in the fact that incomes there are generally at a better level and, consequently, people can afford to spend more.

Just how much is needed to maintain a typical urban family of four on a moderate scale and how much is actually available for spending, after payment of personal taxes, are revealed in figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics and BRDS.

For those families with net earnings of approximately $12,900 a year, which is close to the Middlesex County average, the BLS budget provides for about 24 percent of it to be spent for food, 32 percent for housing, and 13 percent for clothing and personal care.

The remainder is apportioned among such other needs as transportation, medical costs, education, social security, and miscellaneous. The BLS reports that living costs for the family of four have risen 5.8 percent since its previous budget analysis, released a year earlier.

Witnesses Conclude Assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses throughout this area concluded their three-day assembly of April 2-4 at the Worcester State College. Eighteen congregations from eastern and central Massachusetts attended the program which stressed the theme, "Implanting the Word of God."

Sunday's public lecture was given by Harry A. Fetzik, who is the district supervisor for New England and has been serving in the full time ministry for over 20 years. A peak attendance of 2121 heard Mr. Fetzik deliver the talk entitled "What is Behind the Spirit of Rebellion?"

As a result of the Bible teaching program offered by Jehovah's Witnesses, they report a continuous increase in their numbers. On Saturday, there were 58 new ministers who were ordained. During the past year there was an increase of 164, 193 among the Witnesses, bringing their number up to 1,483,430 ministers as a world total.

Increasing at 10 percent a year, there are more ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States than all the clergy of Christendom combined. Yet, they are strongly urged to continue seeking increase, as during Saturday's session which stressed the theme, "Fully Share in the Implanting Work."

The Witnesses were instructed in methods of teaching their children and everyone expressing interest in the Bible, the fundamental teachings of the Scriptures, as well as the deeper and more difficult to understand prophecies. By following a well-prepared program of Bible education, they fortify their own faith and willingly teach others, without charge, directly from the Bible about God and His purpose for man.

Paul G. Genaris, presiding minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, locally, encourages anyone who would like to understand the Bible to contact Jehovah's Witnesses for a conveniently arranged appointment. He said that all are invited to attend their weekly meetings.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

A term insurance policy provides coverage for a limited period of time only.

Let's say that a person having a ten year term policy dies during that period. In such a case, the full amount is paid to the beneficiary.

Should the person continue to live, he must either renew the policy or drop it.

The premium payments for term insurance are much less than for ordinary life. While the whole life policy is most likely the best so far devised, term insurance fills a need better for a family without a big income. It provides maximum protection rather than savings.

A man 25 years old can get a $10,000 ten year policy for an annual premium of around $69.00 as against $192.00 for a whole life policy.

CITATION OF MERIT is accepted on behalf of Local 1564, International Association of Firefighters (I.A.F.F.) by President Joseph J. Riga of 257 Cross Street. The Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc., citation was awarded by Rex Trailer, Greater Boston Carnival chairman.

Dystrophy Aid Citation Awarded Area Firefighters

Winchester was represented among several hundred volunteers assembled recently for the annual Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc. annual awards presentation ceremonies.

The affair is traditionally held by the Association's Greater Boston Chapter to express appreciation for the volunteer workers who have assisted MDA with its fund-raising and patient care services.

Represented at the meeting were I.A.F.F. (International Association of Firefighters) presidents from local communities throughout the state. Firefighters have for many years adopted Muscular Dystrophy Associations as their charitable activity. Also present were representatives of area radio and television stations, who contributed valuable public service support.

The principal speaker was Boston City Councilman Joseph P. Timilty who spoke with reference to much-needed legislation for the handicapped. Following Councilman Timilty was television personality Rex Trailer who raised more than $60,000 on his WBZ-TV Boomtown Show promoting "Carnivals Against Dystrophy."

Mr. Trailer expressed his appreciation for the enthusiastic involvement of youngsters throughout the state for helping to defeat dystrophy by holding backyard carnivals. He later assisted in the preparation of awards.

MDAA is a national health agency dedicated to the scientific conquest of dystrophy and related neuromuscular conditions afflicting millions of children and adults.

George Lodgen Again Heads Vocational School Committee

George E. Lodgen of Malden was re-elected chairman of the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational District School Committee at the annual reorganization Thursday evening, April 1.

Also re-elected was Peter A. Rossetti of Saugus as vice chairman. Both Committeemen have held these offices by annual election since the inception of the planning committee in 1959.

In other business the Committee reappointed the entire Northeast instructional staff on the recommendation of Superintendent Douglas J. Tilley.

An opinion was received by the Committee from William J. Wallace, legal counsel to the State Department of Education, that the apportionment of costs for the regional school should be made on the basis of the number of pupils enrolled at the school from each community. The opinion was rendered as a result of a request made by the Committee for an interpretation of the agreement regarding apportionment.

Committeeman Arthur E. Flint of Melrose informed the Board that he was told by the Melrose legal department that a petition for declaratory judgment on the interpretation of the agreement regarding cost apportionment had been filed in superior court.

Chairman Lodgen suggested that the Committee engage legal counsel to appear in court if such a bill has been filed by Melrose. The members agreed, adding that if Melrose or some other community hasn't begun legal action for a court judgment, the District School Committee's counsel should do so to obtain an authoritative ruling to end the dispute.

It was reported by Chairman Lodgen that the court refused to issue an injunction to prevent further filling of the wetlands adjacent to the school property after he had stipulated that a third party was responsible for previously filling the wetlands without the knowledge or consent of the Committee. According to Mr. Lodgen, the court was satisfied with his further stipulation that no further filling of the land in question would be carried out without written permission of the Department of Natural Resources.

West Side Fire Station Ground-breaking Is Held

Groundbreaking ceremonies for a Fire Department substation on town-owned land at Ridge Street and Lockland Road took place Thursday morning, April 8.

Participating officials included Fire Chief I. Francis Amico; Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr., chairman of the West Side Fire Station Building Subcommittee; Subcommittees Harry E. Chelaflo, Robert T. Holland, and Gerald D. Saks; Architect Arthur Rand, and Clerk of the Works John Doherty. Robert D. Beattie, who was also a member of the subcommittee, was not present.

Falzarano Construction Company of Reading, whose $156,299 bid was the lowest of 17 received, expects to complete construction by October or November.

Building Approved
At a Special Town Meeting Thursday evening, January 21, Town Meeting Members voted, 102 to 52, to authorize $167,000 for constructing the station.

Selectman Saltmarsh informed Town Meeting Members that the building would contain 4,362 square feet. It would be capable of housing three pieces of equipment, he continued. Brick veneer was chosen as compatible with existing structures on the West Side and as part of the effort to achieve low maintenance costs. The site was acquired by the town in 1953.

Chairman Ralph M. Swanson of the Board of Selectmen advised Town Meeting Members that costs for additional personnel to man the substation would be $45,052 annually. Twelve firefighters would be required, with a lieutenant and two privates on each shift. This would mean four more firefighters. Chairman Swanson continued.

The Board of Selectmen favored the substation. Chairman Swanson observed that running times from fire station to blaze site of over four to five minutes were considered dangerous. Chairman Raymond J. Kenney Jr., of the Finance Committee said that the $167,000 appropriation would add one dollar to the tax rate. His group recommended that the town wait until it had a "more realistic ability to pay for it."

Personnel Provided

Town Meeting Members amended the Fire Department budget at the Annual Town Meeting to provide for assigning four firefighters from June through December at the substation. At the Monday, March 22, session, they added $26,122 to the $540,945 total budget recommended by the Finance Committee.

At that meeting, Robert C. Ericson of the Finance Committee said that his group did not agree that the additional men were "necessary and essential." He showed slides of a Finance Committee proposal for staffing the substation which, he maintained, would eliminate the need for the four extra personnel.

Termining the Finance Committee proposal "greatly out of line" and a "scooped plan," Fire Chief Amico claimed that failure to add the four fighters would "jeopardize the safety of loved ones and property."

Chairman Kenney said that his group was not against safety, but was seeking a way to provide for it without increasing cost.

Chairman Swanson maintained that without adding the four men the same coverage could not be possible. Budget 3300—Fire was approved for $567,067, including the $26,122 for West Side Fire Station personnel.

Selectmen Make Many Appointments

A large number of appointments to municipal office were made by the Board of Selectmen Monday evening, April 12. Those named included:

Marie T. Carroll, clerk; Anne M. McGuire, clerical assistant; Mary A. Haggerty, building clerk; Francis Muraco, custodian, Town Hall; Anthony C. Barabro, assistant custodian, Town Hall; Robert Young, assistant custodian, Town Hall, evenings; Pasquale Colella, Registrar of Voters, three years; Robert G. O'Brien, superintendent of streets; John H. Ciarcia, town engineer; Attorney Leonard J. Mullen Jr., town counsel; Daniel J. Doherty, veterans' director, and John T. Horn, caretaker of veterans' graves.

Winchester Welfare Costs Show 31 Percent Increase

A 31 percent increase in disbursements for the Winchester Welfare Service office during the 1970 fiscal year over the previous fiscal year's figure took place, State Auditor Thaddeus Buczek has reported.

The amount spent jumped from $445,718.18 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1969, to $585,654.92 for the period ending June 30, 1970, a hike of $139,936.74.

The information is contained in a report on the examination of the accounts of the Medford Finance Unit, of which the Winchester, Medford, Melrose, Stoneham, Wakefield, and Woburn Welfare Service Offices are a part.

Disbursement increases in other communities in the Medford Finance Unit included Melrose, 55 percent; Stoneham, 51 percent; Medford, 49 percent; Wakefield, 38 percent; and Woburn, 21 percent. The average percent of increase for the Medford Finance Unit during the 1970 fiscal year over the 1969 period was 42 percent. The total dollar amount of increase was $3,582,290.52.

Twenty-one medical assistance cases handled by the Winchester Welfare Service Office were closed as ineligible. The action followed a review of cases in June, 1970. In Woburn, 163 cases were ruled ineligible.

The Winchester Welfare Service Office at Town Hall pays monthly rental charges of $250, the report notes.

State's Spending Policies Could Overrun Fiscal Ability, Rotary Warned By Tax Speaker

"We stand in danger in Massachusetts of pursuing spending policies under an expenditure system which in a few years will simply overrun the taxpayers' ability to pay," Frank J. Zeo, executive vice-president of the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation, Incorporated, told the Winchester Rotary Club at a luncheon meeting Thursday, April 8, at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church.

"Skyrocketing welfare costs and the spiraling cost of our state universities and colleges are good examples," Mr. Zeo declared.

"Upward trends in pension costs, mental and public health, and environmental control are other areas where substantial increases are expected," he continued.

"We're simply headed down a road of doing a lot of things that are going to be impossible."

"And there are going to be some shocking disappointments unless we change our old ways of doing business at the State House."

"For example, with state and local taxes increasing at the rate of $100-$500 million a year, the benefits of tax reform will be partially offset by large increases in tax bills. At this rate of increase, even with tax reform and a shift in the percentage property tax burden, the dollar amount you will have to pay in property taxes in a few years will be the same as you pay today," Mr. Zeo went on.

"That's why I have been saying that belt-tightening by the state and by the cities and towns is still one of the best bets during this trying period when we are trying to accomplish tax reform," he said.

"Controlling government growth and governmental spending is the real big challenge of the 70's," Mr. Zeo maintained.

"We're headed into a real financial storm," cautioned Mr. Zeo. "The wise course is to prepare for it. The alternative is financial chaos for Massachusetts and the cities and towns. The choice is up to us."

"From my own vantage point, I would say that Massachusetts is headed in the right direction. For example, we're working at modernization, at expenditure control, at tax reform, but the modernization of our government and expenditure control must go hand-in-hand with tax reform if Massachusetts is to make it in the 70's," Mr. Zeo continued.

Commenting on the Master Tax Plan Commission's proposal, Mr. Zeo went on:

"The Commission's answer to who should pay is reflected in a general way in its blueprint for tax reform. The property tax would carry 40 percent of the state — local tax burden instead of 53 percent. The personal income tax, 20 percent, instead of 16. The consumer and transaction taxes, 20 percent, instead of 13. Corporate taxes, seven percent — about the same. Miscellaneous taxes, two percent — same. Non-tax revenues, 11 percent, instead of nine percent."

"Controlling revenue needs is the key factor in meeting state revenue needs," Mr. Zeo observed.

"Property taxes, which reflect local spending, increased 67 percent in the past four years. Welfare costs skyrocketed from $524 million in 1968-69 when the state took over, to a requested $817 million for next year — up 56 percent and reaching for a billion dollars — almost half the state budget," he stated.

"The operating costs of our state colleges and universities have jumped from $65 million two years ago to $121 million now — almost double. In five years, according to educators' estimates, the costs will be over $700 million if all existing and 'probable' programs are carried on. That's ten times the 1968 figure. And by 1980, the estimates call for $1.4 billion."

"There was a time only a few years ago when we used to refer to state and local costs in terms of millions of dollars. Now the word 'billion' is being used in reference to individual programs such as welfare and public higher education," Mr. Zeo declared.

Town Meeting Enters Tenth Night Tonight

Session ten of the 1971 Annual Town Meeting will begin at 7:45 tonight, April 15, in Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium. Since action was taken on only six more articles Monday evening, April 12, 29 articles on the 47-article warrant, plus the school budget under Article Eight, still await decisions by Town Meeting Members.

Monday's actions included:

1. Approved Article 16, creating a Fire Code Study Committee.
2. Approved the part of Article 17 establishing a committee to study snow and ice removal methods, but rejected the section which would have made plowing the principal method of snow removal and would have instructed the Selectmen on procedures to be followed.

3. Approved Article 18, authorizing a sidewalk for Wincerest Drive.

4. Approved Article 19, admitting the Executive Secretary to the Board of Selectmen to membership on the Public Works Council.

5. Approved Article 20, allowing for a sidewalk on Highland Avenue, from Sargent Road to 408 Highland Avenue.

6. Approved Article 25, accepting the report of the Permanent Building Committee and discharging it from further obligations for the Muraco School, and authorizing $1,200 in salary for the committee's secretary.

7. Tabled Articles 13, 14, and 15, concerning Water and Sewer Board projects, at the board's request.
8. Rejected a proposal by the Board of Selectmen that an extra Town Meeting session be held Saturday, April 17.

Articles 13, 14, 15

The first order of business at the Thursday evening, April 15, session of the Annual Town Meeting will be Articles 13, 14, and 15. The articles, concerning Water and Sewer Board projects, were deferred at the board's request Monday evening.

Article 16

Town Meeting Members approved Article 16, establishing a Fire Code Study Committee. The article, requested by Fire Chief I. Francis Amico, had the backing of the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee.

Selectmen Will Meet On Tuesday

The Board of Selectmen will meet at Town Hall Tuesday evening, April 20, instead of on Monday, April 19, Patriots' Day. The time of the meeting cannot be set until Town Meeting Members determine whether they will hold a session of the Annual Town Meeting Tuesday evening. They are expected to consider this possibility tonight, April 15.

If a Town Meeting session is to be held Tuesday evening, April 20, the Selectmen may meet at 6:30 p.m., as they have been doing on Mondays when Town Meeting sessions have been scheduled. Otherwise, a 7:30 p.m. meeting time is likely.

All town offices will be closed on the holiday, Monday. The United States Post Office will maintain its usual hours since Patriots' Day is a state and not a federal holiday.

Chairman Ralph M. Swanson of the Board of Selectmen said that the seven-member group could determine if a fire code would be desirable. Chief Amico believes that a fire code would provide definite standards now lacking, Chairman Swanson noted.

Finance Committee Chairman Raymond J. Kenney Jr. stated that his group felt the proposal worthy of further study.

The committee will include one designee each from the Board of Selectmen, Planning Board, and the Building Bylaw Revision Committee, a representative of the Fire Department, and three members to be appointed by Town Moderator and State Representative Harrison Chadwick. Town Meeting Members voted $500 in expense money for the committee. If the group agrees that a fire code is desirable, it will draft a proposed code for consideration at the 1972 Annual Town Meeting.

Under Article 17, Town Meeting Members approved creation of a committee to study the town's snow removal methods and costs. The seven-member group is to report its initial findings to the Board of Selectmen at the board's first meeting following Labor Day. It will make a full report to the 1972 Annual Town Meeting.

Serving on the committee will be one appointee each named by the Board of Selectmen, Conservation Commission, Water and Sewer Board, and the Superintendent of Streets, and three members to be chosen by the Moderator.

Town Meeting Members defeated the second part of Article 17. This would have required the Selectmen to use plowing as the principal means of snow removal and to reduce the amount of road salt used to conform to recommendations of the Salt Institute.

The Finance Committee backed the first part of Article 17, but opposed the second. Chairman Kenney said that the study should come before specification of policy. Walter J. Farrell Jr. of 33 Pier report Road called for reversing a trend. He said that salt was affecting roadside trees. He recommended using either sand or a combination of sand and salt for accident prevention. He said that the study proposed "will extend the capability of the Superintendent of Streets."

Mr. Farrell claimed that Winchester has been using three times as much road salt as the Salt Institute recommends. He called for "at least" reducing the salt used to that figure. He urged the use of plowing instead of salt when possible.

Chairman John Moore of the Conservation Commission advised Town Meeting Members that the Conservation Commission endorsed both motions.

Chairman Swanson said that the Selectmen recommended unfavorable action on both motions. He observed that the Selectmen were proud of their efforts for ecology and conservation, citing examples of actions they have taken.

Chairman Swanson questioned whether salt is the only factor in tree damage. He noted that town officials had attended seminars on road salt use. The board had cut back on the use of road salt, he noted, with one-third of the amount formerly utilized now being consumed.

Letters and telephone calls received by the Selectmen ran ten-to-one in favor of the existing salt policy, Chairman Swanson said. The Selectmen were following modern snow removal techniques in the judicious use of road salt, he continued.

Policy

Once it was comparatively simple to maintain "standards," if one honestly desired to do so. But in the bewildering quicksand of the emerging seventies, the maintenance of quality in service or product requires an ethical discipline fewer and fewer seem capable of. However, we have determined on our own course of action. As long as we can continue to serve, we will maintain our traditional standards. If this ever becomes impossible, we will simply cease to serve.

ACCOMPLISHED (?) IN OUR OWN SLOVENLY FASHION

A New Jersey "discount" department store "suffered" a little smoke and water damage from a fire in the adjoining shoe store. Although the "damage" is very slight they turned the entire stock ($194,000) over to the insurance company with the provision that it be sold out-of-state. In just six days we packed and shipped the entire stock.

BUT THERE'S A PROBLEM

It was impossible (well, not really impossible, but too much of a nuisance) to divide the stock evenly between our Hingham and Woburn stores, so we just loaded the trailers the easiest way. We don't know which departments will be on sale in Hingham, and which in Woburn. All we know is that both Elegant Emporiums will be jam packed with clean, fresh, perfect (well, almost) current merchandise at 30% to 60% off "discount store" prices. Come get your share of the bargains. You're entitled.

WE OFFER A STRANGE MIXTURE

Besides peddling inventories taken over by insurance companies, we sell railroad salvage, trucking company salvage, mail order returns, factory overstocks, irregulars, bankruptcies stocks, and any other kind of off price goods we can get. We can't guarantee that we have exactly what you're looking for but we do guarantee that you'll enjoy looking, that the price will be right, and that you'll be pleased with the price and performance of every purchase or we'll give you a full refund. Fair enough?

Today Marks Methodist Church 100th Birthday

Today, April 15, marks the 100th anniversary of Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church. The date will be marked by a Centennial Banquet to be held in Gifford Hall of the church. The featured speaker will be the Rev. Dr. George Butters who served as pastor of Crawford Memorial from 1935 to 1938.

REV. DR. GEORGE BUTTERS

Dr. Butters and his wife Lila are now living in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Dr. Butters served several churches in the Boston area before returning to Minnesota where he acted as a district superintendent prior to his retirement.

The Butters are looking forward to greeting many of their friends from the Church and the community on Thursday evening. The banquet is completely sold out, however, the program is being moved to the main auditorium of the church to enable others to attend.

At the Banquet recognition of those who have been members of the church for over 50 years will also be a highlight of the evening. Allister MacKay will serve as master of ceremonies for the evening. Also taking part in the service will be the Rev. Henry A. Marquardt, president of the Winchester Ecumenical Association; Harry Enmons, lay leader; and Miss Gayle Van Alstine, representing the youth.

Among the invited guests will be the Rev. and Mrs. H. Newton Clay, former pastor of the church, and the Rev. and Mrs. Hamilton Gifford. Mr. Gifford is the son of the late Rev. Alliston B. Gifford who was pastor of the church when the present building on the corner of Church and Dix Streets was built.

Conservation Is Theme Of Scout Shew

Over 6,000 family tickets for the 1971 Masket District Scout Show will be purchased by residents of Winchester, Stoneham, and Woburn this month. These people and their families will be going to view the displays and demonstrations put on by the almost 2,000 Cubs, Scouts and Explorers of these communities during the weekend of April 24th and 25th. The Stoneham Town Hall, location of this show, will have outdoor displays which are expected to include bridges, towers, an overnight campsite, and a tour camping display.

Inside, both the up and down-stairs halls will be filled with displays of Scouting activities and Scouting interest in conservation. The National Council of the Boy Scouts of America has named 1971 for Scouting's National Conservation Good Turn. The theme is Project SOAR, Save Our American Resources. Many of the booths at the 1971 show will demonstrate what Scouting, in this area, is doing. Already there have been two major district conservation activities in March to begin the season. The first was a cleaning up of the area off Route 93 where the Minuteman Council Scout Headquarters is located. The second was the cleaning of the Aberjona River in Woburn and Stoneham by numerous scouts on the banks and in 46 canoes.

Scouts showing slides and giving talks, putting on demonstrations of first aid, cooking, pioneering, and soil conservation, building towers, making handicrafts, will show visitors what Scouting offers to the Cub Scout of eight - 11 years of age, the Boy Scouts of 11 - 14, and the boy or girl in the Explorer program for high school aged teenagers.

Among the additional displays being prepared by Scouts for this show are the following which were among the applications received recently: Pack 539 of Stoneham - Clean air cars and psychedelic displays; Troop 539 of Stoneham - Environmental pollution; Troop 526 of Winchester - First Aid; Pack 520 of Woburn - Progress of Man; and Troop 504 of Woburn - an outdoor booth on tower construction.

The Winchester Star

Established 1880 By Theodore P. Wilson, Sr.

Serving The Community For 90 Years

Editorials:

Commendable Service

Winchester received a tribute recently when District School Committeeman J. Edward Sharkey of this town was nominated for chairman of the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational District School Committee.

District School Committeeman Paul McCarthy of Chelsea, in nominating Mr. Sharkey, noted that the local man has had more than 30 years' experience in trade high school teaching and supervision. George E. Lodgen of Malden, however, was re-elected chairman for his tenth successive term.

The town has been fortunate in having Mr. Sharkey serve as its District School Committeeman. The recognition which he received at a recent session of the Annual Town Meeting was deserved. A motion by Town Meeting Member Jeremiah McCarron of Precinct Six that Mr. Sharkey be complimented on his presentation of the 1971 budget for the Regional Vocational School in Wakefield was greeted with applause.

Mr. Sharkey has served Winchester well on the District School Committee. He has fought to have the method of assessing the town for its share of regional school costs placed on a basis more favorable to Winchester. He has worked for budget cuts to ease the town's tax rate. He has consistently kept the public informed of District School Committee deliberations and actions through the town's newspaper.

We commend Mr. Sharkey for the energy and dedication with which he has served Winchester on the District School Committee.

Letters To The Editor

Teacher Gives Views On School Lunch Project

Editor of the Star:

I have been teaching in Winchester for the past four years and have been an avid reader of your letters to the editor columns. Although I have felt the urge to write on many occasions, I haven't, since I feel that people have the right to express their honest opinions. However, I must respond to a letter written by Mrs. M. F. McQuillan concerning the elementary school lunch program which directly involved me.

First of all I have never been involved in the supervision of lunch students previous to this year. I have had the opportunity to supervise eight lunch students at the Washington School for the past four years, including this one, and have refused to do so.

Only a call from Mr. Richard Young, Principal of Muraco School, late in September, appealing for help moved me to accept the position. The main reason for my taking the job was that it was pointed out to me by Mr. Young that he wished not only classroom supervision and direction of cleaning but an informal organization of a program of recreation for the students after they had eaten their lunches.

So instead of having only eight students at Washington I have upwards of 110 students at Muraco for the same stipend where I have to travel between schools, without, I might add, mileage being paid to me. It would be interesting to me to find out where Mrs. McQuillan picked up that erroneous information.

I would like to finish by stating that my experience this year has reinforced what I have come to believe in ten years of teaching. That belief being that both teachers and pupils benefit greatly by getting out of square rooms to relax, communicate with peers, and become revitalized for another two hours of school. To this end I will not supervise lunch students next year even for a significantly larger stipend.

Personnel Board Sees Error In Reader's Letter

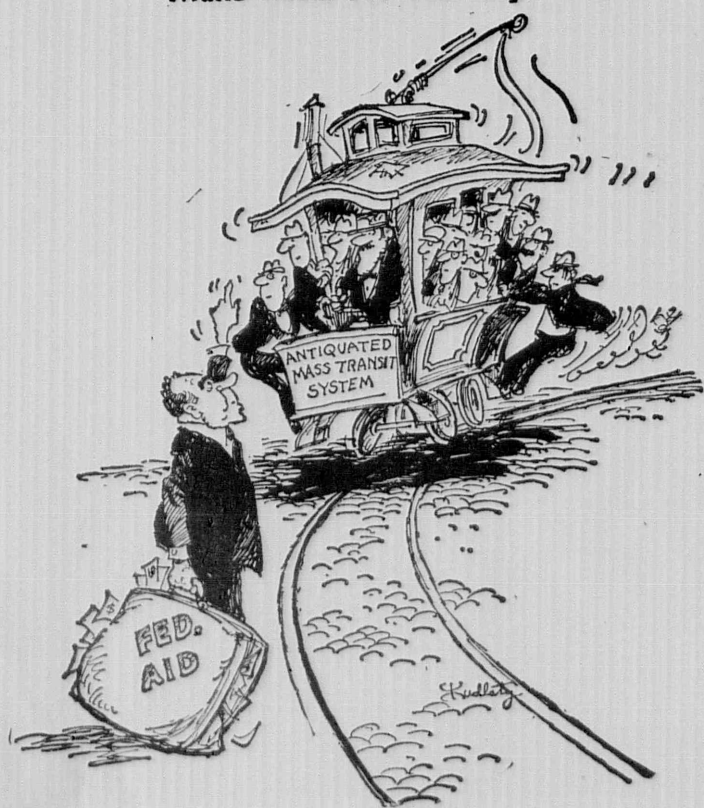

Editor of the Star:

With reference to Mr. Lord's letter published in The Star on April 8, 1971, the Winchester Personnel Board wishes to point out that there is an error of fact. Mr. Lord's reference to "The Personnel Board" is incorrect. The Personnel Board would have paid bonus of 25 percent or $100, over which it had no control, which makes the bonus today, $500, amounting to about $300,000, almost one dollar on the tax rate.

The Personnel Board is not in any way involved with recommending salary or stipend adjustments for the professional staff of the School Department. This is solely a function of the School Committee.

Winchester Personnel Board

Make Room for This Guy

Eugene Rotondi Asks Department Of Public Works

Editor of the Star:

As a Town Meeting Member for over 30 years, for the most controversial meeting, this year 1971 deserves an Oscar. For many years I have seen the so-called leaders stand up and speak and watched the sheep follow.

Something is wrong with our present Town Government. Steps must be taken to correct it.

Many people of our Town realize and understand that all budgets of the various departments are presented to the Finance Committee, and Board of Selectmen for study and approval.

Usually both groups agree and sometimes disagree. I believe this year — many opposite views were taken by them.

For example, one item, subject matter, the purchase of a front end loader, price $29,000. Both bodies disagreed. The Finance team won this one, especially when Town Meeting Members heard Superintendent O'Brien state that machine could function another three years. If this was so, then why did Chairman Swanson try to sell us so strongly a $29,000 machine?

Another controversial item was the Gradall, $53,000 worth. When I asked the chairman of Finance Committee, why should the Town purchase a Gradall, he simply stated, "The Board of Selectmen want it."

Evidently the sum of $53,000 did not concern them too much. If the Finance Committee and Board of Selectmen had placed in calls, consulted with contractors, and department heads in surrounding towns, they would have learned that the present machine could have been repaired.

For this reason I made an amendment to the motion to allow the sum of $10,000 to be used to repair this machine. If this was done the Town would have saved $43,000. Gradall would have given another 12 years service. However Mr. Saltmarsh helped defeat this amendment.

When I spoke to Mr. Saltmarsh about this Gradall, he stated to me, and I quote, "Gene, I don't know anything about a Gradall. You should know and whatever you say I will listen. For you have been around them all your life, after all — this is your business."

If the matter of insurance came up, I would listen to Mr. Saltmarsh, for this is his business. Why then did Mr. Saltmarsh speak, for because of this, many Town Meeting Members felt that Mr. Saltmarsh was right. Others believed Mr. Swanson.

Why was only one repair bill presented for around $26,000, and only from the company that will sell us the Gradall? Is it not customary to get three bids? Yes, dear citizens, we were certainly given a shuffle.

Unless we have a Department of Public Works where every department is coordinated, then a Gradall could be used.

Comments from various departments, such as our trucks, our backhoe, etc., make you sick. All Town equipment belongs to the people, and it is time we get this Public Works if we wish to save tax dollars.

Some of you recall in 1962 I was chairman of Public Works Study Committee. We had voted three to two to have such a program. Mr. Saltmarsh was one who voted in favor of the same, but at Town Meeting he changed his mind spoke against it. Result, said program was defeated.

Seven years have gone by, and I estimate that because of not having a Department of Public Works, the Town has lost a million dollars. This would have been your Savings in Tax Dollars.

We expect to place this question on the ballot for next year. Many citizens will be contacted for their signatures. I realize this step should have been taken years ago.

Monday, April 5, 1971, Board of Selectmen came in with amendment for $3,900 to repair front end loader. They lost the new front end loader, so now they wish to repair. This policy of repairing and keeping equipment in condition is a good policy, but you wonder if this was revenge for not getting the new loader.

The Cemetery Commission asks for $1900 to repair their truck, a truck worth possibly $100. Of course this is stupid planning.

Harrison Chadwick a gentleman always, keeps and protects the rights of citizens who wish to speak. He allows them many privileges. However, I wish he would lower the boom. All we want to hear are facts and figures.

The debate of $1000 Monday night in regard to repairing the cemetery truck, lasted one hour. There is no need for these prolonged debates. With this in mind I expect to end this Town Meeting by next Thursday, April 15.

My large garden is patiently awaiting my labors, for here alone is one who is close to God.

Hockey Playing In Roads Topic

Editor of the Star:

Saturday afternoon I turned at right angles of a parkway into a so-called "private way." Fifty feet in from the parkway I was obliged to come to a slow but complete stop because two young men were engaged there in playing hockey on the street. They gave me the "dragged heel" treatment, making sure that I was completely stopped before they cleared my path.

I called them over and spoke to them out of the open window of my car, telling them that I had been given the same insolent treatment many times before; but always, so far, in a slum, or ghetto area, never before in a neighborhood as prosperous looking as the one they lived in. I said I could understand, to some extent, the slum kid's reaction: having no cars of their own, and no way of getting cars of their own, it was but natural that they should resent and be jealous of those other people who were so much more fortunate than they.

"But certainly your parents have cars," I said, "and it may even be that you boys have cars of your own — or will have them very soon — so it is high time for you to learn that it is only common sense and common courtesy for boys who are playing games in the streets to step aside promptly and not to stop a traveller on the road unnecessarily as you have stopped me."

"Do you live here?" one of the boys asked. I answered that I did, as a matter of fact live nearby, and for a long, long time; but that it would not, actually, make any difference if I lived in Abyssinia — the roads existed for use by the travelling public and not for use as playing fields.

"Well," the boy answered, "this is a private road and we own it, and you should not be driving through here in the first place, and we can play hockey in it if we want because it's ours and we own it."

"Well, I said, you do raise a very interesting point — there is no doubt whatever but that this is a "private way" and while I do not know the law precisely in either case, I nevertheless feel that you are quite wrong as far as your assumed right to play hockey in the street is concerned."

To which the boy replied that this was a matter that they would settle in the courts.

I said "O.K., boys, have it your own way, but I still think that you will someday learn that you were wrong."

So when I got home I called the police department, not to make a complaint or to give details — after all, it was a minor affair — but to settle the matter in my own mind, once and for all.

Sergeant Roy answered the phone, and when I told him what had taken place and had been said, he answered that that was what was to be expected nowadays from teen-aged kids. They knew everything and had all the answers to everything and had them down pat, too, even if most of the time they did have the wrong answers. It made no difference. It was the spirit of the age, and growing, or spreading.

He called me later and gave it to me, line and page, right out of the Town By-Laws. So, if the boys are still interested (or any other young boys similarly engaged are at all interested) here it is, right out of the horse's mouth!

"Town of Winchester —

General By-Laws,

Article 3, Section 18.

No person shall throw any snowball, stone, or other substance, in any public or private way; nor amusement, game, or exercise, in any public or private way as to interfere with the free, safe, and convenient use thereof."

So I say to you kids, "If you must play hockey or other games in the streets, please grow up and be your age — and leave that insolent 'heel dragging' to the kids in the slums." Remember, please, the old man may have the law on his side!

Seniors Repaint WHS Cafeteria

Editor of the Star:

There is a new atmosphere in the High School cafeteria. The whole place has been repainted in cheerful colors by the Senior Class. The cafeteria didn't really need to be painted, but the Senior Class needed to paint. The project brought a variety of people together in a common purpose, and the students were able to see an idea — modest as it was — realized.

In schools there is sometimes a need for renewal purely for the sake of renewal. A new coat of paint, a reordering of furniture can suddenly regenerate student interest and creativity. Certainly housepaint is no substitute for curriculum, but at times a simple physical change — student initiated — can do wonders.

If we were to make cafeteria painting a Winchester tradition the spirit of what happened would be lost. The tradition would outlive the students' spontaneity and interest. We really can't design student creativity into the schools, but we can recognize it when it happens and we can allow it to express itself. The students didn't really need that much to get the cafeteria project operating; a loan (now repaid), brushes and rollers, two ladders and the trust of the principal.

I was involved in the cafeteria painting as an adviser, and I am thankful to a school and a community that will trust its youth. The risk isn't very great, and the results can be very exhilarating. Even if the cafeteria painting hadn't turned out so well, the important thing is that the students were allowed to initiate some renewal.

Reader Pleased With Selection Of Dr. Mobbs

Editor of the Star:

Dr. Robert Mobbs of 20 Swan Road was appointed by Governor Sargent to the State Pesticide Board several months ago.

Dr. Mobbs' concern with pesticide chemicals dates back many years, to an occasion when he witnessed a child's death due to pesticides.

The tragedy sparked his concern for other humans who might also be harmed. He has kept abreast of pesticide research and legislation and will be in a position to deal with "practical matters" as a member of the Governor's five-man Board.

It would be a great service to us all if Mr. Mobbs could report to us via this newspaper periodically. We need information about pesticides and some interpretation of the facts so we can feel reassured — or start acting!

Perhaps some of you saw Saturday's Boston Globe (April 10). One article began: "There is mounting circumstantial evidence growing preliminary evidence that the pesticide DDT may be contributing to sterility among American women."

The article ends, "There is mounting circumstantial evidence that DDT may have a long-delayed adverse effect on humans."

What can citizens do? 1. Read. 2. Urge more research on these matters. 3. Support legislation that makes sense.

Also, we can be grateful that Dr. Mobbs has agreed to assume the responsibilities of the Pesticide Board.

School Lunch Plan Analyzed

Editor of the Star:

The proposal of an in-school lunch is on the surface a simple one, merely a plan to have children eat in school rather than at home. But in actuality it is far from simple because if implemented it will involve thousands of children, and families, more than a hundred teachers, and countless school employees. It will involve time, effort, and expense for many, and a change in living habits for all.

Perhaps that is why our school administration has taken upon itself the responsibility of waiting for State guidelines before making decisions hastily that could adversely affect so many people in regard to the law affecting school lunches. Most of Winchester's elementary schools are older buildings, having no adequate facilities for school lunch.

The possibility of having a school lunch is not new to Winchester. The question has been around for many years.

I have talked to quite a few teachers about this, and many felt that in the elementary grades the children benefited from the longer lunch. This time gave them a change of pace, and provided them with a much needed break, especially in good weather.

Are we so naive that we could believe that the sole reason the teachers are not for an in-school lunch is that they do not want to babysit, when they would not have to, anyway? The administration has set guidelines for those who remain in school for lunch. Among these are physical illness or hazardous conditions, going to or from school, plus the two-mile limit. The small stipend on supervision for these children is well spent, when you measure it against a possible injury, or illness.

As to the fine Washington School teacher who was so unjustly criticized, I hope that in the future we judge a program by its merits and not by the personalities involved.

CHARISMATICS

by Hans Holzer

Hans Holzer has written a number of books on extrasensory perception, ghosts, witchcraft, reincarnation, and other psychic subjects. His most recent, "Charismatics," is built on the idea of making things happen for you by using thought projection to influence people mind to mind. It is in part a prescription for calculated cleverness. And who wants to be the victim? To some, nothing is so obvious as being clever.

He has many things to say. "Charisma is not a quality exercised by one particular part of the body or mind. It is the sum total of all the personality being brought into play." Outstanding world leaders have had charisma. Those who are successful before the public in any media have it. Charismatics is the use of the elements that make up charisma. The author contends that by the use of charismatics a person's abilities are increased.

If you want charisma, the first thing to do is to get rid of your hostilities. They have a negative influence. Hostilities should be examined and disposed of by rationalization. He does not say one has to love. But one cannot charm someone whom he hates.

In addition one has to know what is proper giving and receiving of gifts. There is a "creative pleasure" in giving. But giving must be made without expectation of a return gift. What is just socially correct is not true giving. Don't give just to please your own ego.

In his chapter on sex, he recommends that you create a positive image of yourself. Then all you have to do is to look into the eyes of the other person, keeping in mind what you would like from that individual. Goodness gracious! Would to God it were so simple!

In your everyday life, you might sometime want to advance yourself in business. Just apply charismatics in dealing with your boss. He quite candidly uses the expression of "buttering up." Perhaps he hasn't read the "Greening of America," in which Reich maintains that Consciousness III people would not go along with this hypocritical technique.

Reformers and initiators of new thoughts use charismatics. Holzer notes: "Martin Luther, on the other hand, was a prime example of charismatics in religion. . . . Jesus Christ himself was not charismatic. Paul was. . . . Billy Graham is a good example of a charismatic speaker. He, too, uses all the tricks of the trade — all the tools of the emotional kit."

Christ didn't have charisma in that by glancing and saying a few words at a fisherman that fisherman left all and followed him?

Holzer believes that improved health conditions will inevitably result from the use of charismatics. Where your personality is concerned charismatics is the realization of true personality. But here again the implications of what he says turn into bones of contention.

To him, "Man's most desired objectives include good health, economic independence, and sexual satisfaction." Nowhere does he mention peace of mind or anything of a higher nature. Although speaking of charisma, he keeps his mind focused on material ends.

One of his prescriptions is "to get rid of our fear complex." The seven deadly hang-ups, as Holzer calls them. They are the fear of death, of sex, of the unknown, of failure, of loneliness, of ridicule, and responsibility. Fear being a negative and crippling force, and, as such would not allow charisma to develop.

While Holzer has many good common sense suggestions to make, there is a feeling that too many things are thrown together in a hodge-podge. Charismatics does not eliminate either egoism or selfishness, two big enemies of charisma. One feels intuitively that the emphasis here is too much on the individual self for true charisma to really develop.

Eugene B. Rotondi of Precinct One claimed that "salt is definitely bad for our environment." He charged that road salt affected vegetation, sidewalks, and water.

"We're using too much salt," he continued. "Salt does not react unless the temperature is over 20 degrees. A salt and sand mixture does react."

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien maintained that salt has no effect on asphalt streets or sidewalks, but does have some effect on concrete. He said that he was concerned with ecology, economics, and safety.

Since Winchester does not have a water wheel system, its water supply is not affected by road salt, and in nearby communities using other methods of snow and ice removal. Substituting plowing for road salt would add $150,000 to the town's storm costs, not counting funds for buying additional needed equipment, Superintendent O'Brien pointed out.

Using road salt insured safe roads for motorists, clear sidewalks for children, and mobility for emergency vehicles such as police, fire, and hospital equipment, fuel trucks, and taxicabs, he continued. He termed it a "very inexpensive operation."

Superintendent O'Brien said that he couldn't equate trees or dollars with the value of one human life lost in an accident, or a child maimed because a school bus skidded and struck a tree, or a piece of fire apparatus becoming involved in a crash, because of poor road conditions.

Mrs. Lenore C. Frazier of Precinct Six said a need to study the town's snow removal program. She said that she didn't "think popularity should determine these things" in referring to Chairman Swanson's comment that the board's present policy was favored by writers and callers, ten-to-one.

Dr. Warren J. Taylor of the Board of Health said that his group was unaware of any particular hazard to human health from the town's present policy of using road salt on the streets. He commended the Selectmen for keeping the roads open and safe, in urging that no restriction be placed upon the policy by Town Meeting Members.

Answering a question by Robert P. Joyce of Precinct Six, Superintendent O'Brien said that he had tried a salt and sand program in 1967, but found it ineffective. His experience in Brookline, his previous place of employment, was similar, Superintendent O'Brien said.

Town Meeting Members defeated, 90-82, an amendment by Earle F. Littleton of Precinct Three which would have given the Board of Health authority to name one of the study committee members. Under Mr. Littleton's proposal, the moderator would have named two instead of three committee members.

After the amendment was defeated, Mr. Littleton asked, "If this is not a health problem, then what are we worrying about?"

Richard W. Freeman Jr. of Precinct Four noted that House Bill 3334, under consideration by the Massachusetts House of Representatives, would ban salt on all Commonwealth highways. He asked whether it was the type of snow removal used or the method of driving which affected road safety.

Article 25

Town Meeting Members agreed to consider Article 25 out of numerical order, 118-22. A two-thirds vote was required for this purpose.

Arthur J. Hewis Jr. of Precinct One said that Articles 25, 26, and 27, all concerned reports of the Permanent Building Committee, should be considered together if one was to be discussed.

Town Moderator and State Representative Harrison Chadwick said that the committee preferred to have only Article 25 acted upon early.

Under Article 25, Town Meeting Members approved $1,200 as the annual stipend for the secretary to the Permanent Building Committee. The Town Meeting also discharged the committee from further obligations regarding the Muraco School. Chairman Leroy W. Long said that $6,315.51 will be returned to the town by the committee.

Mr. Hewis said that he had reason to believe that the Muraco building does not meet specifications.

Mrs. Mary F. McQuillin of Precinct Two asked if portions of the Muraco School were to be allocated for a cafeteria.

To Mr. Long's recollection, there had been no plan for a Muraco School cafeteria, he answered. Mr. Littleton, a former School Committee chairman, agreed.

Article 18

Article 18, authorizing construction of a sidewalk on Wincrest Drive from Squire Road to Ridge Street, was approved. The project will cost $3,400.

Chairman Swanson said that 25 residents had petitioned for the sidewalk, which will serve approximately 80 school children who travel between their homes and the Winsor-Owen School four times each school day. Favorable action was urged by the Selectmen, Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler, Safety Officer Donald E. Pigott, the School Committee, and the Finance Committee.

Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly was made an ex-officio, non-voting member of the Public Works Council, with passage of Article 19.

Chairman Swanson said that Mr. Donnelly would receive no stipend for the additional task, in response to a question from Mr. Rotondi. The Finance Committee joined the Selectmen in backing the article. Mr. Hewis, speaking in opposition, called for restructuring town government, suggesting a Town Manager type.

Article 20

Article 20, authorizing $5,500 for a sidewalk on the easterly side of Highland Avenue, from Sargent Road to 408 Highland Avenue, was approved, 98-55. It had the support of the Selectmen and the Finance Committee.

Albert Mooradian of Precinct Three had favored a pedestrian traffic light at Sargent Road and Highland Avenue instead of the sidewalk. When his amendment for this purpose was defeated, however, he said that he would support the sidewalk proposal.

Chairman Swanson said that it was "marginal" whether the Commonwealth would have permitted the proposed traffic light on Route 38.

Church Hosts Missionary Conference

During April 17 through 25, The Church of the Open Bible in Burlington will be host to 21 missionaries from 15 different fields of service at the 33rd Annual Missionary Conference. All the conference guests will have color slides or film to illustrate their ministries and a large exhibit room will be open. The panorama will span from primitive tribes in the jungles of South America to agricultural and medical projects in Ethiopia.

A new addition this year are the prophetic studies with Dr. John G. Mitchell, Chairman of the Board, Multnomah School of the Bible, Portland, Oregon. Dr. Mitchell recently retired from 37 years as pastor of the Central Bible Church and has been a visiting lecturer at the Dallas Theological Seminary for 34 years. He will be teaching Bible prophecy both weekends of the Conference.

A well-staffed nursery will be provided continually, and a separate program of Bible instruction will be held for children, Sundays at 4 p.m. and Monday through Friday at 2 p.m. Visitors are welcome at any of the sessions being held morning, afternoon, and evening. Printed schedules may be obtained by calling 272-0090.

The Rev. Mr. Davis is married to the former Catherine Fixx. They have two children, Martha Ellen and Thomas Merrill Davis.

The Rev. Mr. Davis was among over 50 clergymen recommended to the Pastoral Supply Committee of the local church. About 24 of these individuals were seen personally by one or more committee members. In-depth interviews took place with about a dozen of the candidates. Committee-wide conversations were held with a half-dozen men.

Before deciding on the selection of the Rev. Mr. Davis, the Pastoral Supply Committee consulted the Prudential, Finance, and Personnel Committee and the Church Committee, including the deacons, and received a unanimous endorsement of its nomination.

Scholarship Foundation Makes Appeal

The Winchester Scholarship Foundation is making a final appeal for gifts this week in an effort to reach the highest goal in the 26 years of its existence.

Increased costs of education coupled with increased numbers of applications mean that a record amount must be raised this year if the Foundation is to continue to meet its objective of making it possible for very graduate of the High School to achieve his own personal education goal.

Earlier this week, at a meeting of the Community Schools Association of Winchester held at the home of president, Mrs. Kilmer McCully, Foundation chairman, John G. McElwee, brought the scholarship appeal to representatives of all the schools.

The Community Schools Association is an outgrowth of the group which in 1945 was responsible for the first effort to raise scholarship money for local students.

Since then the Scholarship Foundation has had the support of many Winchester organizations and businesses as well as individuals. Any citizen who wishes to invest in the future of our youth can become a member of the Scholarship Foundation by sending a check in care of Richard D. Ingersoll at the Winchester Trust Company. The need for support is particularly great now.

Sparking this discussion was the announcement by Mrs. Harriet H. Dieterich, chairman of the School Committee, that she, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald A. Klemer, Director of Pupil Services Dr. W. Howard Niblock, and others, among whom is believed to be Massachusetts Commissioner of Education Neil Sullivan, have been served with summonses applied for by Clara M. Hewis of 91 Swanton Street for the release of system-wide results of the standardized achievement tests given to all Massachusetts fourth graders.

Grouping

A report detailing grouping as applied in Winchester schools was presented by Dr. Gleason according to a request made by the committee earlier in the spring. It will be discussed at greater length at the next meeting when Committee members have had more time to study the information which was praised for its thoroughness.

The report states, "In the secondary schools the format for grouping is standard. Whereas, in the elementary schools the grouping is so diverse that no single statement can be made about the elementary schools, or indeed about the grouping in any one school, so this matter is being presented on a grade by grade basis."

Diversity at the lower level is dependent upon three factors, Dr. Gleason reported: the needs of the students at each school, the structure and materials available at each, and the individual staff organization.

The philosophy behind grouping, he continued, is to provide each student with the attention best suited to him. In general, skills lend themselves to ability grouping, while science and social studies fluctuate between heterogeneous groupings. Shying away from the creation of "dedicated fools," Dr. Gleason wishes to emphasize the "training of students to process information, made use of information," the reasoning behind heterogeneous grouping in content courses.

Flexibility

"Any grouping is artificial," the best to strive for is perhaps flexibility or a multitude of arrangements within groupings. According to the report, all classes at the High School are departmentalized and divided into three levels: advanced, college preparatory, and noncollege. Dr. Gleason hopes to see this reduced to two classifications with the number of arrangements within these increased and diversified.

In the junior high schools all subject areas are grouped in three divisions: top group - academically talented - 10-15 percent (accelerated college); middle group - scholastically able - 72-85 percent (average college); and low group - basic learners - 8-10 percent (noncollege).

Mrs. Kilmer S. McCully, president of the Winchester Community Schools Association, stated that parents contacted her frequently to express concern over grouping. There was particular feeling, she said, that pupils exhibiting different levels of ability according to different subjects could be grouped accordingly, rather than in one group for all courses of study.

Discussions will continue to the next School Committee meeting.

Personnel

Several matters of personnel were acted upon. The resignation due to retirement of Mrs. Edith M. Phelan, social studies teacher at Lynch Junior High School, who has been with the school system since 1953, was accepted.

A motion presented by Committee member Stephen R. Parkhurst to defer action on two requests for sabbaticals until more information can be received was accepted. The requests were submitted by Bernard J. Silva, Senior High School guidance counselor, for a full year of leave within the United States, full salary for 1971-1972, and by Mrs. Mary N. Boghigian, Lynch physical education instructor, for a half-year of leave to western Europe, "half salary," beginning in February of 1972.

Henry B. Perry, assistant superintendent for personnel, noted that in the past sabbaticals have been subject to a "liberal policy, liberally interpreted." Citing the contract, Chairman Dieterich stated that it seemed that teachers returning from a sabbatical were not required to show proof of any accomplishments. A sum covering such leaves has been included in the budget.

In forming his motion Mr. Parkhurst said that this was perhaps a year for stricter interpretation of this contract area. Such leaves necessitate the double salaries for the positions left temporarily vacant.

Also carried was the placement of six persons on longevity at $500 for the next three years. Since the deadline for application has passed, there will be no more such requests. Three other teachers will receive special gifts of $500 provided by the State as accepted by the School Committee.

Mr. Parkhurst's motion to approve curriculum council elections from September 1, 1971, to December 31, 1971, pro-rated over this period was accepted. Failure to approve the elections for a longer period of time was in accordance with Committee member Parkhurst's statement that the Committee was "not in a position to commit funds that far in advance."

Action on extracurricular appointments was reserved for executive session.

Furnishing

As attention switched to business matters Assistant Superintendent Clark informed members that the new high school was 70 percent complete and should be ready for occupation in 10 months. One and one-quarter million dollars has been provided for equipping and furnishing the new institution. A list of items is presently being revised to be sent out for bid in four to five weeks. Other equipment is already out.

A recommendation to accept low bids on custodial supplies, except where specifications were not met, was carried. A report on the review of the rentals policy is expected to be available by the next meeting.

A letter from the State Department of Public Safety was forwarded by the executive secretary of the Board of Selectmen concerning certain requirements for fire prevention and detection at schools. Among specifics mentioned were the interior lighting of schools during the night and a night watchman in some cases, mounted exterior lighting, and automatic fire alarm systems. While the installation of automatic systems was termed "economically unfeasible," the provision of exterior lights was generally agreed to be advisable.

A final matter of business was the "acceptance with thanks" of the gifts made by the Lynch Junior High Associates as a result of its recent auction. Proceeds will be used for the installation of fans and of 60-seat portable bleacher sections at Lynch, both items which were deleted from the current budget.

The School Committee moved into executive session to meet with the Finance Committee concerning budget recommendations for the Annual Town Meeting.

Meditation Lecture Set For April 20

A lecture on the physical and mental benefits of Transcendental Meditation, according to the teachings of Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, will be given at the Winchester Public Library, Tuesday, April 20, at 7:30 p.m. The lecture and discussion will be conducted by an instructor of the International Meditation Society, whose regional headquarters are at 27 Concord Avenue, Cambridge.

The Maharishi's teachings emphasize:

1. that meditation is a simple mental technique easily learned.
2. that it is a spontaneous, natural function of the mind.
3. that it need only be practiced a few minutes morning and evening.

4. that during meditation the body gains profound rest deeper than sleep while the mind expands in awareness.
5. that it develops creative intelligence and improves clarity of perception at all levels of experience.

His teachings have interested scientists such as Dr. Keith Wallace, whose article in the scientific journal "Science" of the American Association for the Advancement of Science explains the unique physiological state which develops during meditation. This state is called restful-alertness, which means that the body is at profound rest while the mind expands in awareness, the Maharishi explains. It does not involve hypnosis or autosuggestion, but is a natural, though unique state of the nervous system different from the more familiar states of wakefulness, dreaming, and deep sleep, he says.

The result of this rest afforded by Transcendental Meditation is not passivity in the meditator but a greater inner peace and stability with a corresponding increase of physical energy and mental alertness for a more creative, efficient, and enjoyable life, according to the Maharishi. The lecture is free and open to the Winchester public.

Named special police officers for duty anywhere in town were Fire Chief L. Francis Amico; Anthony G. Carroll, Thomas W. Conlon, Martin Flaherty, Harold H. McKinley, Andrew J. Donohue, Robert G. O'Brien, and Herbert S. Mullen.

Special police appointees whose authority is limited to specific areas include:

Albert A. MacDonnell, Charles C. Parkhurst, N. Bruce Hanes, Stella A. Aitken, and Walter B. Stockwood, park commissioners; Donald L. Spinney, recreation areas; Edward G. Hughes, tennis courts; Francis Muraco, custodian, Town Hall; Howard Molloy and Louis Russo, library; Andrew Connolly and Paul Gangi, incinerator; Harold A. Moran, cemetery; Daniel W. Collins, Winchester Country Club; Earle C. Jordan, attendance officer; Michael D. Saraco, Board of Health; Henry L. Cotton, Leonell A. Delorey, James B. Harvie, and Albert B. Heath, Winchester Hospital; Ellen M. Padula, matron, Police Department.

Jurors Chosen

Chosen by the Selectmen for prospective jury duty were Thomas Worthen of 57 Oxford Street; Melvin H. Sidebottom Jr. of 9 Roberts Road; Mary A. Kinade of 37 Loring Avenue; Charlotte H. Hill of 11 Stratford Road, and Carlton W. Totman of 43 Lorena Road.

In renewing a contract with Elviro Arguti, low bidder, for removal of non-disposable rubbish, the Selectmen voted to request that material be removed "as rapidly as possible." A copy of the Selectmen's letter will be given to Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien.

The Selectmen voted to thank Albert J. Duffy, who has resigned from the Police Department for "outstanding service to the town." Mr. Duffy had been on a leave of absence in order to try out for a position with the Federal Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs Bureau in Boston. He has decided to remain with the Bureau.

Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly advised the Selectmen that a strike at Boston Edison Company has delayed completion by the firm of estimated costs for street lights on Ridge Street.

Selectman Paul F. Amico's suggestion that the Selectmen and the Planning Board meet after the conclusion of the Annual Town Meeting to discuss capital planning was accepted by the Selectmen. The Planning Board will be asked by the Selectmen if they can help to get such planning "off the ground."

Center Plan

The Winchester Center Plan was discussed by the Selectmen with representatives of the Planning Board and the Winchester Business Association. A brief meeting on the topic was held at Winchester High School Monday evening following the Selectmen's weekly meeting at Town Hall.

Further discussion will take place at a future meeting, when Otto E. Schaefer Jr., chairman of the Planning Board, will be able to attend. Mr. Schaefer was out of town Monday and could not be present.

The Selectmen had decided earlier that they wished more information on the proposed revitalization of Winchester Center before Article 35 on the warrant is considered at the Annual Town Meeting.

Article 35 calls for temporary closing of Main Street between Washington Street and the traffic circle under the overpass, at an estimated cost of $1,000 for sawhorses and labor; naming a committee for architectural and design review, and implementing engineering studies of several alterations in the configuration of Winchester Center.

Chief Bowler Finishes Course On Budgeting

A course on police department budgets was recently completed by Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler at Babson College, Wellesley. After attending the week-long session of the Command Institute, the Chief received a certificate on Friday, April 9.

Sponsored by the New England Association of Chiefs of Police, the program was attended by 17 chiefs from the New England states. Federal funds provided by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration paid for tuition and lodging.

The Chief expects to use his newly acquired knowledge on "next year's budget."

More than 22 million U.S. Savings Bonds, valued at more than $190 million — either lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed — have been replaced by the Treasury over the past three decades without charge to the owners.

Winchester Firm Opens New Plant

The Finney Steel Pole Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of Richard J. Donovan, Inc., 540 Main Street, has started manufacture of steel poles, transmission structures and specialties in a plant located at 500 Shawshen Street, Tewksbury.

The product line is sold principally to electric utilities. Design emphasis will be placed on simplicity of construction and pleasing aesthetic appearance, in accordance with modern trends toward beautification of electric power transmission lines.

Immediate objectives are to serve the Northeastern United States, where shipment by truck direct to the job site will be feasible, thus reducing both shipping and handling costs and shipping damage more common on long hauls.

A large demand for the product is anticipated as the result of the necessity of the electric power industry to double its existing capacity by 1980.

On March 25, following luncheon and discussion at Valle's Restaurant in Andover, a plant inspection and test demonstration was held at Tewksbury for the benefit of potential customers. The pole tested was one of several on order for the New England Electric System for relocation of power transmission facilities at highway interchange at Danvers. Representatives of the utility industry from New England, New York, and New Jersey accorded a generally favorable and enthusiastic reception to the new product line, W. G. Finney said.

"This enterprise should, in future years, contribute materially to the general economy of the area that has largely been devoted to the electronic and aero space industry, since its products and services are sold almost exclusively to the very stable and rapidly growing public utility system," Mr. Finney stated.

Finney Steel Pole Company has its general offices at 540 Main Street. Mr. Finney is president; R. J. Donovan, vice president; C. R. Boytano, sales manager; and W. R. Gylfe, plant manager at Tewksbury.

Richard J. Donovan, Inc., has been located in Winchester since 1952.

Visiting Nurses Are Informed On Legislation

The Winchester Visiting Nursing Association held its April meeting in the Unitarian Church on Friday, April 9. Michael Saraco, director of the Winchester Board of Health, spoke on "Proposed Basic Health Service Legislation and Its Effect on the Local Health Agency."

Proposed Bill No. 207, "An Act Requiring Local Health Agencies to Provide Basic Health Services," contains these highlights:

1. State Public Health Department will establish and define "basic health services."
2. Local agencies will submit plans for availability and accessibility for these plans.
3. By 1977 communities must assure "basic health services."
4. If full compliance is not met they can be taken to the Superior Court by the Review Board.

In order to define "basic health services" the State Department of Public Health has set up a task force of four committees: 1, administrative; 2, educational; 3, personal health services; and 4, environmental health. Dr. Alfred Frechette, commissioner of the State Department of Health, has named Mr. Saraco as chairman of the Environmental Health Task Force which consists of 85 members. Mr. Saraco has consolidated the 38 services that come under the environmental field into five general headings and formed a subcommittee to study each group.

The listing is 1, water quality; 2, liquid and solid waste disposal; 3, housing (jails and institutions); 4, food; and 5, air pollution and disposal and control of energy by-products.

Many questions were asked by members of the Association on the pollution issue. Mr. Saraco, explaining the reason for the foam on the Aberjona River, said, it comes down from the Mishawum Pond beyond Route 128. Chemicals which have been lying on its bottom for many years are disturbed by work on the pond. As these chemicals go over the falls at Winchester Center they foam up.

Mrs. Chester Dawes closed the meeting. The next meeting, the final session of the season, will be held at the home of Mrs. Ronald Stillman of 4 Lakeview Road on May 14. This will be a luncheon with speaker, Mary Jane Anderson, director of the Unitarian Cooperative Nursery School.

The Certificate was signed by the Campaign Chairman, Eli Goldston, who commended the press for its great cooperation in raising $13,800,000 in support of 227 health, family, child-care, and youth serving agencies, reaffirming thereby its "unique and vital role" in the progress of community affairs.

Autopsy Report Is Still Pending

Definitive results from approximately 60 tests performed on the internal parts of two Reading men found dead in a Shore Road apartment March 3 are still pending.

According to Medical Examiner Dr. Harry L. Benson, who originally called for the autopsy, only tentative reports of "it's not this, it's not that" have been received from the State pathologist. At this time police are "assuming" that death was caused by drugs, though evidence is not conclusive.

The organs retained from the two bodies may be tested for one month yet, Dr. Benson reports, while citing cases in which bodies have been exhumed three to four years later.

The two men, William F. Whitmore, 26, and Steven J. Beauchamp, 19, were discovered shortly after 9 p.m. that Wednesday night by residents of the apartment at which they were visiting. They had apparently been "dead for some time."

The U.S. Government first minted five cent pieces in 1749. Today, Americans spend the equivalent of 68,000,000 five cent pieces a day for their newspapers.

Frank Driscoll Attends Seminar

Frank J. Driscoll of Winchester, an associate of the Boston-Ellison agency of New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, was one of 25 fieldmen chosen to attend a seminar for advanced underwriters at the company's home office in Boston.

The five-day session dealt with the role of life insurance in solving problems of partnerships, corporations, and individually owned companies.

Mrs. Kidder, Whose Family Helped Telephone Development Observes Her 90th Birthday

Mrs. Arthur A. Kidder of 29 Everett Avenue, whose family played a key role in the development of the telephone, celebrated her 90th birthday April 5.

A highlight of the celebration was receipt of a congratulatory letter from Allen G. Barry, president of New England Telephone. Mr. Barry extended the company's "best wishes for many more happy years."

Mrs. Kidder's father, Charles Williams, provided space in his electric shop for a speech professor named Alexander Graham Bell to conduct electrical experiments.

Mr. Williams made space available in the loft of his building at 109 Court Street, Boston, in 1875.

Mr. Williams assigned one of his own employees, Thomas Watson, to help Mr. Bell — but even he doubted that anything would come of the venture.

Nevertheless, on June 3, 1875, Mr. Bell succeeded in transmitting Mr. Watson's voice over an electrical wire — and the telephone was born.

The Williams family's involvement didn't stop there.

The first outdoor telephone line was rigged between the Court Street shop and the Williams home on Arlington Street in Somerville, giving them the distinction of being the first family to have a telephone.

And when the telephone began to be popular, Mr. Williams agreed to manufacture the new instruments. He later sold out to Western Electric, the present-day manufacturing unit of the Bell System.

Mrs. Kidder herself played a part in telephone history when she became one of the first telephone customers to take part in a transcontinental call. Her conversation was with Thomas Watson, with whom she remained friends for many years.

Mrs. Kidder, a widow, has four daughters: Mrs. Charles G. Green-halge of Pawtucket, Rhode Island; Mrs. Walter H. Birnie of Winchester; Mrs. Charles A. Stewart Jr. of Cumberland-Foreside, Maine; Mrs. Arthur P. Poor of Marblehead Neck; and one son, Arthur A. Kidder Jr. of Barrington, Rhode Island, a state senator.

She also has 15 grandchildren and many great-grandchildren.

Mr. Ingersoll Named Treasurer Of Cancer Drive

Richard D. Ingersoll, treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company, has been named treasurer of the 1971 Cancer Crusade here, Crusade Chairman Edward R. Ball has announced.

RICHARD D. INGERSOLL

Noting that contributions to the Cancer Crusade increased from $12,487.85 in 1969 to $14,099.13 in 1970, Mr. Ingersoll said that the Winchester Cancer Crusade Committee is hoping for a similar jump in donations for the current campaign.

Mr. Ingersoll lives in Wilmington with his wife, the former Betty Huckins, and their three children, Deborah, Lori, and Robert.

Surety Bank Stockholders Get Dividend

Daniel D. Moore, chairman of the board and president of the Surety Bank and Trust Company, Wakefield, announces that the bank's board of directors has declared a regular cash dividend of 25 cents per share and an extra cash dividend of five cents per share payable on April 1 to the bank's stockholders of record as of March 25. Mr. Moore noted that this was the third cash dividend payable to the bank's stockholders since August of last year and the second such dividend that carried an extra cash dividend of five cents per share.

Mr. Moore reported that the bank had net earnings for the first quarter of 1971 approximating $100,000 after provisions were made for all accruals, including transfers to reserves. The bank's 1971 first quarter earnings exceeded preliminary projections by a substantial figure due to a non-recurring profit realized from the sale of investments made in 1967 and early 1968.

The bank's assets at the end of the first quarter exceeded $19,000,000, an increase of approximately $1,000,000 over total assets at year end.

Library Survey Of Non-Users, Users Planned

During National Library Week, which coincides with the school vacation week, there will be a questionnaire in the Winchester Public Library for users to fill out. Another questionnaire has gone home with elementary school students to find out, on a townwide basis, what proportion of households consider themselves users of the facilities and in what ways leisure time is spent in the community.

A third survey will be made by phone of local residents who are not registered at the library to see if they know services and facilities that are available and to gain their impressions of the library.

From the material gleaned from these sources the Trustees hope to make long-range plans which will be determined by community interests and desires. The cooperation of all will be much appreciated. If you haven't visited the library lately, come in this week.

GOP Women Elect Officers

On Wednesday, April 7, the Women's Republican Club held their Annual Meeting at the Winchester Country Club. Mrs. Henry Delaney, secretary, read her Annual Report which supported the theory that women are playing an ever-increasing role in government and politics.

Mrs. Philip Woodward, president, requested that Mrs. W. E. Underwood, chairman of the nominating committee, read her report which was unanimously accepted.

Elected for the year 1971-1972 were Mrs. Philip Woodward, president; Mrs. Charles E. Potts, first vice president; Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, second vice president; Mrs. Herbert Thompson, recording secretary; Mrs. Joseph Pontone, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Gordon Sidebotham, treasurer; and Mrs. Wilbert Underwood, dues treasurer.

Other officers filled on committees included education, Mrs. James Blackham; finance, one year, Mrs. William Goodhue, two years, Mrs. Frank Gundy, and three years, Mrs. Theodore Shasta; hospitality, Mrs. Paul Lamarche; and membership, Mrs. Gabriel Cagliano.

Elected were nominating, Mrs. Ralph Swanson, chairman, Mrs. Henry Delaney, and Mrs. William H. Mason; program, Mrs. Maxwell McCreery; public relations, Mrs. Edward A. Livingstone; registration, Mrs. J. Robert Johnson; social, Mrs. Paul Fitzpatrick; telephone, Mrs. Michael Howland; and transportation, Mrs. Paul Douglas.

Featured speaker was Herbert Waite, chairman of the Republican State Committee, who commented, "I am determined to construct a tent large enough to cover the whole Republican elephant."

He projected plans to appoint a deputy administrator whose sole function would be to devote his energies to work with youth and minority groups of this Commonwealth. While expressing support of the 18-year-old vote, Mr. Waite announced plans to concentrate on the education and training of 16-year-olds "because they represent our future strength among the electorate."

The pleasure of members was evident when he stated that he would be working very hard to make it possible for more women to serve in State-level offices.

Local "Y" Annual Meeting

This is the second reminder for the Annual Meeting of the Burlington Y.W.C.A. on Wednesday evening, April 21, at 8 o'clock.

A new sewing class has been started on Thursday evenings for young women who are not free during the day. If interested, call 272-3181.

The Y is off Lexington Street on Spruce Hill Road, Burlington.

What Is Typical In "Clinical" Nurseries?

Sarah stands before the easel, her school dress covered by a green plastic smock, dabbing away with juicy white paint on brown paper. Henry sits beside the teacher on the floor carefully fitting different shaped blocks into a colored frame. Carol puts on a little visored cap and begins to pull three cars of a wooden train around the room. She circles behind the low tables set for snacks, past the gerbil cage, and by the big box marked "Toys."

This is a typical nursery school morning, and the room at the John F. Kennedy Building at St. Brigid's Church in Lexington is bright with spring sun and the energies of children busily doing and learning.

But this is a nursery school with a difference. This is the Community Clinical Nursery for retarded children run by the State Department of Mental Health and affiliated with the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center and the Mystic Valley Association for the Retarded.

Staffed with specially trained teachers, it serves 11 children from Lexington ages 3-7, and is one of four facilities for retarded children in the Mystic Valley area of Arlington, Burlington, Lexington, Winchester, and Woburn. Two other nurseries are located in Arlington at the Park Avenue Congregational Church and in Burlington at the Burlington Youth Center. A special day care center is also operated in Woburn at the "1790 House," donated by the North Congregational Church. All together these schools care for almost 60 children.

Nursery schools for the retarded are an innovation in care for retarded children begun in Massachusetts around 1963. When classes for retarded children became compulsory in the public schools, it became apparent that earlier training was needed and would be very beneficial. The sooner a child receives professional attention, the better he can be helped; and referrals are made to the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center as early as eight months ahead.

School Program

The morning sessions of the Community Clinical Nurseries are organized like other nurseries with time for free play, tidying up, organized learning games, snacks, rests, and outdoor play when possible. The children can learn a great deal, though slowly, under the guidance and discipline of trained teachers.

Diane Cannava, the teacher in the Lexington school, explains that one of her purposes is to ready the children for public school.

HOUSEBREAK

The Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 in October of 1970 for the project "Comprehensive Attacks on Auto Theft and Burglary." In connection with this heightened focus on burglary, the Department will present "Housebreak," a column suggesting ways in which Winchester residents may assist these efforts against crime in weeks to come through the pages of The Star. Look for it.

While "spring cleaning" your yard during the warm days to come, remember to keep doors to the house locked. It has happened before, while you're out front raking leaves, your television and jewelry go out the back door with a housebreaker.

And keep tools, garden equipment, etc., secured when not in use. Don't leave them in the yard or an open garage. Such items as snowblowers were popular with thieves this winter.

They become familiar with rules and regulations and time schedules, and learn appropriate behavior for different occasions. They are helped to develop good eating, dressing and bathroom habits; and work with language, numbers and letters.

Children who have no one to play with at home also learn to socialize with others. Each child can receive personalized attention for the teacher has an assistant, Terry Blake, and a volunteer who helps on different mornings, Joyce Gudeman.

The schools are termed "clinical" because they go beyond intellectual training to deal with the child's social development and with his family. Teachers may make home visits to understand the child in his family setting and to counsel the parents on how to deal with specific training problems.

Methods of handling the retarded vary with the degree of retardation. The Community Clinical Nurseries operate afternoon sessions for children who are not ready for the morning group, some who are too young or too small, or have other problems like a physical handicap. Even the autistic child can be helped. The afternoon programs at Arlington and Lexington are now dealing with three autistic children.

Special Day Care Center

Most of the children in the Community Clinical Nurseries will graduate to classes in public schools. There are, however, retarded children who cannot function in public school; some because of physical handicaps like cerebral palsy and blindness, others because of severe retardation. Until last January there was no facility to help these children ages 7-17 in the Mystic Valley area. Two children from Winchester were sent to the Lowell Day Care Center at a cost for transportation of $7,000 a year.

In January a day care center for these retarded children was opened in Woburn. It grew from the cooperative work of parents, the Association for Retarded Children, and the Advisory Committee on Retardation of the Mystic Valley Mental Health Area Board.

They gained the support of local school committees, which now contribute $2,000 a year per child for any child in the town who needs these services. The Mystic Valley Mental Health Association administers the Day-Care Center, and the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center, under the direction of Dr. Morton Newman provides professional staff for consultation.

Seven youngsters, ages 7-10, now attend the Woburn center, and there is space for one more. Any child up to the age of 17 who could be helped in this facility is eligible. More information can be obtained from Barbara Bernard at the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center, 186 Bedford Street, Lexington.

Help for Parents

Barbara Bernard, a psychiatric nurse with doctoral work in sociology and community mental health, has worked with the nurseries schools for the retarded for several years. She finds the job exciting and challenging, with emphasis on keeping the child in the community whenever possible. As part of her work, she meets with teachers weekly, and counsels parents individually and in group meetings once a month.

With the parents, she covers specific managerial problems, and family interrelations. She helps them identify and deal constructively with their feelings. For the children, she and other Mental Health Center staff members including psychiatrists and psychologists provide evaluation and testing when necessary.

The children attend the center on Monday from 9 to 12, and on other week days from 9 to 2:30. They are helped to learn how to get along with others, and are taught social skills and purposeful activity. Speech therapists and physiotherapists are available to help teachers develop special programs and exercises.

Their teacher, Heidi Ulbrick, and her assistant, Linda Bryant, are enthusiastic about the work, particularly in bringing the children out of isolation and loneliness. They have the use of excellent facilities and equipment. The Woburn school system provides hot lunches with the cooperation of Deputy Superintendent Jerome Lynch.

Volunteers are Needed

Individual attention is crucial to the success of this kind of program. Teachers give careful personal help to each child, but many routine tasks are time consuming. They can now use volunteers to help with such things as feeding the children at lunch time. Anyone interested can contact the volunteer services at the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center in Lexington.

"Help" is the key word in programs for the retarded. The old attitude of hopelessness is changing. As children are helped and brought out of the shadows of isolation, people discover the warm human being behind the stereotype "retarded." Just recently, Barbara Bernard recalls three retarded children living in foster homes who were legally adopted by their foster parents.

Sarah, Henry, Carol, and the other children at the Lexington Community Clinical Nursery settle down each morning at 11 in their small chairs grouped around the teachers. "Circus time" begins. Everyone sings a "Good morning" song. Each child answers a question. "Is Sarah in school today?" "Yes," Sarah jumps up and runs to the teacher and buries her head in her lap while they exchange a "Good morning" and a hug. Before she sits down, she hugs and greets the other teacher.

After all the children have been called forward and had their turns, other learning games begin. But the best part of "circus time" is the "good morning" song, for a lot more warmth is exchanged in those hugs than was ever provided by just a game.

Motor Vehicle Inspection Time

Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin reminds drivers that the Massachusetts semi-annual compulsory inspection period runs through May 15. The types of vehicles which must be inspected include passenger, trucks, trailers, motorcycles, motorcoaches and motor bikes, school buses and vehicles with farm, dealer repair, and owner-repair plates.

Motor vehicles passing the inspection will have a blue sticker placed on their windshields. Rejected vehicles will be marked with a red and white sticker. Necessary repairs should be made immediately and the vehicle resubmitted for inspection. Any motor vehicle or trailer without the blue sticker and any vehicle with a red and white rejection sticker on May 16 may not be operated on the highways of the Commonwealth. Operators in violation of this law face court prosecution and fine, Registrar McLaughlin said.

The motor vehicle adjuster will include in his examination: brakes, lights, registration plates, horn, tires, windshield, and wipers, steering system and ball joints, muffler and exhaust system, bumpers, fenders and external sheet metal, safety chains on trailers, and floor panels for rust damage. Vehicles emitting excessive smoke from the exhaust system will be rejected until repairs have been made.

This has been a long winter—hard on motor vehicles—and an early inspection is advisable if you want to make certain you are driving a car in safe condition," Mr. McLaughlin said.

Leslie Fabuss Is Spending Term As Resident Tutor

Leslie J. Fabuss, son of Dr. and Mrs. Bela M. Fabuss of 21 Sawmill Brook Road, a Dartmouth College sophomore, is spending the current academic term away from the Hanover, New Hampshire, campus to serve as a resident tutor in the ABC (A Better Chance) program in Claremont, New Hampshire.

The National ABC program, of which Dartmouth College was an original founder, selects promising high school students from underprivileged situations and seeks to provide them with the academic skills and motivation which they need for college work and which is not available to them at home.

The program functions through ABC houses in various cooperating communities throughout the country, each of which contains 10-12 students under the supervision of two college student resident tutors and a resident family. This spring 15 Dartmouth undergraduates are serving as resident tutors in ABC centers in eight New England towns.

Mr. Fabuss' participating in the program began last winter term after his selection with an orientation program and related readings in teaching methods and the special problems of his future students. As resident tutor he is teaching in the local high school in Claremont, where the ABC students attend regular classes. He also coordinates special programs and activities and provides private tutoring for ABC house students.

Mr. Fabuss, a 1969 graduate of Winchester High School, remains enrolled as a full-time student at Dartmouth and receive full academic credit for his term's work. His performance is evaluated by the program faculty advisor and the teachers in the high school.

In addition, he is expected to write two papers, one of which must be a personal account of his experiences as a resident tutor. Upon returning to Hanover this fall, Mr. Fabuss will continue to work with the program in the selection and orientation of future resident tutors.

Local Man, Teaching In Korea, Writes Of Country's Progress

Jonathan C. Moody of 11 Crescent Road, who has been teaching in Korea for about two years, has written an article on that country's progress. Mr. Moody is the English Department of the Education College of Chosun University in Kwangju, a provincial capital in southwestern Korea.

Mr. Moody was graduated from Winchester High School in 1964. He majored in philosophy and minored in Chinese language at Dartmouth College. Upon graduation, he left for Korea.

In addition to his teaching duties, Mr. Moody has learned some Korean and continues to pursue his study of Chinese with the Shun-dong Chinese people in Kwangju. He plans to enter journalism school in the fall. His goal is to become a journalist in the Far East.

Mr. Moody's article follows:
Progress in Korea
By Jonathan C. Moody

Going southwest five hours on a train from the capital of South Korea, Seoul, one arrives in a small city, Ili. Street sellers call their wares and shoe shine boys scatter about as one emerges from its small railroad station, the sun lighting small dust clouds above the dirt street as it pops from behind a grey cloud.

Proceeding through a maze of streets teeming with darkly clothed men and brightly clothed women in traditional dress, one arrives at Father Kim's residence, nestled beside an overseas Chinese school. The playground is filled with shouts of "American, American," behavior peculiar not only to little Chinese boys, but also to a myriad of Korean youngsters.

Father Kim is seated in his inner room on his sleeping mattress talking with a parishioner. He finishes, comes to the outer room, introduces himself, and makes small talk for a while before the interview. One gets an immediate impression of a quiet, humble, yet shrewd, dynamic man, one of the finer members of the Korean Catholic community.

Father Kim was born in Yeasan in the west central coastal province, Chung Chong Nam. His education was entirely in seminaries beginning from an early age in a Seoul seminary, moving south later to a Taeju seminary, and attending one year in a Won-san seminary in North Korea. Fleeing North Korean troops in the early fifties, he happened upon an old woman in the road who led him into the mountains to a secret village whose sympathetic inhabitants hid him from the Communists. Later on in the war he made his way to Pusan and became one of the first army chaplains in the Korean Army.

Until a short time ago Father Kim was not active in projects outside of his normal priestly duties. But the winds of change in the Church, its current emphasis in Korea on practical, worldly matters, plus the Father's more progressive spirit released by this change, drove him to consider the plight of the poor Korean farmers in his area. Two years ago in October Father Kim attended a diocese seminar on rural development, was enthused by the ideas brought up, and set out to establish a co-operative to try out new farming methods and later to instruct the farmers in useful and profitable year-round activities.

The Co-op was set up in Ham-yull, a small rural community about an hour by bus from Ili, and has struggled along experimentally for two years. So far it has met no large disaster, due primarily to the Father's skill in raising funds and his ability to use money saving techniques.

Four experimental projects have been attempted and have met with moderate success:

(1) During World War II and the Korean War, many of Korea's trees were cut down for war materials by armies, or for survival by civilians. Today many mountains are devoid of any trees. Father Kim's initial project was to plant 4,000 evergreen trees in the Ham-yull area, using shoots from existing trees. They flourish.

(2) Inside newly erected vinyl greenhouses barley, sweet potato, and rice have been successfully cultivated during the winter and early spring. When this method is taught to the farmers they will have a new source of income and less time during the cold season to waste playing cards and drinking mak-kol-li, Korean crude rice wine.

(3) Broiler chickens and hens have been raised successfully. However, the ever present problem of disease and housing costs have plagued this part of the project. But recently Father Kim read about a new method in chicken raising used by a Seoul man with years of experience in the business. This gentleman, Mr. Han, had learned about raising chickens in open-air wire cages in Japan. Father Kim tried using them and discovered the astounding results. The open air environment automatically cleaned the chickens. Disease was cut to a minimum and housing costs were reduced to zero. Things have been so successful that the Father has purchased a large number of pure bred Canadian chickens.

(4) Moreover, pigs are now being raised. Obtained from the Presbyterian mission in Korea about five months ago, 16 of them are doing well on a diet of chicken waste, collected easily below the cages. Chicken waste is 50 percent nourishing food. 1000 chickens feeds five pigs well every day.

Of course all is not rosy on the farm. Reduced egg prices this year could present financial problems. Disease and pests continue to attack. Yet if the Father retains the ingenuity demonstrated by the following anecdote, he cannot help but succeed and go on to educating the farmers to his methods.

Last year one of the many National Rat Days was held and people in the Ili area set out to wipe out the pest. 200,000 rats were killed on the appointed day. But preceding that fateful day Father Kim had read about European chicken raisers using fish powder to feed chickens.

"Why not make rat powder?" he reasoned. Thus he offered one pencil to the children of the community for every ten rats they could collect. The 100,000 rats he received proved to be excellent meal.

Hospital Friends Point To Growth

In response to the appeal for more volunteers made in January by the Friends of the Winchester Hospital, 75 women and two men have joined the Friends, and many more will begin volunteer work this month.

Mrs. Nils Nordberg, chairman of the services board, said this week, "Our need for more volunteers was necessitated because of the new services which we have opened at the acute hospital and the Continuing Care Unit. These services include a new evening patient care service, staffing the gift shop two days a week, a gift cart at the Continuing Care Unit, as well as other services at the CCU such as help in occupational therapy."

"The response to our appeal has been most gratifying, and in our continuing drive for new members we hope there will be those who can help during the summer months, especially in messenger service."

The Friends started 21 years ago with a membership of ten, and has expanded to a membership of over 700. At the board meeting held April 8 at Winchester Hospital, new service chairmen for the coming year were announced.

They are: Mrs. Nils Nordberg, Reading chairman; and Mrs. Robert Grieve, Reading, and Mrs. Michael MacDonald, vice-chairmen; Mrs. Gordon Graham, Reading, chairman; Mrs. Robert Banfield, Reading, secretary; Mrs. Frank Wilder, art cart; and Mrs. Joseph Murphy, Lexington, central supply. Other chairmen are Mrs. Donald Sheehan, Stoneham, clerical; Mrs. James Chaffe and Mrs. George Rowe, coffee cart; Mrs. Howard Bates, Reading, and Mrs. Philip Andrews, Wilmington, coffee shop — days; Mrs. John Moore, Reading, Mrs. Alexander DiSilva and Miss Mary Murray, coffee shop — evenings; Miss Alice Gaffney, continuing care; Mrs. H. C. Mullen, flowers; and Mrs. Gerald Mosher, gift cart.

Other chairmen are Mrs. Frank Oddi, gift shop — evenings; Mrs. Sherman Mapes, gift cart — days; Mrs. Marion Moses, information desk, patients' lobby; Mrs. Carl E. Morse, information desk, visitors' lobby; Mrs. Walter Cutcliffe, Reading, and Mrs. Robert Crisafi, messenger; Mrs. Peter Henderson, patient care; Mrs. Robert E. Duffy, pediatrics; Mrs. Thomas Raphael, puppets; and Mrs. Robert McNamara, uniforms. Unless towns have been listed, these volunteers are from Winchester.

Robert Mathews In Opera Cast

Robert Mathews of Lincoln, formerly of Winchester, is in the cast of "The Impresario," one of two productions to be presented by the Cambridge Opera Workshop at Brandeis Spingold Theatre at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, April 17, and 7:30 p.m. Sunday, April 18. "The Impresario" is the other opera to be presented.

The productions are sponsored by the Massachusetts Council for Arts and Humanities. "The Impresario" will be repeated on Thursday, May 13, at The Boston Center for Adult Education.

Mr. Mathews, who organized the Staff and Key Society, is a member of the Visiting Committee to the Department of Music at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, and the Board of Trustees of the New England Conservatory of Music. He has performed with the Sudbury Savoyards, the Medford Players, the Belmont Choral Society, and the Winchester Parish Players.

"The Physicist" To Be Presented May 7, 8, 14, 15

"The Physicist," a two act satire by Frederick Durrenmatt, will be presented May 7, 8, 14 and 15 at 8:15 p.m. at the First Congregational Church in Winchester Center by the Parish Players and the Winchester Community Theatre.

Directed by Fred Bush, this tale of murder and intrigue takes place in the "villa" of a madhouse where three scientist-patients, two murderers and the eminent psychiatrist, Fraulein Doktor Von Zohnde, tangle in a dark web of suspense.

Featured roles are played by Richard Orsillo of Melrose as Newton, Isabel Bloch of Winchester as Fraulein Doktor, Jim Bonnell of Arlington as the police inspector, Bill Spaulding and Jack Gulderson, both of Winchester, who play Einstein and Mobius.

Mullaney, and Joe Carr from Arlington, David Hunter from Andover and Bill Brady from Woburn. Tickets may be obtained by calling Ann Gulderson at 729-5930.

Since the first Heart Fund Campaign was conducted nationally in 1949, there has been a decline of about 20 percent in the death rate from heart and blood vessel diseases applying to persons below age 65.

NUTRITION IS OUR BUSINESS, TOO!

Helpful hints on Nutrition by Dr. Fredrick J. Stare, world-famous health authority, consultant on Nutrition to the U.S. Public Health Service and advisor to First National Stores on its Nutritional Awareness Program.

Making nutrition interesting to the public is sometimes difficult if one sticks to the facts. If one writes that calories don't count or that organically fertilized foods and natural foods are better for your health than ordinary foods found in any supermarket, these ideas seem to sell even though they are false. We do have good foods in this country, and they are not filled with poisons nor covered with dangerous amounts of harmful residues from pesticides. The Department of Agriculture, Food and Drug Administration, Public Health Service, the National Academy of Science to say nothing of the excellent laboratories of many of the food and chemical companies, have done and are doing an excellent job to give us plenty of good safe food.

Do you know that there are some 50 known nutrients, and perhaps some not yet discovered which are all chemicals. They can come from chemical factories or foods, and any single nutrient is identical regardless of its source. Thus, synthetic Vitamin C made in a chemical factory is identical to the same substance found in citrus juices. Any person who says that there is a nutritional difference between synthetic nutrients and natural nutrients doesn't know what he or she is talking about. Eating is one of the pleasures of life. I don't think that in our lifetime synthetic foods will ever completely replace real food, but already the chemist and farmer together are doing a better job in feeding us than either can do alone. With 50 some nutrients, the best known way to receive the proper combination of all the nutrients is to eat a variety of foods.

Sachem Stickmen Win Over Loomis School, 6-5

by John F. Parrell

Excellent team balance and good all around play gave the Sachem stickmen a hard earned opening game victory over the Loomis School team from Winsor, Connecticut. The prep school boys are rated among the top ranking teams in New England. The victory shows that the Winchester group is capable of duplicating its fine record of last year, which saw them reach the finals of the state tourney.

The local offense was well balanced, with the attacking group accounting for four goals, two by Curt Woodward, one for John Thomas, and Gary Fincke chipping in a goal and an assist. The mid-field group headed by Captain Phil Sampson added the other two tallies for the Sachems. The Winchester leader netted a goal and an assist, and Mike Deshler, better known for his track and gridiron exploits, pushed the winning shot past the Loomis net minder.

The strong running game of the two mid-field groups gave the local team the edge, both offensively and defensively, against the experienced team from the Nutmeg state. A hard checking game by the mid-fielders found Chris Osgood, George Evans, Larry Knowlton, and Bill Logan constantly thwarting the visiting offensive thrusts. There had been some concern before the team was tested that the defense might leave something to be desired, but as soon as play was under way it became evident that the Sachem defense was going to be tough to crack. Rick Murphy in the goal was called upon to make 15 saves, many of them on real hard shots, and he turned in a steady performance.

Mark Lombardi, Dave O'Leary and Dick Rosin did yeoman work on defense and coupled with Murphy the group limited the Loomis attack to a single goal. Early in the game Winchester found difficulty in clearing its own zone, but as play progressed this situation improved greatly. Loomis scored twice when they had an extra man advantage, but the Sachems were unable to tally when they held an advantage.

The Bouleymen played St. Mark's yesterday afternoon and will play at Needham next Tuesday. They will have a home game with Framingham South a week from today. This game will be at Leonard Field, with a 2 o'clock starting time. After getting off to a flying start against Loomis, the local team should be ready for this difficult schedule. Sachem fans in large numbers are expected for the game with Framingham South. Interest is rapidly growing among both players and spectators for this physical and action packed sport.

Couch Dave Berman's stickmen have a game tomorrow afternoon at Lincoln-Sudbury. They will be at home Tuesday against Needham. A week from tomorrow Thompson Academy will provide the opposition.

The Winchester Squirts will face Charlestown at the little rink in Hockeytown, U. S. A. at 6:40 p.m. Saturday, April 17.

Pack 506 Holds Pinewood Derby

Cub Pack 506, serving the boys of Mystic School, held a "most successful" Pinewood Derby on Saturday afternoon, April 3.

According to a report, "the standard of entries was extremely high and the boys and their fathers who worked together on the project were justifiably proud of their work."

The track was laid out in the parish hall of the Unitarian Church by James Edwards, organizer of the event. Several of the races were close, calling for the attention of judges Dr. Maxwell Goodman and Norman Stanton.

For the second consecutive year, Tom Girard's car took first place. Mark Estabrook won second place and Jim McKenna was third. The prize for the best-looking car was taken by Paul Mafero's beautifully painted green and white model.

Cap League To Start May 2

The Winchester Cap League season will begin on Sunday, May 2, at 1 p.m. at Ginn Field. This will be final registration day, and final team rosters will be set, followed by practice games at Ginn and West Side Fields. League games will begin the following Saturday afternoon, May 8, at 1 p.m. at Ginn and West Side Fields, and run each Saturday and Sunday thereafter until the schedule has been completed; about mid-June. Postponed games will be made up at the end of the regular season.

Any boy who will have attained seven years of age and not reached 11 years of age before August 1 of this year, and does not play for another organized baseball team, such as Little League, is eligible for Cap League. Application blanks are available at the Winchester Sports Shop, and should be returned only to the Sports Shop together with the three-dollar fee necessary to defray the cost of operating the League.

Since Cap League expects to expand from last year's ten teams to 12 teams this year, and hopes to maintain league balance by keeping team rosters approximately numerically equal, boys are urged to get their applications in as early as possible. Applications will be accepted after final registration day by special request, and such boys will be assigned to a team if accepted.

As in the past season under the leadership of Don Van Roosen and Jim Stewart, this year's Cap League directors, Dick Blanch and Al Ruggles, expect a large turnout of enthusiastic future baseball players. The Cap League will continue the policy of accepting all eligible boys, playing every boy in every game, and attempting to teach the principles of team spirit and fair play as well as the basic elements of playing baseball, without the pressures and tensions of a highly competitive league.

The dynamics of change and environment and the life style of the future are among the topics to be discussed in a four day conference, "Program Panorama," being held in New Haven, Connecticut, from April 20 to 23.

Participants in the conference from the Mistick Side Girl Scout Council, sponsored by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. Region 1, include Mrs. Richard Gerrold of Arlington, the Misses Betsy Downes of Melrose and Christine Revelas of Malden, and Mrs. Donald Taub, program services director of the Council. Present will be nearly 500 volunteer adults, girls and professional staff, representing over 55 councils in New England, New Jersey, New York and Puerto Rico who are involved in carrying out and strengthening the Girl Scout program.

Professor Karl Linn, a social psychologist and landscape architect from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is a consultant for the conference and will open the session on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Grace Pleasant, director of the program department of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. for over three million girl members, will direct her talk at the first evening session to help participants become "future" oriented.

Small "action group" discussions involving all participants will be the focus of the conference. A number of representatives from councils will spark these discussions with examples of specific events and activities indicating some forward movement and change within the Girl Scout program. These include a "Project Friendship" for inner city children in Massachusetts.

The conference participants will be exposed to a variety of audiovisual equipment, exhibits, and current resource material directed to youth and youth involvement. Girls have helped plan the innovative ideas for doing the familiar 59 years old Girl Scout program differently to fit "Today's girl."

Mistick Side Girl Scout Council is a member of the United Community Services and receives funds from the Massachusetts Bay United Fund.

Director of Recreation Don Spiney and Coach Vandy French head up the tourney and more than 100 boys have had a chance to play in the elimination rounds. Officiating is handled by members of this year's varsity team, and members of the physical education department and other interested adults assist in the coaching of the teams.

Washington School is the defending champion, having emerged victorious in last year's elimination series. Their opposition this year will come from the Noonan School group. The boys from the north end of town won the right to battle for the title by defeating Parkhurst School by 24-10 and following it up by besting Mystic School 22-14.

Coach Jim Perry's Washington School quintet won the right to play for top honors by beating the combine of Wyman and High Street. The latter group had advanced by edging Lincoln School in a real thriller with the final count being 17-16. In a previous meeting Washington had beaten the combined team by 13-10 to keep their title hopes alive.

Presentation of the trophy will take place immediately after the completion of the Saturday game, with Recreation Commissioner Spiney awarding it to the winners. It will be kept at that school until the 1972 town wide tournament to be held next April.

Baseball Nine Getting Set For League Campaign

by John F. Parrell

Coach Bill Colella has had his baseball nine hard at work for the past several weeks in preparation for the Middlesex League schedule of 18 games which opens Patriots' Day morning at Concord. Workouts have been on a daily basis, with outdoor sessions being held on every possible day unless there has been rain, snow, or extreme chill. On such occasions the coach and his assistant, Vandy French, have held intensive practices in the school gymnasium.

There have been several practice games played resulting in wins over Malden Catholic (8-3), and Chelsea (3-1) and losses to powerful Revere (2-1) and Concord, New Hampshire (6-5). The latter was a full length practice game played Saturday at Manchester Field. This week both Malden and Medford will be added to assure that the team is fit and ready for the long league schedule.

The Concord game saw both teams come up with a five run inning but the visitors managed an additional second inning run and stayed in front to the end. For the Sachems it was a case of playing catch up ball and although they battled hard they were just short of making the grade.

The line score of the game was:
Con. (N.H.) 5 1 0 0 0 0 6 7 1
Winch. 0 0 0 0 0 5 0 6 2

BOWLING

Sons Of Italy Bowling Finals Are Under Way

The finals got under way for the Sons of Italy Men's Bowling League last week.

These matches pit the top four teams of the American League against the top four teams of the National League.

The Patriots, Reds, and Colts all took a commanding four point lead, while the Cubs and Chiefs split their points in the first night's action.

Moose Bellino's 125 got the Patriots off to a flying 514 first string and a 48 pin lead in their battle for the club championship against Slim Lentine and the Angels.

The Angels bounced back with a 489 second string to win by one but then fell apart in the third with a golden opportunity to even the match.

Jerry Borsini (302), Bill Redmond (299), and Al Malatesta (291) were high for the losers, while Moose (329) and his lead off man Correction Fio (300) led the charge for the Patriots.

In the second place contest the Browns got off the mark quickly when Phil Ardiagno and Joe Garcia Jr. bowled a 113 and 108 and gave their team a 17 pin lead over the Reds.

But then the fall of the Roman Empire happened as the Browns could manage only a 440 second and 442 third strings to fall 85 pins behind.

The Red's Babe Tafari (303) was high man in the match and led a well balanced scoring attack that featured a respectable 284 by Sam Bellino as the low score.

By far the best match of the evening was produced by the Chiefs and the Cubs in the match for third.

These teams split eight points, with the Chiefs taking a slight advantage when they bowled a 1500 team total against a 1496 for the Cubs.

M. J. Saraco (338), Joe McGrath (300) and Dave Fariolo (296) were high for the Chiefs, while John Gangri (348), Lou Romano (314) and Joe Capone (309) helped the Cub cause.

Mul Fiore's fourth place chance looked good for him and his Twins when they took the first string over the Colts 483 to 474.

Despite Emile Doucet's 418 and Carl Maiocco's 104 the Twins lost the second string by five and went on to lose the third by 65 to fall 61 pins behind in the match.

Sonny Mistretta (300) continued his consistent bowling and had plenty of help from Nick Mobilia (301) in the Colts' winning effort.

Upper Mystic Trout-Stocking

Winchester's Upper Mystic Lake has been stocked with trout, according to the Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game.

The division anticipates that Massachusetts will have one of the best fishing seasons in its history. All hatcheries have had the best year ever, the division reports.

A list of stocked trout waters is available to the public. Persons wishing a copy may write I and E Section, Division of Fisheries and Game, Field Headquarters, Westboro 01581, including a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fourth Graders Open New Season Of Trails Walks

An early spring walk was taken by Muraco fourth graders at Long Pond in the Middlesex Fells last Thursday, April 8, opening a new season for Winchester Trails. Many more elementary school classes are scheduled for Smith Pond and Long Pond walks this spring.

Volunteer guides are recruited and trained each season for these walks and interested persons in the community are invited to join. New volunteers attend two training workshops and have an opportunity to observe experienced guides. In addition, Winchester Trails has published guides to both pond areas which explain the material used on the nature walks.

The spring workshop schedule has been announced as follows: Long Pond in-school slide-talk program on Monday, April 26, at 1 p.m. at the Winchester Library Rich Room and the nature walk on Thursday, April 29, at 9:30 a.m. at the Long Pond trail entrance; Smith Pond in-school slide-talk program on Monday, May 3, at 1 p.m. at the Library and the nature walk on Wednesday, May 5, at 9 a.m. at the Smith Pond trail entrance. The scheduled walks will be conducted during school hours in May and June.

Board Doesn't Want Two Roads From MDC Now

The Selectmen have reiterated their opinion that acceptance of Hillcrest Parkway and North Border Road from the Metropolitan District Commission by the town would be indefinitely postponed. The board members reaffirmed their views at a hearing at Town Hall Tuesday evening, April 20, with Albert J. Rotondi of 28 North Border Road and John Amato of 36 North Border Road.

Article 40 on the warrant for the Annual Town Meeting would authorize the town to accept North Border Road as a gift from the MDC. Article 41 would permit receiving Hillcrest Parkway from the MDC, also as a gift.

Chairman Ralph M. Swanson of the Board of Selectmen explained the board's concern that if North Border Road were accepted, the town would find it desirable to construct a new road, since it would immediately become a public way. He estimated that it might take $100,000 to put North Border Road in good condition.

Mr. Rotondi said that the North Border Road situation had been a problem for 15 years.

Mr. Amato declared that a drainage problem existed in the area. He stated that runoff has poured down North Border Road along his driveway, over a wall, and on to Chisholm Road property. He wondered what the town or the MDC could do about the water problem.

Formal Grievance Filed By Teachers' Association Against School Committee

Mrs. Barbara F. Boyle, a Winchester Home Economics teacher for the past five years, is the subject of a formal grievance filed by the Winchester Education Association against the Winchester School Committee.

In a letter dated April 16, the Professional Rights and Responsibilities Committee of the Winchester Education Association informed the Winchester School Committee that it believes the 1970-72 Agreement between the WEA and the School Committee had been violated in the case of Mrs. Boyle, a teacher at both Lynch and McCall Junior High Schools. The letter, signed by John J. Waite Jr., chairman of the PRR Committee, further sought to initiate grievance procedure in accordance with the Agreement.

Mrs. Boyle seeks an open hearing with right of counsel, witnesses, and the right of cross-examination. This would be the first grievance hearing to be held between the WEA and the School Committee.

Mrs. Boyle appeared before the School Committee March 23, at the request of the local teachers' association. Subsequently, the School Committee in a special meeting on April 6 voted not to

Hearing Monday On Petition About Assessing Winchester For Regional School Costs

The preliminary hearing on a petition for a declaratory judgment to determine the proper method of assessing Winchester and 11 other participating communities their share of the 1971 budget for the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School in Wakefield will be held at 9:30 a.m. Monday, April 26, at Middlesex Superior Court in Cambridge. The hearing had originally been scheduled for Monday, April 12.

A time extension was granted because service had not been completed on parties involved in all 24 instances. Service on the Middlesex County municipalities and District School Committees had been completed, but service on the Essex County and Suffolk County members had not been completed. Attorney Mario L. Simeola, Wakefield Town Counsel, explained.

Parties to the action include Winchester, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, and Winthrop. The petition was prepared by Attorney Simeola.

District School Committeeman J. Edward Sharkey of Winchester and representatives of the other towns had obtained oral and written advice from counsel that the original assessments had been overstated, especially to Winchester.

ROTARIAN Sydney Elliott displays one of several prize mirrors at the Rotary Barn. Many articles will be made available to the public at the Winchester Rotary Club's annual auction, to be held at Winchester Town Hall Auditorium starting at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 24. (Ryerson photo)

Rotary Club Will Hold Auction, Supper Saturday

The Winchester Rotary Club's annual country auction and bean supper will be held at Town Hall Saturday, April 24.

An exhibition of items for sale will take place at 9:30 a.m. The auction will get under way at 10 a.m. and run throughout the day.

Supper will be served from 5 to 7 p.m.

A book sale will be conducted all day. Coffee and lunch will be served by the Rotary Annas.

Walter Szary will again be the auctioneer. Rotarian Arthur Rand, chairman of the auction, will be assisted by all members of the Rotary Club.

Proceeds from the auction go to support many of the Town's activities including the Scholarship Foundation, the Hospital, the Boy Scouts, Little League, the Homefronters, Easter Seal, and others.

Items offered for sale at the auction are collected voluntarily year round by the 80 club members. Articles obtained include used furniture, appliances, china, paintings, books, glassware, knick-knacks, and a variety of household articles. The material is stored in the Rotary Barn, a store-warehouse.

Members devote time and talent to repairing and restoring the donated articles so that they can become saleable merchandise by auction time.

Proceeds continue to grow substantially year after year and all monies are widely distributed to a large number of charitable causes such as for youth clubs and activities, needs of the lesser privileged, emergency relief aid, scholarships, student exchange programs, servicemen's gift packages, hospital and clinic supplies, international flood relief, beautification of town parks, aid to handicapped children, shelter for the aged, welfare camps, school athletic awards, etc.

Local Youths Will Take Part In Walk For Development May 9

A group of local youths will participate in the International Walk for Development on Sunday, May 9. They will be among 1,000,000 young people in 350 United States communities taking part. The national goal of $6,000,000 is expected to be swelled by funds raised that weekend by walkers in 40 other countries.

Coordinators of the Winchester walk are Robyn German, Cathi Harris, Janet Semonian, and Ginger Casey. The adult advisor is Kenneth P. Trevett.

Other organizers are Leslie and Debbi Bacci, Dwight Baghdoyan, Kathy and Maureen Barry, Paul Bloch, Bruce Blumberg, Melinda Ellis, Vicki Hanas, Mark Hennessey, Bobby Kittredge, Mary O'Donerty, Lisa Richardson, Charles E. Rozella, and Lynn Southern.

Parents, friends, neighbors, businesses, and industries are pledging from one cent to several dollars to the International Walk for Development for each mile of a 25-mile course walked by a local boy, girl, man, or woman.

"The walks themselves are steps — literally — to alleviate the distress and despair of persons in underdeveloped areas here and abroad," explained Miss German.

She said that 42.5 percent of the money raised will be split between the Bedford-Stuyvesant Corporation, formed by the late Robert F. Kennedy, and a local project still undecided. Another 42.5 percent will be split between the Dominican Republic and the Hospital Amazonico Albert Schweitzer in Peru.

Fifteen percent is to be used for educational projects of the American Freedom from Hunger Foundation, which coordinates

Court Denies Complaint For Results Release

At a preliminary hearing before the Clerk of the Court in Woburn Tuesday morning, April 20, it was ascertained that the results for Winchester of a standardized achievement test given to all Massachusetts fourth graders was "not a matter of public record at this time" as requested by a Winchester resident.

The hearing was the consequence of summonses applied for by Clara M. Hewis of 91 Swanston Street for release of this information. Among those receiving a summons was State Commissioner of Education Neil Sullivan, who contacted the State Attorney General's office regarding the matter.

School Budget On Agenda For Town Meeting Tonight

The school budget is ready for further discussion by Town Meeting Members. The School Committee will present a new budget proposal at the 12th session of the 1971 Annual Town Meeting tonight, April 22, in Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium.

An earlier starting time was agreed to by Town Meeting Members. The session will get under way at 7 p.m., instead of 7:45. Besides action on the school budget under Article Eight, articles still remaining include 33 through 47.

Town Meeting Members tabled the school budget Monday evening, March 29, for review by the School Committee, at the request of Mrs. Harriet Dieterich, chairman. The School Committee had been seeking $5,672,924, while the Finance Committee had recommended a $5,566,959 budget, a difference of $105,965.

Thursday

Progress through six articles in the 1971 Annual Warrant was interrupted sporadically Thursday evening, April 15, for reports on the Stanley Cup playoff, also taking place that night. Nevertheless, such action was completed.

Despite divided attentions, Town Meeting Members gave approval to Article 13, $110,000; Article 21, $1,217; Article 23, $3,000; Article 24, $89,665; and Article 25, $15,000. Article 22, citing a plan for weekly rubbish collection, was defeated.

Articles 14 and 15, concerning specific projects to be undertaken by the Water and Sewer Department for improvements to the sewage disposal and water drainage systems, were "indefinitely postponed."

Article 13

Ernest A. Phillips Jr. of the Water and Sewer Board paved the way for approval of Article 13 by recounting the 10-year-old history of Winchester's water system. An appropriation of $110,000 was made for the laying, cleaning and lining of water mains and aqueducts and related work.

Areas to receive this improvement include four separate lengths along Cambridge Street and one on Wildwood. Article 13 is directed at the fourth year of a five-year program begun in 1968 for improvement of this system, especially where erosion of wall thicknesses has occurred in older pipes.

Observances made in past years, Mr. Phillips continued, reveal that it costs half as much to reline old pipes, as to lay new pipes, while the results are equal. Although it is a bid item based upon the number of feet contracted for, Winchester personnel and equipment will also be used. The Water and Sewer Board contemplates future purchase of such equipment so that this type of work can be carried out by the Town as a matter of routine maintenance.

Tuesday

Town Meeting Members took these actions in the 11th session of the 1971 Annual Town Meeting Tuesday evening, April 20:

1. Approved Article 27, authorizing $15,000 for further renovations at the High Street School and accepting the report of the Permanent Building Committee on the project.

2. Approved Article 28, permitting the Artificial Ice Skating Rink Committee to continue its work and accepting its report on the proposal.

3. Approved Article 29, as amended, providing for the appointment by the moderator of two additional members to the Artificial Ice Skating Rink Committee and requiring the group to have preliminary plans for a rink prepared and to report at the next Annual Town Meeting or earlier, if possible. An attempt to reconsider Article 29 failed because it lacked the two-thirds vote required.

4. Approved Article 30, granting $4,200 for town participation in the SEWMA program through the proposal.

Towns Could Contract For Own Bus, Rail Service Under Plan Of Representative Chadwick

Winchester and other Bay State communities could contract with private firms to provide bus or rail service here instead of being served by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, under legislation filed by State Representative Harrison Chadwick of Winchester.

House Bill No. 4914 is being considered by the House Committee on Transportation. If it is approved by that group, it will be forwarded to the Ways and Means Committee for financing procedures. If authorized there, it would then go to the full House of Representatives for action.

State Representative Francis W. Hatch Jr. of Beverly, House Republican leader, urged the Commonwealth legislators to support Representative Chadwick's bill.

"If we wait another year, there may not be any MBTA," Representative Hatch said. "Giving the MBTA more money is not the panacea. If we don't act, it's going to collapse."

Representative Chadwick's bill would amend Chapter 161A of the Commonwealth's General Laws by adding Section 30, which would read:

"Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this chapter the authority shall not furnish bus or rail commuter service to any city or town which does not apply in writing therefor; provided, however, that the authority shall continue to operate rapid transit services and feeder buses in connection therewith."

"Any city or town within the district of the authority which does not apply for such service may, alone or in combination arrange for an operating company to provide said bus or rail commuter service."

Crawford Memorial United Church Marks Centennial Anniversary

One hundred years ago this month, the first Methodist preaching service was held on April 20, 1871, in Union Hall. And now the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church is celebrating its Centennial.

On Thursday evening, April 15, a homecoming banquet gathered present and former members and friends of the church for a gala celebration in Gifford Hall. Each 50-year member present was given a corsage or a boutonniere by the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Allister R. McKay acted as toastmaster. The Rev. Leslie S. Drake, pastoral assistant, gave the invocation. Following a catered roast beef dinner, those seated at the head table were introduced as were other special guests, including the Rev. and Mrs. H. Newton Clay, the Rev. and Mrs. Vaughn Shedd, the Rev. and Mrs. Hamilton Gifford, Mrs. Leo F. Fawcett, former educational director and her husband, and Miss Judith A. Olsen, educational coordinator.

Messages were received from all living former pastors, the Rev. Roger E. Makepeace, the Rev. Harris E. Heverly, the Rev. John A. Snook Jr., and the Rev. J. Allen Broyles. A telegram of congratulations came from the first baby born in the present parsonage, Ruth, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. George Butters.

Community singing of old hymns was led by Mrs. Gloria Maifeld, music director.

Contributions

The Rev. Henry A. Marquardt of St. Eulalia's Church brought greetings from the Winchester Ecumenical Association, representing all of the churches of Winchester. Harry Emmons, lay leader, spoke of the contributions of the church to the community. Miss Gayle Van Alstine, representing the youth, reviewed her thoughts on the purpose of the church and what it should attempt in the future.

The Rev. Dean E. Benedict, pastor of the church, greeted the audience briefly. He gave special recognition to Mrs. W. Raymond Chase, "faithful and efficient secretary to three pastors" and presented her with a certificate of "appreciation for Service." Mrs. Maifeld then performed a favorite selection, "How beautiful upon the Mountain," accompanied by Mrs. Julie Collins.

Rev. Butters, pastor from 1935 to 1938, was speaker of the evening. He recalled his years at the church and expressed his faith in the future of the church. He and his wife, Lila, were sincerely welcomed. Another former pastor, Rev. Clay, gave the benediction.

The climax of the evening was a rendition by the church choir of the 100-year-old hymn, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." This was followed by voluntary silence, the greatest tribute to be offered.

During the past week, there has been an historical display of pictures, programs and other mementos in the Winifred L. Crawford Room. A reproduction, built by the late Norman Osborne of the first Methodist Church located on Mt. Vernon Street, created much interest.

Memories

The youth of the church represented themselves through old Sunday school programs, former publications, and pictures of their latest projects. Former members have found souvenirs of their years in the church, and members of long standing have recalled many happy memories of activities and friends they have known. They remember gratefully many faithful members who served the church so well during their lifetime.

On Palm Sunday, Bishop James K. Mathews was guest preacher and received a group of young people into church membership. As part of the centennial celebration former pastors have been invited to preach at Sunday morning services. Rev. Clay preached on February 21, Rev. Heverly on March 14, and Rev. Snook Jr. will preach on May 16. A coffee hour following each service has provided an opportunity to meet again with these well-remembered pastors.

Plans for the centennial were under the general direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Hatch, assisted by a large committee. "Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church begins its second century strong in the faith of its founders and dedicated to fulfilling its calling by serving the present age."

Protection

Admittedly, what passes for protection of the consumer of services and products in our society is more "honored in the breach than in the observance." Therefore, we are happy to see that our government is finally acknowledging the rising tide of consumer unrest. We in funeral service, despite stringent licensing requirements and restrictions, long ago established strict ethical codes of conduct for our profession which go far beyond the "letter of the law," to further protect the families we serve. The persuasive powers of our state and national professional associations have been extremely effective in establishing guidelines which members actually have found to be good business practice to follow.

Robert J. Costello,
Director

Mrs. Marian C. Rogers

Mrs. Marian (Cooper) Rogers of 50 E. Lake Street, a resident of Winchester for 55 years, died suddenly Wednesday, April 21, at her home. She was 78.

Born in Camden, New Jersey, October 15, 1892, she was the daughter of Samuel Williams Morton and Rebecca Pullmer Cooper. Mrs. Rogers was the widow of Charles C. Rogers, who passed away in 1964.

While living in Winchester Mrs. Rogers also spent some time in Southwest Harbor, Maine, and Riviera Beach, Florida. She was educated at Miss Burt's School in Connecticut, and at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts School.

Having served as a driver for the Red Cross during World War I, Mrs. Rogers had continued her activities in that organization ever since. She was also a member of the Sewing Group of the First Congregational Church.

She leaves two sons, Edward E. Hichborn of Malden and Warren C. Hichborn of Winchester; a daughter, Mrs. George A. Rivinius of Winchester; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church on Saturday, April 24, at 11 a.m. Burial will be in Forest Hills Cemetery, Boston. There will be no visiting hours.

The Norris Funeral Home, One Elmwood Avenue is in charge of arrangements.

Court

According to Lieutenant Andrew Crawford of the Winchester Police Department, charged with delivery of the summonses and present at the hearing, discussion centered on a definition of "public record" and referral to similar cases in the past. The State Assistant Attorney General conveyed the opinion of that office that "it was not a matter of public record at this time." The complaint was subsequently denied. However, results should be available after a "reasonable" length of time.

Joining the Assistant Attorney General Miss Hewis, and Lieutenant Crawford were Dr. Baker of the Research and Development Committee, State Department of Education; Town Counsel Leonard J. Mullen Jr.; Mrs. Harriet H. Dieterich, chairman of the Winchester School Committee; William F. Clark, assistant superintendent for administrative services, representing Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald A. Klemmer; and Director of Pupil Services Dr. W. Howard Niblock.

SEX

Now that I have your attention I'd like to tell you about my store — well, it's not really a store — it's just a huge conglomeration of merchandise from insurance company claims (fire, etc.), railroad salvage, trucking company salvage, mail order returns (from "ten day free home trials"), manufacturers surplus, overstocks, bankrupt inventories, close-outs etc., etc. All of the merchandise is brand new and unused, but some of it is scratched, marked, dented, dented, dusty, violated, uncartoned, smoky, sooty, and most of it is sparkling, brand new in original, fresh, factory packaging.

According to Mrs. Boyle she was never advised of any dissatisfaction with her personality or teaching performance in the five years that she has taught in Winchester until January 28, when she was told by Henry Perry, Director of Personnel, that she was not being recommended for re-election to her teaching position. According to Mrs. Boyle also, she was visited for the purpose of evaluation only one day in the current school year prior to January 28. That visit was made by Miss Nelson. Neither principal visited her class nor did they and Miss Nelson have a conference with her until January 28, two days before the deadline for notifying non-tenure teachers that they would not be re-elected, Mrs. Boyle maintains.

There are a number of vital issues at stake in her case, Mrs. Boyle feels. In her presentation before the School Committee she posed a number of questions which, she said, involve the evaluation procedure for teachers in the Winchester Public Schools and also "the fundamental right to make critical comment to one's colleagues and superiors without administrative retaliation."

She has asked the School Committee for answers to the following questions: What is the administrative policy on evaluating non-tenure teachers? How many visits should be made by supervisors? What kind of follow-up conferences should be held? Should a teacher be given a copy of any evaluation of him? Is there an obligation to inform a teacher of administrative disapproval? Is one compelled to sign approval of departmental activities? To what degree is a teacher free to disagree with a superior? What do administrators mean by "critical" and "lack of cooperation?"

Through Haskell Freedman, general counsel for the Massachusetts Teachers Association, Mrs. Boyle also stated to the School Committee that she is already on tenure, due to the fact that she received five successive contracts from the Winchester School Committee since 1966. The validity of this position will be determined in court.

The School Committee, through its counsel, has stated in effect that Mrs. Boyle is not on tenure because those years in which she was less than a half-time teacher cannot be considered teaching years for tenure.

Mrs. Harriet Dieterich, chairman of the School Committee, in commenting on Mrs. Boyle's action, said:

"Mrs. Boyle's performance as a home economics teacher has been evaluated by the coordinator of the Home Economics Department and by the principals of McCall and Lynch Junior High Schools. Their unanimous opinion was that her performance has not been that which would merit her election to tenure status."

"Although the Winchester Education Association's letter alleges in general terms a violation of 'The Agreement' between the Association and the School Committee, no explanation as to the nature of the claimed violation has been made and the Committee is not aware of any such violation."

"We believe that the careful selection of tenure teachers is critical to the future of the school system," Mrs. Dieterich concluded.

Besides the local education association and the MTA, Mrs. Boyle is receiving support from the National Education Association in her attempt to have the School Committee re-elect her as a teacher in the Winchester Public Schools and to place her on tenure. Legal counsel has been given by George Shea of the MTA. Other counsel has been given by Harvey Zorbaugh, Director of the NEA regional office in Boston.

When asked to comment on the up-coming grievance hearing, Mrs. Boyle said, "I have always enjoyed my relationships with my students and colleagues in Winchester and have likewise felt that I had an excellent rapport with them. I am a person from a profession highly regarded by the community of Winchester. I have not been evaluated or treated in a professional or ethical way by my superiors, the two principals, my coordinator, and the Director of Personnel. I owe it to myself, the children I teach, and my fellow colleagues to see that this lack of professionalism is brought to the attention of the public and that the injustice and wrongs within the system be corrected. I only ask that the school committee members go into the hearing with open minds."

A graduate of Nassau College, Mrs. Boyle taught 16 years before coming to Winchester. She began her teaching in Beverly, where she taught for two years.

Later she taught in East Haven and Stratford, Connecticut, in both of which systems she was a tenure teacher. She began her teaching in Winchester in September, 1966, as a part-time teacher. She has been a full-time teacher at both junior high schools since 1968, teaching classes in foods and clothing. Professionally she is a member of the Winchester Education Association, Massachusetts Teachers Association, National Education Association, Massachusetts Home Economics Association, and American Home Economics Association. She lives with her husband, Frederick R. Boyle, at 287 Grove Street in Reading, where she is also an active member of the First Congregational Church.

"Nothing in this section shall be construed to abrogate the obligation of the authority to furnish planning service and capital outlay to all cities and towns."

The act would take effect on July 1, if passed.

Representative Chadwick noted that there are 79 cities and towns in the MBTA District. Some receive no service, and others receive one or more types of service.

The four types of service include the central rapid transit elevated and subway system; its extensions; railroad commuter service, such as supplied by the Boston and Maine Railroad and Penn Central, and bus service.

The deficit has grown "worse and worse," according to Representative Chadwick because of such factors as old equipment, inadequate maintenance facilities, "very inhibiting" labor contracts, badly handled business operations.

Through the administrations of four general managers and four chairmen of the board of directors, deficits have "gone up and up," Representative Chadwick noted. Cities and towns such as Stoneham, Peabody and Wilmington are "screaming to get out" of the MBTA District, the local legislator continued.

Representative Chadwick claimed that MBTA bus service is lightly patronized and expensive to operate. He observed that MBTA vehicles operate with "closed doors" through some areas.

His bill would enable the MBTA to concentrate on its central rapid transit and feeder bus lines. He pointed out that without the feeder service, rapid transit would be financially crippled.

Under the Chadwick legislation, communities could either singly or in groups arrange with a private transportation firm for rail or bus service, even for money-losing runs.

If the communities decide that money-losing service is required, and a private firm declined to provide it, the MBTA could offer the service, and the communities would be required to cover the losses.

Representative Chadwick said that he believed that two or three firms would be interested in providing railroad service.

While the subway system is on practically a break-even basis, feeder buses show the biggest area of loss, Representative Chadwick stated.

"The more we can extend rapid transit into heavily populated areas, the faster we can cut down the deficit," he declared.

Representative Chadwick said that he was not in favor of breaking up the MBTA district. He maintained that every community in the district is dependent to some degree upon Boston.

He said that if the sales tax were increased from three to four cents, and the additional one cent in MBTA District communities were used for the MBTA, it would add $30 to $35 million to the MBTA treasury, plus that received in fares. In those communities not in the MBTA District, the additional sales tax revenue would be used to reduce the tax rate, Representative Chadwick explained.

A single female wasp produces enough venom to kill 227,176 caterpillars, or approximately 50 pounds of insects.

Series Of Enterings Investigated

The three-day weekend brought with it an eruption of breaking and entering incidents in Winchester. On Sunday and Monday local police investigated a series of seven complaints.

Three incidents were reported Sunday night. Officer Peter R. Morgan, assisted by Identification Officer Joseph N. Perittano, responded to residences on North Gateway and Ledyard Road. In each case entry was gained by prying a rear door. The only rooms ransacked at each location were bedrooms. Losses were given as approximately $100 in cash and several dollars in quarters, respectively.

Meanwhile, a Meadowcroft Road man informed police that he had been sitting in the family room when a noise was heard. Going to the kitchen he was greeted by a youth standing in the room. The boy left when told to do so. Nothing was known to be missing at that time. Officer John E. Guarente with Sergeant Thomas E. Kennedy Jr. and Officer Frank Tranchita answered the call.

At about 1 a.m. Monday Officer John Morgan investigated what seemed to be an attempted breaking and entering at a Westland Avenue home. Jimmy marks and footprints were noted, though nothing was believed taken.

One-half hour earlier a New Meadows Road man discovered that his kitchen door was open and a pocketbook containing charge cards and a bank book was missing. He had been in the living room prior to this, he informed Officer William H. O'Neill.

Later that day Officer Henry J. Coogan Jr. responded to reports from Sargent Road and Reservoir Street. A neighbor noticed that the rear door of a Sargent Road residence seemed to be held ajar by a television set. After notifying police it was discovered that the house had been ransacked, though only about $25 in change and possibly jewelry was believed to be taken.

Ransacking also occurred on Reservoir Street where a person caring for the home first noted that entry had been made. A hole had been kicked in a side door large enough to allow a hand to unlock it.

Prior to the long weekend an incident was studied Wednesday, April 14, on High Street. According to the police report filed by Officer Guarente, the residents were in the house when they heard a noise and footsteps. As they went to telephone police from a neighbor's home, two youths were seen running from the site. Some ransacking occurred. A fur was found lying at the door of a bedroom. Sergeant Roland Roy, Inspector William Nash, and Officer Tranchita were also sent to the scene.

Sentencing Follows Apprehensions

"Good police work and good testimony" were attributed to the sentencing of two young men on charges of "attempted breaking and entering in the nighttime." The decisions in Woburn District Court Wednesday, April 14, were six months in the House of Correction, suspended for two years, and one year in the House of Correction, suspended for two years.

Officers Peter Morgan and John Oliver were responsible for the apprehensions in an incident on March 29 at the J and J Machine Corporation, 751 Main Street.

Lions' Free Vision Screening Offered Pre-School Youngsters

Free vision screening tests for preschool-age children will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday, May 1, at the Wyman School, under the auspices of the Winchester Lions Club. Michael Boodakian and Randolph Kazanian are co-chairmen of the project.

Volunteers were trained by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness recently at an all-day session held at the Masonic Apartments. Mrs. Virginia S. Murphy of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness conducted the training. Twenty-five persons attended, including Lions and Dandelions. The latter group is an auxiliary to the Lions, composed of wives of Lions.

The tests will be given to children between three and six years of age, to determine whether they have signs of visual problems. "Some childhood eye defects, if not corrected before the age of six, can lead to permanent loss of vision in the affected eye," Mr. Boodakian pointed out today in urging all parents to bring their youngsters to the free screening program.

"Children must rely on adults for good sight," he said. "By himself, the child has no way of telling whether his sight is good or bad. A youngster may suffer from blurred vision or use only one eye to see, and still not complain because he doesn't realize he should see better."

The purpose of vision screening is to detect signs of possible vision defects in children at an age when they still can be corrected with best results, according to Mrs. Murphy. The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness estimates that one out of every four children in schools today needs some form of eye care. Vision difficulties in school children can lead to study and emotional problems, says the Society.

Volunteer teams will check the child's visual acuity by means of a Snellen "E" chart. If the youngster's performance gives evidence of a vision difficulty, he will be "referred." The parents will be notified in writing of the child's need for a complete, professional eye examination. Subsequently, each referral is followed-up to insure that the child has undergone the necessary examination.

The screening project in Winchester is the latest in a network of such programs being carried out across Massachusetts in cooperation with the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

NUTRITION IS OUR BUSINESS, TOO!
Helpful hints on Nutrition by Dr. Fredrick J. Stare, world-famous health authority, consultant on Nutrition to the U.S. Public Health Service and advisor to First National Stores on its Nutritional Awareness Program. The following excerpt, taken from his radio programs, is a public service of First National Stores.
Tons of nonsense have been fed to the public in recent years by food faddists masquerading as "ministers of good health." Millions of meaningless words have pushed black strap molasses, kelp, dried alfalfa, and other grasses. There is nothing wrong with these foods if you like the taste of them, but don't get the idea that they are magic keys to long life, perfect health, eternal youth, and the best of nutrition. Most of this is nonsense. Dependence on any single "cure-all" food is a sure path to problems.
The one and only magic formula for healthful eating lies in eating a variety of foods and in not eating too much. Some years ago, Harvard's Department of Nutrition and the Department of Agriculture simultaneously developed the Basic Four Food Groups. This is a way of getting adequate variety into your diet from the foods commonly available in your supermarket.
What do you think the Basic Four Food Groups are? You have probably guessed the first one, dairy products. Nearly everyone should have some milk, but if you don't like milk, have some milk products. Cheese and ice cream are made of milk and have essentially the same nutrients as does milk.
The second food group is meat or meat substitutes which includes fish and poultry.
The third food group contains cereal products such as enriched and whole grain breads and cereals and foods made out of these substances—waffles, spaghetti.
The fourth group are the vegetables and fruits. These supply many vitamins, minerals, and for most of us make the meal taste good.

Toastmistress Council Meets

Several members of the Winchester Toastmistress Club participated at the 11-monthly meeting of the Council No. 3, International Toastmistress Clubs, which met at the Hartford Tower, Hartford, Connecticut, on Saturday, April 17.

MISS HILDA HOPE

Miss Hilda Hope of 37 Glen Green, a former director of the Medford Visiting Nursing Association, was in charge of the morning program which was a Toastmistress Clinic on the format of a Medical Cardiac Seminar. Subjects discussed were evaluation (diagnosis), membership (the Cardiac), and program (anatomical).

The business meeting was under the direction of Mrs. Joan Garneau of Medford who is Chairman of Council No. 3 which includes clubs from Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts.

The afternoon Area Speech Contest offered seven contestants, one of which was Mrs. June Pietrantonio of Medford as the contestant from the Winchester Club.

The next meeting of the Winchester Toastmistress Club will be Monday, April 26, at 15 Oxford Street, 8 p.m. Any interested woman is encouraged to call 729-1317.

Any Fish Biting?

The fishing season was off to a dubious start for one local youth. As he sat on the bank of the Abernora River off Main Street mid-Saturday afternoon, someone approaching from behind removed his tackle box containing reel, weights, lures and lines.

The Winchester Star

Established 1880 By Theodore P. Wilson, Sr.

Serving The Community For 90 Years

Editorials:

Sober Words

Two Page One stories in the Thursday, April 15, Star should stimulate much thought on the part of Winchester taxpayers.

The first, "Winchester Welfare Costs Show 31 Percent Increase" could be the subject of a separate editorial, at least, so the Star will not comment at this time.

The second, "State's Spending Policies Could Overrun Fiscal Ability, Rotary Warned By Tax Speaker," could also inspire lengthy observations, but the Star will discuss it briefly.

Frank J. Zeo, executive vice-president of the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation, Incorporated, told local Rotarians how he viewed the future.

"We stand in danger in Massachusetts of pursuing spending policies under an expenditure system which in a few years will simply overrun the taxpayers' ability to pay," Mr. Zeo warned.

Mr. Zeo sees the Commonwealth "simply headed down a road of doing a lot of things that are going to be impossible."

"And there are going to be some shocking disappointments unless we change our old ways of doing business at the State House," he continued.

What's the real big challenge of the 70's in Massachusetts?

It's "controlling government growth and governmental spending," according to Mr. Zeo.

"We're headed into a real financial storm," cautioned Mr. Zeo. "The wise course is to prepare for it."

The alternative, according to Mr. Zeo, is "financial chaos for Massachusetts and the cities and towns."

"The choice is up to us," he pointed out.

The key factor in meeting state revenue needs is controlling them, Mr. Zeo explained.

"There was a time only a few years ago when we used to refer to state and local costs in terms of millions of dollars. Now the word 'billion' is being used in reference to individual programs such as welfare and public higher education," Mr. Zeo declared.

Mr. Zeo has urged a course of fiscal responsibility. If the Commonwealth and its communities fail to heed this advice, they are heading toward financial chaos.

The decision is ours to make. We hope it will be a sound one.

Letters To The Editor

Elizur Wright Kept Fells Area From Developers

Editor of the Star:

In April, flowers appear on many trees. You may want to look for them in the Middlesex Fells. It's beautiful there in 1971, thanks to an 1871 neighbor, Elizur Wright.

Mr. Wright was born in the early 1800's. He would be spoken of today as a conservationist. Conservationists, I've decided, have a different time-clock than do most people. Their sense of time covers pre-historic periods. They look ahead many generations.

From 1869 until his death in 1885, Mr. Wright was occupied almost exclusively in persuading people to save the Fells from development. During those 16 years he called meeting after meeting; he sent pleas to the general public; he urged legislation.

Thanks to his dedicated effort, Massachusetts passed an Act in 1882 authorizing acquisition of forested lands. Finally, in 1894, the Middlesex Fells were taken and entrusted to a Metropolitan Park Commission. About 262 acres are in Winchester.

Mr. Wright persisted through the years because he could imagine that people he would never know personally would also find beauty in these woods.

It would seem appropriate then if we gave some thought to Elizur Wright's sustained efforts of one hundred years ago. Think about him as you drive down Hillcrest Parkway or South Border Road, or as you go to the Girl Scout cabin or Long Pond.

It's A Great Feeling

Town Government Changes Sought By Mr. Rotondi

Editor of the Star:

The Conservation Committee wields tremendous power. They are now taking the Rosetti's land away from them by eminent domain. Tax on this vacant land, paid by the Rosettis in 1970, was $3,350. Can we afford to lose this income for another private park?

The Rosettis say nothing. Why should they? I believe they want the Town to take it away from them. A court case will bring a judgment of possibly $100,000. Why should we worry, states the Committee.

The Federal Government will pay 75 percent of this amount, plus legal fees and court costs.

We were told by the Conservation Committee that The Federal and State Government will pay 75 percent of court costs. This information given to Town Meeting Members is not correct. First of all, there is no guarantee that they, the Federal and State, will approve our land taking. If said taking is approved; then a court battle, the Town now will have to file an amendment to original sum requested for court costs and legal fees.

In such a case as the Rosetti lands, it is possible that a $25,000 legal fee and court costs will be assessed. If this is said amount, the amount reimbursed to Winchester is only one half, thus the Town will have to pay one half of all legal fees and court costs.

The above information was given to me by a Person who is connected with State Conservation Committee. I ask the Conservation Committee to substantiate or deny the above facts. The Town Meeting Members and the Townpeople should know where they stand.

I always felt that I and all other people are the Federal Government, and we should be concerned with taking of private property. It is a base for tax dollars. This loss now will be distributed among the taxpayers. In ten years — $33,500. The Rosettis have held this land for 25 years. Why now should it be taken away? I can see taking of swamp land, but I can not see taking away valuable building land. To me this is discrimination against people who wish to build.

Your sons or grandchildren would like to build in Winchester some day. If this program of conservation continues, then land will not be available. Our burden of taxation will be heavier.

What many people do not know is that when land is taken for conservation, it no longer can be used by anyone, including the Town itself.

Towns and cities are crying for help — to the Federal Government, welfare, education, now conservation. How much private land will we have to buy? How much land will be taken away from citizens who do not wish to sell? How long with the Federal Government finance towns and cities for taking private lands for conservation.

Does the employment situation frighten you, or are we fat and contented. I state seriously that if we do not examine carefully our expenditures, our waste, influential business will move out. These people have money, but they are fed up with supporting irresponsible government.

We have many dedicated, intelligent people in this town. They should offer their services. We need changes desperately.

Education is the most important for our young people. To me education is a priority. The School Committee is trying hard to satisfy the citizens, to protect their tax dollars. I am sure with cooperation from people who understand and know the problem, if this advice is requested in the future all School budgets will pass the test.

This Town Meeting has proven to me conclusively that we are in desperate need of change. We are desperately lacking communication. The facts presented above are a few highlights of our Town Meeting. I am sure the citizens of this town will find it informative.

Town meeting members were told that 4700 tons of salt was used last year at a cost of $140,000. The truth is that 7800 tons were used.

I request that the Board of Selectmen admit or deny above statement at Town Meeting.

Sees Only Hope For Tax Relief

Editor of the Star:

Apologies to Winchester Personnel Board for the error made in thinking that said Board was responsible for giving a 25% increase to holders of M.A., Ph.D., and XYZ degrees. Shows how dumb one can be in not knowing that the School Committee was responsible for said increase. The said Committee does not consider that said holders of above-mentioned degrees as bonuses but this writer considers it as such. It does not make said degrees a better teacher and the only reason that most of said holders study to become holders of said degrees is because of more of the folding green of for more of the do, re, mi, you know what I mean; in fact, the reason for many of the teachers go into teaching is for security reasons alone.

The Legislature sets the minimum salary for school teachers without a thought of the ability of towns affording to be able to pay said minimum. In other words the tax payers have to pay without considering the ability of the taxpayer to pay for political pressure put on by the teacher organizations.

How many Town Meeting Members know or realize what these bonuses cost the taxpayer and these bonuses are only for the holders of said degrees. Roughly it costs the Town of Winchester $400,000.00 which means almost $2 on the tax rate.

This writer is of the opinion that these bonuses are illegal, as there is nothing in the statutes which give the School Committee the authority to tax the taxpayers with this burden. The School Committee is a creature of the Legislature and came into being in 1836 for at that time education was beginning to be of importance.

Horace Mann, a statue of whom is on the front lawn of the State House, was the teacher who fostered the first free school in the world, the Boston Latin School. There is a bronze plaque on Duane Street, in the rear of the State House marking the spot where the first free school; some time when you are in that vicinity take a few minutes and see for yourself and you will be proud in reading about it.

Have the Town Meeting Members the courage to recommit the budget of the School Committee if said budget has not been cut enough? Only the Town Meeting can answer.

The total amount necessary for the above mentioned bonuses increases each year as the holders automatically receive a certain percentage increase each year, until the maximum is reached. In other words it becomes an ever increasing burden on the taxpayer. When is it going to stop can be answered only by the Town Meeting.

Have courage, mes enfants, and go forth to battle with banners flying, treading softly but carrying a big stick. Onward, Christian soldiers and good luck, Tallyho. There'll always be an England as long as we are here.

As always VOX CLAMANTIS IN DESERTO.

High Schoolers Praised For Aid At Bloodmobile

Editor of the Star:

As a Red Cross volunteer, it was my privilege to work with the senior class of the high school when they staffed the various stations at the recent Bloodmobile held at the high school.

I want to take this opportunity to congratulate them on a job well done. I found them courteous, friendly, serious, and enthusiastic about their project.

It was a real pleasure to be associated with them and I came away filled with hope for our young people.

School Lunch Program Backed

Editor of the Star:

It is my understanding that the Winchester School Committee regards a lunch program in the elementary schools as an unnecessary frill and perhaps an opportunity for women to shirk their responsibilities as mothers. I cannot agree with such an insensitive attitude.

The majority of women in Winchester are intelligent, well educated people with a tremendous potential contribution to today's society. Too many of them are hampered and frustrated by a brief, very insignificant midday encounter with their children and end up with time-killing pastimes to ward off boredom.

Ninety-two percent of the communities in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts have in-school lunch programs and none of the children have suffered unduly. Their mothers are not frantically looking for lunchtime substitutes nor are they obsessed by guilt and worry over having had to leave the children unattended at noon. In Winchester, hundreds of children return to their empty homes for lunch and in many cases there is no possible alternative.

Women today are not apathetic, helpless creatures. They are a vital, creative force in every aspect of our society.

Homemaking is not as time consuming as it once was and when the last child reaches school age, a woman deserves the opportunity to do volunteer work, further her education, or to pursue a career if she so wishes. Otherwise she can easily become bored, trapped, and unhappy which is far more damaging to a child than single sessions could possibly be.

However romantically one might regard Motherhood, a quick sandwich with her children at noon is neither reward nor reason enough to deprive her of the right to find her own personal fulfillment as an individual. A woman in today's world should not have to prove her love for her children by sacrificing six or more of her most productive and energetic years to a sandwich.

Reader Suggests Warrant Items Be Arranged

Editor of the Star:

Being a citizen who is increasingly concerned with the growing tax rate, and one of the silent minority at this Town Meeting, I would like to find out the philosophy behind the placing of the articles in the Town Warrant.

It would seem to me that the Town Budgets should be first on the Warrant before special articles, and in descending order of importance on our tax dollar. Therefore, the first article to be considered each year should be the school budget, because it consumes the greatest percentage of our tax dollar.

If this procedure were followed at the annual Town Meeting the Town Meeting Members would have a better idea of priorities. For example, this year they might have handled Article Four (Personnel increases) and Article Six (MacDonald Field) in a different manner.

And why isn't the report of the Personnel Board considered a Budget item? It would seem to me that it would make more sense to vote on the budgets in their order of impact on the tax dollar first, and then take up the other articles in the Warrant.

BOOK REVIEW

Winchester Public Library

JONATHAN LIVINGSTON

SEAGULL

by Richard Bach

To soar, to glide, to chase the waves, to seek the ultimate speed, height, grace of flying — these were the qualities Jonathan Livingston Seagull aspired to in life. The good seagull, according to the Flock, lived to eat, to reproduce, and to survive; flying was merely a means to an end, never an end in itself. Young Jonathan was castigated every evening on the rookery for his anti-social, non-conformist behavior. Parents, elders, ordinary birds of the Flock mocked and tormented him, could not understand his vision of a greater meaning to seagull life than just eating and surviving.

Speed was the young Jonathan's consuming passion although he did learn the basics of acrobatic flight as well. Winging up and up, higher than gulls were meant to fly he would plummet down, down, down, setting ever higher speeds, reaching technical barriers, overcoming them, learning to adjust his wings spread just a fraction to turn, brake, flip. And still the Flock persisted. A seagull does not fly fast, gracefully, high, or at night. Indifferent to the Flock, Jonathan Livingston Seagull continued his daily maneuvers. At last he had reached the ultimate Seagull speed, now the Flock could not but see the merit of his obsession and he converted to the perfection of flying. But they weren't. In fact, they expelled him from the Flock.

What becomes of Jonathan after his expulsion from the Flock makes up the main body of this story. In reaching beyond the ordinary, the easy and everyday, Jonathan aspires to a spiritual perfection he is not even aware of and eventually discovers others of his own kind. But the story is Jonathan's and you must read the tale to know him.

Jonathan Livingston Seagull is a delightful little parable illustrated with fine seagull photographs. The seagull certainly cannot be claimed to be the most graceful in flight. The photographs will not make you ooh and aah but the reaching, striving, hopefulness of Jonathan transforms this rather common creature into a remarkable and admirable being.

One set of illustrations must be mentioned in concluding, they are printed on semi-transparent paper in such a way that while looking at the top most picture a couple of other gulls are seen as through a mist in the distance. It is an immensely successful technique that captures the fluid, ethereal spirit of the book.

Raymond J. Kenney Jr., chairman of the Finance Committee, requested favorable action as this article was the continuation of a program already endorsed by the Town. Responding to an observation of Arthur J. Hewis Jr., Town Meeting Member from Precinct 1, that this was customarily a bonded item, Mr. Kenney stated that the sum would be taken out of current revenue and is already included in the tax rate estimate. At the end of the Town Meeting the Finance Committee will recommend that more money be withdrawn from the Excess and Deficiency Fund than in previous years.

Article 21

As carried by the Town Meeting Article 21 provides for the installation of 20,000 lumens mercury vapor street lights along thoroughfares radiating from the center of town. An amendment proposed by Mr. Hewis to increase the original request for $660 by $557, making a total of $1,217 was adopted.

Replacement of the present mercury vapor lamps, which vary between 10,000 and 15,000 lumens, will take place on Main Street (Mystic Valley Parkway to Lake Street), Mount Vernon Street (Washington Street to the rotary Church Street (rotary under the railroad bridge to Rangeley Road), Waterfield Road (Church Street to Mystic Valley Parkway), and all of Thompson Street. The additional sum will be applied to Main Street (Lake Street to Swanton Streets).

The article was initiated by the Winchester Business and Professional Association it was reported by Ralph M. Swanson, chairman of the Board of Selectmen. The figure of $600 represents an adjustment to two-thirds of a year, while the $557 is an annual cost. The Board has received recommendations from Boston Edison for street lighting along Main Street from Lake to Swanton Streets, $15,000 and from Swanton to the Woburn line, $17,000.

Chairman Swanson cautioned that while the original sum is $557, the annual cost in the future will be $1500. In requesting the increase Mr. Hewis stated that the $557 figure was a "paltry sum for safety."

Speaking on the proposal for street light replacement was Town Meeting Member Murphy, who anticipated a safety problem arising from "bright spot - dark spot" conditions due to the present distance between poles. Mr. Swanson concurred with his observation that if the proposal was carried out, it would make replacement by Boston Edison difficult to obtain in the "near future."

Articles 22 and 23

Articles 22 and 23 were considered jointly. The motion under Article 22, prepared and presented by James A. Cullen, Town Meeting Member from Precinct 5, requested an appropriation of $127,313 for rubbish removal on a weekly basis to be expended by the Superintendent of Streets under the Board of Selectmen.

Using the City of Lynn as a model Mr. Cullen suggested the employment of 15 men and six trucks for the project. The motion was lost when put to a vote, a prevalent opinion that further study should be made as outlined under Article 23.

Following adoption of a substitution Article 23 was passed. A study of Winchester's future solid waste disposal will proceed through a series of tasks: specify the Town's waste disposal requirements up to 10 years and identify present facilities with regard to the future; to define capital facility and/or land requirements for legislation and specify the Town's action or implementation items; establish the needs over 10 years by normal and by apartment population growth; determine plans for meeting the Town's waste disposal emergencies; evaluate related programs proposed by citizens, civic groups, and contractors, including trash compaction and rubbish pick-up; and engage an engineering consultant to provide professional expert advice and cost estimates "if deemed advisable."

The article grants the creation of a town-wide committee to work with the consultant to prepare a report by the 1972 Annual Town Meeting or sooner. Mr. Swanson reported that the $3,000 appropriation would be applied for the hiring of William Cramer of Fay, Spofford, Thordike, Inc., of Boston, designers of the Winchester incinerator.

Amendment

The hiring of a consultant and the form of the study committee were each areas of disagreement. Expressing the Finance Committee's opinion, Mr. Kenney stated that his group did not feel the Selectmen were "asking for enough money" to engage a consultant, and therefore any such appropriation should be deleted from that article. Too little money is as bad as none, he reasoned.

It was also feared that the approach as carried out by the firm which designed the incinerator would be "too narrow." Considering the "talent" within the Town, it was felt that the same information could be obtained without the $3,000. The Finance Committee proposed a motion to amend by deleting the appropriation and consultant.

As created by the Board of Selectmen the study committee was intended to be an ad hoc group "actively directed" by the Board. Chairman Swanson stressed that it would be a matter of collecting information already within Town departments. A committee of five persons chosen "at the Board's discretion" was envisioned. A point made by Selectman John J. Sullivan was that such a group would be less likely to recommend expenditure of an unrealistic amount of money.

Speaking in opposition to the ad hoc proposal was Mr. Hewis, who favored a committee appointed by the Moderator, thereby being a "public group" operating under open session. Considering waste disposal as a health problem, he also advised broadening the study membership to include a Board of Health representative. Dr. Warren J. Taylor, chairman of that board, was also opposed to an ad hoc committee.

As the call for a vote on the Finance Committee's amendment neared, Mr. Swanson stated that if the money was to be taken out of the article, the Selectmen wished to withdraw the motion and undertake the study on their own. It was further proposed that if the amendment was defeated then the Board would introduce a motion to substitute for the original ad hoc group a Town-wide committee composed of a member each appointed by the Boards of Health, Planning, and Selectmen, Finance Committee, and the Moderator.

When the Finance amendment was lost, 39 to 74, the motion for substitution, still retaining a fee for an engineering consultant, was made and adopted. All action was taken with the knowledge that Winchester must conform with the State open burning law as of July 1 of this year.

A tally of 96 to 17 brought approval of Article 24 appropriating $89,665 for repairs, renovations, and improvements to the Town Hall, including furnishings. The sum will be applied to general contracting, moving, and architects fees, tables in the Board of Selectmen's room, and contingencies.

Article 24 provides the final stage of the 1958-1969 Town Hall improvement program. Mr. Swanson reported, Anticipating only minor repairs and changes in the future, he estimated that the building will continue to serve "for many years to come, a minimum of 10 years." This stage will move into first and second floor offices, the front entrance, and stairways and hallways.

"Since it is the final phase" the Finance Committee recommended favorable action. The Planning Board concurred, noting that McCall Junior High School proposed in the past as a Town Hall will probably not be vacant until 10 years from now.

In response to F. Robert Johnson, Town Meeting Member from Precinct 5, Chairman Swanson stated that it was felt that this final stage of the program could not be extended into two years, due to the amount of disruption involved and in light of the monetary savings being realized in construction under present economic conditions.

The request of the Permanent Building Committee for $15,000 to hire a planning consultant to prepare preliminary plans for renovations to the Senior High School was granted under Article 26 by a vote of 74 to 50.

As an extension of the elementary school buildings renovations proposal, Andrew L. Nichols of the Secondary School Building Sub-committee informed Members, it is necessary to have a sum for the consultant available to begin work on preliminary plans so that the Permanent Building Committee will be able to present its request for renovations funds to the Town Meeting in the fall. The $15,000 figure is an estimate from Mr. Crisp, architectural consultant for the new high school, due to the fact that educational specifications have not yet been received from the School department. The appropriated sum "may or may not cover" future architect's fees, Mr. Nichols said. This will depend upon renovations needs.

When Town Meeting Member Sally Kincaid, Precinct 2, called for the "severe censure" of those School Department personnel responsible for the delay in providing such information to the Town Meeting, it was answered that the vast amount of planning work required on the new high school, now 70 per cent complete and "on schedule in all respects," was blamed.

William F. Clark, assistant superintendent for administrative services for Winchester schools, cited the Senior High School's history, returning to 1934 when it was constructed as a junior high school. It was transformed 20 years later into a senior high. While certain areas, such as chemistry laboratory, are not suited to junior high level instruction, only "relatively minor renovations" are envisioned.

It is hoped, Mr. Clark continued, that 40 per cent State aid will be available on deferred maintenance. Installation of a fire detection system, removal of some partitions, etc., were mentioned.

While Member Henry C. Heitz Jr. of Precinct 1 called the proposed renovations program a "domino theory" with the Town's schools, the Finance Committee was recommending favorable action due to the fact the article was an integral part of that program.

Speaking for the School Committee, Stephen R. Papishurst conveyed that committee's approval of the article and volunteered the information that it was not intended to create "another Muraco" from the present Senior High School. As much as "possibly can" will be utilized in the building, as an attempt to equalize the conditions among the junior high schools, renovations here are scheduled to begin with the opening of the new high school in February of 1972. Optimistically, use of the renovated present Senior High School would start in September, 1972.

Mr. Parkhurst estimated that six months to a year could be saved if the money to provide for preliminary plans were made available at this time. Following threats of deferment, the article was approved.

the School Department. The project is for retarded and emotionally disturbed children.

5. Approved Article 31, accepting the report and recommendations of the Town Government Study Committee. Town Meeting Members defeated a proposal by Richard W. Freeman Jr. of Precinct Three that would have pointed the town toward study of municipal governmental changes, including consideration of a town manager form of operation.

6. Defeated Article 32, which would have amended Section Eight of Article One of the town's General Bylaws, as recommended by the Town Government Study Committee, to limit debate at Town Meetings.

Article 27

Under Article 27, William B. Budd of the Permanent Building Committee for Elementary Schools Subcommittee explained that $10,000 on hand, plus an additional $15,000 sought under the article, would be used for renovating part of the High Street School to make it usable for handicapped persons. He pointed out that this was a Commonwealth requirement applicable to all schools built or renovated from 1968 on. Failure to make the changes could result in the closing of the school, he warned.

Chairman Raymond J. Kenney Jr. of the Finance Committee said that his group recommended favorable action, since the work was necessary to fulfill state regulations.

William R. Kimball, chairman of the Permanent Building Committee for Skating Rink, explained how two articles were on the warrant concerning artificial ice skating rinks.

His group's decision not to ask for capital budget expenditures at this time caused many youths and adults to become dissatisfied, he said. They petitioned and article 29, asking for construction of a $325,000 rink, resulted.

Mr. Kimball said that his committee hoped to work with the School Committee on including a skating facility at Manchester Field. Such a proposal could mean 40 percent in state aid, he noted.

Miss Karen Sullivan, a Winchester High School junior, and Denis Holland, presented a proposal for a $325,000 rink under Article 29.

Miss Sullivan said in part: "An artificial ice skating rink is needed now because we no longer can depend on the existing facilities. Weather conditions are such that the present rink has been unable to operate for long periods of time, forcing the children to the unsafe ponds. Frequently seen are children skating in an area which is posted 'This Pond is Unsafe for Skating.'"

"The unsupervised competition created by boys playing hockey threatens the safety of children and adults who use the present skating rink."

"There is a critical shortage of available space and time in existing rinks. Groups using the existing rinks are required to reserve ice time at such hours as 3 or 5 a.m. or 11 p.m. Certainly these are not suitable hours for young boys and girls who are attending school."

WINCHESTER PUBLIC SCHOOL teachers are enrolled in an in-service course which teaches them how to use the Orff-Kodaly method of imparting knowledge of music to children. Under the instruction of Mrs. Grace Nash, a nationally known authority on Orff-Kodaly methods, over 50 teachers will finish the course with the ability to play and to demonstrate the use of some of the instruments and voice techniques needed. (Lois Carr photo)

"Skaters wishing to reserve ice time travel long distances at a considerable expense, traveling to Cambridge, Belmont, Billerica, Lawrence, Framingham, Newton, and even as far away as Concord, New Hampshire with the average cost per hour of $45 for ice rental. The Winchester Public Schools released a report stating that from November, 1969, through March, 1970, they spent $8,055 on ice rental and transportation."

"1. The community includes large numbers of persons who skate under available facilities. There are even larger numbers who would utilize a rink if one were available here in Winchester. In a survey conducted recently in the secondary schools, the students answered questions in regard to favoring a rink, and if they would be willing to pay to use it. The results of the survey are as follows: 1224 forms were returned with 1083 favoring a rink, and 138 opposed. Of the 138 opposed, 63 said if the town built a rink, they would use it. Currently paying or willing to pay were 888, with 166 preferring not to pay, and 28 undecided."

"2. General recreational and figure skating by persons from our community is diffusely distributed throughout all existing facilities. While some is done through organizations, participation on the whole is not organized. Therefore, exact figures are not available, but there can be no mistake of the needs for facilities for figure skating and general recreational skating for boys not interested in hockey, for girls, for young adults, and for adults."

"3. Our community has an active youth hockey program in which 347 boys are currently enrolled and participating. In St. Mary's CYO program 300 boys went out for the team, but they all were not able to be accommodated because of the inability to get ice time."

"4. During the years ahead the pressure for the use of what space and time may be available, can only become more acute."

"5. There has been some speculation that Winchester might possibly become involved with an MDC rink. Many residents do not feel it would be in the best interest of the town. Local groups in other cities and towns that do have MDC rinks are quite unhappy as they observe ice time being allotted in 'their rink' to nearby communities, but they apparently overlook the regional purpose of an MDC rink, and the need for spreading the use beyond neighborhood or community borders."

"According to the MDC Reporter (MDC newspaper), in the February 1971, issue, Jim Whalen, who directs the MDC's recreation section, says 'filling demands for ice time this season has been an impossible dream - verging at times on a nightmare. It's like trying to pour a quart of liquid into a pint container.'"

"The hockey craze has affected every age level, from five-year-old Pre-Squirts to middle-aged athletes - and even girl participants. Requests for ice rental have outrun available time by more than 50 percent. This, despite more rinks, an expanded season, and extending operating hours as early as 6 a.m. and as late as midnight at some rinks. Best estimate for the season is 700,000 hockey admissions, dominated by 250 school teams, and swelled by community youth organizations and adult groups."

"Admissions for general skating at the MDC's 21 rinks are sure to soar far above last season's 808,000. In addition, 2000 youngsters are enrolled in figure skating classes at 16 rinks and several hundred more are learning speed skating techniques."

"It is obvious by these figures that even if an MDC rink is erected in this area, it would not solve Winchester's problem in getting ice time," Miss Sullivan said in part.

Mr. Holland said that the proposed rink here could operate nine or ten months a year. He envisioned 798 seats for spectators. He noted that the proposed location, the Skillings lot, already had a gravel base. Rising construction costs make an early start desirable, he indicated.

Robert R. Hamilton of Precinct Four, opposing the proposal, spoke of "money eaten away by taxes."

"Will you agree to have this town spend more money out of your pocket for some one else's use?" he asked.

"Let's turn the tide of overspending for ideas like this one. For every dollar you pay for taxes, there is one less dollar for you and your family," he concluded.

Robert M. Winn of Precinct Six, noting that Woburn had a swimming pool and skating rink, inquired, "What has the town of Winchester done for its young people?"

"Any money spent for the youth of the community will never be spent unwisely," Mr. Winn commented. "The more you delay, the more it's going to cost."

In opposing the rink proposal, Chairman Kenney of the Finance Committee said, "The question is how many more major expenditures can be placed on the taxpayers this year."

Mr. Kimball said that his committee had $500 for expenses and $7,500 for plans and studies on hand. His group had done a lot of work, but hadn't spent a penny, he noted. He believed the preliminary plans for a rink could be prepared for $8,000.

Article 30

Mrs. Dieterich, chairman of the School Committee, explained that Article 30 would authorize Winchester's share of costs for participating with six other communities in the SEEM program, serving retarded and emotionally disturbed children. The article, supported by the Board of Selectmen and Finance Committee, passed with no further discussion.

Article 31

Speaking under Article 31, Mr. Freeman maintained that "some form of change is necessary in the day-to-day administration of the government of this town." He suggested a comparative study of other forms of town government, including a town manager type.

Board Doesn't Want Two Roads

Chairman Swanson said that the Planning Board says the North Border Road is not an accepted way. He observed that North Border Road "is not a road, and not a way" but MDC property.

"I don't know who gave it a name," he added.

Selectman John J. Sullivan maintained that the MDC should pay a "fair share" of road costs. He said that the town couldn't absorb the full cost.

"The MDC doesn't get our taxes," commented Mr. Rotondi. "All of us think we should take this land under the proper circumstances," observed Chairman Swanson.

Mr. Amato said that a "lake" created by drainage had flooded a nearby cellar.

Permit Granted

Selectmen authorized the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation to conduct part of the International Walk for Development here on Sunday, May 9. Miss Robyn German, a coordinator for the Winchester Walk represented the group.

Miss German said that the walkers would limit themselves to sidewalks, whenever possible. She is hoping for 1,000 participants.

Conditions agreed to by Miss German included those requiring no obstruction of traffic, except where unavoidable; no entering of private property without permission of the owners, no dropping of litter, and no creation of a disturbance.

Appointed

Robert P. Joyce was appointed to the Fire Department call force upon the recommendation of Fire Chief I. Francis Amico.

The town will express its gratitude to Belmont for lending Winchester a ladder truck while Winchester's equipment was being repaired. Chief Amico called the loan to the Selectmen's attention.

Check Received

A check for $129.03 was received from the office of the Commonwealth's Attorney General as the fourth payment to the town in the copper piping case.

Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. advised board members that State Representative Harrison Chadwick had informed him that the town could qualify for various materials and equipment through the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency. The Selectmen will discuss the availability of such goods in detail when sessions of the Annual Town Meeting are concluded.

Executive Session

An executive session, closed to the press and public, was held with Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler concerning a personnel matter.

At the executive session's conclusion, the Selectmen went back into regular session. The board voted not to extend the employment services of Joseph E. Long Jr., Patrolman Long had been serving a probationary appointment since August, 1970.

Under Civil Service regulations governing police personnel in Winchester, nine-month probationary appointments are granted. Unless the employment is terminated during that period, the appointments become permanent. The town's appointing authority, the Board of Selectmen, has the option of extending the employment or not.

Wilbur C. Otis asked the support of the Selectmen in reconsideration of Budget 3400-Civil Defense. Mr. Otis said that he would seek to amend the budget by adding $750 to the $5,455 total approved at the Thursday, March 18 session of the Annual Town Meeting. The extra money would purchase three tone-alert radios with auxiliary firefighters with five years' service not having such receivers.

Mr. Otis termed it a "matter of morale."

Five Abutters Oppose Proposed Dormitory Use

Five abutters to the property at 2 Dix Street, owned by the First Congregational Church, have voiced their objections to the proposed sale of the land for use as a dormitory in the A Better Chance Program, sponsored by Dartmouth College of Hanover, New Hampshire.

The late Edmond Sanderson formerly resided at the Dix Street location. A group interested in the ABC program, headed by Frederick W. Stockwell of Leidsworth Road received an option to purchase the land from the Prudential Committee of the church. Ten teenaged pupils, together with house parents and tutors, would live in the residence, which is in a business zone, according to a church spokesman.

The abutters have maintained that they consider using the site as a residence for "ten to 15 teenage boys because of the close proximity of the abutters' residential homes as not in keeping with the welfare of the community."

Objecting to the plan are Dr. F. Milne Blanchard of 4 Dix Street, Dr. James A. Lamphier of 27 Church Street, Robert A. Boyd of 10 Dix Street, John T. Reile Jr. of 6 Dix Terrace, and Philip Boone of 31 Church Street.

General Court Gives Tribute To Doris Dames

A Joint Resolution of the Massachusetts General Court pays tribute to the fact that in the past two years the Doris Dames have guided over 100,000 visitors from "country and the world" through the halls of the State House pointing out the architectural and historic features of the beginnings of Massachusetts.

Dames skilled in foreign languages are provided for special tours for international visitors. The Resolution further states: "The unselfish work of the Doris Dames has benefited the thousands of visitors who leave the State House with a greater understanding and appreciation of this architectural masterpiece, a testimony to the genius of the architect, Charles Bulfinch."

To accommodate the unscheduled groups of youngsters who arrive in busses, sometimes in numbers of 100 to 300 junior guides are being trained to assist the professional staff of the tour office, which is under Secretary of State John X. Davoren and the State Archivist Dr. Richard E. Hale Jr.

Vandalism Takes Toll

Spring and an extended weekend seemed to prompt "mischievous spirits" as Winchester police answer numerous complaints ranging from broken windows to vandalism with paint.

Estimated damages due to 13 broken windows at Vinson-Owen School Saturday are approximately $1,500. Large rocks aimed at the second level east side windows took the toll. Officers Richard W. Beaton and Donald E. Pigott made four apprehensions at the scene. The Fire Department has installed temporary coverings.

Other such less costly incidents occurred at Winchester High School, Wedgemere Station, Town Hall, several residences and a home development site.

Street lights, one on Sheffield Road, two on Sheffield West, and one at Cambridge Street and Swan Road, were also blackened. Stakes at the new high school site were uprooted.

A Westland Avenue resident complained that paint had been thrown over the back of his automobile while parked in the driveway and this was the media used to write obscene words on the walls of Lynch Junior High School.

It is also noted from the police blotter that a total of seven Arlington youths were arrested by Winchester police over the weekend for drunkenness and being minors in possession of alcohol. The arrests stemmed from complaints of disturbances around the pond on Locke Farm at the Arlington-Winchester line.

Associate membership should contact Mrs. Edward P. Logan, 50 Jerusalem Road, Cohasset; Mrs. Frederick J. Stare, 267 Cartwright Road, Wellesley; or Mrs. Thomas Wigglesworth of Beverly Farms.

HOUSEBREAK

The Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 in October of 1970 for the project "Comprehensive Attacks on Auto Theft and Burglary." In connection with this heightened focus on burglary, the Department will present "Housebreak," a column suggesting ways in which Winchester residents may assist these efforts against crime in weeks to come through the pages of The Star. Look for it.

When planning a day-long excursion from your home for shopping, etc., take steps to make your absence inconspicuous. Close the garage door and collect mail and milk deliveries, if possible. And when convenient, mention to a neighbor that you will be away for the day.

If your absence extends into darkness, try to provide for lights inside and outside the home. Do not leave messages for homecoming school children on the door and be imaginative when hiding a house key (not under the door mat).

W. Barry Grace To Design Sets For Coming Play

W. Barry Grace of Winchester will design the stage setting for the Quannapowitt Players' production of Murray Schisgal's "Luv." This will be the fourth such presentation of the group this year for which Mr. Grace has assumed this responsibility.

The first in a series of Theatre Workshop classes will be held at 3 p.m. at the Hopkins Street Playhouse of the Quannapowitt Players at 55 Hopkins Street in Reading. Charles A. Galley, who has designed the lighting for this season's production and who installed the Players' lighting system, will discuss theatrical lighting. Other theatre classes will be announced later, open to those interested in community theatre.

Mr. Grace's group may hold a special summer show in late July or early August. Next season's schedule will include one musical or a play with music, the Players decided.

President Richard Knudson of the Quannapowitt Players has announced that in keeping with a policy first laid down in 1937 by the founders, the board of directors has unanimously decided that no liquor be allowed on the premises of the Playhouse. The decision was fully supported by the general membership, President Knudson said.

Focuses On Cats

Cats took the spotlight at the recent monthly meeting of the Winchester MSPCA at the Ridge Street home of Mrs. James Gustin.
Mrs. L. Zinetti of Somerville, author and cat fancier and expert, showed a golden-toned Abyssinian cat of "rare charm." Her friends, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Cohen and Mrs. Randolph displayed a Maltese, a Siamese, and a long-haired pale grey Persian with the face of a pug dog. A capsule history of each breed accompanied the presentation of the feline.
Prior to the showing members discussed plans for the upcoming Poolside Pet Promenade and Fashion Show to be held by the Winchester SPCA in mid-June. Mrs. Henry Delaney, Mrs. Harwood Boynton and Mrs. Winthrop Knox are chairladies of the event, with Mrs. George McArthur in charge of tickets.
At the close of the afternoon tea was served by Mrs. Dean Carlton, assisted by Mrs. John Akeson and Mrs. Augustus Manten. Mrs. Maxwell McCreery and Mrs. Richard Frazier poured.
The spinster expressed no lament at her situation in life. "I have a dog that growls, a parrot that swears, a fireplace that smokes, and a cat that stays out all night. Why should I want a husband?"

THINK A MINUTE! How Old Is Your: Car? TV? Washer? Dryer? Range? OIL BURNER?

Can you - honestly, now - expect a 15 - or 20 - or 25 year old unit to set any new efficiency records?

How about checking into a 1971 model . . . NOW, while Summer provides us all with time for the "ounce of prevention" treatment!

It can be yours - for less than any other home heating unit!

Plan, Practice Fire Safety

Everybody takes a new lease on life when spring rolls around. And that lease on life - for you and your family - will be more certain if you've planned and practiced a family fire drill.
"This is another kind of spring clean-up action - cleaning up any misunderstandings about what to do if fire should strike your home," says Fire Chief I. Francis Amico. National Fire Protection Association records show that more than eight of every 10 lives taken by home fires might have been saved if people had planned and rehearsed ways to escape.
"So plan and practice today - for a safer tomorrow."

Here are pointers to help you plan:

1. Carefully figure out at least two routes to the outside from every room in the house, especially bedrooms. Allow for blocking of stairways or halls by fire.
2. Particularly for nighttime fires, remember that closed bedroom doors will hold back flames and smoke, so allow extra time for escape or rescue.
3. For upper floor escape, use any available porch and garage roofs, ladders and trees as ways down to safety. Be sure exit windows work easily, and that they are low and large enough to get through.
4. Pick an outside assembly point where the family will meet for a "roll-call," and be sure everyone knows the rule "once out - stay out."
5. Know how to call the fire department, by street box or neighbor's phone and do so as quickly as the house is clear of people.
6. Plan who will look out for infants and the infirm, and how.

Once your plans are made, urge Fire Chief Amico, it's important for all the family - including children - to rehearse it carefully and regularly.

The spinster expressed no lament at her situation in life. "I have a dog that growls, a parrot that swears, a fireplace that smokes, and a cat that stays out all night. Why should I want a husband?"

Summer Camp Program Planned

Primitive-style camping on a 6,000-acre, private tract of land in New Hampshire will be the feature of a new division of Tufts University's Summer Camp program, July 5-30.

The camp site, situated in the foothills of the White Mountains, contains six small mountains, a trout-stocked pond, an 85-foot water-fall, and emergency indoor facilities.

Tufts' other three camp operations, all based on the Medford campus, will continue as usual on the same dates - Jumbo Camp for boys and girls, aged 8-13; Tom Thumb, for 6-7 year olds; and Tiny Tots, for 4-5 year olds.

The overnight camp in New Hampshire, known as Camp Wilderness, will be directed by Bob Long, an All New England football guard at Tufts in 1964, and a Marine Corps officer and veteran of Vietnam. Mr. Long, a member of the Appalachian Mountain Club, has taught an outdoor survival course at Tufts, where he is an assistant football coach and where he obtained his master's degree in education.

All candidates for the overnight camp will be screened. Each camper must possess average physical ability and a desire to live, work, learn, and enjoy himself under relatively primitive conditions. Hiking expeditions will involve backpacking under actual survival training conditions. The camp will provide all basic equipment and tools.

"One need not be an expert climber, rock-climber, or pack-roller," explains Mr. Long. "Such skills will be taught not for skills' sake but because they are important in helping the camper gain confidence."

"He will gain something else, too - appreciation for a group of peers more diverse than his neighborhood or school. For his fellow campers will come from the inner city, from surrounding communities like Medford and Somerville and Winchester, and from as far away as Louisiana and California and even foreign countries."

Camp brochures and application forms are available by writing: Registrar, Tufts Summer Camps, P.O. Box 85, Tufts University Branch, Medford, MA. 02153, or by calling 662-6860.

Young Play-Goers

May View Revised Nursery Tale

The Boston Children's Theatre touring company, sponsored by the Neighborhood Co-operative Nursery School, will perform their version of "The Three Little Pigs" Saturday, May 8, at 1:30 p.m. in McCall Junior High School.

"The Three Little Pigs" is a sophisticated version of the old nursery tale. It opens at the Twinkingham Fair where the Wolf spots the Three Pigs and decides he's hungry!! The Wolf is a boxer, neither very good nor very bright, who is managed by a clever Fox. The Pigs, of course, succeed in outwitting the Wolf, despite his "clever" plans and much huffing and puffing.

Tickets are on sale at Craddock Apothecary and Hevey's Pharmacy and will also be on sale on May 1 from 1-3 p.m. at the Neighborhood Co-operative Nursery School at Washington Street and Kenwin Road. You may also call 729-2477, 729-7534 or 729-2555 for additional information.

MISS ALISON PYWELL, daughter of Mrs. Inez D. Pywell of 44 Wildwood Street, has been accepted as a freshman at the Chandler School, Boston, where she will study in the general secretarial course. She is now a senior at Winchester High School.

Art Study

Will Focus On

Toulouse-Lautrec

The Winchester College Club Art Study Group expects to visit the Worcester Art Museum on Friday morning, April 30, to view an extensive exhibit of the works of French artist, Toulouse-Lautrec (1864-1901). At 10:30, the group will assemble at the front entrance of the museum. At 10:45, they will hear a short lecture on Lautrec's life and his art in the fourth-floor galleries.

The life and art of Toulouse-Lautrec are fascinating. Crippled in childhood, he found solace in the life of Montmartre, where the poor artists and the characters of the demi-monde became his closest friends and models. Although he was a prolific painter, he is perhaps best known for his beautiful lithographs which he transformed from mere advertising vehicles to works of true art.

Keeney-Keefe

St. Eulalia's Church was the setting Saturday, April 17, for the nuptial folk Mass uniting Miss Alice Patricia Keefe of Milton and Pocosset, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Keefe, and Patrick Louis Keeney of 2A Winchester Terrace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Keeney of Berkeley, California.

The bride was graduated from Archbishop Williams High School in Braintree, Framingham State College, and the University of California at Los Angeles where she received a masters degree in public health. She has been employed as a therapeutic and research dietitian for the Veterans Administration Center in Los Angeles, the New England Medical Center, and Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

More recently she has been teaching home economics in the Everett and Weymouth High Schools and has been providing nutrition consultant services to various nursing homes in the Greater Boston area.

Mr. Keeney, grandson of Mrs. Charles Malone of Berkeley, was graduated from St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco. After attending the University of California at Berkeley, he was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in meteorology from UCLA.

Currently a research meteorologist at the Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories at L. G. Hanscom Field in Bedford, the bridegroom was formerly employed at the National Weather Records Center, Asheville, North Carolina. He has also served with the U.S. Air Force as a weather officer at the USAF European Weather Central in England.

Following a reception at the historic Longfellow's Wayside Inn in Sudbury, the couple departed for a wedding trip in St. Croix, the Virgin Islands. They will make their home in Wellesley.

An average of 283,000 health career jobs will open each year during the 1970's, according to the Labor Department's Occupational Outlook Quarterly. Population growth, increasing coverage under health insurance plans, and the rising scope of medical services will spur demands for health services during the decade.

"Noon-In 2001:" Is It Forecast For Winchester?

The board of Noonan School Parents Association has voted to donate all proceeds of "Noon-In 2001" to the Zella Giggie Scholarship Fund. The late Miss Giggie was a third grade teacher at Noonan.

"Noon-In 2001," a collection of comedy skits, music and dance routines, will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 1, in Noonan School auditorium. A performance geared to children will be given at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 29, with Althea Shirley as house manager.

Cathy Fallon and Elaine Farman will act as newscasters, tying the show together. Skits spoof Winchester politics, and take a humorous look at the school system, women's lib and sports. Tongue-in-cheek predictions for the year 2001 include appendix transplants at the hospital, a sky-scraper recreation center, and a 400 percent tax increase.

There's a preview of WORST (Winchester Organ Replacement Service Terminal) featuring Al Leach, Georgia Gast, Ann Nowell, Diane Masiello, Betty Doucette, Mary Lou Leach, Barbara Siegfried, Nancy Eaton, Theresa Babin, Pat Boland, Judy Whitaker, and Gary Eaton. The hospital skit also includes a chorus line starring Larry Kirkly, Fran Murray, Bob Simpson, Bill Fallon and Phil Stackpole.

There will be a duet by Walter Kisl and Noon-In director Renee Miller, and a solo by Barbara Wood.

Also in the cast are Mary Creedon, Jean Fitzgerald, Jack Gilderson, Donna Funk, Mary Hartunian, Mary Merritt, Mary Reddig, Mel Farman and Alice Stackpole.

Tickets can be obtained from anyone in the cast, or from ticket chairmen Ginny Hartunian or Nancy Eaton. A few will be available at the door.

About 25,000 babies are born yearly with inborn heart defects, most of which can be corrected by surgery. The Heart Association, supported by the 1971 Heart Fund, has been a major force in the development of cardiovascular surgical procedures.

Mr. Haley Urges Restrained View Of No-Fault Law

Dangers of "premature and perhaps unjustified optimism which is being publicly suggested by the more vocal members of the political community" concerning the Massachusetts limited no-fault insurance law are seen by James E. Haley. Mr. Haley is president of Luther W. Puffer Jr., Incorporated, of 557 Main Street.

Mr. Haley said that spokesmen for the automobile insurance industry have sounded a "note of caution" regarding the widespread optimism generated by the apparent initial success of the personal injury protection plan.

He noted that Richard R. DeMark, New England Manager of Kemper Insurance, stated, "While we can be encouraged by early indications, a 'guarded' position is necessary until we have a much more complete picture."

Mr. Haley pointed out that William T. Gully and Joseph P. Hegarty Jr., co-chairmen of the Massachusetts Insurance Information Committee, declared that sufficient statistics reflecting the preliminary impact of the law on the number and cost of auto bodily injury accident claims will not be available until August.

"The law has already resulted in a 15 percent rate reduction on all bodily injury liability coverages, plus a 25 percent cut in medical payments rates," Mr. Gully and Mr. Hegarty said, "and the vital question now is whether these reduced rates will be justified by the accident loss experience over the months to come."

Community School Weighs Variety Of School Items

The final regular meeting of the 1970-1971 Executive Board of the Community School Association was held on April 13 at the home of President, Mrs. Kilmer McCully, 15 Wildwood Street.

Mrs. McCully introduced special guest John McElwee, chairman of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation. Mr. McElwee anticipates that this spring nearly 90 applications for aid will be submitted by students. The Foundation hopes to raise at least $25,000 to meet these needs.

The Executive Board expressed support for the Foundation, and Mrs. McCully presented Mr. McElwee with a $100 contribution from the CSA. Chapter presidents from Mystic and Winchester High Schools announced that proceeds from recent fund raising events would be sent to the Scholarship Foundation. Thirty six dollars realized from a sale of their art works has already been donated by Lincoln School children. Each chapter is encouraged to continue making their individual contributions to the fund.

The April 2 Open House at the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School was attended by several board members who commented on their "very favorable impressions" of the facilities and the wide range of vocational training available to the students.

CONCERN representative, Mrs. John Williams, reported that the pilot program "Project Potential" has been successful and hopefully will be expanded.

Mrs. Christopher Brown of the High Street chapter and Mrs. Paul Gray, Wyman Association president, were enthusiastic regarding their participation on the Elementary Report Card Committee which includes principals, teachers, specialists, and parents. They expect to present a full report to CSA after final recommendations are prepared by the committee.

Winchester High School chapter president, Mrs. Richard Brackett, announced that a group of high school art students under the direction of Thomas Tracey will undertake preparation of a float for the Scholarship Foundation entry in the En Ka Street Fair parade. Students' involvement with this project is contingent upon their being provided with a trailer (small "dump"-type) on which to construct a display. Anyone willing to lend such a trailer for at least a month should contact Mrs. Brackett.

CSA received an invitation from the Winchester Ecumenical Association to attend an informal meeting regarding the national program, "A Better Chance." ABC Director, Thomas Mikula from the William Tucker Jewett Foundation of Dartmouth College, was the featured speaker at the meeting. Mrs. John Hamilton Jr., town

Masters Degree Conferred Upon Roger French

Roger A. French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer A. French of 11 Sawmill Brook Road, was awarded the degree of master of business administration in February of this year from the University of Massachusetts.

The heart and blood vessel diseases now claim the lives of more than 1,000,000 Americans yearly, being responsible for about 53 percent of all deaths.

The first oil pipelines in the United States were laid about 1867, because there were not enough oak-on barrels to transport all the oil being produced.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

Do you know the ways real estate is appraised? There are several methods. Appraisal by capitalization is to estimate the value of property by the amount of productivity and income derived from it. Farms, rental property or business real estate are prime examples.

Appraisal by comparison is another method used to determine value. The sales price of a similar piece of property in a given area may determine its worth.

An appraisal by summation is often used when there are many parts to a property. The individual parts are first appraised separately. All added together make up the value of the total amount involved.

The market value of real estate is reached by how much a buyer will pay and at what price an owner will sell.

Local Social Security Checks Hiked By $17,515,000 Yearly

For the Middlesex County residents who are receiving social security checks each month, how much will the recently-increased rates mean to them in dollars and cents?

What will their benefits amount to, on average, compared with what they were previously?

It is estimated that the ten percent rise in retirement pensions, approved last month by Congress, will add approximately $17,515,000 a year to the total that local residents have been collecting.

The estimate is based upon figures for the local area, contained in the latest annual report of the Social Security Administration. It lists the number of retired and disabled workers on the pension rolls, as well as their dependents and the amounts being paid.

All of them will be aided by the new legislation. Those who have been receiving no more than $768 a year, the current minimum, will be getting $845.

The maximum for an individual will now be $2,557 a year and for a couple, $4,964.

Local residents who have been getting $100 a month, or $1,200 a year, will now receive $1,320. Those at the $1,800 level will get $1,980 in the future.

Prior to the new change in rates, pension payments in Middlesex County averaged $1,129 per recipient per year, according to the Social Security Administration.

This year, with the increase, the average will rise to $1,242 per beneficiary.

Total payments throughout the local area, based upon the number who were on the pension rolls as of the early part of 1970, will add up to about $192,667,000 this year, a considerable rise over the prior total of $175,152,000.

The increase in benefits is retroactive to January. The bigger checks will start going out during the first week of June. The additional amounts for the months prior to June will be issued soon afterward.

There will be no immediate rise in payroll taxes to pay for the larger benefits. The only adjustment provided for is a change in the income base subject to such taxes from $7,800 to $9,000, effective next January.

Three Bonnell Salesmen Hailed

Three automobile salesmen of Bonnell Motors of 666 Main Street were honored for outstanding sales performance during 1970 at a banquet Tuesday, April 20. Recognized were Richard Preston, Kenneth Donahue, and R. J. Castiglione.

The Ford salesmen received 300-500 Club membership pins during the banquet in Framingham. The organization was founded 21 years ago. About 11,000 of Ford's 27,000 salesmen from coast-to-coast became members of the club in 1970.

"Excellent retail sales performance is the basis for entry into the 300-500 Club," said Richard P. Harman, Ford Division's Boston district sales manager. "The average member sold about $750,000 worth of automotive merchandise during 1970 to qualify for the national honor."

Boy Gymnasts In Winning Season

by John F. Parrell

The boys' gymnastic team of Winchester High posted a winning record for the 1970-71 campaign as they ended up 7-5. Captain Eric Peterson was the leading scorer in every meet, and averaged 30 points or better against all opposition. The closest competition they had was with Needham, to whom they dropped a hard fought meet by 85.5-85.3. However, they bounced right back from their disappointing loss to whip Winthrop by 84.65-76.05.

Captain Peterson took part in every event, with his special strong points being the vault and the still rings. As the season opened the team appeared to be strong in the floor exercise, but sophomore Al Sampson suffered pulled ligaments in his knee, and the burden of leading the Sachems in this event went to Eugene Fontaine. Captain Peterson showed his versatility by some good performances. Eric Strout rounded out the Sachem group.

With no returning letter winners in the side horse, Coach Bob Albright had to call upon Eric Peterson again, and with Rob Thoms, Jay Zerwekh, and Dave Mucci the team did better than expected in this event. Mucci and Zerwekh, who was manager of the team last year, worked hard under the watchful eye of Coach Steve Hood and came along well. The managerial vacancy was filled by Steve Halverson and Kevin Murphy.

Lacrosse Team Beats St. Mark's In Overtime

by John F. Parrell

The St. Mark's School stickmen, who have been a nemesis for the Sachem lacrosse team for six straight seasons, finally met their Waterloo when they dropped a hard fought overtime game to the Winchesterites 6-5. The local team swept to a 3-0 advantage at half time, but the prep school boys came back strong after the intermission and managed to deadlock the count with just over two minutes left in regulation time. Winchester lost a golden opportunity with less than a minute to play, but Captain Phil Sampson scored in the first overtime period to nail down the victory, 6-5.

The boys of Gene Bouley played well, but were not quite up to the high standard they set in their victory over Loomis School. They had difficulty in picking up the ball off the ground and in working it in close enough for good offensive shots. St. Mark's controlled the play, particularly in the second half, but excellent defensive play by Dick Rosin, Mark Lombardi, and Dave O'Leary helped Rick Murphy to keep the ball out of the goal. The latter turned in another excellent effort and made many fine plays to smash scoring attempts by the opposition.

Winchester built up its 3-0 lead during the first half as the Sachem defense was very effective and Gary Fincke tallied twice. But the visitors mounted an even stronger offensive drive and pressed throughout the third period to score twice. They continued their drive in the fourth period and knotted the count early in the final session. Winchester rallied to take a 4-3 lead as Bill Logan beat the visiting goalie. But St. Mark's surged back and with just over two minutes left they tied the equalizer.

The Bouleymen fought back and shook Gary Fincke loose with less than a minute left to play. He did a good job of eluding the defense and got off his shot which hit the goal post and the visitors cleared the zone.

After a few minutes of fast action in the overtime Captain Phil Sampson got off a long screen shot which beat the goal keeper for St. Mark's for the winning tally. It was Phil's second score of the game, with his other having been recorded during the first period.

The locals will be in action this afternoon against Framingham South starting at 2 p.m. Ipswich will be here for a game Tuesday, April 27. The team is developing a good group of fans. Everybody seems to enjoy the fast action which the stickmen provide.

Upper Mystic Trout-Stocking Undergoes Delay

Winchester's Upper Mystic Lake will not be stocked with trout until the levels of chemical pollution in the lake are significantly lowered, according to the Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game. A test cage of fish will be placed in the lake shortly. How it fares will determine whether trout-stocking can take place.

Colton Bridges, superintendent of the Bureau of Wildlife Research and Management for the division in Westboro, said that fish placed in the lake a year ago had died. The Upper Mystic Lake appears on a list of stocked waters published by the I and E Section of the Division of Fisheries and Game at its field headquarters in Westboro.

The Division anticipates that Massachusetts will have one of the best fishing seasons in its history. All hatcheries have had the best year ever, the division reports.

Brothers Stifle Sachem Bats

by John F. Parrell

It was just a case of too many Hollenkamps as the Winchester High baseball nines visited Concord for their season's openers on Patriots Day. Elder brother Kevin was on the mound for the varsity, and although he allowed Coach Bill Colella's team five hits, including a double by Dana Peterson and a triple by John Procopio, he was in complete control of the game except in the sixth inning, when he gave up the only Sachem run. He whiffed ten of the Winchester batters and had good control after the first inning.

Steve "Big S" Mulloy toed the hill for Winchester. He was stingy with hits, allowing only one single. However, he was also a bit off on control as he set down four Patriots on strikeouts but granted free transportation to seven. These walks kept him in hot water, particularly in the first two innings when the home team built its two run victory margin.

As though one Hollenkamp was not sufficient his sophomore brother Jeffery was even more effective as he shut out Coach Vandy French's Sachems JV team, 1-0, allowing only two hits. He had perfect control, giving no walks and fanning seven batters. Steve Johnson pitched an almost equally fine game for Winchester as he set down eleven of the Patriots JV nine on strikes and gave up only a single on balls, while limiting the opposition to two hits.

Both games were remarkably well played for so early in the season, with the varsity teams making only one error apiece and both JV nines played errorless ball. It will be a long time before two such well played and hard fought games will be seen again in the opening contests for all four teams.

The summaries:

Concord 1 1 0 0 0 0-2 1 1

Finals Held In Hoop And Court By Recreation

by John F. Parrell

Director of Recreation Donald L. Spinney has announced the results of the finals in the elementary school basketball competition and the high school badminton program. Over 100 boys took part in the hoop contests. The winning team was once again from the Washington School. This makes the third consecutive season that the quintet from the hill has emerged as victor. They took this year's championship final game from the Noonan School team, 30-8. Although the losers put up a good battle they were unable to cope with the sharp shooting of Rick Stockwood and the strong defensive play of Keith Perkins.

The first of what it is hoped will be an annual final tourney in badminton for those of high school age found the team of Andy Shannon and Jim Mulcare as surprise winners. The early elimination of the seeded team made up of Sam Nowell and Bruce Swim paved the way for the eventual victory by the champions. To gain the title they bested a capable duo of Ken Benoit and John Laursen in a hard fought match.

This tourney and indeed the entire program is unique in that mixed matches of girls versus boys and mixed partnerships of all kinds are common occurrences. Everett W. "Whit" Gray, who serves as both supervisor and coordinator, plans to continue to have regular sessions as long as there is interest in playing badminton.

If you travel around eastern Massachusetts looking for streets in unfamiliar communities, you need our Universal Atlas of Metropolitan Boston and Eastern Massachusetts. This atlas contains easy to read maps of 133 cities and towns. At The Winchester Star for $3.95.

Winchester Reds To Play In Intercity Ball League

by John F. Parrell

A franchise for a semi-pro baseball team, to be known as the Winchester Reds, has been purchased by a local group. The team will play in the fast Intercity League, and will have Manchester Field as their home park after the conclusion of the high school season. Home games will be scheduled for Monday and Friday evenings. The league playoffs will take place in August.

Besides the regular contests there will be an attractive schedule of outside games against teams of the caliber of the Saints and Orioles from the Boston Park League, Waterville and Bangor of the Maine Coast League, and Yarmouth and Falmouth of the Cape Cod League.

George Tello, 9 Cutting Street, will be the bench manager of the team, which will include Phil Stackpole, former catcher for Louisville as bull pen director, and Neil Donahy, former Cincinnati twirler and manager in the Eastern League. The batters will be handled by Jim O'Brien, who was with Holy Cross.

A squad of 20 college age young men has been selected, with half of them being former Winchester High and Local college players. Of the others, half have been playing in the league for the past several seasons, including two former Yankee farm hands. Other players will be named later. Many of them will come from the Big League graduates or the Sachem varsity.

Musket District Scouts Plan Weekend

On this Saturday and Sunday, April 24 and 25, the Town Hall of Stoneham will be the scene of the biggest Scouting event of the season when two thousand Scouts of Musket District put on their annual show.

There will be exhibitions, displays, explanations of how to build a fire or bandage a limb or stop pollution and movies and slides. Twenty eight Scouting units from Winchester, Stoneham and Woburn, representing the total Scouting program from Cub Scouting through the new co-ed exploring, will be putting on exhibitions of their year round programs and activities. In addition, numerous units will also be exhibiting various aspects of the show theme "Save Our American Resources" — Project SOAR. This is a part of Scouting's six million member National Good Turn for 1971.

This year the judges for the show will be members of the Stoneham Jaycees. In recent past years this position has been carried out by the Winchester and Woburn Jaycee chapters. This young mens service organization helps Scouting in numerous ways during the year. Come and see these boys in action; such presence and interest encourage them to continue in the program of scouting. That's Stoneham Town Hall, Saturday, April 24, 12:30 - 4:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 25, from 1 - 5 p.m.

BOWLING

Sons Of Italy Roll-Offs End

The Sons of Italy bowling season came to an end Tuesday, April 13, when the third and final roll-off night was completed.

Congratulations are in order for Moose Bellino, Giro Cerulli, Andy Buzzotta, Al Moreschi, and Correc-tion Fiore as members of the 1970-71 championship Patriot team.

In other matches the Browns, Chiefs, and Colts won second, third, and fourth places, plus something to keep them warm next winter.

The Patriots needed only four points to defeat the Angels and they wasted no time in getting them. They bowled a 504 string and a 501 second to easily outpoint the American League champs.

A comfortable 6-2 advantage was held by the Reds over the Browns going into their second-place match. With an 85-pin lead to boot, all the Reds had to do was win the first string and they had it made.

494 is good most of the time but it fell short to a clutch 503 by Jeff Gaudioso's team as they went on to win the next two strings to sweep eight points and a come-from-behind 10-4-6 victory.

Frank Costa, 314, and Babe To-furi, 312, went down fighting for the Reds; while Joe Ciarcia Jr., 313, Jeff Gaudioso, 309, Tony Salemmi, 302, Anthony Borsini, a 118 sec-ond string, and Phil Ardagno's big 105 third string completed the coup de grace.

The Chiefs jumped out to a 59-pin lead over the Cubs in the battle for third after one string of bow-ling. But then the Cubs bounced back with a 515 string and took an eight-pin lead into the third only to lose it big and become an also ran.

Dave Farole's 115 third string done the Cubs in but Joe McGrath's third consecutive 300 night, 316, in the roll-offs led the way for Mike Saraco, Len Bertolini, Jim Faieta, and Dave Farole of the Chiefs to a third-place finish.

The Twins were never in the match with the National League Colts and became the fourth Amer-ican League team to lose in the roll-offs.

With a 6 to 2 lead going in, the fourth-place Colts bowled a 502 and 505 and the Twins yelled Uncle.

Sonny Mistrretta, with 122 and 118 strings, had help from Chris Feudo, 100 and 107, and the phan-tom who had two 100 strings to go along with his consistent bowling throughout the year.

Earth, like the planet Jupiter, sporadically emits low-frequency radio signals which still mystify scientists.

Tennis Group Elects Officers

The Winchester Tennis Associa-tion recently elected officers at its annual meeting at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center on East Street. Newly elected officers for the 1971-72 season are George A. Blair Jr., 6 Lloyd Street, Presi-dent; Richard G. Kadesch, 15 May-flower Road, Vice-President, and William E. Macneill, 12 Upland Road, Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. Macneill replaces Dwight Bellows of 2 Lantern Lane, who had held the office for more than 25 years and who was recognized at the an-nual meeting with gifts and cita-tions.

GEORGE A. BLAIR

Elected to one year terms on the Board of Governors, in addition to the officers, were Mrs. Louise L. McDavitt and Dr. Philip E. Rich-ardson, the retiring President. Ap-pointments for the new season are Town Tournament Chairman, Tom Kell; Committee Chairman of NETA Sanctioned Tournaments, Mystic Valley Junior Veterans, Phil Richardson; Mystic Valley Father and Son, Dick Kadesch; and the New England Class B Championship, Bill Macneill.

Discussions during the meeting indicated Tennis Association sup-port of the Town Junior Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Re-creation Department. Members were urged to assist in the forma-tion of a new area junior tennis league. A motion was passed to have the association offer greater cooperation with the town Park Department regarding the condi-tion of the Palmer Street courts.

A general feeling among members was expressed that extensive use of these courts by townspeople justifies a greater expenditure for their upkeep. A good number of the 350 membership were present, including some welcome juniors.

"Y" Introduces Swimming Coach

Edward Borst, former Ohio A.A.U. swimming and diving coach and winner of two top coaching awards, has joined the staff at the North Suburban YMCA to form an all age group boys and girls diving team.

While living in Toledo, Coach Borst proved his winning philos-ophy, "I believe in hard work, for this is the only way that outstand-ing swimming and diving teams can be developed." His 1970 A.A.U. all age group (187 boys and girls) at-ested to this by winning their fourth championship in the past five years in the Toledo Summer Swim League. Mr. Borst has also been head swimming coach at Bishop Cheverus High School, Portland, Maine, before moving to the Mid-west.

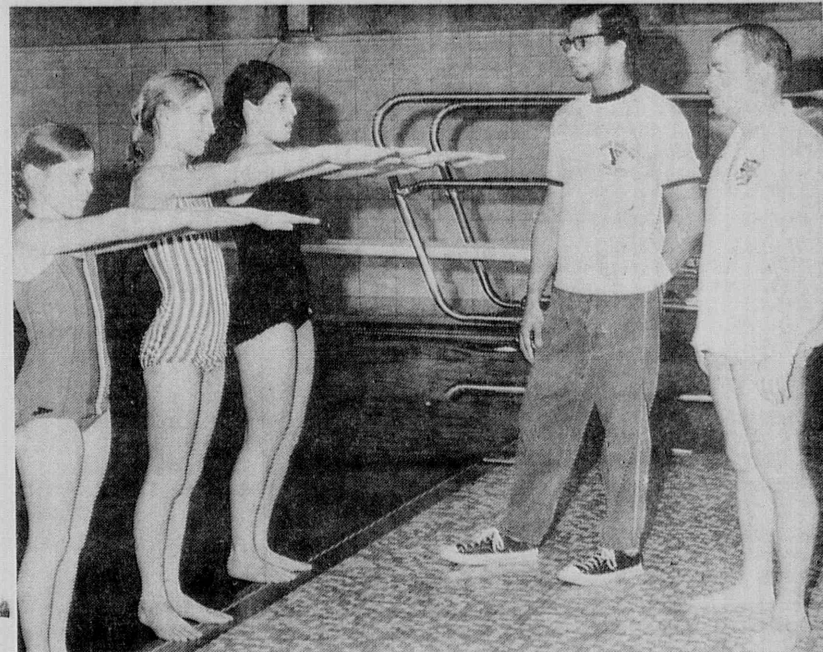

Beside his job and coaching swimming, Mr. Borst was public relations director of the West To-lelo Kiwanis Club. He not only has five children, but the Borst family raise Doberman Pinschers for show.

He has won his share of A.A.U. diving titles from the East Coast—Carolina to the Midwest. He has had such fine young divers under him as Chuck Meinardi, Terry Bell, Sally Hancock, Bruce and Greg Wildman. All were state A.A.U. champions. Mr. Meinardi was an All American at Ohio State his first year.

His swimming teams have won in Dual Meets "Winter and Sum-mer" with 68 wins and 6 losses.

"So come on out all you young divers and try out a great 16-foot diving board at our brand new swimming pool." For further in-formation call Ken Turpin, physi-cal director, North Suburban YM-CA, 935-3270.

Heart and Blood vessel diseases are not just a problem of older people. They kill more than 250,000 Americans aged below 65 yearly.

Automobile Registration Deadline Near

Drivers of motor vehicles with a red sticker on registration plates which end in the digit "4" are reminded that the registration expires April 30 if they are registered on a staggered basis.

"To find out if you are one of these drivers, check the month of expiration on the red sticker and on the registration certificate," Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin said. "It is up to the motor vehicle owner to renew his registration before its deadline by obtaining a registration application properly endorsed from his insurance company and taking it to the nearest Registry office during the month of April."

Upon renewing registration, applicants will receive a blank sticker which is to be placed on top of the previous red sticker. These renewal registrations will be good for two years.

In charge of the arrangements for the Ball is Mrs. Robert H. Johnson, of Winchester, who is being assisted by the following Winchester residents: Mrs. Richard Gorman, Mrs. Claude W. Callahan, and Mrs. Walter W. Taber.

Mrs. Johnson states that, for this special affair, the tennis courts at the Center will be transformed into a night club setting with a floral type motif and unusual lighting effects.

Regarding the Ken and Carolyn Tew Memorial Fund, Chairman Mrs. Johnson stated that this fund is being established to provide tennis instruction for young tennis hopefuls in the New England area who would not be able to obtain court time and training from their own or their family resources.

Tickets, stated Mrs. Johnson, are available at the Center. She also indicated that the dance program would be under the direction of Tony Bruno. All patrons and friends of the Center are invited to participate in this end of the season social.

College Entree's Course Planned By Woburn Y

A special course designed for college-bound students will be offered by the North Suburban YMCA to help graduating high school seniors meet the challenges that each year force thousands of dropouts and failures.

The 12-hour program, taught by a college professor, aims at the heart of student problems today: studying efficiently, taking notes, and coping with drugs, co-eds, dorms, examinations, term papers, scheduling of time, and student freedoms.

Some experts feel that nearly 50 percent of entering freshmen never complete their studies for academic or personal reasons. Dr. Ronald L. Lyette, an assistant professor at Salem State College and executive director of "College, Learning, and You" which will present the course at the YMCA, explains the goals of the course: "There is no reason for such a high dropout rate that can be justified. Our course seeks to eliminate problems before they develop. In fact, you might say that our theme is to enable the student to 'Control His Own Destiny.'"

The course will be offered on four consecutive Saturdays, May 1, 8, 15, and 22, from 9 a.m. to noon. Students will receive lectures and printed handouts on how to read more effectively, how to use the library, write term papers, take exams, how to plan time for cultural events and dates, and how to concentrate to the best advantage. "We teach students how to put it all together, you might say," Dr. Lyette comments.

Details on the course may be obtained from the North Suburban YMCA, 137 Lexington Street, Woburn 01801, or by calling 935-3270. The enrollment fee covers costs of all lectures, printed handouts, and also entitles students to personal counseling.

Electrical Defects Are Fire Hazard

During Spring Clean-Up operations at the home, watch out for trouble causing electrical defects.

Catching and correcting such defects may very well save a home from fire, says Fire Chief L. Francis Amico, because National Fire Protection Association statistics show electrical defects are the third most frequent cause of dwelling fires.

These are important points to check:

1. Frayed insulation and loose connections on lamp, appliance and extension cords are danger signals. Repairing — like taping over frayed insulation, for example — is risky. Replace the cord and be safe. Check not only the cords that are out in the open, but also those under sofas and behind beds and bureaus where a fault can go undetected.

2. Cords under rugs are fire-inviting. Traffic and vacuuming over the spot will wear and fray cord insulation to the breakdown point. Take immediate steps to correct this situation if it exists in the home. Find a safer way to reach the outlet, or better still, have a qualified electrician install a new outlet to serve the lamp or appliance.

3. Rigging extension cords over nails and hooks in the basement, attic or garage, or tacking them along baseboards anywhere in the house, is a hazardous practice. It is also known that any continuous use of extension cords is a poor and risky substitute for permanent wiring. The solution is to bring

Trail Guides Workshops

Training workshops for Winchester Trails guides will start with a meeting at the Winchester Library Rich Room on Monday, April 26, at 1 p.m. Mrs. Philip Parsons will give a Long Pond slide-talk program which is shown to school children in their classrooms preceding the walk to the pond.

First Church Organ Recital Is Scheduled

The First Congregational Church will present the third organ recital of its series Sunday, April 25, at 8 p.m. in the Church sanctuary.

John Skelton, church organist, will perform. Mr. Skelton is a graduate of the New England Conservatory where he studied organ with Donald Willing and harpsichord under Daniel Pinkham, receiving his master of music degree in 1963.

During the season 1963-64 he went abroad to continue his organ studies with Anton Heiller at the Vienna State Academy of Music. He has given recitals in the New England area sponsored by the American Guild of Organists and the Organ Historical Society. He has also performed in Scotland.

The public is cordially invited to this concert, free of charge.

Save Metal Cans For Scouts' Collections

Local Boy Scouts are planning to collect steel and aluminum food and beverage cans through their Save Our American Resources (SOAR) Committee. They request that residents begin saving such items for the first collection on May 22.

The project is beneficial not only in that it recycles or reuses valuable materials, but also in that it will help to eliminate a portion of the waste materials. Since most of the communities operate disposal collections, incinerators, or land fill areas (dumps), this collection will realize a slight reduction in rubbish handling costs.

The Scouts ask that metal cans be rinsed out, ends removed (if possible), and flattened. In the Stoneham, Woburn, and Winchester areas, a Cub Boy, or Explorer Scout or one of the units listed below may be contacted for collection arrangements.

All monetary reimbursement (if any) for the metal will go for the operation of Scouting programs in this area. Atlantic Gelatin Company (a division of General Foods) of Woburn has volunteered to help in the collection and disposal of metal cans.

The success of this endeavor depends upon the cooperation of residents. Individuals, church and school parents' groups, and civic organizations may contact the following for further information:

Consultants Seek Views On Choice Of Superintendent

What type of person should Winchester's next Superintendent of Schools be?

Members of the Board of Selectmen and Finance Committee this week gave their opinions to the three consultants who will recommend candidates to the School Committee. Each Selectman and Finance Committee member gave his individual viewpoint on what qualifications the next head of the town's public school system should have.

Several urged the appointment of a man in late middle age because they saw a need for maturity. They suggested that the appointee be trained in education, yet be strong on administrative ability.

The consultants are Dr. Jack R. Childress, Dean of Boston University School of Education, chairman; Dr. Dana M. Cotton, Acting Dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, who was the first director of guidance for the Winchester Public Schools, and Dr. Carroll F. Johnson, Director of the Institute of Field Studies at Teachers College, Columbia University.

All five Selectmen — Paul F. Amico, William G. Chapman Jr., Arthur E. Dunbar, Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr., and John J. Sullivan — attended. Finance Committee members present included Vito A. Giarrizzo, George S. Hebb Jr., John F. Mitchell, and Lawrence T. Smith.

School Committee Accepts Ten ABC Students For September

Winchester School Committee members present at Sanborn House Monday night, April 26, unanimously agreed to accept 10 students participating in a Winchester-based ABC (A Better Chance) Program into the Senior High School as pupils, beginning September, 1971.

The National ABC Program selects promising high school students from underprivileged situations and places them in residential houses in cooperating communities where they are enrolled in the local high school. Plans are now underway to establish the program in Winchester.

Reorganization of the School Committee was postponed until the next regular meeting, scheduled for Monday, May 10, when it is hoped that all members may be present. Paul R. Del Rossi was absent from the April 26 session.

Also postponed for another time was a vote on adoption of the School Committee Budget as approved by the 1971 Annual Town Meeting at its final session Thursday, April 22.

Winn Employees Back To Work As Plant's First Strike Ends

Members of Local 277, International Union of Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers, returned to work at J. H. Winn, Incorporated, 620 Washington Street, Monday morning, April 26, as the plant's first strike in 103 years of operation ended after eight weeks.

In a joint announcement, E. George Delorey, Local 277 president, and Albert R. Vanderbilt, J. H. Winn president, said that union members had ratified a new three-year labor contract Thursday, April 22.

The new agreement calls for wage increases for the plant's 150 hourly employees, as well as improvements in hospitalization, accident and sickness, pension, and vacation benefits. The new contract will run to February 3, 1974.

Under the new contract, for example, employees with ten or more years of service will receive three weeks' paid vacation. Previously, 12 or more years' employment was required for this benefit.

J. H. Winn hourly employees had been on strike since February 25. The previous contract had expired on February 1.

Most of the production workers returned to work at 8 a.m. Monday. Others will be recalled during the next couple of weeks.

Mr. Vanderbilt said that he was pleased that the strike had concluded. Mr. Delorey also expressed satisfaction that an agreement had been reached and that the union members were back to work.

J. H. Winn, Incorporated, is a division of McCord Corporation of Detroit, Michigan. Local 277 has 125 members, but is the bargaining unit for 150 Winn production employees.

Until the strike began on Thursday, February 25, Winn production personnel had worked on a week-by-week extension of the agreement which had expired February 1.

Representing J. H. Winn, Incorporated, at bargaining sessions were Robert Smith, operations manager; David Choate, manager of employee relations; Clifford Libby, production superintendent; and Attorney John Delaney, labor counsel.

For Local 277, the negotiators included Mr. Delorey, Mr. Sweeney, Joseph Gameter, Mrs. Anne Broadbent, John Muise, William Coviello, Quintin Huston, Rene Cailler, and Wayne Davis.

When Mrs. Broadbent became ill, she was replaced as a negotiator by Mrs. Marjory Bolivar.

GREETING new Selectman Arthur E. Dunbar (left) upon his arrival at his first board meeting Monday evening, April 26, was Selectman John J. Sullivan, who was elected board chairman. He succeeds former Selectman Ralph M. Swanson, who did not seek re-election. (Ryerson photo)

Blood is urgently needed by hospitals, the committee said. Appointments may be made by calling the Winchester Chapter of the Red Cross, 729-2300.

Progress Made On Project For Burglary Attack

The current status and future goals of the Comprehensive Attack on Burglary project were discussed by members of the Winchester Community Security Committee and police officials Thursday, April 22. Meeting with them at the police station were Robert Martel, director of law enforcement programs, and C. Peter Olivieri, technical staff, both of the Analytic Sciences Corporation, project consultants.

Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler introduced Mr. Martel and Mr. Olivieri before giving an overview of the project. Officer John McKinley, who is in charge of the undertaking, reviewed its present state. Mr. Martel outlined what was ahead during the next few months of the program.

The role of the community in crime prevention, including such areas as store security checks, a homeowners' engraving identification program, community displays, police and town planning, together with suggestions from committee members, were topics.

Besides Chief Bowler, Officer McKinley, Mr. Martel, and Mr. Olivieri, those attending included Lieutenant Andrew Crawford and committee members Selectmen Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr., William A. Wilde Jr., Reese James, and William T. Jordan.

Winchester will receive a $28,250 federal grant for the $50,073 ten-month project. It is part of the Commonwealth's Comprehensive Program for Combating Crimes Against Property. Its objectives are to analyze the burglary in Winchester and to develop a complete plan for controlling it.

Chief Bowler said that he was pleased that a number of suggestions had been made by the Community Security Council. The ideas will be studied, and adapted where possible, he explained.

Annual Town Meeting Over After 12 Lengthy Sessions

The 1971 Annual Town Meeting was concluded Thursday night, April 22, as Members made their way to the end of the Warrant, postponing over motions for reconsideration and passing lightly over those of indefinite postponement.

Paramount interest of the session was directed to approval of the School Department Education and Athletic Budgets, tabled from March 29. Education was allotted $5,587,479, up $20,520 from the Finance Committee's original recommendation and down $85,445 from the request of the School Committee. Concerning the Athletics Budget, the Finance members were willing to grant the original request of the School Committee for $75,650.

After deliberating the total action of this Town Meeting, Raymond J. Kenney Jr., chairman of the Finance Committee, estimates that there will be only a $9.10 increase on the tax rate. This figure is down from the $10.10 anticipated last summer and the $10.10 which was in accordance with appropriations prior to deletion of stabilization funds under Article 47. The new high school accounts for $6.50 of the tax rate increase.

Those articles which were adopted included 33, elected officials required to resign as Town Meeting Members, no appropriation; 34, new Anti-Litter By Law, no appropriation; Item 6100, School Department Budget, $5,587,479, and Item 6110, Athletics Budget, $75,650, completing Article 8; Article 38, improvements to Forest Street, $45,000; 39, amendment to Building By Law, no appropriation; 42, drainage easement on Sargent Road, $8,000; Item 3400 of Article 8, Civil Defense Budget increased to $6,205 in reconsideration; Article 46, special committees, no appropriation; and 47, withdrawal of $250,000 from the Excess and Deficiency Fund.

Articles 36, reimbursing Attorney Herbert Lord, and 44, installation of off-street parking on Palmer Street, were defeated. "Indefinite postponement" was ruled on Articles 35, improvement of Winchester; 37, to authorize the sale of Town-owned land in the vicinity of West Side playground; 40 and 41, to accept North Border Road and Hillcrest Parkway as gifts; 43, utility easement for Bates and Tufts Roads; and 45, club licenses.

Motions for reconsideration were lost on Item 6100 of Article 8, Article 4, and Article 36, while Item 3400 of Article 8 was successfully amended following reopening of discussion.

Article 33 As the second of three proposals offered by the Town Government Study Committee to the 1971 Annual Town Meeting, Article 33 was formulated in an attempt to "remove the ambiguity" in Chapter 167 of the Acts of 1928 concerning Town Meetings.

As carried, the amendment to Section 3 of that chapter provides that those elected Members who are entitled to be members-at-large due to an official position must resign as Town Meeting Members before they may act as a member-at-large. The exception is a member of the Board of Selectmen or Finance Committee whose term of office expires at the conclusion of the Annual Town Meeting. The Board of Selectmen must now file a petition with the General Court for the amendment.

The present wording stipulates that a member-at-large can not act as such while he remains an elected Town Meeting Member. Although this precludes a person from having two votes, the wording is nevertheless confusing and deprives voters in the precincts of their "proper representation," Mrs. Barbara S. Hanks, chairman of the Study Committee, reasoned. A maximum of seven persons will be affected each year.

While Town Meeting Member James A. Cullen of Precinct 5 noted that this proposal had been made by a committee in 1938, the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee were recommending favorable action in 1971. Mr. Kenney did observe that this will "create a risk in certain cases" where a person leaving an official position will have to run for a Town Meeting seat labelled as a new candidate rather than as an incumbent.

Article 34 A series of three motions approved under Article 33 realized the adoption of a new Anti-Litter By Law for Winchester and two related amendments to the present General By Laws.

Present anti-litter and anti-pollution by laws for Winchester are scattered throughout the General By Laws, Study Committee member Edward E. Hicks informed his audience. The new Anti-ti-Litter By Law consolidates and supplements these provisions into one section which is at once "more understandable" and "more enforceable" than the present code.

Composed of 24 sections, the new Anti-Litter By Law will generally be divided into several parts: a more comprehensive set of definitions than is available in the present By Laws; provisions prohibiting the throwing or depositing of litter in public places; provisions regulating the distribution of commercial and non-commercial handbills; provisions controlling the depositing of litter on private premises; and prescriptions of penalties for violations.

Feeling that good legislation often precludes the need for enforcement, Mr. Hicks noted that the new Anti-Litter By Law will allow local enforcement by the Department of Health and Police Department to serve "as an option to State enforcement," minor violations frequently being easier to deal with at the lower level.

The Board of Selectmen, Finance Committee, and Board of Health asked for favorable action.

Regional School Court Hearing Again Postponed

A second postponement of the preliminary hearing on a petition for a declaratory judgment to determine the proper method of assessing Winchester and 11 other participating communities their share of the 1971 budget for the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School in Wakefield has taken place.

The hearing had originally been scheduled for Monday, April 12. It was rescheduled for Monday, April 26, at Middlesex Superior Court in Cambridge.

The second delay, as did the first, resulted from failure to complete service on all parties involved in the litigation. Members of the District School Committee in Suffolk County had not been served summonses as of April 26.

MDC To Build Skating Rink Near Winchester

An ice skating rink costing well below $1,000,000 is expected to be constructed by the Metropolitan District Commission at the former NIKE site in Medford, near the Winchester line.

An MDC spokesman said that by having rinks built by one contractor in Medford, Canton, and Waltham, the MDC expected to reduce costs. The roofed rink has a "better than 50-50 chance" of having adjustable sides and doors, the spokesman declared.

Bids will be sought by the end of May or earlier, he said. Construction should be completed in time for the next ice skating season.

A designer will submit sketches to town and city officials in two or three weeks, the spokesman declared. The MDC spokesman said that MDC Commissioner John Sears, knowing of a strong Winchester interest in ice skating, had urged that the rink be built as close as possible to this town.

State Representative George L. Sacco Jr. of Medford, vice-chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, advocate of the MDC rink project, has suggested access to the rink from South Border Road and Medford High School. He said that motorists could park at Medford High and walk to the rink.

Representative Sacco has also urged the MDC to provide for proper lighting, better police protection, and slowed-down travel speeds in the rink area.

Town Meeting Comments

The Rev. Arthur E. Wilson of the First Congregational Church offered the invocation for the final session of the 1971 Annual Town Meeting on Thursday, April 22. Dr. Wilson, who has been serving as interim pastor of the local church since September, will continue in that position through May.

In outlining the provisions of the new Anti-Litter By Law being proposed under Article 34, Edward E. Hicks, member of the Town Government Study Committee, hesitated over Section 16 prohibiting the dropping of litter from aircraft. "This may seem rather silly now, but who knows, let's hope that this is the kind of a by law we can live with for the next 30 or 40 years." And as added rationale, "Besides some things could be pretty dangerous if dropped from an airplane."

As consideration of the School Department budgets drew to a close Thursday night, Raymond N. Watts Jr., Town Meeting Member from Precinct 4, commented, "I greatly appreciate the efforts of this School Committee which has recognized the quality of its responsibility." It is "not only responsible for the quality of education for our children, but also responsible to be good fiscal managers of this Town's money." He urged that the committee continue to recognize this duality and "hold the line" on expenditures.

Discussion of Article 36 concerning the reimbursement of Attorney and Town Meeting Member Herbert Lord revealed that if the Town wished to make payment to Mr. Lord it would have to petition the General Court. Tributes to his many years of service to Winchester were voiced. And Mr. Lord, alluding to his reputation for pursuing the Town's matters into the courts, admitted that if the Town Meeting voted for the petition, "I'd like to test that out in the courts, too."

In the concluding matters of the 1971 Annual Town Meeting, Moderator Harrison Chadwick paused to make some brief forecasts concerning the future Special Town Meeting on the proposed Zoning By Law. "Without a doubt the most difficult Town Meeting to ever be held in this Town will take place when we attempt to amend the Zoning By Law." This is due to the fact that not only does wording have to be changed, but somehow Members will have to cope with alterations to a map. It will be necessary to "lay out the conduct of this meeting rather differently from procedures we have ever followed at this Town Meeting." Business taken in a sequential order, written motions, and notification of the Chair prior to address of the Members is anticipated. More detailed information will be provided before this Meeting. Mr. Chadwick's offer to conduct classes on parliamentary procedures was encouraged by Town Meeting Members.

CELEBRATING the end of an eight-week strike at J. H. Winn, Incorporated, some of the employees held a picnic on the company grounds Friday, April 23. Most of the production workers returned to work Monday, April 26, with others due to be recalled shortly. (Ryerson photo)

The Financial Aspect

It is rare in human existence when the death of a person does not deeply involve the living. And there is an understandable tendency for the living to forget themselves and those to whom they owe responsibility when such a tragedy occurs. Indeed, it is often felt to be demeaning to consider the financial aspects of the tribute through which love of the departed will be expressed. Yet, as directors of funerals we can never lose sight of the fact that life must somehow go on after bereavement and that expenditures beyond the family means can have later repercussions involving, for example, the welfare of minors or aged persons. This is why the careful Funeral Director fully explains the costs of the service.

In Memory Of Larry Oechinto

Together We Pray

What comfort have I now to give, be brave, and know
That never will he suffer so.
Together we have prayed that he might longer stay.
With laughter to fill the days with happiness;
What pledge or promise could we make
To save ourselves this present ache and keep him here?
Ten, twelve years? Or Not.
Would hurt us then to let him go.
There is no time that we could set for parting.
We are never ready for such pain Ever our prayers would be; "Not yet! Not yet; dear God, another day,
With us let our beloved stay."
We must believe when falls the blow;
That wisely God has willed it so,
God has him in his keeping now.
Angels attend him through the day.

Never his feet shall go astray,
Never shall anguish line his brow,
Never a bitter thought shall find
Harsh lodgment in his gentle mind
Lovely his boyhood shall remain,
Safe from hurt of time and pain.
Lovingly Remembered by Mother, Father, Sisters, Brother

It's with a genuinely heavy heart that I shamefacedly announce that the forces of greed have once more triumphed over the forces of beauty. WHY SURRENDER

OUR LIFE OF EASE?

As loyal customers, friends, and staunch supporters, I think you are entitled to an explanation. The reasons are fourfold:

- (1) I think Harry secretly hates me. That's why he started this during the golf season.
- (2) Originally we were open only two days per week, because we were able to sell all the surplus and salvage goods we could get in just two days. Gradually our reputation as cash buyers (and our bankroll) grew. We started to buy from insurance companies, railroads, trucking companies, mailorder houses, etc. all across the country. Four years ago we expanded to being open three days per week. Now, with merchandise coming in from all over the country (and with another kid to send to college) we're expanding to a four day work week.
- (3) Our parking facilities are admittedly inadequate. Our aisles are somewhat narrow. Our coffee machines produce (we always serve complimentary coffee - on a serve-yourself basis) a limited amount. Our cash registers can handle just so many numbers. By spreading the business over an extra day we hope to facilitate parking, shopping, poking, browsing, visiting, meandering, socializing, hunting, and, hopefully, spending.
- (4) Many people (including me) found it inconvenient to get to our inconvenient locations (Rte. 3A — the road to Nantasket — in Hingham, Olympia Ave., just off Washington St., at exit 38 of Rte. 128 in Woburn) on the 3 days we were open. We hope the fourth day will help.

Thomas Morse Is Contributor To Work Papers

Among the authors of a series of work papers entitled "The Redesign of Education: Media and the Learner in the 70's" is Thomas A. Morse, coordinator of instructional aids and special programs for Winchester schools.

The series was recently published by the University of Iowa, division of extension and university services, in cooperation with the Association for Educational Communications and Technology.

The publication is a summary report of the 16th Lake Okoboji Educational Media Leadership Conference - 1970 in which Mr. Morse participated. The Conference membership is made up of key educators, one from each state who are invited to attend. Their task is to develop a topic that is key to the current educational scene.

Mr. Morse is also president of the Massachusetts Audio Visual Association, a member of the national council of AECT, and recently elected as chairman of the affiliate Presidents of AECT.

One of his prime responsibilities was preparing the segment "Redesign of Education, The Teacher/Director of Learning." Among the many facets of this problem, the need for a new definition of "teacher" in the 70's seemed imperative. The study defines this individual as follows:

"The teacher/director of learning of the 70's will be a knowledgeable individual scientifically and sociologically structured to function in a complex society. He will be a change agent and will be able to function within a system. He will be sufficiently competent to recognize success or failure based on behavioral objectives and terminal goals. These will be identified through examination and evaluation of the system. Accountability for success or failure will be established.

"In summary the teacher/director of learning will be a sophisticated, intelligent, scientific humanist."

It was also noted in this study that "a much closer look must be taken at teacher education. . . . Too long we have concerned ourselves primarily with two elements of the total learning process - cognitive and psychomotor. . . . it is time to address ourselves to the development . . . of the affective domain."

This publication covers many aspects of education such as the learner and his environment, role and function of technology, case studies and concerns of redesign. It is provocative reading for the educator or layman entering the decade of the 70's.

Crittenton Local Circle Elects Officers

Annual meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League was held Friday, April 16, at the Winchester Country Club. Planning the event were Mrs. James Blackham and Mrs. Bertram Dube.

Students Should File To Avoid Withholding Tax

Students with jobs who may be exempt from federal income tax withholding on their wages this year should so notify their employers, William E. Williams, District Director of Internal Revenue for Massachusetts, announces.

Working students who qualify under the tax law for exemption from withholding, Mr. Williams advised, should fill in and submit a Withholding Exemption Certificate (Form W-4E) to their employer by May 1. Exemption certificates filing for 1970 expire April 30.

Students who did not owe any tax last year and expect to owe none in the current year should so certify, Mr. Williams said. This would eliminate the need to file a tax return next year unless there has been tax withholding and the student wishes to recover it.

Single students with income of less than $1,700, and married ones filing jointly with income of less than $2,350 will not owe any federal income tax for 1971, Mr. Williams stated.

Superintendent

Dr. Cotton said that the consultants had met earlier Monday, April 26, with parents, heads of school associations, students, teachers, and principals, and had attended a supper meeting with the three Assistant Superintendents of Schools.

Dr. Childress, chairman of the consultant group, explained that the consultants will not select Winchester's next Superintendent of Schools.

Our job is to aid the School Committee in making screenings, then recommending to them those who are the strongest candidates," he pointed out.

Six Candidates will be recommended to the School Committee when the national search has been completed. Their names will be listed alphabetically, and not ranked, Dr. Childress emphasized.

Dr. Johnson said that the consultants' procedure would not preclude local candidates.

"Equally great local candidates should have preferential treatment," he maintained.

The consultants noted, however, that they would not include local candidates in their recommendations. Their belief is that Winchester residents are better able to determine the qualifications of local persons.

Selectman Comment

Chairman Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen declared, "Ten years ago, the average citizen had a lot more confidence in the educational system than he has today."

He saw "Winchester suffering through a new age."

"The average citizen feels that the education being offered in the Winchester public school system today is not what it was yesterday. I think it has become particularly acute," Chairman Sullivan continued. "People have a growing concern about education."

Chairman Sullivan observed a feeling that the town was giving emphasis to "educating the top two percent and not bothering with the majority."

He noted "more effort to go to college in Winchester than in some communities."

"We have our fair share of students who would be better off if some didn't go to college," he stated. "We have our fair share of students who should be going to regional vocational school, but there are not encouraged to go there."

Selectman Chapman saw in the Winchester public school system "too many buds" but declared that the "total nourishment of the tree seems to be lacking," in calling for "pruning."

Selectman Amico "wondered if the time hasn't come when the Superintendent shouldn't be more business-oriented, rather than education-oriented?"

Selectman Saltmarsh called for an appointee who could bring a "leveling effect" into the school system to "stabilize it."

He suggested a reduction in some programs and pictured a need to "instill confidence in employees."

An "older, more mature, well-rounded administrator" with business background was suggested as a possibility by Selectman Saltmarsh.

"Someone with a great deal of experience — maybe older than normally" was proposed by Selectman Saltmarsh.

Selectman Dunbar called for the appointment of a man of "vision" in the academic field, capable of "handling people" and "gathering respect of the employees and town personnel and the School Committee."

He said that he didn't think that age would be a barrier if the appointee was capable of changing with the times.

Selectman Chapman said that the new Superintendent should "delegate authority" and "if possible, reduce his administrative staff."

Mr. Giarrizzo believed that the next Superintendent should seek to emphasize the need for professionalism among the staff, discouraging a "bickering over stipends and salary." He said that some of the school personnel "don't appear to be acting like professionals." He called for the building of an esprit de corps in the educational system.

Chairman Sullivan maintained that "the town is ready and willing to support the man to do the job the town wants." He said that the town's "deep concern" was "about a quality education."

Selectman Chapman mentioned bussing, neighborhood schools, and open campus plans as issues which were of particular concern to some residents.

New Chairman

Selectman John J. Sullivan was unanimously elected chairman of the Board of Selectmen. He was nominated by Selectman Paul F. Amico. Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. seconded the nomination.

Selectman Sullivan succeeded Ralph M. Swanson as head of the board. The latter did not seek reelection. Selectman Sullivan was re-elected to a second three-year term in March.

Selectman Arthur E. Dunbar attended his first meeting as a board member Monday evening.

Liquor Licenses

Attorney Leonard J. Mullen Jr., town counsel, discussed with Selectmen the procedure for club liquor license applications. He said that investigators from the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission would inspect applicants' premises to determine that entrance, exit, and sanitary facility requirements were met. Fire or health hazards would need to be corrected before licenses could be issued, he explained.

After the local licensing authorities hold hearings and grant applications, the applications then go to the ABCO for final approval or rejection, he explained.

Center Plan

A May meeting will be held by the Selectmen with the Planning Board to discuss the Winchester Center plan. Tentatively, the session will take place at 10 p.m. Monday, May 10.

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien has advised the Selectmen that in about six weeks bids will be sought for the Forest Street road reconstruction project.

The Selectmen will request the Superintendent of Streets to defer opening of the incinerator area on Mondays until 1:30 p.m. They will suggest that trucks be permitted to use the incinerator area on Saturday mornings. The object of the changes is to alleviate a possible traffic hazard to children in the Swanton Street area, as pointed out by Mrs. Jeanne Amico of 38 White Street.

Police Commended

The Board of Selectmen voted to commend Officers John E. Oliver and Francis E. Manzie Jr. for their efforts in apprehending a young man who was charged in connection with a break at Tony's Cigro Station at 1012 Main Street.

In a commendation issued to the officers, Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler said that they had performed the duty at 1:45 a.m. Sunday, April 11.

"The alertness of these officers in discovering the broken window and their immediate pursuit of a vehicle seen in the area leading to arrest and the solution of the case is praiseworthy," the commendation by the chief read.

"Effective police action and diligent patrol by officers during their tour of duty is highly essential to maintain the high standard of protection expected of us by the citizenry," the commendation continued.

"I therefore commend Officers John E. Oliver and Francis E. Manzie Jr. as a result of this endeavor and will grant them a day off," the commendation concluded. The commendation was posted on the bulletin-board at the Police Station and read at roll calls.

Retirement

Fire Chief I. Francis Amico advised the Selectmen of the approaching retirement of Lieutenant Henry P. O'Melia of the Fire Department. Chief Amico and Lieutenant O'Melia are due to attend the Selectmen's meeting at 7:45 p.m. Monday, May 31.

The provisional appointment of George J. Moran to the Fire Department, as recommended by Chief Amico, was given board approval.

A complaint from Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brodie that Glen Green was a "perfect breeding place" for rodents was discussed by the Selectmen. Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly said that the Highway Department will attempt to correct a drainage problem and report back. Mr. Donnelly said the property was not connected to sewerage but land of which the Park Department has care and custody, but over which the Selectmen have control.

A special meeting of the Board of Selectmen will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday, April 30, for the signing of contracts for Town Hall alterations.

Garden Club Notes Signs Of Ecology

There was an almost 100 per cent attendance at the meeting of the Winchester Garden Club on April 22 at the home of Mrs. Maurice T. Freeman.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Robert M. Smith, president. Mrs. Walworth B. Williams spoke of the marked reduction in the sale of detergents containing phosphates and the recent productive efforts of the Boy Scouts in cleaning up the Aberjona.

Mrs. Philip P. Wadsworth, reporting on the anti-litter campaign, indicated plans for carrying this to the young people of our schools; a film, the "Litter Monster," is soon to be shown in the elementary grades.

The feature of the meeting was a tour through the Freemans' landscaped grounds and greenhouse where springtime was evident in its various stages. Don Ellis, their gardener, demonstrated ways in which various plants were propagated.

A brochure written by Mr. Freeman presented added information about their display of lilies, orchids, and other exotic plants. At the close of the tour the members of the club were presented with a choice of a cardinal plant or a begonia from the nursery.

Attorney Edward B. Hanify, who considered representing the District School Committee in the action, withdrew. He is a member of the same law firm as Winchester School Committeeman Lane McGovern.

Parties to the action include Winchester, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, and Winthrop. The petition was prepared by Attorney Mario L. Simeola, Wakefield Town Counsel.

Appearing for the District School Committee as a temporary replacement for Attorney Hanify was Attorney Hugh J. Crossland. Attorney Crossland is a member of the law firm of which George E. Lodge, chairman of the District School Committee, is a partner.

District School Committeeman J. Edward Sharkey of Winchester and representatives of the other towns had obtained oral and written advice from counsel that the original assessments had been overstated, especially to Winchester.

Mr. Sharkey had maintained that "full enrollment," as referred to in the agreement meant the number of students based on quotas established by the committee.

The Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational District School Committee had voted to ask the Massachusetts Department of Education's legal department for a ruling concerning cost apportionment.

Mr. Sharkey's position was confirmed in the ruling. William J. Wallace, general counsel for the Massachusetts Department of Education, said that his opinion was written in collaboration with Attorney Joseph Robinson of the Massachusetts School Building Assistance Bureau.

Round trip bus transportation is offered at the cost of five dollars per girl. The bus will pick up Winchester girls at Burlington Mall at 7 a.m. on May 8 and will return there by 6 p.m.

High school juniors who want to take this opportunity to see Smith should call Mrs. Austin Broadhurst, 729-3556, by Sunday evening, May 2, to make reservations and for any further information.

May 8 Play Incorporates Local Talent

Winchester playgoers are in for a treat. Emmanuel College Drama Club of Boston is bringing the play "Guest In the House" to the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church at 8 p.m., Saturday, May 8.

This play will be directed by Winchester resident Eloise Kadesch.

"Guest In the House" is reported as "a horror drama which will keep the spectator on the edge of his seat." The play is about a suburban couple, their female houseguest, son, and friends.

The part of the minister is to be ably played by our own Winchester Methodist Minister, the Rev. Dean E. Benedict. This is Rev. Benedict's debut, but probably just the first of many such evenings for him.

The part of Mr. Dow will be played by another Winchester resident, Thomas Kell. Mr. Kell is an active member of the Congregational players, and has frequently appeared in plays directed by Eloise Kadesch.

Philip Kadesch will play the son, Tracy.

The rest of the cast will be brought here by Mrs. Kadesch from Emmanuel College. There is expected to be a lot of polished and new talent in this production.

Luther Enstad To Perform Songs Of Scandinavia

Luther Enstad of 23 George Road will present a concert of Norwegian and American songs at Emmanuel College, Boston, on Sunday, May 2, at 8 p.m. The concert is open to the public free of charge.

LUTHER ENSTAD

Being of Norwegian descent, Mr. Enstad has a special interest in presenting to the public the beautiful, but seldom performed songs of Scandinavia. Included in the program will be songs by the Norwegian composers Kjerulf, Bachner, Grondahl, Alnaes, Sinding, Grieg and others. Music by Benjamin Britten, Nod Rorem and Samuel Barber will also be performed.

Mr. Enstad spent two summers as a full fellow in opera at the Tanglewood Music Festival, where he appeared as the Drum Major in "Wozzeck" and Roderigo in "Othello" under the direction of Erich Leinsdorf. While at Tanglewood he created the role of Max in the contemporary American opera "Elephant Steps." The opera was written by Stanley Silverman and directed by Michael Tilson Thomas.

Since locating in the Boston area, Luther Enstad has appeared as soloist with many choruses and opera companies. He is currently appearing with the Associated Artists Opera Company.

Mr. Enstad is the tenor soloist at Temple Emmanuel, Newton, and is the choir director and soloist at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Arlington. He is instructor of voice at Emmanuel College, Boston, and is a student of Oren Brown of New York.

Two Residents Recipients Of Top Council Scouting Awards

Two Winchester residents received awards from the Minute-Man Council, Incorporated, Boy Scouts of America, at its annual recognition program Tuesday, April 20, in Saugus.

Mrs. Claire E. Mullen of 8 Park Road received the Silver Fawn, the highest award a local Boy Scout council can present to a woman.

James P. Kennedy of 52 Salisbury Street was awarded the Silver Beaver, the highest award which can be given to a volunteer Scouter.

The awards were made "for noteworthy service of exceptional character to boyhood." The 1971 Awards Committee included Harris S. Richardson Jr., chairman; Howard V. Barney, Daniel F. Appleton, Major General Joseph Cody, and Daniel Friel.

Mrs. Mullen's citation reads:

"Member of the Women's Reserve since its inception in the Boy Scouts of America, extremely active in the First Baptist Church of Winchester; member of the Diocese, Youth Committee, Music Committee, Flower Committee, the Choir, and a Sunday School Teacher. Mrs. Mullen has been active in the Winchester Grange since 1936 and has served as Treasurer since 1940. Active on the Town of Winchester Youth Activity Committee, she was one of the organizers of the Friends of the Winchester Band and Orchestra Group. She served as a Brownie Leader with the Girl Scouts of America, and, of course, a wonderful experience as a Den Mother.

"Duty to Country is truly exemplified by this fine lady as an active blood donor for years to the American Red Cross. She is a most articulate spokesman for Scouting and has undertaken many special volunteer speaking assignments promoting the ideals of our great program — and does she know her subject!

"As Secretary to the Fellsland Council dating back to 1954, Claire Mullen now serves as Office Manager of the Minute-Man Council, Boy Scouts of America, and can call just about every Scouter by their first name throughout our twenty-one communities.

"Because of her devotion as a wife, mother, and grandmother, to boyhood and her unselfish and most impressive contributions to the Boy Scouts of America, her Church, and her Community, the Minute-Man Council, Boy Scouts of America, is happy and proud to present the first of its kind — The highest award a local Council can present to a Lady: the Silver Fawn to Mrs. Claire E. Mullen."

The citation presented to Mr. Kennedy read:

"Over the years you have revealed a rare quality of leadership given to few men, but your use of the gift has been on behalf of others. Scouting, historically, has considered leadership as its source, its method, and its end product, and few other organizations are so reliant upon volunteer leadership for success. Program in itself cannot be compared to the influence of knowledgeable, disciplined and inspired leaders.

"As a Scouter your devotion to service on the Minute-Man Council Executive Board and as Chairman of the Council Finance Committee is an inspiration to many. You have made raising funds for Scouting just as enjoyable as the Outing in Scouting. Your belief that every boy should have an opportunity to join Scouting, and every Scout have a trained leader, and every Scout and Leader receive the full Scouting program has caused you to spend countless hours on their behalf in the management and development of financial resources.

"Your numerous community services, including that of Board Member of the Management Research Institute of Pennsylvania and Conference Committee Member of the National Conference on the Administration of Research, Chairman of the Board of the American Recreation Equipment

Saturday Brush Fires Are Frequent

Saturday's warm, seasonal weather brought with it a series of brush fires which kept Winchester Fire Department engines on the move for a full 12 hour period. By contrast a rainy Sunday found apparatus securely housed for the day.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday firefighters responded to 12 calls, eight being for brush and two for woods fires. Engine Four made four runs, supplemented and alternated with Engines Two and Six.

Metropolitan District Commission land off South Border Road was responsible for four summons.

The number of veteran taking policemen and firemen on-job training has risen significantly. According to VA statistics, California leads the nation in the number of trainees. Other leaders: New York, District of Columbia, Connecticut, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. Veterans interested in training for these careers should contact their local police or fire departments.

Vandalism Reported

Recent incidents of vandalism have been frequent and varied as received by the Winchester Police Department.

John T. Horn, foreman of the Highway Department, reported that Town employees replaced 31 basin covers on the West Side of Winchester which had been removed or dropped inside the systems. One was discovered in a tree. Removal of basin covers is in violation of the General By Laws of Winchester, subject to a $20 fine. A tally of broken windows at public schools noted six at Wyman School and five at Noonan at the end of the weekend.

Complaints to Winchester Police were also frequent on the throwing of eggs, firecrackers, and rocks.

Editorials:

Over At Last

It took 12 sessions to complete action on the 47 articles on the warrant for the 1971 Annual Town Meeting.

Did the number of sessions set a record?

Town Moderator and State Representative Harrison Chadwick doesn't know. He is sure, however, that during his 16 years as Town Moderator, no meeting had as many sessions.

The effect of such prolonged deliberations was evident.

Attendance was one measurement of a loss of interest. It had dipped in later sessions from its early peak.

The number of sessions was not the sole factor in some instances, however. Some Town Meeting Members with strong interests in particular articles were never seen again, once their favored legislation was acted upon.

Absences are sometimes unavoidable, but we believe that Town Meeting Members who are unwilling to attend regularly should not seek office. It is not fair to constituents to retain such a seat if one is going to only occasionally be present. The post should be relinquished in such instances to someone whose attendance would be faithful.

The length of time spent on specific matters was another indication of the energy drain on Town Meeting Members. They were sometimes overgenerous with their time in initial sessions. In contrast, the 12th and final session moved rapidly, handling several pieces of major business in little more time than had been devoted previously to some comparatively minor questions.

Several speakers complained that some town bodies failed to consistently convey information. Has the lesson been learned by these groups? Will executive sessions be held to a bare minimum? Will these groups keep voters informed year-round in order to avoid resistance when the 1972 Annual Town Meeting arrives?

With the Annual Town Meeting over, and a Special Town Meeting ahead, it's an opportune time to look at Town Meeting procedures and consider if changes are desirable.

Perhaps Winchester residents should consider questions such as these:

Should Town Meeting sessions be speeded up? If so, how could this be done?

Should there be a smaller number of Town Meeting Members? Would this cut down on the amount of often repetitious discussion?

When the town's fiscal year begins on July 1 instead of January 1, as it will, beginning in 1973, would it be desirable to move up the date of Annual Town Meeting? Town Meeting Members now act upon proposed expenditures for the current fiscal year. If the town adheres to a March Annual Town Meeting, in 1973 members will be voting on expenditures for a fiscal year which will not begin until July 1. If the Town Meeting starting date were moved up, would attendance increase because adverse winter weather conditions would be avoided?

Should an earlier starting time than 7:45 p.m. be considered for Town Meeting sessions?

Should more than two sessions a week be scheduled?

These are a few questions which we invite Star readers to comment upon in our Letters to the Editor column. We believe that most will agree that the 1971 Annual Town Meeting was too prolonged, but if you don't think so, the Star invites your comments, too.

In his concluding comments to Town Meeting Members, Town Moderator Chadwick said:

"I think that it might be appropriate if in whatever way you might choose to do so, you were to recognize the efforts that the various committees and boards of this Town constantly render to the Town Meeting and to its citizens. If we were to stop to consider for a moment what the effect would be upon the business of this Town Meeting if we sat as a committee of the whole and took up the articles one by one without any prior preparation by any committee, I think you can see what chaos would result.

"We've had some rather sharp debate in this rather long series of meetings. It appears to me at least as a citizen, as a taxpayer, in this Town that the work of the Town Meeting has really been very well done. I think that the citizens of this Town have every right to be grateful to the members for their endurance, for their patience, for the discussions, and for the judgments which they have rendered.

"I do think that at times the Town Meeting has been rather rough on some of the committees. As I have said once before, I think that every committee should try to do as it sees its job, the best job it can for the Town. Now we don't have to agree with that judgment and we have had a number of occasions when the committees that we look to for advice and guidance have not agreed, so we have had to make the decision.

"Nevertheless I still think Winchester is very fortunate to have the talent, to have the citizens who are willing to give the manhours that they do to lead us in the work that must be done in this Town Meeting."

Well said, Mr. Moderator!

Reader Says Youth Here Need "Better Chance"

Editor of the Star:

Once again the Winchester School Committee has voted in a program for our schools without even giving the town a chance to discuss it.

On Monday evening, April 26, the School Committee adopted a program that will bring ten out of town students a year to the junior and senior classes starting in September, 1971. The plan is to have ten or more each year. These students will be living in a single residence on Dix Street.

Charity should begin at home. The skating rink has been put off for another year and there are no plans in the making to re-open the Drop-In Center. Our own kids are still sitting on the bridge because there is nowhere else to go.

Isn't it about time that the youth of Winchester were given "a Better Chance"?????

Businessmen Are Grateful About Lighting Changes

Editor of the Star:

We, of the Winchester Business Association, express our appreciation and gratitude to the Town fathers and to the Town Meeting for adopting and passing Article 21, concerning installation of 20,000 lumen mercury vapor street lights along thoroughfares radiating from the center of town.

Cooperation in such matters gives our organization the impetus to request projects that are purposeful and progressive for the common good of Winchester.

Demonstration Views Explained By Local Couple

Editor of the Star:

Some of our friends have asked why we joined the April 24 Demonstration for peace in Washington.

Isn't it unpatriotic to demonstrate against the foreign policy of the President? Certainly not, the Bill of Rights guarantees to the people the right to peaceably assemble for petitions of redress of grievances. We believe this right becomes a duty, just as voting, particularly when the issue is so grave.

What possible good is accomplished by just the two of you among thousands? You know how often the question is asked, why bother to vote. We believe it is just as much our duty to have joined this demonstration for peace now as it would be to vote for peace.

Aren't you being naive dupes of the enemies of our country? Not at all. We recognize that many of the organizers of this demonstration were radicals. All the more reason for conservative middle class Americans to lend their support to the cause of peace. Many political causes make strange bedfellows. Let's not leave peace to the radicals only.

Reader Asks If Zoning Changes Would Up Costs

Editor of the Star:

I am deeply concerned about what impact the proposed new Zoning ByLaws will have on the tax rate of Winchester, particularly in the portions related to the construction of new apartments. While it is true that such buildings would broaden the tax base and bring in additional revenue to the town, I would like to get some realistic answers regarding ing the other side of the ledger related to additional expenditures that would result based on an increased population of 5,000 people. As examples:

1. How many more police officers and firemen will be required?

2. How much additional fire and police equipment must be purchased?

3. How many additional personnel will be required at the Town Hall to conduct town affairs?

4. What about additional personnel for the various town departments such as Highway, Water and Sewer, Park, Cemetery, Board of Health, and Sanitation to name just a few?

5. What impact will this influx have on our water and sewage systems? Can they handle the increased load, or will they have to be rebuilt? If so, at what cost?

6. What about the Town Incinerator? This facility merits some serious consideration.

7. What about additional schools and teachers? How much will this cost? It seems highly unrealistic to assume that with this number of people, school aged children will not be involved.

8. What additional assessments will we pay out to the MDC, MBTA, and Middlesex County as a result of the increased population?

9. What effect will this have on our "Cherry Sheet" income we receive from the state?

Realistic answers to these questions are, I believe, an absolute must before Town Meeting Members can intelligently decide on what course of action to take regarding the proposed new ByLaws related to apartments. This is really the only positive way to determine whether or not the assets will outweigh the liabilities. Right now I don't know, but I sure would like to find out either way in time for the Special Town Meeting.

I sincerely hope that the Town Planning Board will read my letter to the Star and take some positive action in this direction even though it has not been formally addressed to them.

BOOK REVIEW

ASHES TO ASHES

by Emma Lathen

This the twelfth of Miss Lathen's mystery novels to be published and they all have a most distinctive flavor. Not for Miss Lathen the Chandler-type hero, overmuscled, oversexed and overimbibing. Her detective, almost against his will involved in mayhem and mystery, is John Putnam Thatcher, senior vice president of the Sloan Guaranty Trust, a sober and upright banker.

Two of Miss Lathen's recent novels have found her hero involved with franchising (Murder to Go) and holiday-home promotions on the ski slopes of New England (Pick Up Sticks). Here we have another topical subject — the selling of a parochial school in Queens, New York, for conversion into a 20-story apartment house. John Thatcher is drawn into the affair by the fact that the Sloan Guaranty Trust is providing the mortgage money, about four million dollars, to an old and trusted client, the Unger Realty Corporation. As the story begins, difficulties are cropping up for all the participants in the deal. An organization of Roman Catholic parents has been formed — the first organized dissent the community has witnessed.

"Yes, we had heard that there might be some trouble," Dick Unger went on. "But we didn't expect to get a subpoena!" Thatcher agreed that it was unusual. Dick Unger sounded bemused. "You know, I've talked to Frank Omara myself. He's the chairman of this bunch of parents. You'd think that he'd understand the situation more than some of the others. He's an undertaker." "A profitable occupation," Thatcher commented. "That's right," Unger said. "He should see that the parish literally can't afford to keep that school running. And if they're not going to operate a school, they'd be fools to turn down a good offer for the property. It isn't as if we were planning to put up a factory. If anything, property values are going to go up once we've built. Thatcher agreed that this was simple logic and inquired where Francis Omara failed to follow. He elicited a muffled groan. "I can't really say," said Dick Unger, baffled. "He starts talking about Catholic education — and he loses me!"

If big business is debating the thoughts and actions of the Parents' Organization, so too is the Church, where one Monsignor Miles is endeavoring to calm his colleagues at a meeting held in the archdiocesan office on Madison Avenue. He has reminded them that "these people are undoubtedly very sincere."

"Sincere?" gasped Henry Stoner, the archdiocesan public relations man. "They have filed a suit against the archdiocese!" He was a layman, but his piety was second to none. It was left to a cleric to voice a more sophisticated denunciation. "They are challenging the right of the Archbishop to dispose of church property. Think what that could lead to!" For a moment, rapist silence prevailed. Monsignor Miles was bemused by the vision of rampant laymen auctioning off St. Patrick's. Or St. Peter's? He roused himself. "Naturally I agree that they are misguided," he said sharply. "But I would prefer to approach them more in sorrow than in anger. Please bear in mind that we officially regard the members of the St. Bernardette's Parents League as erring children — not apostates!"

Having set the scene with skill and humor, Miss Lathen leads us to the murder of Francis Omara and to the surprising and logical denouement. She has written another very intriguing and entertaining novel.

Watch Out for These Spring Birds

The motion passed states, "In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 71, Section 6A and Chapter 246 of the General Laws of the Commonwealth, the School Committee finds it has adequate space and hereby accepts as pupils in the Senior High School, beginning September, 1971, 10 students, resident in the town, to be enrolled in the program known as A Better Chance; the tuition of such students shall be payable by the organization known as A Better Chance."

Presenting the program for consideration by the Committee that evening were Thomas M. Mikula, executive director of National ABC; the Rev. Charles Hoffman of the Winchester Ecumenical Council; Fred Stockwell, and Mrs. Elizabeth P. Holmes.

Rev. Hoffman, noting the full support of his council, explained that the program would take 10 "highly motivated but disadvantaged" students to study and live in Winchester under the supervision of a director. Since an open meeting held two weeks ago, 120 persons have expressed an interest in serving on the Board of Directors. The clergy of Winchester, he continued, are merely acting as initiators, the program actually requires town-wide support.

Reminiscing to eight years ago, Mr. Mikula recalled the history of the project. At that time 55 students were placed in private schools to study for the summer, eventually taking two to four years to prepare for college. After three years it was felt that the program "had to get involved with good public school systems." This began in Hanover, New Hampshire, where a 24-hour residence was founded. In the fourth year the program moved into the Andover public school system, until now there are 15 participating communities.

Mr. Mikula tallied 73 graduates, all of which have been admitted to colleges. "The community is the key," "We must have broad-based community support," he stated. It is hoped that the program will be introduced into five new towns this year. Recruitment of students taking part in the program is carried on nationally by resource persons whose selections are screened in the offices of ABC. Finally, it is the towns who choose those pupils enrolling in their school systems. The student is given a trial period during the summer. In the fall mutual agreement determines if the pupil will enter the high school.

Residents

Mr. Stockwell expanded on the residential life of participants. An option has been taken on the property at 2 Dix Street, a business zone. A letter from the building inspector informs that this location qualifies as a house. Joining the 10 pupils, composed of junior and senior boys, will be two college student resident tutors and a resident couple. The physical size of the house itself places restrictions on any future growth in pupil numbers.

Financing of the program begins with a $200,000 grant for two years as "seed money," after which a fund-raising drive is usually conducted every three years. He noted that there has been "definite financial interest" by a resident to administer such matters, as well as interest by residents in commitment of funds.

The Board of Directors is composed of 20 to 30 persons. The Advisory Board incorporates broad town representation and is assisted by a pantheon of other committees. There is usually a host family and 10 students from Winchester High School would be allowed to work with the resident tutors, who would probably be taken from Tufts University with "no compensation."

The ABC Program has accepted Winchester. Mr. Stockwell commented, contingent upon the School Committee's acceptance of the program. The project enjoys "complete autonomy" and "takes nationwide standards."

Benefits

Concluding the presentation was Mrs. Holmes, an English teacher at McCall Junior High School, who first brought the program to the attention of the Ecumenical Council. She enumerated four benefits to Winchester from the ABC project. Alluding to the crowded conditions at the present Senior High School, a situation which is hoped will be remedied when the new building is occupied in February of 1972, she reasoned that with the 10 new students will come two student-teachers who may be able to be selected according to the course instruction needs of Winchester. These resident tutors will also be available for three hours of tutoring five nights per week.

It has been the experience of participating towns, Mrs. Holmes went on, that the incremental costs of these students has been considerably less than the actual costs of their inclusion in the school system. Towns have "actually been making money on them." And lastly, there are the "intangibles."

In response to questions, Mr. Stockwell remarked that at this point other towns have waived the acceptance of tuition payments to receive remuneration in another form, such as a teacher. Estimated expenses for the program are $30,000 yearly, or $3,000 per student. Mrs. Harriet H. Dieterich, chairman of the School Committee, stated that it was a "standing rule" concerning the acceptance of tuition-paying students. A majority vote and a change in the Rules and Regulations would be necessary.

Mrs. Mary G. Pronski of Winchester, a member of the audience, cited the present Zoning By Law which states that no more than four unrelated persons may live in the same house, a number to be reduced to two if the proposed new zoning is passed, and asked if this had been considered. Mr. Stockwell again mentioned his letter from the building inspector, while School Committee member Lane McGovern said that the program could establish its rights under the present zoning before the new by law could take effect, if it is adopted.

When questioned on the effects of the 10 additional students at the Senior High School, Principal Vincent E. Larocco responded that they would be "like throwing another grain of sand on the beach." "Numbers in themselves" are not the problem, he continued, but "psychologically" considered, he was opposed to acceptance of the ABC program at this time. "Staff morale" was the danger, where overcrowding, etc. threatens instructors. Although the staff has not been polled for its opinion, it seems "a most opportune time, but I may be entirely wrong."

William F. Clark, assistant superintendent for administrative services, recommended acceptance adding that "I personally think the ABC program is very successful." Like building a school, there is never a good time.

"Patience might give us an ideal condition," Mrs. Mary A. Mears, School Committee member, remarked. But zoning and the availability of a house were countered against this hope.

Mrs. Mears proposed a motion to eliminate the words "the School Committee finds it has adequate space" from the motion, feeling that the case was untrue. Mr. McGovern stated that this had to be included under statutory law. There was no second to her motion. The original motion then was given unanimous approval.

Latin

A discussion on the elimination of Latin as a formal part of the High School curriculum reflected the difficulty which is being experienced with staffing for 1971-1972. Action on this, as well as the elimination of German LV and Latin, was postponed for May 10 when it is hoped that more information will be available as to whether other towns are cutting out Latin and if it is required at this time by colleges for entrance.

Low projected enrollment in Latin and in German IV weighed against the need for two additional sections in French and Spanish have led to this request by Mr. Larocco. The staff could be juggled so that the two-fifths of a Latin teacher could be applied to the sections in French and Spanish. Efforts would be made to provide independent study or informal classes for those students disadvantaged by the language cuts.

Budget cuts have determined that no new staffing will be available. The elimination of 10th graders from the Typing I program allows for the scheduling of other commercial department requests, however. Mr. Larocco added, this cut would destroy the commercial course sequence for approximately 60 girls.

The Principal closed his comments by alluding to the fact that the School Department was approaching an infringement of the Teachers' Agreement which states that "every effort will be made not to exceed the following student total limits: 125 students for the secondary teacher in academic areas." The limitation for English teachers may also soon be exceeded. A grievance could be initiated.

In light of the fact that we do not exactly know where we are, concerning budget cuts," Mrs. Dieterich responded that there could be no definite answer to the requests that evening. More information will be forthcoming.

Related to this subject was the receipt of a petition containing 34 signatures for the instruction of Italian at the seventh grade level. Mr. Clark stated that it was not known how many would actually enroll in such an offering. However, it is true that in effect, curriculum can be legislated at the high school level as the outcome of a certain number of signatures on a petition.

A decision on the request will await the recommendations of the two junior high school principals and of Walter P. Gleason, assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction.

Vandalism

It was agreed by acclamation that in the future the policy concerning those apprehended for window breakage at the schools will be to obtain full restitution from the parents and to publicize the event.

The topic was introduced by mention of the recent damage at Vinson-Owen School totalling $1350 in which three youths were caught after police were alerted by the alarm system.

Personnel

Action taken under personnel matters included acceptance of the resignation of Mrs. Lois P. Carr as public information specialist. It is not known if this position will be refilled. A leave-of-absence without pay was granted to Miss Margaret M. Harkins, second grade teacher at Lincoln School, for 1971-1972. Also accepted were the resignations of Miss Susan M. McNeilly, physical education teacher at McCall Junior High School, and Mrs. Lillian V. Knight of the music department of Lynch Junior High School, both effective at the end of this school year.

Discussion of extracurricular positions was due to the recommendation of Winchester's Town Counsel that no such appointments be made at this time.

As the resignation of Miss Carol A. Cannon as assistant coach of girls' softball was approved, Miss Janet Keefe was elected to that position for the spring of 1971 at a stipend of $380. Miss Keefe has been filling that position since the softball season has been in progress.

Approval was given retroactively to payment of $180 to Robert Boyd for teaching an in-service course entitled, "Workshop in Television and Video-tape Production." Dr. William D. Barone was elected to serve as school medical officer for the 1971-1972 school at a salary of $7,800, the same salary which he received last year.

It was also the sense of the meeting that the administration be allowed to advertise informally the existence of vacancies in the summer workshop. The vagueness of this direction is due to the fact that cuts in the budget have rendered the number of positions and the durations of employment unknown at this time.

At the conclusion of the evening, Mrs. Holmes, who is also recording secretary for the School Committee, announced her resignation from that service, recommending that it take effect at the reorganization meeting. She will be pursuing evening studies related to her teaching at McCall. Mr. McGovern suggested that she "write herself a letter of enthusiastic thanks."

Rentals

Another matter likely to be taken up on May 10 is the subletting of rentals. The School Committee requested that the Community School Association provide a list, school by school, of those rental uses made of each institution.

Assistant Superintendent Clark was also recommending several changes be adopted in the Rules and Regulations pertaining to this topic, particularly in the area of custodial charges where the School Department is losing relatively large amounts of money.

Any action to be taken concerning the report on grouping originally submitted by Assistant Superintendent Gleason to the Committee on April 13 was indefinitely postponed. It was suggested as a subject for discussion sometime during the summer.

Announcements made at the School Committee meeting that evening include notification that the consultants for selection of a new superintendent of schools were gathering that day with the assistant superintendents, the Board of Selectmen, and the Finance Committee.

Another communication from the Town Counsel informed Committee members that the case of Attorney Herbert Lord against the School Committee for the renewal of the contract of Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald A. Klemmer last year had been dismissed by the Supreme Judicial Court.

Mention was also made of the court cases for assessment charges to Winchester for participation in the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School, which is still undergoing a preliminary hearing, and for release of system-wide results of the standardized achievement test give to all Massachusetts fourth graders, which has been dismissed.

Prior to adjournment Mrs. Pronski questioned the Committee in regard to her letter concerning the absence of Superintendent Klemmer, who is presently in Europe. Mrs. Pronski had asked about the financing of the

Item 6100

A motion to amend the last section of the present General By Laws so as to effect an exclusion of the $20 fine from the new Anti-Litter By Law, which cites its own fine of $50, was carried. Section 16, Article 3, of the General By Laws was also amended to remove the one-quarter-mile radius of Winchester Center limitation concerning the removal of snow and ice from the sidewalks, etc., of businesses.

Such removal, which was considered "not an undue burden," will apply throughout the Town in the future.

Attention was then removed to tabled Items 6100 and 6110 of Article 8, Members of the School and Finance Committees had reviewed the difference in their budget recommendations prior to presentation that Thursday night.

The budget for education was approved at a total of $5,587,479, composed of $4,769,951 for personal services, $782,235 for capital outlay. The amounts appropriated correspond with the original Finance Committee in all respects with the exception of the other expenses account. An increase of $20,520 was deemed necessary here, Mr. Kenney reported, in light of increases in fixed costs.

Reminiscing over the steps of deletion leading to the two versions offered by each committee the night of March 29, Mr. Kenney admitted that the "last $105,000 was the hardest." The $12,000 difference in personal services, one-third of a year, may be anticipated as savings for a full year at $350,000.

Mr. Kenney concluded that the figures presented April 22 were "all we could realistically ask the School Committee to accept." The School Department budget "certainly can't be turned-around in a year."

And Mrs. Harriet H. Dieterich, chairman of the School Committee, prefaced her remarks, "I can't say the School Committee is exactly happy" with the proposal, but, "we feel we will be able to get through the year with these figures." Areas in which further cuts have been made since March 29 include the two new teachers, temporary secretarial help, sabbaticals, one team leader, on-reading specialist, part time tutors for the perceptually handicapped, and audio visual equipment and supplies. Actual figures must wait upon such items as future teacher turnover, etc.

Discussion which followed wavered from reinstating programs deleted to ways for further or substituted cuts. The restoration of the driver education program was called by for Town Meeting Members Henry C. Heitz Jr. and Robert P. Joyce, both of Precinct 6. Mrs. Dieterich explained that this subsidy has been cut out, however, the program would still be offered at the student's expense.

Robert M. Winn, Member from Precinct 6, reiterated a suggestion from previous sessions that Assistant Superintendent for Administrative Services William F. Clark be placed in the Superintendent, thereby effecting saving in administrative costs.

It was the feeling of Town Meeting Member Arthur J. Hewis Jr., Precinct 1, that existing cuts had been made "only from where it hurts" and that more appropriately they should have come "from the top," meaning administrative positions.

A motion for reconsideration made by Mr. Hewis following adoption of the amended budget was lost.

Item 6110 was passed on a substitute motion to increase the Athletic Budget to $75,650, the request made by the School Committee on March 29. Mr. Kenney stated that the Finance Committee was agreeing to restore the $6,000 asked by the School Committee because it "had not completely understood the manner" in which this budget was formulated. The only valid method in which to reduce the Athletics Budget this year, he continued, was by delving into two or three sports programs. However, the Finance Committee "still feels it is a valid principle to look into" evaluation of the athletic program, especially with an eye to stipends.

In expressing favor for the amended budget, Mrs. Dieterich trip and about its duration. Speaking for the Committee, Mr. McGovern said that specific answers to the duration of the absence, etc. could not be answered until Dr. Klemmer has returned and discussed his trip with the members. A period of three weeks was cited.

Earlier approval to placement in the public record of the open and executive session minutes of April 6 and 13 was given. The Committee adjourned with the intention to conduct its next regular meeting on May 10. They hope to tour the new high school and discuss its program and staffing.

stated that the School Committee felt that this was "one of the most worthwhile" programs in the school system.

Article 33

A request for indefinite postponement on Article 35 concerning a plan for the improvement of Winchester Center was granted by Town Meeting Members.

In lieu of the scheduled report on this proposal, Otto J. Schaefer Jr., chairman of the Planning Board, stated that the plan was realized to be "a little more complicated than visualized." When the article had been placed in the Warrant in December, it had been intended to use this Town Meeting as a preparatory step on the plan.

Describing the plan as "imaginative," of "great merit," and containing "radical steps," Mr. Schaefer predicted that it would again be submitted for an "early" Special Town Meeting. Copies of the report are available in the Planning Board office.

A motion to reimburse Attorney Herbert Lord, a Town Meeting Member from Precinct 6, from selling land on an oral contract was denied by a vote of 61 to 100. Mr. Lord was requesting $500 for the payment of actual court costs.

The case involved the sale of land which is the present site of the Muraco School. According to Mr. Lord the then Board of Selectmen intended to sell this lot to private interests who would use it for business purposes. Attorney Lord said that he was so "disgusted" by this intended action that "surely I was a volunteer," alluding to the actions which he took. The court issued a restraining order, he continued, and the land was rezoned for residential purposes only at a subsequent Town Meeting and eventually became the location of the Muraco School.

Chairman Swanson, who echoed the many expressions of "appreciation for all his services to this Town," reported that a court case in June of 1967 and in the Supreme Court in January of 1969 both found that where Mr. Lord had received no contract from the Town for his actions that his services were voluntary and that the Town was under no obligation to make reimbursement. It was also ruled that "no services were performed for the town."

Town Counsel Leonard V. Mullen Jr. added that Winchester itself was never reimbursed for five instances of the costs of court proceedings and that Mr. Lord's petition had been dismissed by the courts. He suggested that the only means by which the Town could reimburse Mr. Lord would be through a petition to the General Court.

The Finance Committee recommended unfavorable action because "it was not the sort of precedent (paying for voluntary services) that the Town would want to set." A bid for reconsideration made later in the evening was lost.

Article 37

Article 37 to authorize the sale of land in the vicinity of the West Side playground was indefinitely postponed.

Article 38

Under Article 38 Town Meeting Members authorized the use of Chapter 90 funds for improvements to Forest Street. Mr. Swanson informed his audience that a total of $135,000, composed of $45,000 for each year 1969, 1970, and 1971, has been dedicated to the complete resurfacing and installation of sidewalks on Forest Street. Under Chapter 90 75 per cent reimbursement of these costs is made to Winchester through the State Department of Public Works and the County Commissioner. An appropriation of $45,000 was approved.

Article 39

As in previous years the Building Laws Revision Committee was proposing changes in Winchester's Building Laws for the purpose of up-dating. "Relatively minor refinements and clarifications" were involved. Chairman James B. L. Lane commented. The motion was carried.

Discussion fell upon the definitions of "apartment house," "dwelling unit," and "group house." Such definition changes would affect future alterations, but existing buildings, "as they stand," will not have to conform with the changes. It was also noted, eyeing the future, that building laws can or can not affect the Zoning By Laws.

Articles 40 and 41

The recommendation by the Board of Selectmen to indefinitely postpone both Articles 40 and 41 was accepted. The Metropolitan District Commission wishes to make gifts of North Border Road and Hillcrest Parkway. Mr. Swanson stated that the relative rights and responsibilities of the Town and the M.D.C. were still being discussed.

Addressing himself to the situation on North Border Road, Eugene B. Rotondi, Town Meeting Member from Precinct 1, alluded to the case of a relative who was residing on this way without any legal address but nevertheless paid Winchester taxes. The Town does not plow North Border Road, he added, and urged that a decision be made soon.

Article 42

Unanimous approval was given to Article 42 for the appropriation of $8,000 for the acquisition of Winchester easements and construction of a water drainage system on a portion of Sargent Road. A two-thirds vote was required.

Residents of the unaccepted portion of Sargent Road have claimed that improvements to Standish Lane completed in 1970 have caused drainage problems for Sargent. Mr. Swanson offered as background. The Selectmen were unable to obtain releases from all seven abutters to allow for the laying of drain pipes. The situation is also said to be irritating run-off conditions on Town Way.

The appropriation will cover construction costs, any damages, and acquisition of easements by agreement, purchase, or eminent domain. The Finance Committee, citing a "real problem," recommended favorable action.

Article 43

Article 43 for the attainment of utility easements at Bates and Tutts Roads was indefinitely postponed.

Article 44

A request of the Board of Selectmen for $3,400 for the construction of curbing on one side of Palmer Street and of an off-street parking area at that site was denied by Town Meeting Members. The proposal was made, Selectmen contended, in an effort to eliminate the "traffic hazard" at this location and to discourage parking on the side of Palmer Street, a problem termed "acute" during the tennis season. The Park Commission was "in full agreement" with the Board.

The Finance Committee suggested unfavorable action because it did not feel that such a parking area would be used, a sentiment echoed by Town Meeting Members Richard D. Dexter, Mr. Heitz, and Mr. Winn stressed enforcement of a "no parking" regulation posted on one side of Palmer Street. Mr. Swanson said that this would be done and that a sign indicating the existence of off-street parking on Palmer would be erected.

The motion was lost on a voice vote.

Article 45

Article 45 to see if the Town would vote to petition the General Court to issue licenses for the sale of alcoholic beverages to clubs, etc., was moved for indefinite postponement.

Item 3400

A two-thirds requirement was overcome for reconsideration of Item 3400 of Article 8, the Civil Defense Budget. Reopening discussion was Wilbur C. Otis of the Auxiliary Fire Department, who requested the purchase of three Civil Defense radios at a total of $750 for three auxiliary firefighters who have become five-year men.

The radios are granted to those men who respond to a certain number of calls. There will be no more five-year men until 1974, Mr. Otis added. The Board of Selectmen and Finance Committee recommended favorable action.

In final action on Item 3400 the budget was amended by a $750 increase in the equipment account for a budget total of $6,205. Successful reopening of discussion on Article 4 dealing with the procedures of the Personnel Board was obtained by Member Gerald D. Saks, Precinct 4. He proposed three motions for changes in such policies. Two-thirds reconsideration was not gained, however.

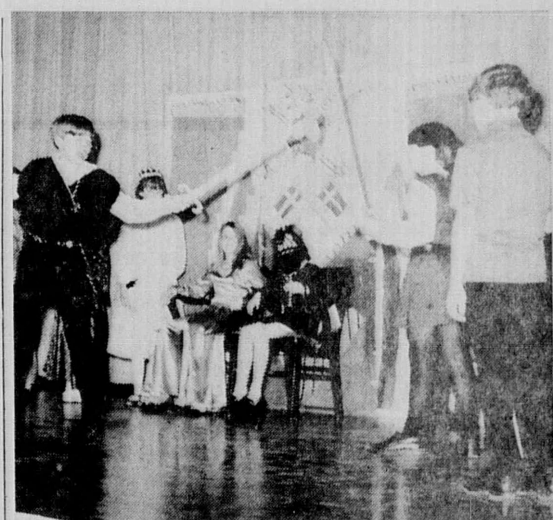

The motions in substance were: as of the 1972 Annual Town Meeting salaries and other compensations arrived at by the Personnel Board should be shown as they relate to the personal services account of each Town budget; that the major guideline used in compensating Town employees at a median with surrounding towns be enlarged to take into consideration the economic conditions in the Greater Boston area; and that multiple-year contracts should no longer be agreed to by negotiators for Winchester without the prior direction of a Town Meeting.

Mr. Kenney's statement "in sympathy with the spirit" of the motions was shared by several Members. However, Mr. Kenney continued, the "specifics" are too specific at this time." Mr. Swanson suggested that discussion should first be taken up with the Personnel Board.

It was generally agreed that the subject should be reintroduced at a future Special Town Meeting. The proposal prompted Moderator Harrison Chadwick to remark that at times "all of us are negligent in communicating our feelings to the boards."

Article 46

Article 46 was a catch-all for discussion of Town committees. It provided Moderator Chadwick with the opportunity to thank all of these groups for their services to the Town and to comment upon the up-coming Special Town Meeting on the proposed new Zoning By Laws.

Other action under this article was for the discharge of the Building Laws Revision Committee with the thanks of the Town. Chairman Lane stated that his committee "feels we've done our job" and had transformed the code into a "good document." It was also believed that the Planning Board together with its consultant would be capable of making any future revisions which became necessary due to the adoption of the proposed new zoning.

Noting the cooperation which the Planning Board has received from the Revisions Committee, Mr. Schaefer added that the committee had "rendered a professional service." It was felt that the Board was "set for changes" in building laws as a result of new zoning.

A bid to establish a five-member Recreation Study Committee was lost. Mr. Joyce proposed an appropriation of $1,000 for an in-depth study of programs and facilities, believing that Winchester's youth is not satisfied with present offerings.

Mr. Kenney recommended unfavorable action, rejecting the idea of setting up "two competing groups," the proposed study committee and the existing Recreation Committee, for the same purpose.

When questioned as to what had become of the naming of High Street School, John J. Sullivan, chairman of the Committee on Names, offered that the only action taken this year had been on streets. A conflict had arisen, he continued, over whether the school should be named for a Vietnam veteran or not. In light of three such deaths during the past year, it was felt that for the sake of the parents involved it would be better to remove such consideration "from the emotion of last summer." An actual time for the naming was not mentioned.

The last article before the Town Meeting concerned the withdrawal of a sum from the Excess and Deficiency Fund to be used against the tax rate and to be contributed to the stabilization fund. In an amendment to the Finance Committee proposal made by Michael D. Saraco, Town Meeting Member from Precinct 6, the amount to be deposited in the stabilization fund was deleted, leaving only money to be used against the tax rate. The amended motion was passed.

The original motion suggested by the Finance Committee called for the withdrawal of $400,000 from the Excess and Deficiency Fund, $250,000 against the tax rate and $150,000 for the stabilization fund. Mr. Kenney remarked at this time that the Excess and Deficiency Fund was currently at its lowest point and that the stabilization fund, which has been building over the years, now contained $510,000.

Citing the plight of Winchester's senior citizens who are losing their homes and property to high tax rates, Mr. Saraco estimated that the elimination of the $150,000 contribution would reduce the tax rate by about $1. (The cut actually works out to a 75-76 cent savings, according to Mr. Kenney.)

Reiterating his committee's strong belief in the stabilization fund, Mr. Kenney said that a "one-time proposition" was presently available to the Town, and therefore, depositing money into the Town's "savings" account was desirable.

A previous motion by Mr. Hewis to amend the original proposal by increasing the total withdrawal from the Excess and Deficiency Fund to $596,000, also in effect lessening the tax rate, had been defeated.

The motion to amend as suggested by Mr. Saraco was carried by a vote of 81 to 65. The article was then adopted with the amendment and Town Meeting Member Jeremiah McCarron's last motion at the Annual Town Meeting, for adjournment, was accepted.

defend your trees... the oak leaf skeletonizers are coming!

Remember the army of greenish-yellow caterpillars that defaced and practically defoliated your oak trees a year ago? It's almost their time to march again! They did millions of dollars in damage in 1970!

Nobody knows, exactly, why the skeletonizers (Bucculatrix ainsliei botanically speaking) have become so numerous in recent years. But the fact is—they attacked in hungry hordes in 1969 and 1970—and it could happen again.

IT'S HAPPENING NOW!
Everyday the skeletonizer eggs are maturing in small white cocoons on tree bark, fallen leaves, etc. When it's warm enough, they'll hatch into caterpillars with ravenous appetites that quickly turn the underside of oak leaves brown and speckle the top side white. When disturbed or satiated, they spin down from the trees on threads. Remember... trees weakened by the attacks of 1969 and 1970 can succumb to another heavy attack.

PROMPTNESS CAN SAVE THE BEAUTY OF YOUR TREES!
Scientific sprayers now by licensed pesticide applicators can greatly reduce skeletonizer damage—both when they hatch this Spring, and when the second (and larger) brood hatches in early Fall. And fertilizing now can help trees damaged last year.

Two Scouting Awards Conferred

Two Winchester residents were among the six persons honored for "distinguished service to boyhood" by the Minuteman Council, Boy Scouts of America Tuesday night, April 20.

Awards were presented at the Council's Annual Scouter Recognition Dinner to Mrs. Claire E. Mullen, who received the Silver Fawn Award, and to James P. Kennedy, accepting the Silver Beaver Award.

The featured speaker for this 12th annual event was Alden G. Barber, chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America. Mr. Barber spoke on the progress and the future of "Boyscouts '76."

"Boyscouts '76" is an eight-year plan launched by the Boy Scouts of America on January 1, 1969, and climaxing in 1976, the 200th anniversary of the United States. Its purpose has been stated as: "To deeply involve a representative one-third of all American boys in Scouting" and "to help the families and institutions of the Nation prepare a new generation with the skill and confidence to master the changing demands of America's future and prepared to give leadership to it."

Douglas McVicar Article To Run In May Yankee

"The View from Mount Auburn" is one of pastoral beauty, of nature at her best, according to an article by Douglas McVicar of 24 Clearwater Road, illustrated with photos by Andrew and Lorraine Hoglund, to appear in the May issue of Yankee magazine.

The 72 acres that make up Mount Auburn Cemetery are famous for a fascinating variety of flowers and shrubs, as well as for the prominent people who have been interred there since 1831, Mr. McVicar writes.

Jacob Bigelow, botanist, poet, and physician, was the motivating force in the formation of the cemetery. Unhappy about existing burial conditions, he and a few concerned friends announced plans for a garden cemetery, and offered 100 subscriptions for lots at $60 each. Six thousand dollars was quickly raised to purchase a 72-acre site in rural Cambridge. Called originally, Stone Woods, the grounds were renamed Mount Auburn, and roads and paths were laid out to conform to the natural land contours. Dr. Bigelow, dedicated botanist that he was, named nearly every hill, pond, and path for the names of plants. The consecration of the cemetery took place in 1831, Judge Joseph Story officiating. The first burial, that of a child, took place the following summer.

Since then, Mt. Auburn has grown in beauty. Exquisite monuments and statues have been erected and a beautifully designed chapel and gate were added. The plantings have become famous among botanists as well as private citizens, while the rare migrating birds that stop at the cemetery in the spring and fall have drawn bird watchers by the hundreds, Mr. McVicar points out.

Many famous people are buried at Mount Auburn, — John Adams, John Bartlett, Edwin Booth, and Mary Baker Eddy are interred there, along with Isabella Stewart Gardner, Winslow Homer, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and Fanny Farmer, to name but a few, Mr. McVicar observed.

Mr. McVicar is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McVicar. He was graduated from Winchester High School. After receiving his bachelor's degree, from Harvard College in June upon completing his pre-medical studies, he will enter Dartmouth Medical School. He has taken several courses in writing. He wrote an article on large street clocks which appeared in the Boston Herald-Traveler.

Mr. McVicar's sister, Carol, is a freshman at Ohio Wesleyan University. His brother, Bruce, is in the ninth grade at McCall Junior High School.

Home And Garden On Arrangements

The monthly meeting of the Winchester Home and Garden Club was held Wednesday, April 21, at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

Springtime came with dessert and coffee last Wednesday. Mrs. Edmund Wright's centerpiece of fresh vegetables, pink geraniums, and large, deep red roses in a brass compote was featured at the table's center. The special dessert was an ice cream cake decorated with a variety of spring flowers in pastel colors.

Following a brief business meeting, Program Chairman Mrs. James Grassi introduced guest speaker, Mrs. Helen Snow Wilson Goddard, author and lecturer. Her program, titled "Table Settings with Arrangements," featured a table setting and floral arrangement for each day of the week from Monday's breakfast to Sunday evening's entertaining. Size, color and texture were Mrs. Goddard's guidelines.

Table settings included pottery and fine china with linen subdued or bright bringing it altogether. Don't hesitate to try something new. Combine the cultivated flower with wildflowers, fruits with flowers or vegetables with dried fruit. According to Mrs. Goddard, the successful arrangement depends on what it is, how it was put together and where you are going to use it.

Mrs. Goddard's program was well received.

Creative Use Of Leisure Is Project: Potential's Program For Youngsters

"Project: Potential was the best thing that's happened in Winchester in ten years!"

This typically exuberant assessment comes from someone who should know. Tom Abdella is an editor of the Lincoln School's sixth grade newspaper and has been a citizen of Winchester for all of his 11 years. For Tom, and for the greater part of his fellow sixth graders, Saturday afternoon had become an empty time, "a kind of a drag," as one sixth grader put it, and the prospect of new things to do had the kids clamoring at the schoolhouse door this Spring for five Saturdays in a row.

Project: Potential, a pilot program for sixth graders, who completed the Drug Education curriculum earlier this year, implemented one of the basic concepts of that curriculum — the obligation of members of a society to fulfill their potential. By encouraging the creative use of leisure time while simultaneously providing opportunities for strengthening relationships between people of different ages, the program was aimed at helping to develop in these young people the confidence necessary to withstand "peer pressures" to conform to drug use later on. Sponsored by the Recreation Department, the idea was encouraged by the schools involved, given the unanimous approval of CONCERN, and sparked by the active participation of many WACE volunteers.

Under the leadership of Town Meeting Member Kenneth Trevett of 4 Woodside Road; Kim Wallace, Long Wharf, Boston, whose advertising and photographic expertise helped to promote the program; Dorothy Daddona, Lincoln School sixth grade teacher, formerly associated with a similar activities program while teaching at Milton Academy; and Mrs. Donald K. Lewis, 40 Wedgemere Avenue, Project Potential was held on five consecutive Saturday afternoons at McCall Junior High School. An average attendance of 100 sixth graders confirmed the group's supposition that there are many young people in Winchester looking for alternatives to "hanging around."

Kim Wallace, who interviewed sixth graders in preparation for the program, said, "I was surprised at the number of Winchester kids who told me that Saturday is generally a boring day. They have very few meaningful activities available to them on the weekend. Project: Potential helps in this respect."

The alternatives selected for the program were decided upon mutually by sixth graders and leaders alike. The activities ranged from the quiet dedication of the chess-players and musicians to the boisterous fervor of the gymnasts and acrobats.

Though the intention of the planners of the program had been to limit the size of the various groups to four or five students per leader, to provide a maximum of contact between age levels, the tremendous turnout for the sessions precluded the realization of this ideal in several of the projects. Nonetheless, the benefit derived from the program was substantial, and by no means limited to the schoolchildren, the leaders felt.

Ken Trevett commented, "I don't think of it as a program simply for sixth graders. The high school students and adults involved in the activities found them as much a learning experience as the young people. Their creative potential was challenged as greatly in directing the program as the potential of the kids in participating in them." He said that the final judgment must come, of course, from the sixth graders like Tom Abdella who took part in the program.

Dorothy Daddona, who as their teacher is closer to these children than the other leaders, reports that the response to the program among them has been overwhelming; questionnaires completed by the sixth grade at the conclusion of the project indicated unanimous approval on the part of the participants and, surprisingly enough, strong interest on the part of some of the few who didn't attend any of the sessions.

The enthusiasm generated by both leaders and participants indicates that people of all ages would welcome an on-going program of this type, the leaders said. Project Potential was presented as a pilot demonstration to determine if the broad community support necessary for the development of such an idea would be forthcoming.

A part-time coordinator, possibly using existing town facilities, would seem necessary to assure its success, the leaders believe. Those interested in working toward this goal with the existing committee may call: Kenneth Trevett, 729-6132; Donald Spinney, 729-4514; or Mary Lewis, 729-6308.

Photography: Kim Wallace, Jay Kent, Torrey Wallace.

Creative Arts: Paula Witcamp, Jim Graves, Valia Downes, Florence Haley.

Macrame and Handicrafts: Flora Verellone, Cathy Comp, Betty Boyce.

Chess and Bridge: Herb Ostrach, Selena Fitzpatrick.

Roving Reporters: Kenneth Trevett, Richard Willis.

Acrobatics: Nicholas Burrage, Rhonda Raffi, Jeff Hellman, Judy Williams, Diane Berrier.

Model Airplanes: Gunner Brink, James Aylward, William Harney.

Petmanship: Daniel Doyle, Kevin Carey, Jeff Loftus, Nancy Cole.

Motor Vehicle Inspection Time Now Half Over

"Although the compulsory motor vehicle inspection period is half over, only one-third of the registered motor vehicles and trailers in the state have been presented for inspection according to Massachusetts law," according to Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin.

"Inspecting the remaining 1,800,000 vehicles in a three-week period will be a gigantic task for official station adjusters who are also busy with repair work," Mr. McLaughlin said.

"Now is the time to have your vehicle inspected," he stated.

Mr. McLaughlin said that any vehicle without a blue sticker and any vehicle with a red and white rejection sticker will not be allowed on the highways after May 15.

To avoid further delay, the Registrar reminded drivers of the following:

1. The current registration certificate must be presented to the adjuster before the vehicle may be inspected.

2. All registration plates must contain a deal showing month of expiration which matches the registration certificate.

3. Persons appearing at an inspection station in April with a staggered registration plate ending in a "4" which has already been renewed must have both the current and renewal registration certificate with them.

4. Persons appearing at an inspection station in May with a staggered registration plate ending in a "5" which has already been renewed must have both the current and renewal registration certificate with them.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

Let's say that the single man mentioned in last week's column got married at 24 years of age, and that his income is now $6,500 a year. Should he increase his insurance over the $10,000 policy he took out when he was 22?

The answer is yes. He should increase his whole life to $20,000 and take out a $10,000 term policy for himself and a $5,000 term policy on his wife.

A few years pass and we now find this same couple with two children, 3 and 5. The man is 30 years of age and his income is $9,000 a year. Should he increase his insurance again?

Indeed yes! He should have $18,500 additional whole life and $55,000 additional term policies.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

How much does it cost you to borrow money? The answer depends on several factors, of course. Let's say you finance a car or new TV set.

Or maybe you want to borrow for a vacation. Depending on the financing, it will cost 9 percent to 24 percent.

you're considering such a purchase, don't delay any longer.

Now let's consider the cost of interest on home loans. A typical figure would be 6½ percent. This would be a true annual interest rate. The figure would be precisely stated in your contract. And the rate wouldn't vary. Throughout the life of the loan your interest never changes. And it's lower than for any other type of financing.

The conclusion is obvious. A new home is today's best buy. If

Lieutenant Governor To Speak At Winchester Mornings Series

Lieutenant Governor Donald R. Dwight will be a speaker for the 24th annual Winchester Mornings, a series of three fall lectures sponsored by the Winchester Wellesley Club. Proceeds are shared by the Winchester Scholarship Foundation and Wellesley College.

Club President Mrs. Ronald Stillman and Mornings Chairman Mrs. Robert Mirak have announced the 1971 speakers, topics, and dates as: Mrs. Emily P. Flint, former managing editor of the Atlantic magazine, "People of the Sun: Mexico and Peru" (September 23); Marshall I. Goldman, professor of economics at Wellesley College, "Pollution — Russian Style" (October 7); and Lieutenant Governor Dwight, "Streamlining State Government" (October 21).

Held on Thursday mornings in Hadley Hall, Church of the Epiphany, the lectures are preceded by coffee at 9:45 a.m., with the speaker introduced at 10:15. Series tickets will be sold by club member callers during the first two weeks in May. Those who are not contacted may call Ticket Chairman Mrs. James Coggins, 729-8099. Mrs. Samuel Warren and Mrs. Melbourne Higgins will have charge of the coffee. Mrs. John Russell will handle publicity.

Mrs. Flint's long interest in archaeology grew during her editing of the 1963 Atlantic issue on Mexico and her several trips to that country. Convinced that archaeology can be vivid and understandable to the layman, she will illustrate her talk with black pottery, jewelry, and artifacts, as well as vignettes from this summer's trip to Harvard digs in Mexico and Peru. A highlight of her trip will be a visit to Machu Picchu, a "secret" city in the Andes where descendants of the Incas perform an ancient winter solstice ceremony.

MRS. EMILY P. FLINT

A graduate of Barnard with degrees from Tufts and Columbia Libraries School, Mrs. Flint was with The Atlantic for 19 years. She recently established her own freelance business, Creative Editing, Inc., and is editor of publications at Peabody Museum, Harvard University. She is active in civic and political affairs as well as being a public speaker.

Mr. Goldman's subject will be "Pollution — Russian Style." Mr. Goldman's special field is the Soviet economy. He is engaged in research on pollution in the Soviet Union. He has made five trips to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, the most recent in December, 1970.

He was one of 23 economists and social scientists from throughout the world who attended the conference on environmental disruption which was held in Tokyo in March, 1970. Author of several books and articles, he also conducts a monthly TV program, "Making Cents," for WHDH's Classroom 5.

Mr. Goldman graduated from the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania and received grad-

Stickmen Pick Up Two Wins During School Vacation Week

by John F. Parrell

Coach Gene Bouley's lacrosse team added two more victories to their 1971 record last week as they bested Needham, 7-5, and soundly trounced a badly outclassed Framingham South team, 14-0. The game with Needham was close until the Sachems pulled out to a four goal lead in the final stanza. The Framingham game saw the varsity in action only for the first half when they piled up a 9-0 margin and the reserves played the entire second half and still added to the score.

Needham was a worthy foe and peppered Rick Murphy in the Winchester cage with 45 shots. Rick played his usual steady and sometimes sensational game to limit the opposition to only five goals. Winchester started slowly and over the first three periods play was quite even with a 2-2 half time tally and a 3-3 deadlock after three sessions of play. However, Winchester roared out strong over the first part of the final quarter to net four quick goals and put the game out of reach for the Bay State League boys. Over the final minutes the reserves were used and the two goals netted by Needham were only incidental to the final score of 7-5.

Captain Phil Sampson was the leading scorer for the day with three goals. Gary Fincke added a pair. Curt Woodward and Chris Osgood each netted one, and John Thomas was credited with an assist. Newton defeated Needham later in the week, 11-8, thus setting the stage for a real crucial contest for the Bouleymen when they journey to the Garden City for their game on May 7.

The score of 14-0 tells 'better than any words' can just how badly the visitors were outclassed by the Sachems. The local team was playing well and the Framingham boys managed only 13 shots on the Winchester goal in the entire game. Curt Woodward led the offense attack as he scored four times and Bill Logan added three more with some nice shots from outside. Gary Fincke's goal and two assists and a solo by John Thomas rounded out the varsity total of nine over the first half.

With the reserve players in action Tom Belden tallied twice and single goals went to Jack Brennan,

Sachem Nine Defeated In Two Of League Games

by John F. Parrell

The Winchester High baseball nine dropped two more games last week as they fell before Belmont by 6-2 and dropped their home opener to Wakefield by 6-4. The team has been playing good baseball in the field but has been badly hampered by anemic batting and some shaky pitching in the opening innings.

As in the Concord game opening the season, Belmont went right to work and tallied all their runs in the first two innings. Dana Peterson came on in the midst of the five run second inning outburst and although allowing a two run homer he proved effective until Larry Penta came on to finish off the final frame. John Procopio and Bob Salvucci each had singles, but neither of the bingles was part of the Winchester scoring effort.

A first inning run by the Sachems was the only score in the Wakefield game. Peterson checked the visitors until the third when the visitors chalked up a pair. Another came across in the fourth and Larry Penta came on the pitch the last three frames.

Winchester's hitting was better in this game but was really not powerful since eight of the hits were singles and the other pair doubles by Procopio and Salvucci. A last inning rally good for a pair of runs fell short, and the record is now 0-3 for the year. Coach Colella's team is by no means out of the running, there is nothing seriously wrong that a few more hits and more airtight pitching cannot correct.

The summaries:

Belmont 1 5 0 0 0 0 x-6 7 0 Winchester 2 0 0 0 0 0-2 2 0

Wakefield 0 0 2 1 2 1 0-6 10 0 Win. 1 0 0 0 1 0 2-4 10 1

Batteries: Dawson and Boghas; Peterson, Penta (5), and James.

Last Chance To Register For Cap League Here

Parents of boys who are interested in playing Cap League baseball this year are reminded that applications must be submitted on or before opening day, which will be at Ginn Field, Sunday, May 2, at 1 p.m. All Winchester boys who will be seven years of age and will not have reached 11 years of age before August 1, 1971 are eligible for Cap League, and all who register before the deadline will be accepted if they are not playing for another organized baseball team.

Application blanks are available at the Winchester Sport Shop and should be returned there as soon as possible, together with the three-dollar fee.

A schedule of 11 league games is planned for each team. To be played at Ginn and West Side Fields on Saturday and Sunday, beginning on Saturday, May 8. Each Cap Leaguer will receive a cap and number, and will play in every game he attends.

The purpose of the Winchester Cap League is to teach young boys the principles of good sportsmanship and team spirit and to help them acquire the knowledge and skills of playing baseball. In past years Cap League has provided a lot of fun for the boys participating, and pleasure for its many spectators while preserving these purposes, and it is expected that this year's program will continue this tradition, officials said.

The Cap League does not want any eligible boy to be disappointed, but cannot guarantee acceptance of late applicants. It is therefore urged that all who have not yet applied do so immediately. Those who have already applied are urged to remind friends and neighbors to register their boys by opening day, so that no interested Winchester boy is unhappy because the Cap League games begin without him.

Discus Relay

Fourth In Meet

Coach Manny Marshall's track team took part in the annual State relay carnival held last Saturday. The Class D division took place at Acton-Boxboro stadium. By virtue of a good effort on the part of Chip Emery, George Geannaris, and John Devries, the discus team finished fourth among competing schools. With less than a foot more for total throws the Sachem platter hurlers might well have been the winners. The fourth place gave Winchester two points in the final standing of the teams.

By placing in this meet the discus relay team qualified for the invitational relays, to be held on the weekend of May 8.

Track Team Loses Meet To Melrose, 78-53

by John F. Parrell

The Sachem track team opened its outdoor season with a 78-53 loss to Melrose in a meet held at Manchester Field. Coach Manny Marshall has a small squad and boys out of town for the vacation further depleted the ranks. However, by some surprising scoring in the field events the Winchester team led at the half way mark by 32-22 after six events had been completed.

However, a complete collapse of the short distance runners found the Raiders tallying 32 points in the 100, 220, 440, and 880-yard events to only four by the Winchester team. This built the winning margin, even though victories by Peter Wild in the pole vault and Terry Quinn in the two mile helped to check the Melrose onslaught.

The summary:

Long Jump: DePitris (M), Gouzele (W), Alfano (M) Distance: 19 ft., 5 1/2 in. Discus: Emery (W), Goldthwait (M), Devries (W) Distance 136 ft., 8 in. Javelin: Garcelon (W), Bernard (M), Graham (M) Distance 166 ft., 1 in. High Jump: Hicks (W), Leach (M), Graham (M) Height 5 ft., 7 in. 2 Mile: Arnold (W), Curtis (W), Leahy (M) Time: 10 minutes, 45.5 seconds. High Hurdles: Hill (W), Leach (M), Butler (M) Time: 17.1 seconds. Shot Put: Gilligan (M), Goldthwait (M), Emery (W) Distance: 44 ft., 5 in.

100 yard dash: DePitris (M), Buckley (M), Guarante (W) Time: 10.9 seconds. 220 yard dash: DePitris (M), Buckley (M), Manus (W) Time: 24 seconds. Low hurdles: Brown (M), Hill (W), Leach (M) Time: 20.6 seconds. 440 yard run: Alfano (M), Hemenway (M), Trefon (W) Time: 55.5 seconds. 880 yard run: Graham (M), Ferrieri (M), Tatarian (M) Time: 2 minutes, 55.5 seconds.

Mile run: Quinn (W), Cerretani (M), Tucker (M) Time: 4 minutes, 48.8 seconds.

Pole vault: Wild (W), Nichols (W), Ross (M) Height: 9 ft., 6 in. Relay: Won by Melrose (Ross, Cunata, Hemenway and Alfano) Time: 1 minute, 44.1 seconds.

Winchester failed to score on two power plays in the opening minutes of the third period. Winthrop then scored an insurance goal by Mike Herbert as he put in a rebound of his teammate's shot to make it 5-2.

In spite of Winchester's loss defensive work was turned in by Chris McCarthy and hustling winger Bill Strazullo.

Winchester will host the Byfield Squirts at Hockytown at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, May 1.

Wee Sachems Split Games

The Wee Sachems, Winchester's Pee Wee soccer team, split the first two games of the season, losing 4-3 to Wellesley and winning 5-0 from Medford.

The season's opener for the Winchester team, defending champions of the Boston Area Youth Soccer League saw the Wee Sachems roar back from a three-goal deficit to tie the strong Wellesley team, with goals being scored by Matt McCroaly, Allyn Stillman, and William Strazullo. The match appeared to be headed for a draw, when, with less than a minute to play, Wellesley put together a determined drive and scored the winning goal.

The second game was against an old opponent of the Wee Sachems, Medford. The Winchester boys handily bent this undermanned but scrappy team, 5-0. Errol Burke, who recently moved to Winchester from London, England, did most of the damage to Medford by booting in four goals. The fifth goal was scored by Norman Alpert, who also assisted on two of Burke's goals.

The Wee Sachems travel to Hudson for a 2 p.m. match Saturday, May 1.

Mall Expo Will Have 37 Troops

Thirty-seven Winchester Girl Scout troops will participate with 300 troops from neighboring towns in the Mystic Side Council Girl Scout Expo at Burlington Mall from April 29 through May 2. Eleven of the Winchester troops, including Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes, and Seniors, have prepared fixed exhibits. These include camping posters, creative stitchery, prints, macrame, and other displays illustrating the Girl Scout program.

Live demonstrations of many kinds will be presented by 22 Winchester troops at various times during the four-day Expo. Folk dancing, folk singing, an ecology play, a flag ceremony, and a can dance highlight the Winchester girls' presentations. The live demonstrations can be seen on Thursday and Friday, April 29 and 30, from 4 to 8 p.m.; on Saturday, May 1, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and on Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. A schedule posted at the Mall gives the exact time of individual troop demonstrations.

Four Winchester Cadette troops will be among the troops from many towns taking part in Expo fashion shows. Troops 506, 510, and 703 will model their own creations on Friday night at seven. Troop 501 will be on view Saturday afternoon at two.

Mrs. John K. Friberg of Winchester is program chairman of Girl Scout Expo. Mrs. Harold Warford and Mrs. Clifford Orman are neighborhood coordinators.

Art Not Only For Art's Sake

Conversation at Vinson-Owen School has taken the form of window painting. Over 20 confused birds were killed last year by accidentally flying into the glass paneled stairways which connect the three levels of the school. This year students were encouraged to paint decorative pictures on each panel of glass in an experiment which might save the lives of other birds.

The success of the project is three-fold. Not only are the hallways of glass bright and attractive, but bird disasters have been almost eliminated. One unfortunate victim fell while the designs were being changed and the glass had to be cleaned. The painting also serves as a creative art experience.

So Vinson-Owen students have learned a great deal from their efforts, and the entire school population and many birds enjoy the benefits.

Beneficiaries' Names Often Wrong, VA Says

Grieving widows of recently deceased veterans are all too often dealt a second emotional blow when they learn that they are not covered by their husband's life insurance the Veterans Administration said.

The cause of the problem is clear. Usually the veteran simply never got around to naming his wife as beneficiary. The veterans' agency can't help because the VA is obligated by law to pay the proceeds to the beneficiary of record.

In a typical case, the veteran named his mother as beneficiary when he first took out his insurance policy upon entering military service. Then, when he eventually married, he forgot to tell the VA to change the beneficiary. When the veteran died, the policy still designated his mother to receive, say $10,000 in insurance.

In another kind of case, the name of a former wife may still be listed as the beneficiary on the policy. Thus, a widow, who often assumed she was the beneficiary, learns for the first time that the $10,000 does not go to her, but to her husband's mother or former wife. In many cases, this results in a substantial hardship for the widow and young children, the VA said.

Every veteran who wants to change his beneficiary, or to ascertain whom he has listed as beneficiary, was urged to contact the VA insurance center to which he pays his premiums, in Philadelphia or St. Paul. If possible, a veteran should include his insurance number, as well as his full name and address.

Dr. Klemmer Accepts Position In India

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald A. Klemmer will become director of the American International School in New Delhi, India. The School Department released information Wednesday, May 5, that Dr. Klemmer will become director (superintendent) in the school next year.

Dr. Klemmer announced his resignation as superintendent of schools in Winchester this past February and will have completed three years as the superintendent when he leaves during the summer for his new responsibilities.

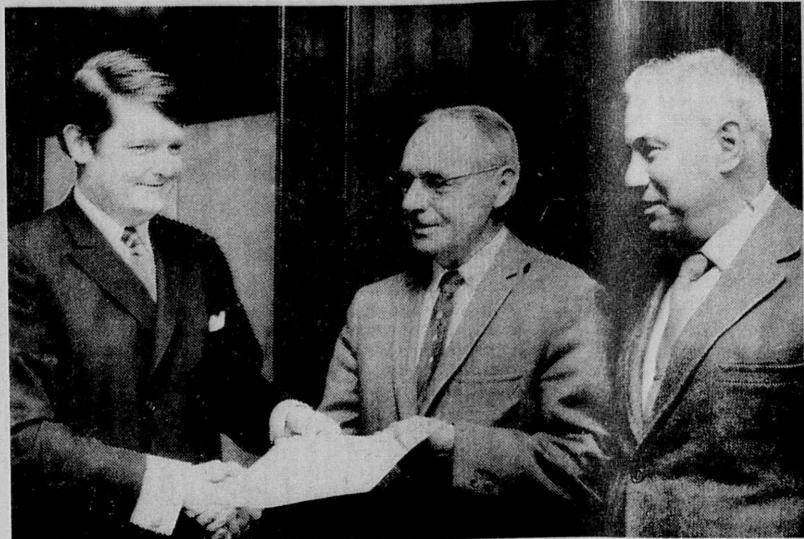

In New Delhi Dr. Klemmer will be responsible for the operation of a school for Americans and Indian nationals who account for 35 percent of the population of the school.

The school, which began in 1952, is housed in buildings designed by architect Julius Stein and is adjacent to the American Embassy. The board of directors consists of American Embassy officials, Ford Foundation personnel, and representatives of other embassies in New Delhi, including the ambassador from the Republic of Korea. Space is provided for 100 boarding students from various parts of India and the Far East.

Dr. Klemmer has been interested in international education for some time, having been previously a partner of the American School in Tangier and, more recently, originating the Winchester program with the Overseas School of Rome, Italy.

Dr. Klemmer came to Winchester in June of 1968 from the school superintendency in Hastings-on-Hudson, New York, a community in Westchester County. His previous experience included a junior high school principalship in Darien, Connecticut, and a superintendency and assistant superintendencies in western Massachusetts. He is a graduate of Tufts University and Harvard University.

THE CONGRATULATIONS of the Board of Selectmen are extended by Chairman John J. Sullivan (left) to Acting Lieutenant Henry P. O'Melia upon his retirement, as Fire Chief L. May Revive Plans For Condominium If Changes Come Recently dropped plans for a $3,500,000 condominium apartment building downtown could be revived under certain conditions, Fred F. Stockwell of Winchester, executive vice-president of R. M. Bradley and Company, Incorporated, Boston real estate firm, has stated.

One requirement would be adoption of the proposed Zoning By-Law. The matter is to be considered at a Special Town Meeting. The date has not been set for the meeting, but there is a possibility that it will be held in June, before many Town Meeting Members leave for vacations.

Another factor would be the willingness of the owner of the property to reoffer the land to the Bradley organization at favorable terms.

Otherwise, the condominium plan will remain dead, Mr. Stockwell said. The idea was discarded for several reasons, he noted.

One problem was the inability to get the zoning problem resolved through Town Meeting consideration of the proposed Zoning By-Law.

Savings Bank Re-Elects Its Officer Group

The annual meeting of the Winchester Savings Bank, held at the Winchester Country Club Wednesday afternoon, April 28, was held close to the date of the bank's 100th anniversary, July 11. Officers re-elected included James F. Dwinell Jr., president; William J. Speers Jr., vice-president; Arnold M. Gibson, treasurer; and Austin Broadhurst, clerk.

Newly elected Corporators were James E. Barger, Lane McGovern, and Dr. Donald E. McLean.

Town Not Likely To Purchase Historical Sites, Board Says

The town's financial concerns probably rule out municipal interest in acquiring historical sites at present, the Selectmen indicated this week. Purchase by private interests would be the likeliest course, they suggested to Mrs. W. K. Ver Planck, president-elect of the Winchester Historical Society.

Mrs. Ver Planck had suggested that the town consider purchasing the Symmes house at Symmes Corner, which has an asking price of $50,000. Mrs. Ver Planck attended the Selectmen's meeting Monday evening, May 3, to answer questions. She also had written the Selectmen on the subject.

Most nearby towns have historical houses. Mrs. Ver Planck told the Selectmen, but Winchester has not. She said that some historical treasures are kept in a library closet, out of view. Funds are available for restoration of historical houses, she noted.

Chairman John J. Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen explained that Town Meeting authorization would be required for the town to purchase the Symmes property. He said that Mrs. Ver Planck and others interested in such an acquisition could petition for an article for the warrant for a Special Town Meeting. The town has no other procedure for purcasing such land, Chairman Sullivan observed.

In her letter to the Selectmen, Mrs. Ver Planck said in part: "I am sure the Town of Winchester has pride in its town. While most towns express this pride by preserving their old historical buildings, Winchester has done nothing to restore its magnificent and most interesting past. (The Town Hall is an exception.) Few Winchesterites even know of those great colorful days of the horse drawn canal barges nor that the world's first tug boat made its maiden voyage on the Middlesex Canal here in Winchester in 1812."

"Typical of Winchester's interest in its historical past was the removal of the Historical Society's fine display of Indian artifacts, early pioneer tools, old costumes, fascinating prints, maps, and records to a closet under the eaves of the present library. The door is locked for under such conditions things are taken."

Couple, Two Youngsters Cover Length Of Charles In Four-Day Canoe Trip

"What a workout!"

That was the reaction of a Winchester woman to an 83-mile canoeing and camping trip which she, her husband, and two of their four children took along the Charles River.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Miara of 107 Wendell Street, and Joseph, 11, and Timothy, 8, both Muraco School pupils, enjoyed the experience, but aren't likely to repeat it.

"We ached from head to toe," explained Mrs. Miara. "Our muscles were killing us."

The journey had been suggested by Mr. Miara. Mrs. Miara and the boys expressed interest, so plans were made.

Mr. Miara, who operates J. A. Miara Transportation Company, a Medford rigging firm, decided to take a few days off from business. The Miaras left their other two children, Beth, 6, also a Muraco School pupil, and Matthew, 4, with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald of Malden.

Selectmen May Set Date For Special Town Meeting On Zoning Plan Next Week

The Board of Selectmen may schedule a date for a Special Town Meeting on the proposed Zoning By-Law next week. The Selectmen will meet with the Planning Board at Town Hall Monday evening, May 10, to discuss the matter.

Chairman Otto E. Schaefer Jr. of the Planning Board advised the Selectmen Monday evening, May 3, that his group had made several changes in the zoning proposal, particularly in the non-conformity section. Mr. Schaefer suggested that the public could be advised of these changes through an informal public hearing and through a Planning Board report on them which could be distributed with the warrant for the Special Town Meeting when it is mailed.

Earlier in this week's meeting, Chairman John J. Sullivan said that he believed that the Selectmen should have a copy of the changes before setting a date for the Special Town Meeting. Mr. Schaefer, appearing before the Selectmen later in the meeting, verbally outlined some of them, leaving a written summary of them with the board members.

Mr. Schaefer noted that revisions made by the Planning Board in the proposed Zoning By-Law include one permitting the rental of rooms in private homes to not more than two persons. A new Section Three on non-conforming use has also been prepared, he said, which eliminates the phrase "but not encourage their survival" in referring to non-conforming situations.

A "very large number" of properties in Winchester do not conform, Mr. Schaefer observed. About 80 percent do not conform to the present zoning requirements, he declared.

The new references to non-conformity spell out the opportunity for a property owner to "do anything you want to it as long as you meet the requirements," according to Mr. Schaefer. If a structure burned down, it could be rebuilt to requirements, Mr. Schaefer explained.

Mr. Schaefer said that he hoped that changes made in the proposed Zoning By-Law would "make it more palatable." The Planning Board was "trying to make changes in the zoning map to make it more realistic to what is there," Mr. Schaefer stated.

In addition to the proposed Zoning By-Law, other matters expected to be discussed with the Planning Board Monday evening, May 10, include the Winchester Center Plan and the use of property at 2 Dix Street as a dormitory for tuition students at Winchester High School who are part of the "A Better Change" program.

The proposed changes are subject to review by legal counsel, Mr. Schaefer said.

RETIREE CONGRATULATED

Congratulations were extended to Acting Fire Lieutenant Henry P. O'Melia by the Selectmen upon his retirement. Accompanied by Fire Chief Amico, Lieutenant O'Melia was thanked on behalf of the board and the town by Chairman John J. Sullivan for "outstanding service."

Rejected Recreation Committee Applicant Seeks Board Hearing

An applicant whose request for appointment to the Recreation Committee was turned down by the Selectmen and the Recreation Committee has asked for a hearing before both groups.

Robert P. Joyce of 29 Arthur Street, one of the four under-21 Town Meeting Members elected in March, is seeking the hearing "for the purpose of discussing the reason behind my name being deleted from persons wishing to be on the nomination list for the Recreation Committee."

In a letter to the Selectmen dated May 4, he wrote:

"I feel that the board acted too hastily on this item, and failed to investigate the background of all persons involved, and did not give me an opportunity to defend myself in regards to statements made by the Recreation Committee."

"I feel that this matter is important to the morale of the Youth of Winchester. For this reason, I hope you will act favorably on my request. Thank you for your time and consideration," Mr. Joyce's letter concluded.

The Selectmen Monday evening named Mrs. James E. Connell Jr. of 4 Churchill Road and Thomas Mullaney of 142 Sylvester Avenue to three-year terms on the Recreation Committee. They will fill vacancies caused by the retirement of Margaret Fahey and Chairman John Sexton from the committee. The names of Mrs. Connell and Mr. Mullaney were among five appearing on a list forwarded by Mr. Sexton to the Selectmen.

"We know the following to be interested in our committee and we would be pleased to work with any of them," a paragraph introducing the list of recommended applicants read.

In a letter to the Selectmen from the Recreation Committee, signed by Mr. Sexton as chairman, the Recreation Committee said:

The Financial Aspect

It is rare in human existence when the death of a person does not deeply involve the living. And there is an understandable tendency for the living to forget themselves and those to whom they owe responsibility when such a tragedy occurs. Indeed, it is often felt to be demeaning to consider the financial aspects of the tribute through which love of the departed will be expressed. Yet, as directors of funerals we can never lose sight of the fact that life must somehow go on after bereavement and that expenditures beyond the family means can have later repercussions involving, for example, the welfare of minors or aged persons. This is why the tactful Funeral Director fully explains the costs of the service.

Minimum Wage For 1,600,000 Has Been Raised

An estimated 1.6 million of the nation's workers will receive pay increases amounting to $324 million annually through an increase in the Federal minimum wage which became effective February 1, 1971, the U. S. Department of Labor reported today.

The increase from $1.45 to $1.60 an hour applies chiefly to employees of smaller retail or service establishments, laundries and dry cleaners, hotels, motels, and restaurants, schools, non-Federal hospitals, and nursing homes. They were included among more than 11 million persons brought under coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act for the first time by amendments to the law in 1966.

Robert D. Moran, Administrator of the Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division, said the $324 million annual increase will be of special benefit to the "working poor," including many members of minority groups who are employed in low-wage jobs.

He noted that the $1.60 minimum wage has now become general for all employment covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act, except for agriculture where the minimum is $1.30 an hour.

Emphasizing that the wage boost will not have an inflationary impact on the Nation's economy, Mr. Moran reported that the annual wage bill for all employees subject to the minimum wage law will increase by only 0.1 percent.

"Even when viewed from the standpoint of only those workers covered by the law since 1968, the wage bill increase on an annual basis is a mere 0.6 percent," he said.

Vaccination Of Horses Advised

The Massachusetts Veterinary Association advises horse owners that spring is the time to have horses vaccinated against encephalomyelitis (sleeping sickness). In 1970 54 horses and ponies died or were destroyed in Massachusetts due to the disease. Three human cases were also suspected.

Birds are the wildlife reservoir of sleeping sickness. Biting insects, usually mosquitoes, can transfer the virus from birds to horses or man.

There are four known viruses which can cause sleeping sickness. However the "Eastern" type, most commonly seen in this area, has a mortality rate of 90% in horses. Horse owners are reminded that young foals are also susceptible to sleeping sickness and can be successfully vaccinated after six months of age.

A bachelor is the fellow who not only has bad habits, but is free to enjoy them.

UTILITIES — Department of Public Utilities Chairman William I. Cowin told the Government Regulation Committee that the seven-member state public utilities commission is "too large and unwieldy" and should be reduced to five members. He was opposing a bill to reorganize the commission into a three-member body on grounds that "three members would not be adequate to handle the workload."

FINANCE — Frank J. Zoo, executive vice-president of the Mass. Taxpayers Foundation, warned that unless the state "changes its management and expenditures policies and systems, it is headed for financial disaster and further serious breakdowns in government services." Zoo cited rising welfare costs and the projected increases in the cost of higher public education as the dangers which "in a few years will simply overrun the taxpayers' ability to pay."

BIRTH CONTROL — There was no opposition to three bills heard before the Social Welfare Committee to repeal the state's birth control laws which restrict the dispensing of information and devices to married people.

MBTA — The constitutionality of the law which created the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority will be considered by the Supreme Judicial Court, according to Representative John F. St. Cyr (R) of Millis, who told the Committee on Transportation that he has based his court test petition on grounds that his community is assessed for MBTA charges but receives no service. He was one of many legislators testifying on bills to allow 16 cities and towns to withdraw from the MBTA district.

AUTOS — Legislation which cleared the Senate would require licensed car dealers to submit weekly reports on used car sales.

PLAN E — The House passed a bill providing for ward councilors in certain Plan E cities after amending the legislation to exempt the city of Cambridge from its provisions.

PRISONERS — Several bills heard by the Social Welfare Committee for increased benefits to prison inmates in Massachusetts drew strong opposition from legislators who warned that they would "create rewards and incentives for crime." The bills would allow prisoners to have overnight visits from their wives, allow them to leave prison and address civic groups on the evils of crime, and provide each inmate of the state correctional institution $100 in cash upon release. They presently receive $50 and a new suit.

DOGS — The State Racing Commission voted unanimously to approve three applications for additional dog racing dates authorized by recently enacted legislation. The commission granted 25 days each to the Commonwealth's three dog racing tracks.

GRANT — The Economic Development Administration approved a $32,196 grant to the New England Board of Higher Education to establish a 12-week intern program in economic development in New York. The interns will work with local officials, interviewing governing in local development activities.

HOURS — A proposal for a 35-hour week for state employees was unopposed at a hearing before the Committee on Public Service. Mark Dalton, counsel for the Massachusetts State Employees Association urged favorable action on the association bill, pointing out that Connecticut has approved such a measure and that 25 private firms have adopted 40-hour, four-day work weeks.

MIDDLESEX — A new three-member board appointed by the Governor would complete and maintain the multi-million Middlesex County Courthouse under a bill heard by the Counties Committee. There was no opposition to the bill, which was filed by Senator John D. Barrus (R) of Goshen, or to another bill filed by Representative John J. McGlynn (D) of Medford to place all county building construction in the State Bureau of Building Construction. Attorney John Donnelly, president of the Middlesex Bar Association, said the Middlesex facility is a "monument to waste and inefficiency" which will "ultimately cost $60 million."

Social Security Checks Bigger

First checks to include the new ten percent monthly benefit will reach 26 million social security beneficiaries on June 3. Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, said that the regular June 3 checks covering benefits for May will reflect the new higher monthly amount.

Separate checks, scheduled to reach beneficiaries later in June, will cover the amount of the increase for January through April. Mr. Ball emphasized that Social Security beneficiaries do not need to get in touch with a Social Security office to get the checks. The payments will be mailed to beneficiaries automatically. It will take a little over one month to refigure the benefit amounts for all beneficiaries.

As a result of the ten percent increase in benefits, 2,882 beneficiaries in Winchester will now receive a total of $344,467 a month. Most of this money is spent in the local area and is therefore an important factor in the overall economy of Winchester, Mr. Ball declared.

WE WILL BE OPEN THURSDAYS

Our rather weird, rather exciting, retail outlets for surplus and salvage merchandise from firestocks, bankruptcies, railroad damage, rejected shipments, mail-order overstocks, and other sources of off-price merchandise, started out in 1964 being open only two days per week. By 1966, the pressure from our thousands (well, dozens, anyway) of fans was so great that we conceded to being open three days per week. Now, in response to ever-increasing pressure, we shamefacedly announce that we have agreed to be open four days, as follows:

Friday 9:00 — 9:00 Monday 9:00 — 9:00

Friends of the Auxiliary are welcome.

Windows Succumb To Vandalism

Vandalism to public buildings in Winchester has been concentrated recently on the breaking of windows.

Six panes of glass, two by three feet, were found shattered on Tuesday, April 27, at Muraco School. A five by six foot store front window on Thompson Street has been restored since Thursday when it appears that a person (s) hanging on the awning caused the arm of the awning to break, sending it through the glass.

Rocks were responsible for breakage of two panes, 12 by 24 inches and six by 12 inches, on the lower section of the Public Library Saturday evening.

A report also came from Muraco School on Monday that a fence on the northwest side of the building and a chain holding a padlock had been cut.

VA Pensioners' Checks Received With Increases

Because of quick action and advance planning by Veterans Administration employees, about two million pensioners received their monthly checks on time in February, including the increase signed into law by President Nixon on Christmas Eve.

The checks reflected an increase of about 10 percent.

Donald E. Johnson, Administrator of Veterans Affairs in Washington, D. C., said that if the pension payments had not been computerized, it would have cost the VA more than $4 million — rather than $90,000 — to make the adjustment for the increases. Also, service to veterans and their families would not have been so prompt.

Mr. Johnson said that close cooperation with the U.S. Treasury Department, which disburses the checks, was another helpful factor.

The increase, generated by Presidential action, became effective January 1, and was included in that month's checks received by recipients on February 1.

The VA annually sends out with its October compensation and pension checks, income questionnaires which must be completed and returned by January 15.

Recipients state their income, in this case for 1970, and estimate their income for 1971, as well as excessive medical expenses incurred.

In anticipation of the Presidential action, the VA last October set up special computer programs at its Philadelphia and Hines, Illinois, Data Processing Centers. Income questionnaires, once processed at Philadelphia, were sent to the Hines VA Data Processing Center where the pension master record is maintained. The data was held in abeyance until Hines personnel received word of the President's action on Christmas Eve.

Teams of VA employees immediately began processing the new increase into the pension master. At the same time, the Hines computer system began generating pay changes to the Treasury Department, with instructions to make appropriate rate changes in the checks.

Personnel at the Hines Center worked 24 hours a day, including Christmas and New Year's, and well into January, seven days a week to accommodate the two million veterans, widows, and dependents.

According to Mr. Johnson, an integral part of this computer operation was the use of "Optical Character Recognition" for the first time in income questionnaire processing.

The review of income data, by computer rather than manually, was of exceptional value, Mr. Johnson said, explaining that in 1970, approximately 600,000 cases were referred to VA Regional Offices for manual review.

This year, only 145,000 were referred, he said, pointing out that the reduction is attributed mainly to the standardized computer review and the incorporation of routines to generate prospective increases and retroactive increases.

VA has announced standards for its mobile home program, including regulations for such items as mobile home sites, construction standards, and written manufacturer's warranties.

Firefighters Basic Training

Four firefighters with the Winchester Fire Department are currently undergoing a six weeks basic training at the Massachusetts Fire Training Academy in Stow.

Beginning Monday, May 3, John M. Geoghegan, Francis D. Mawn, Robert P. McNamara, and George J. Moran have been instructed in the elementary and manipulative skills of firefighting, which will be followed by classroom work with theory.

The training course, which culminates with a certificate of completion, is required for all new members of the fire department. Winchester Fire Chief I. Francis Amico, being a member of the Advisory Committee, will hand his men their certificates at graduation ceremonies.

Methodist Church To House Play

"Guest In the House," a play under the direction of Winchester's Elaine Kadesch, will be presented in the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church on Saturday, May 8, at 8 p.m.

Among criticisms received by the play are: "One of the most interesting plays of the season." The Wall Street Journal. "An undisputed hit we can throw our hats into the air for." Station WMCA.

"A truly splendid drama packed with pathos, tragedy, sympathy, and comic relief. It is brilliant theatre." Newark Star-Ledger.

Interesting lighting and sound effects for the production are being handled by two Lynch Junior High School students, Hugh Vartanian and Jeff Barger.

All of the two-year programs begin on the 11th grade level and are open to students entering the 11th grade next fall. The entrance examination will be given to these applicants on May 15, as well as to applicants for the ninth grade at Northeast next fall.

Counselors in the Pupil Personnel Services Department will administer the test under the direction of John F. Rump, supervisor, beginning at 8:15 a.m. on May 15. Transportation to the regional school for the test is the responsibility of the individual students applying.

Additional information may be obtained by calling or visiting the Pupil Personnel office at Northeast after 8 a.m., Monday through Friday.

Phone Service To Help Widowed

The Widowed Service Line is set up to help widows and widowers in the Greater Boston area. There are 18 volunteers — five widowers and 13 widows, from various local communities, working in this program. Most of these volunteers have full-time jobs and families to look after, but they give part of their spare time to this service.

Any widowed person may call the Line, 731-0426, and shortly a widowed volunteer will answer the call and offer practical information, or an understanding ear. Being widowed themselves they understand the problems of widowhood.

The problem most often encountered from callers is the feeling of loneliness and isolation and how to build a new life. The widowed volunteers have been through this themselves and can listen sympathetically to those in distress. They can suggest group activities and clubs specifically for widowed people, where to seek job opportunities, retraining programs and the like.

Calls are sometimes received from several widowed people living in the same area. When appropriate, and if they wish it, these people can be put in contact with each other, either to form a local group, or to meet informally for outings.

Since the opening of the Widowed Service Line on December 1, 1970, more than 500 calls have been received. They come in from almost every community in the Greater Boston area, ranging as far as the Cape and the southern borders of New Hampshire.

Widowed people of all ages (from 24 to 90), both men and women, have called in. Some are

Fertilizer Can Aid Tree Health

In a spring gardening program, an application of fertilizer for shade trees is good insurance against numerous tree troubles. Fertilizer provides the raw elements all plants require. When applied to trees it encourages the growth and development of roots, and promotes production of the lustrous green foliage that gives a shade tree beauty and value in home landscaping.

Though fertilizer has no properties that directly combat diseases or insects, it increases a tree's resistance to many ailments through health improvement. A healthy tree seldom is invaded by wood-borers; it is less susceptible to drought than are trees in poorer condition. And because of its rapid growth rate, bark wounds heal quickly.

In home treatment of shade trees with dry fertilizer, a 10-6-4 mixture or one similarly high in nitrogen generally is recommended. It is applied at the rate of 3 to 5 lbs. per inch of trunk's diameter in treating large trees; for small trees about one-half inch is amount is used. It should be distributed in the root zone, ten to 15 inches below the soil surface. This is done by means of holes drilled or punched in the soil, spaced not more than two feet apart over the area beneath the branch spread. This should be done as soon as the ground becomes workable (frost free).

Established 1880 By Theodore P. Wilson, Sr.

Serving The Community For 90 Years

Editorials:

The Right To Know - III

The last President John F. Kennedy said that "in our free and open society we rightly regard secrecy and arbitrary press restrictions as the first refuge of incompetents."

Your right to know about how your governmental business is conducted has been the subject of previous Star editorials.

"The Right to Know—I" related some thoughts of others on a free press. It showed how a Constitutional guarantee protects American newspapers so that they may fulfill their responsibilities as guardians of freedom.

"The Right to Know—II" discussed the Massachusetts Open Meeting Law. It explained that for a newspaper to do its informational job for you, it must have access to information about how public officials — your servants — act for you.

The law was enacted, it pointed out, because of the tendency of some governmental officials to attempt to conceal from the public information rightfully belonging to it.

Public officials are transacting your business — not theirs. Should they forget this, an electorate will likely remember at the next election.

Public service is time-consuming, demanding, and often unpaid. Unfortunately, the public generally fails to appreciate the devotion and contributions of dedicated government officials. Yet, the public's ingratitude in no way removes from these officials their obligations to you. Nor should it persuade them that official secrecy is best for the public.

How does the Star attempt to safeguard your right to know?

It is our policy to cover all Town Meetings and all meetings of the Board of Selectmen and the School Committee, plus any other meetings of town governmental bodies possible.

We strongly oppose secrecy. Barring the public and press from observing deliberations at such meetings by going into executive session should be rare, rather than commonplace.

An executive session is not meant to be used as a shield for either controversial discussion or for taking a stand on an issue.

Occasionally, a presiding officer of a governmental body will explain that an executive session is being called because "personalities are to be discussed."

Legally, this is not a sufficient reason. Section 23A of Chapter 39 of the Commonwealth's General Laws authorizes an executive session "for discussion, deliberating, or voting . . . on those matters which if made public might adversely affect the public security, the financial interest of the district, city, town or local housing authority, or the reputation of any person. . . ."

Thus, executive sessions are unjustified if being held merely because a town official or employee is to be the topic. Only if the individual's reputation might be adversely affected by conducting such discussion in public is an executive session lawful.

As the Subcommittee on Information of the House Government Operations Committee said in a 1960 report, "Those elected or appointed to positions of executive authority must recognize that government, in a democracy, cannot be wiser than the people."

The public, then, needs no paternalistic protection from facts about its government. A fully informed citizenry is better equipped to support its officials and to help them carry out needed programs, whether through Town Meetings or otherwise.

Besides keeping meetings open whenever possible, governmental bodies should make it easy for the public and press to fully understand items of the public's business being handled. A chairman, in conducting public meetings, ideally should combine the parliamentary skills of a presiding officer with the public relations consciousness of a master of ceremonies. The chairman should speak, loudly, clearly, and comprehensively.

The Star was pleased to see that Chairman John J. Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen got off to a good start when he conducted his first meeting as head of the board Monday evening, April 26. He summarized briefly each piece of business to be considered by the board, paraphrasing contents of correspondence before board members, enabling the public to fully understand topics under discussion. We congratulate Chairman Sullivan on his commendable beginning and hope that he will be encouraged to continue this practice.

"When a newspaper fights for press freedom it is not fighting for its own interests," said Charles T. Duncan, dean of the School of Journalism, University of Oregon. "Rather, it is fighting for the right of free citizens to know the facts of public affairs."

The Star pledges continued concern about your right to know what your public officials do in conducting your business. It's one of our responsibilities.

The New Superintendent

The opinions of many are being sought by the consultants hired by the School Committee to recommend candidates for Superintendent of Schools.

Last week, the consultants talked with the Board of Selectmen, the Finance Committee, the three Assistant Superintendents of Schools, heads of school associations, principals, teachers, parents, and students.

We congratulate the School Committee and the consultants on seeking the diverse views of citizens on the type of individual they believe should be the next head of Winchester's public school system. The final decision will be made by the School Committee members, of course, but it is commendable that they are asking the thoughts of others in helping them make their choice.

Let's Clean Up

Fire Chief I. Francis Amico has a town-wide Clean Up Week campaign in full swing.

Lieutenant Joseph M. Connolly of the Fire Prevention Bureau and Principal Richard Young of the Muraco School, liaison officer for the School Department with the Fire Department, are particularly active in the current drive.

Elementary school children from kindergarten through the sixth grade will each receive a free coloring poster and a pamphlet on clean up to take home. In classes, the children will be encouraged to write compositions as part of their school work on the clean up project.

Teachers are being urged to discuss the need for good housekeeping and the desirability of clean streets and clean back yards as a precaution against fire hazards which endanger property and lives.

Clean up posters are being placed about the stores by Fire Department personnel and are being fastened to bulletin boards in schools and other public buildings. The posters are also being displayed on fire apparatus and Highway and Park Department vehicles.

"A Clean House Seldom Burns" is the theme of the campaign. Chief Amico believes that if the fire prevention message can reach the children and be carried home by them, a lot will have been accomplished.

"Every attic, basement, and closet cleared of trash and clutter means one less fire hazard," commented Chief Amico. "And with dwelling fires occurring at the rate of more than 1,500 daily in the United States and Canada, action to remove every possible cause is essential."

Don't give fire a place to start. It's clean up time in Winchester!

Town Responds To Earth Week

Editor of the Star:

This past week was designated "Earth Week." All over the Commonwealth and the nation there have been plantings, clean-ups of rivers, and collections of bottles, papers, and cans for recycling. Citizens have a chance to express appreciation of nature, pride in country, and respect for neighbors in these ways.

Winchester is responding, and is off to a great start. Boy Scouts have cleared the Aberjona River of refuse. They will collect cans for recycling . . . A container is at the dump to enable us to dispose of old newspapers for recycling.

The Town Meeting passed new anti-litter By-laws this session to ensure that we not forget nor get lazy about clutter on our own properties. In addition there are town committees studying pollution of the Aberjona River; the most effective means of garbage and refuse disposal; and long and short range effects of salt-chemicals.

That's quite a lot for a town to do. Now it's really up to us. Here's a refresher list of ways you can help:

Buy non-leaded gas (or low octane) gasoline for your automobile. Buy detergents low in phosphate.

Avoid plastic containers. Don't bring home unnecessary paper bags or food wrappers. (One local store wraps cantaloupes!)

Invent a system for separating refuse. Remember, your newspapers go to the container at the dump.

Separate cans. First rinse them, peel off the labels, then squish them. Save them for the May 22 Boy Scout collection.

We'll remind you of this can collection and will write about recycling bottles soon.

Reader Hits "Nowhere To Go" Complaint

Editor of the Star:

On Tuesday evening, April 20, in connection with Town Meeting consideration of Articles 28 and 29 proposing an ice skating rink, (which is a laudable object, along with assistance for many other sports and hobbies, provided adequate funding is available), one of the speakers remarked, if I heard correctly, "there is nothing for young people to do after 3 p.m."

For days afterward that remark haunted me, and also the thought: What has happened to our homes? What has happened to our schools? That some young people's minds are so inadequate as to be unable to realize all the useful things there are to do?

Further, in the Star of April 29, there was made an appeal of considerable merit for more realistic priorities, but, then it was ruined by saying, "Our own kids are still sitting on the bridge because there is nowhere else to go."

May one of "the elderly" respectfully suggest that they go about getting blisters on their hands instead of on their buttocks?

Learning Aids Program Support Is Recommended

Editor of the Star:

Although it was reported in last week's Star that part-time tutors had been dropped from the Learning Disabilities program due to a reduced school budget, it is my understanding at this writing, that a final decision has not been reached by the School Committee.

Children in this program, prior to tutoring, showed an average rate of academic growth of six months. Following one year of tutoring, the average rate of growth was one year, two months.

Without this improvement in reading skills, these children will encounter an increasing difficulty throughout their educational experience.

To fail to provide such assistance may well make a child not only a future burden on society, but perhaps an intensely alienated drop out, for no other reason but that the child simply learns in different manner than his classmates.

I truly believe that to support this program (at present, for 122 children) is to support one of the best means to insure our school system with a genuine sense of priorities.

Teenager Asks Aid In Reviving Drop-In Center

Editor of the Star:

It has come to my attention that for the past six months there has been little or no recreation provided for the average teenager in Winchester on weekends. Up until now I have assumed that someone somewhere, must have been working on this problem, but I have noticed that there is still nothing to do.

As a result, my contemporaries and I are still left with a stagnant town, and the parents and police are still left with wandering teens, all of them bored, mostly congregating in the downtown area (specifically Brigham's). Many people are complaining about this state of affairs, but I think it's time we all did something about it.

Although I am not totally aware of the financial state of this town, it strikes me that there must be some money somewhere which could be used to help sponsor a group of responsible adults and teenagers in organizing another Drop-In-Center. Were a public place, such as the Town Hall, opened up on weekends for teens to congregate, listen to records, and perhaps be served refreshments, I think this would be profitable for all concerned.

The younger generation would have a place to socialize, and the parents and police would have less kids to worry about loitering in the center. If not the town hall, the high school gym, or cafeteria?

All of these places could have possibilities if enough people cared to give it another try. Surely there are some people (both teens and adults) willing to get involved in trying to make another place work out?

The former Drop-In-Center is gone, and so is the Garrett, and the Saint Mary's "Happenings" are getting less frequent all the time. But we are all going to sit around like a bunch of apathetic blobs and die of boredom, or talk the issue to death?

I'm willing to try, and with a lot of help from my friends I think we can do something constructive in solving the teenager's weekend boredom syndrome.

More Details On Recycling Are Revealed

Editor of the Star:

This is to follow up my letter of several weeks ago announcing recycling centers for metal cans. Rather than individually telephone all those who expressed interest in coordinating trips to the recovery plants, I will attempt to bring you up to date on several recent developments.

Glass Bottles: As you may have read, or heard over the radio, several soft drink bottlers are now collecting all bottles (not just soft drink ones) that are colorless, green, or brown. They must be clean, with all metal caps and rings removed, but the labels may remain on. The closest collection point to us is Canada Dry's plant on 80 Second Avenue in Waltham (Route 128 south to Winter Street exit west. Second Avenue is first left). It is now open on Saturday from 9-5.

Town Cooperation: I have spoken with Selectman Sullivan and Superintendent O'Brien who are looking into providing a container at the town dump for a central collection point. There is some possibility that the Town may arrange for the glass bottles and metal cans to be taken to the recycling centers, especially if the Town would realize a profit. I suggest that you contact the Selectmen if you would like to see the Town undertake this project.

Boy Scouts' Collection: Two weeks ago an article appeared in the Star detailing the collection of metal cans by the Boy Scouts, the first one scheduled for May 22. You are to contact your local Boy Scout unit, or Mr. Norton at 438-0125, to arrange for pickup on that day. (If this endeavor is successful, they may consider expanding their effort to include glass bottles.)

In the meantime, continue to save your metal cans (washed, flattened, with labels removed) and glass bottles and urge others to do so. I plan to visit the glass recycling plant on Saturday, May 15, and would be happy to receive small containers (paper bags) of bottles that morning between 10 a.m. and noon at my home provided they are in "returnable condition."

Editor of the Star:

Shame, shame, shame, School Committee and Finance Board.

The School Committee and the Finance Board have no regard for the taxpayer of this snooty Town of Winchester and the Town Moderator had the nerve to congratulate the Town Meeting Members on what a good job it did in passing the budget of the School Committee, aided and abetted by the Finance Committee. A few thousand dollars shaved from the School Committee budget.

How can the School Committee face the voters of this town with a total budget of a few dollars less than it was last year? The School Committee was seeking this year $400,000 more than what it spent last year. How can it justify this extra amount? It could get along with the same amount this year as it spent last year.

It reminds this writer of the stand the Town Meeting took on the new high school, built in a swamp when it could have been built on Manchester Field at one-half the costs. Move Manchester Field to where the new high school is now being erected. Simple, but the Town Meeting would have none of it.

It simply means that this aristocratic town does not want to save the taxpayer any money at all. Why did the School Committee increase the holders of M.A., Ph.D., and XYZ degrees 25% from $400 per year to $500, costing 400 thousand dollars which meant about $2 on the tax rate? If a referendum had been held on it, it does not appear that the increase would have been upheld by the voters.

This writer questions the legality of said bonus as the Legislature did not act upon it as far as this writer is aware. The School Committee is a creature of the Legislature, when it was created in 1836 because education was getting to be important and demanded more attention from the Legislature which it did not have time to do but the solons on Beacon Hill still have control.

The teachers in Boston and other cities went on strike, in defiance of the law and what did the courts do about it? In Boston the teachers were fined $1,000 per day when a fine of one million dollars would not have been excessive. The City of New Bedford was fined 50 thousand dollars which came out of the teachers. Law and order must come first.

The honeymoon is over and we find ourselves head over heels in debt and the School Committee of Winchester does not realize it yet, for asking for more money this year over and above that paid last year. The Finance Committee plays right along with the School Committee; it shaves off a small amount to keep the Town Meeting happy but the Town Meeting does not snap out of it for it shows no indication of mending its ways.

By the way, how is it that the lame duck Superintendent of Schools of Winchester is in Yugoslavia and his salary is still being paid by Winchester. Someone said that the Superintendent was on a mission for the State Department. Maybe there are a few taxpayers left who will petition the Board of Selectmen for a referendum and then it will be up to the voters to decide the question of the School Committee's budget.

It is time to sign off and rely upon vox clamantis in deserto for comfort and peace.

A Tribute To A Lady

Editor of the Star:

Ruth Bennett will be missed by the library staff at Winchester Public Library. But she will be missed more by patrons, especially teenagers, who sought her assistance on Monday nights.

As one teenager put it, she was never too busy to help anyone who needed help and she always did everything with her lady-like manner and pleasant smile.

Winchester Public Library has lost a truly fine lady.

BOOK REVIEW

LIVING WITH ZEST IN AN EMTY NEST

by Jean Kenney

If you have matured along with your children you don't need to read this book. However, perhaps it will reassure you that that secret feeling of relief when your sons and daughters have finally grown up and your life is more or less your own again is not a sign of being an unnatural parent. There are many women, though, whose lives are so bound up in being a mother that they feel their usefulness is over when their last child has married or gone away to college or left home for some other reason. This book is directed to these ladies.

The author's introduction states that it is not written to inform or entertain like most books but that it is a definite plan to follow to change the mental attitude of loneliness and loss of self-worth which often occurs when mothering days are nearly over. Someone in this frame of mind needs an entirely new approach and Jean Kenney feels that her ideas will be of value.

She says first of all that one's health should be as good as possible. In this day, a woman in the forties or fifties is in her prime and has a reasonable expectation of many more years of vigorous life. Her suggestions of regular check-ups, plenty of rest and exercise, a good diet are all simple and easily followed. And it is part of a wife's duty to see that her husband keeps himself in shape and beats the grim statistics of the male mortality tables.

At this time of life the housewife can finally have her house the way she wants it. She usually has more time, more money and the freedom to arrange what she and her husband really like and need. She should make things easier for both of them, getting rid of the excess baggage and unnecessary frills, simplifying her household chores. Perhaps it is the time to move into a smaller house, to a different climate which is more comfortable, or from a house to an apartment.

Now is also the time to become involved in new interests. Many women go back to work at this period in their lives. It is becoming the thing for middle-aged housewives to return to school, to finish an education interrupted by marriage and child rearing, or to study to qualify for a new career. Other women go into business for themselves or with their husbands. There is always a need for mature women in volunteer work. In order to fully benefit from this, before agreeing to any of this kind of work an individual should analyze herself and take an assignment which will not bore or upset her. For example, those who are uncomfortable with illness or the threat of death should not work directly with hospital patients. There are many sources of information for anyone looking for this kind of employment. Contrary to what many people think, there is no age limit to working for the Peace Corps or Vista. Miss Kenney lists seventeen national organizations that are dedicated to public service alone, which are actively interested in volunteer helpers. Often unsuspected talents are uncovered by those who go to work on a volunteer basis.

Travel is broadening as they say and often parents do not get many chances to travel until their children are grown. It is not necessary to take an expensive tour either. Suggestions are listed for interesting day trips or week-ends. There are ways to make them unforgettable by planning and having a specific purpose in mind, such as visiting historical spots which you have previously boned up on, or coordinating your visit with a favorite hobby or sport. The book is crammed with ideas and makes living more worthwhile and enjoyable for those whose lives are changed by the empty nest syndrome. Not all are applicable to many, but enough of them can be useful to make this stimulating reading for middle-aged mothers.

Canoe Trip

Starting Point

The Miras chose Milford as a starting point for their Charles excursion because it is the beginning of the navigable part of the river. A spring at Hopkinton, and a reservoir below that flow into the river's initiation in Milford, Mrs. Miara noted.

Pollution impeded the Miras' progress at times. Beverage containers, rubber tires, fallen trees, drifting wood, and floating oil were in evidence along the Charles, Mrs. Miara commented.

"If we had one cent for every beer can we saw, we would be millionaires," declared Mrs. Miara.

Crossing the Box Pond Dam in Bellingham, the Miras went beneath Route 495 at about 1 p.m. Sunday, April 18. Their hopes of spotting a restaurant near shore unrealized, the Miras ate a meal of cold hot dogs, canned potato sandwiches, bread and butter sandwiches, pop corn, marshmallows, cookies, milk, and juice.

Mr. and Mrs. Miara did most of the paddling. Young Joseph was relief oarsman.

Continuing on their journey, the local family members crossed the North Bellingham Dam, the Caryville Dam, and the West Medway Dam. They built a campfire by the woods in Franklin. Their tents were set up in the rain by 7 p.m. Sunday, April 18.

Monday's Journey

The Miras were up at 5 a.m. Monday, April 19, and on their way by 6, fortified by bacon sandwiches and coffee. They crossed the Medway Dam, Route 115 at Norfolk, Mills, and Medford, arriving at the South Natick Dam at 4 p.m. For lunch, their menu had included chicken soup, tea, and vanilla pudding.

The Monday evening meal was the first one consumed by the Miras at a public eating place since the start of their trip. They ate six cheeseburgers, potato chips, and candy at a drug store in South Natick. They crossed the Cochran Dam, arriving at Charles River Village at 6 p.m. They set up camp at 6:35 p.m.

Tuesday's Schedule

Breaking up camp at 7 a.m. Tuesday, April 20, the Miras crossed Route 128 at Needham at 7:15. By 8:25 they had crossed Route 1 at Dedham. They were spotted by a radio station traffic observer, who reported their presence to his air audience.

Most of their food supplies had been exhausted. At a sandwich shop, they had cereal, grilled ham and cheese and western sandwiches and coffee.

The Miras continued on their way, crossing Sill Mill Dam, the Metropolitan Circular Dam, near Route 9 in Needham, and on to Wellesley, the Cordingley Dam, and the Newton Lower Falls Dam.

By 6 p.m., they had crossed the Moody Street, Bleachery, and Rolling Stone Dams in Waltham, and the Watertown Dam, arriving in Cambridge. They passed Harvard University, the Charles River Dam, the Harbor, and headed for the Chelsea Yacht Club. They stayed overnight aboard the yacht of Mr. Miara's brother, Robert Miara of Burlington, retiring about 9 p.m.

Final Day

Wednesday, April 21, was wind-up day for the Miras' journey. Rising at 5:30 a.m., they had a breakfast of beans and coffee. They canoed through the locks near Sullivan Square, Charlestown, to the Mystic River, through Medford, arriving at Medford Square at 9 a.m. They drank six cups of coffee and ate a dozen doughnuts before resuming their trip. Passing the Medford Boat Club, they paddled under the bridge near Wedgemere Station, arriving in Winchester Square, near Surety Bank and Trust Company, around 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 21.

The Miras were met by Mrs. Carlo Cataldo and her four children, Edward, 17, a Winchester High School student; Mary, 15, a McCall Junior High School student; and David, 10, and Thomas, 7, both Muroco School pupils.

Mrs. Miara said that she and her family were tired, hungry, and dirty upon their arrival home. Although the weather was cold, the Miras made their trip at this season because the river's height would be too low later, Mrs. Miara pointed out.

Since there is considerable winding to the Charles River, during much of the journey, the Miras wore a paddle for long periods yet still be in close view of territory passed a considerable time before, Mrs. Miara recalled. The Miras have resided in Winchester for 12 years.

Historical Sites

"Destroyed during the addition to the Public Library was the former large, Historical Society room originally given for the perpetual care of these precious things. There these things were adequately displayed. I believe restitution for this injustice is due.

"Under HUD the Federal government will grant 2/3 of the expenses to foster the renewal of historic houses. The Federal Government does indeed realize the pleasure and benefit to people to have a place where they can revel in a bit of their past.

"A fine old Symmes house (1806) with great chimneys, old wide boards, old hardware and lovely wainscoting, built on the original 300 acre grant to the Symmes family from the king of England commands a view down the ancient Indian Trail (Main Street) at Symmes Corner and now is for sale. A smithy and a wheelwright shop were originally on part of this Symmes Corner property. There are still descendants in town able to give back original furniture that was in this house and one indeed has offered to do so should the Town of Winchester decide to purchase the house at the 50,000 dollar asking price.

"As president-elect of the Winchester Historical Society I was approached by Mrs. Geo. Rivinius, whose husband is a Symmes descendant to see what we could do to act quickly to purchase this historical building before it is sold. Since present Historical funds are very limited we would solicit your assistance.

"We would hope that Winchester Historical Society treasures could be kept and displayed here and that the Symmes family treasures would be on view — a pride to all of Winchester," Mrs. Ver Plank's letter concluded.

Dr. Barger is a graduate of Michigan and received his doctorate in physics from Harvard University in 1963. He is vice-president of Bolt, Beranek, and Newman Inc. and resides with his family on Lakeview Road.

Mr. McGovern graduated from Harvard College and Harvard Law School and has been associated with Ropes and Gray since 1952. He has served on the Appeal Board and is a member of the School Committee.

Dr. McLean graduated from both Harvard College and Harvard Medical School and has been practicing pediatrics in Winchester for 25 years. He is widely known for his work with Concern with the young people of Winchester in helping to combat the drug problem.

The meeting elected as new members of the Board of Trustees Dr. George A. Marks, Bradford J. Johnson, and Andrew L. Nichols.

The statement of the Treasurer disclosing bank assets of over 48 million dollars and deposits of nearly 43 million dollars was approved by the Corporators.

Mr. Dwinell gave a report of the year's activities. He said that assets, deposits, mortgages, and surplus were at an all-time high, with the Winchester Savings Bank showing the greatest rate of growth for the year of any bank in its region. Income for the year had increased by 19 percent, enabling the payment of over 2 million dollars in dividends in the past 12 months at the highest rate of interest permitted by law.

An analysis of accounts, mortgages, and liquidity was presented. Mr. Dwinell concluded with words of commendation for the bank's employees and gratitude for the direction provided by the Corporators and Trustees.

"The Winchester Savings Bank takes pride in having shared in the development of Winchester and pledges its efforts to a continuance of constructive influence," he said.

Those attending were guests of the bank for dinner at the Country Club following the meeting.

Programs still open to 11th grade applicants are: cosmetology (hairdressing), electronic accounting, health service aide, nursery-kindergarten aide, and multi-media aide (library and audio-visual field).

All students entering the 11th grade next fall are invited to attend the meeting with their parents. The Northeast representative will be available to answer all questions regarding available programs and admission procedures.

Those youngsters applying will be given an entrance examination on Saturday, May 15, at 8:15 a.m. at the regional school.

ONE MORE TALE for the "Fuller Brushman" was provided mid-afternoon Thursday, April 29, when this salesman's automobile rolled down the hill and struck a utility pole while he was making a house call on Woodside Road. The vehicle was towed. (Ryerson photo)

Chief Amico noted that the incoming and outgoing shifts met in uniform with Lieutenant O'Melia for the final time Friday, April 30. The firefighters surrounded him to give their best wishes and photographs were taken, Chief Amico said.

Appointments Deferred

Appointments to committees and subcommittees will be made by the Board of Selectmen Monday evening, May 10. The board had originally slated the subject for this week, but Chairman Sullivan suggested deferring it one week for fuller discussion.

Incinerator Schedule

Superintendent of Streets O'Brien adopted the proposal by Selectmen that the incinerator area opening be delayed until 1:30 p.m. Mondays. The object is to alleviate a possible traffic hazard to children in the Swanston Street area, as pointed out by Mrs. Jeanne Amico of 38 White Street. Superintendent O'Brien declined, however, to favor relaxing regulations so that trucks could use the incinerator area on Saturday mornings. The Saturday truck ban will stand.

The new incinerator schedule, adopted by the Selectmen this week, follows:

Mondays, 1:30 to 9 p.m.; Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays, 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturdays, 7 a.m. to 12 noon.

Appointments Made

Charles A. Porter of 30 Winslow Road was appointed a member of the Conservation Commission, as recommended in a letter from John T. Moore, chairman of the commission.

Sidewalk Construction

Sidewalk curbing orders for Squire, Dennett, Hollywood, and Thornberry Roads were signed by the Selectmen.

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien will be asked by Selectmen to have a three-foot tree stump rechecked to determine if it has Dutch elm disease and to report the findings to the Selectmen. The stump is located on the property of Thomas Flaherty of 10 Canal Street.

Mr. Flaherty believes that the stump is diseased and has requested the town to remove it. An earlier check by the town indicated that it was not diseased. Superintendent O'Brien reported.

Mr. Flaherty had requested the Selectmen for a hearing, but the board voted instead to have Superintendent O'Brien recheck the stump and give the board a report.

Insurance Review

Selectmen adopted the recommendation of Fire Chief I. Francis Amico that the town ask the New England Insurance Rating Association to review the community's insurance rating. The last time this was done was in 1938, according to Chief Amico.

Since there is a possibility that construction of the West Side Fire Station could affect the rate, Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. suggested that the review request be timed to coincide with completion of the new station, if this could be arranged.

A letter from John H. O'Neil, asking that he be considered for appointment to the Police Department, was referred by Selectmen to Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler.

Since Chief Bowler anticipates a delay in the delivery of the new ambulance, Selectmen accepted his recommendation that an extension of time be granted.

The Selectmen postponed until Monday, May 10, the naming of members to the Snow and Ice Removal Study Committee, established by the Annual Town Meeting. Selectman William G. Chapman Jr. urged that copies of the records of each of the group's meetings be furnished to the board and to Superintendent O'Brien.

Appointed by Selectmen to the Waste Disposal Problems Committee was James Denton of 11 Manchester Road.

Fence Repairs

Commenting on a letter from John Lane and Calvin Cramer concerning a fence on the old Wadleigh School land, Selectman Saltmarsh said that the fence needs repairs and should be replaced. The board agreed.

Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly will contact the Health Planning Council for Greater Boston, Incorporated, for more details. The group had written the Selectmen concerning the potential role of Winchester's government in regional health planning.

The Selectmen decided that the town doesn't intend to bid on the Frank and Alma Fontaine home at 407 Highland Avenue, which the Internal Revenue Service has seized for nonpayment of delinquent federal taxes. The IRS had forwarded a notice of the May 25 auction of the property to the Selectmen.

A petition for a referendum on the school budget was referred to the Town Clerk for certification of signatures, the Selectmen noted. However, Chairman Sullivan pointed out that the petition lacked the number of signatures sufficient to require the referendum. The petition, circulated by Attorney Herbert Lord, contained 160 signatures.

Mrs. F. M. Blanchard of 4 Dix Street will be advised by the Selectmen that the Planning Board members will be meeting with them Monday evening, May 10. Chairman Sullivan said that Dix Street zoning was not within the jurisdiction of the Board of Selectmen.

Mrs. Blanchard is one of several residents who are opposed to the proposed use of 2 Dix Street as a dormitory for ten teenage students who will attend Winchester High School as tuition students of the "A Better Chance" program.

Club Licenses

Two meetings are planned with possible applicants for club liquor licenses by Selectmen. The first get-together, Selectmen decided this week, would be for discussing the setting of hours, license fees, application procedures, and the advertising of applications.

The second gathering would be an advertised formal public hearing. Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly advised the Selectmen this week that the form used by Woburn for club applications could be reproduced by this town with minor changes. He found it preferable to a standard form which he had studied, he explained.

Executive Session

The Selectmen concluded this week's meeting with an executive session, closed to the press and public, at which a letter from the Personnel Board concerning a personnel matter with the Board of Appeals was discussed.

Confirmation

Will Be Conducted

On Sunday, May 9, the Right Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, retired Episcopal Bishop of Massachusetts, will conduct a service of confirmation at the Church of the Epiphany at 9:15 a.m.

The Rev. John J. Bishop, rector, will present a class of 30 for the laying on of hands. Following the ceremony, a reception for the Bishop, the confirmands, and the families will be held in the Parish hall.

Bishop Stokes will also preach the sermon at the 11 o'clock service.

Other amenities include an aproned swimming pool and garage space for five autos.

"Residence consists of a main floor with four large rooms and foyer entrance, second floor has seven rooms and multiple baths. Additional upper floor has another bedroom with bath. Welfare Head

All Massachusetts Leagues have pursued for two years a study of the state's Welfare System. In addition, they began last fall along with all Leagues in the country a discussion of possible alternatives to the present systems, which vary from state to state.

Mrs. Montgomery Aiken (729-0007) is the local League's chairman for these activities. She invites all League members and other Winchester residents to attend this meeting. Coffee will be served at 7:45 p.m. in the Symmes Room of the church. Commissioner Minter will present his views at 8:15.

During his period of service in Winchester Dr. Klemer established a learning disabilities program, a summer school with Lesley College, a high school campus plan, and worked closely with community groups in the establishment of nature trails.

During his administration a second open-space elementary school was planned and developed in a parochial school purchased by the community. A second vote was taken for additional funds for the completion of the new Winchester high school and the new school plant is to be opened in February of 1972.

He also was instrumental in the development of a cooperative study involving 30 area school systems, and in the development of long-range planning and plans for programmed budgeting.

Peter H. Sewall Receives Degree

Peter H. Sewall of Winchester received the bachelor of arts degree from Ricker College in Houlton, Maine, at the college's recent commencement exercises when Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) was speaker.

Mr. Sewall has majored in English at Ricker, where he has been a dean's list student.

He is a 1967 graduate of North Yarmouth (Maine) Academy and will be teaching English there this coming summer.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Sewall Jr. of 4 York Road.

Some 99% of the earth's gases are found within the first 100 miles above the earth's surface. This envelope acts as a "blanket" to help steady and evenly distribute the temperature over the earth's surface, keeping it, overall, between the freezing and boiling points of water. The atmosphere blocks out many forms of high energy radiation which might be detrimental to life.

Hearing

"In accordance with the vote of the 1968 Annual Town Meeting on Article V of the Warrant, we understand that your board will be appointing two new members to our Recreation Committee for terms of three years each to replace retiring members Margaret Fahey and John Sexton.

"In the course of your discussions on the matter, we would respectfully like to ask you to consider the people suggested by various members of our present committee as outlined on the attached sheet; and these people have demonstrated an interest in recreation as well as a willingness to serve on the Recreation Committee.

"If we can be of any further assistance in your deliberations on the two replacement members, please let us know and we will be most happy to cooperate in any way that we can."

A postscript, also signed by Mr. Sexton stated:

"P.S. We are aware of the fact that Robert P. Joyce, of 29 Arthur Street has asked to be considered for nomination to the Recreation Committee; but feel that the people we have endorsed are more mature and better qualified.

"We do invite as you may know, representatives of the High School student body to meet with us to suggest programs of interest to their age group and to keep us abreast of their other interests."

Besides Mrs. Connell and Mr. Mullaney, Recreation Committee members include Duane M. Belden of 50 Thornberry Road, Dr. George Evans of 31 Myopia Road, James Frongillo of 5 West Chardon Road, and Alexander Milley of Wildwood Street. The terms of Dr. Evans and Mr. Milley will expire in April, 1972. Mr. Belden and Mr. Frongillo will serve until April, 1973.

In addition to the letter which he wrote to the Selectmen Tuesday, Mr. Joyce expressed his verbal displeasure at not being appointed to the Recreation Committee at Monday evening's meeting.

Condominium

Another was the need to shut off a portion of Converse Place in order to erect a building, since the land parcels involved are on either side of the roadway. Approval of all abutters would have been necessary. Mr. Stockwell said that there was an indication that some legal objections might have been forthcoming, which would have cost the Bradley firm time and expense.

A third difficulty was the Bradley company's lack of success in persuading the land owner to renegotiate an agreement for an option which the Bradley firm had held, at the same or a lower price. The option had expired December 31, 1970, but had been extended on a month-to-month basis until recently.

Mr. Stockwell said that he envisioned a "high quality condominium" which would have conformed to its surroundings and would have been a "real credit" to downtown Winchester.

He explained that several merchants had approached him when Filene's closed its Winchester branch a couple of years ago asking for his thoughts on revitalizing the center. What began as a civic interest on his part grew into a business possibility as he furthered the condominium idea.

Expressing disappointment over the death of the plan, he said that a new building would have upgraded the appearance of the area and would have eliminated an "eyesore."

In a letter to the Board of Selectmen on October 1, 1970, Mr. Stockwell said in part:

"I am writing to request from the Town the purchase of a portion of Converse Place (approximately as shown on the attached plan). This land would be used as added land to the present 'New England Laundry' parcels' to make up one new parcel when we buy, and on which condominiums would be built if the town sees fit to rezone the area.

"We would hope that this matter could be acted on at the forthcoming Town Meeting planned for November. If it were not advisable or practical in your opinion, it would create a serious time lag problem for us because if we get the zoning, but had to wait for a subsequent Town Meeting, it would hold up our design and could even mean that we would lose the property."

The earth's closeness to, and nearly circular orbit around the sun assures that it will receive sufficient solar energy to sustain the chemical and physical process of life. Yet it is far enough away from the sun to prevent its oceans and atmosphere from being boiled and baked away.

PLANNING The Artist in His Studio tour on Saturday, May 8, from 10 to 4 are: Mrs. David Bernstein, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Joseph Zelinski of Boxford, chairman, and Mrs. Harry P. Hood Jr. of Winchester. All are members of the Ladies' Committee of The Museum of Fine Arts. The tour will benefit the Museum School.

Area Merchants And Residents Among Channel Two Auction Donors

Again this year Winchester merchants, companies, artists, and interested individuals have been giving generously to the Channel Two Auction drive, according to Area Chairman Mrs. Andrew Nichols and Team Captain Mrs. Russell Bollinger. Twenty local women are serving as Go-Getters by contacting potential contributors, and judging from their early reports, WGBH can count on enthusiastic support from Winchester. The 1971 Channel Two Auction, set for June 5 through 12, is "The Auction with ESP."

"The Auction with ESP" is our sequel to last year's auction, which was the "Auction of Possible Dreams." Hamilton Osgood, Auction manager, explained, "We hope to highlight everyone's secret passion, along with a few other surprises. As far as donors go, this is the auction that gives their products extra selling power; as far as volunteers go — they are our extra special people; as far as our major contributors go, they are indeed extra special patrons; and as far as our viewers go — they will certainly be an exciting sensational production."

Winchester Go-Getters will continue to call upon merchants and companies through mid-May. Anyone who is not directly contacted by a Channel Two Go-Getter, and wishes to give a donation, can call Mrs. Bollinger of 13 Fenwick Road, 729-7620.

Among the merchants and individuals who have already signed their donor forms and whose products and services will appear on the Auction are: Aberjona Knitting Mills, Inc., Myron Berlow, Chit's, Bettie Donald, Esquire Health Club, Four Seasons Sport Shop, the Gallery, Arthur Griffin, John Havlicek Basketball School, Hevey's Pharmacy, Hillside Paint, Kean Flower Designs, McCormack's Apothecary, Nook and Cranny, O'Neil's Pharmacy, Scandia Trading Company, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Spaulding, Spaulding Book Shop, Mrs. Edith Wilson, Winchester Camera, Winchester Exterior Car Wash, Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis, Winchester Optical, and Winchester Sport Shop.

Members of the University of Massachusetts Concert Dance Group include Miss Bonnie Johnson of Winchester. They presented their spring concert Thursday and Friday, April 22 and 23, on the Amherst campus.

One in our Series entitled
"Count Your Blessings"

It's been said that "whoever doesn't believe in miracles is not a realist." The radiant warmth that greets the patient at Winchester Hospital surely has therapeutic value, as does every facility that this extremely well-equipped community hospital has. "While no hospital can be "just like home" we do intend that you find here the surroundings and attention that make you feel at home," is part of the greeting each new patient receives.

Mount Holyoke Tour Of Homes Is Tuesday

The weatherman promises a beautiful spring day for this year's Mount Holyoke Tour of Winchester Homes Tuesday, May 11, from 1:30 - 5 p.m. Once again all proceeds will benefit the Scholarship Fund of the Mount Holyoke Club.

Five beautiful homes will hold "open house" for an entire afternoon so that "tourists" will have ample time to view them.

Wide variation in style and decor are represented by the collection of houses. There is an English country home with contemporary windows and beamed ceilings. Visitors will spot English antiques and many details reminiscent of an English inn.

A large contemporary ranch home is artistically furnished with a variety of heirloom antiques, American, English, French, and Italian. Carefully chosen wallpapers and imported drapery and upholstery fabrics in soft colors contribute to a beautiful interior.

Elegant and comfortable is a traditionally furnished English brick house in a lovely garden setting. Its newly redecorated kitchen is gayly done in sunshine yellow including a flowered wallpaper on the ceiling.

The owners of the fourth house, a split-level ranch, have combined space for family living and business needs in one big beautiful home. Upstairs are four bedrooms, a magnificently equipped kitchen, living room and dining room, and downstairs a handsome office suite fit for the most particular executive. This house has contemporary furnishings.

A twin-chimney Colonial rounds out the tour. This home has an Early American style, kitchen-furnished room, pine-paneled and with a brick floor and large fireplace. A conservatory filled with flowers opens off the sunny glassed-in porch which overlooks patio, gardens and swimming pool.

Buy a ticket to the Mount Holyoke Tour of Winchester Homes. It's a great treat which shouldn't be missed. Tickets are at Spaulding Bookshop, Bowman Real Estate, or from a Mount Holyoke friend.

Young GOP Entertained At Barone Home

Members of the Young Republican Clubs of Winchester and Arlington were invited Tuesday evening April 27, to the home of Mrs. Cynthia L. Barone, Republican State Committeewoman for this district. Meeting with the young people were Republican State Committeeman William Barnstead of Arlington and Representative Harrison Chadwick, who spoke briefly to the group. Mrs. Barone introduced those present.

Guest speaker was Peter Berg of Arlington Street who, at the age of 25, served as campaign manager for Representative Mary Newman in her contest for Secretary of the Commonwealth last November. Mr. Berg is on the State House staff of the Minority Leader Frank Hatch of Beverly.

Mr. Berg spoke of various aspects of political campaigning and the type of candidates most appealing to the present-day young voter. This talk was followed by two hours of spontaneous round-table discussion.

Clara Hewis and Dick Jones, President and Vice President of the Winchester Young Republicans, and Peter Errara, Vice President of the Arlington Club, were among those present.

It was suggested that future meetings of the Winchester Young Republican Club be held in a central location, such as the Public Library, with an occasional social meeting in the home of a member or friend of the Young Republicans.

Group To Pay For ABC Pupils

A local group interested in the A Better Chance program, sponsored by Dartmouth College of Hanover, New Hampshire, will pay tuition for ten youths who will live in a dormitory here and attend Winchester High School.

The School Committee unanimously voted the pupils beginning in September. The proposed dormitory is at 2 Dix Street. The property, owned by the First Congregational Church, was the residence of the late Edmund Sanderson.

Headed by Fred Stockwell of Ledgewood Road, the local ABC group received an option to purchase the land from the Prudential Committee of the church.

According to an ABC group spokesman, The Public School ABC program seeks to provide a quality secondary education in a local high school for educationally disadvantaged students with the long-range objective of a college education and ultimately leadership roles in society.

The program begins with a national search for early high school youth who have exhibited college potential, emotional stability, leadership potential, and motivation whose educational opportunities are limited because of environment and poor schools.

Dartmouth brings some to the Hanover campus for six weeks of intensive summer schooling. Already screened, these students are re-screened at the end of the summer. They then go to schools of a special quality.

The program began with prep schools such as Phillips Exeter and Phillips Andover, but so many more students were available than the prep schools could handle that the program has spread to communities which Dartmouth considers has outstanding public schools. Amherst, Andover, and North Andover, and Hanover and Lebanon, New Hampshire, are among such communities now operating ABC programs.

The program in Winchester will be operated by an incorporated body of citizens. Ten 11th and 12th grade boys will live together under the direction of a married couple as house parents. In addition there will be two resident tutors from a nearby college who will receive credit for a semester's work serving as tutors, not only to the boys, but to an equal number of Winchester public school students who need special help. They will also be available for teaching in the High School.

Each boy brought to the ABC Program of Winchester will have a local family as his host family. He may spend time with the family in its home, particularly on weekends. Like boarding school boys they will go to their own homes for vacations and summer. The schedule includes three hours, five evenings a week, of supervised study.

Seed money for the program is furnished by the privately funded National Public School ABC Program, headquartered at Dartmouth. The balance of the money is raised through local subscriptions. The national organization will continue to offer guidance and support to this locally controlled and administered program.

The spinster expressed no lament at her situation in life: "I have a dog that growls, a parrot that swears, a fireplace that smokes, and a cat that stays out all night. Why should I want a husband?"

THINK A MINUTE! How Old Is Your:

Car? TV? Washer? Dryer? Range?
Oil Burner?

Can you - honestly, now - expect a 15 - or 20 - or 25 year old unit to set any new efficiency records?

How about checking into a 1971 model . . . NOW, while Summer provides us all with time for the "ounce of prevention" treatment!

It can be yours - for less than any other home heating unit!

HOUSEBREAK

The Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 in October of 1970 for the project "Comprehensive Attacks on Auto Theft and Burglary." In connection with this heightened focus on burglary, the Department will present "Housebreak," a column suggesting ways in which Winchester residents may assist these efforts against crime in weeks to come through the pages of The Star. Look for it.

Check over your house for security measures. Move door locks so that they can not be unlocked by breaking a windowpane and reaching inside. Consider the lock itself, is it really made to keep out unwanted people? A deadlock bolt, operated only by a key, is highly recommended.

Have door keys made for each member of the family. Keep your home locked. And please, remove that "spare hidden key" from under the door mat, hanging beside the window frame, inside the mail box, on the outside light, etc. It's not really difficult for a housebreaker to locate a key which could unlock a "treasure."

Mrs. Meyer's Letter To Be Panel Subject

A recent letter from Mrs. Edwin A. Meyer of 145 Cambridge Street to the editor of the Caracas, Venezuela Daily Journal, will be the subject of a panel for the North American Seminar of Journalists. The group will include 45 United States journalists who will meet in Caracas, Venezuela, for four days, at the invitation of President Caldera and Venezuelan newspapers. They will discuss means of improving communication between Venezuela and the United States through the press.

In an editorial commenting on Mrs. Meyer's letter to the Daily Journal and another letter by Mrs. Meyer to the editor of the Boston Globe, the Caracas Daily Journal said:

"The correspondence of Senora Mercedes Meyer that we publish today dramatizes an old and well-

"We recommend that her letters be read — and pondered."

In her letter to the Caracas Daily Journal Mrs. Meyer commented in part:

"I realize that 'Mary loves Joe' is not news and does not sell a paper.

"But isn't there something else in journalism that calls for fairness, intelligence, and discernment concerning news?"

"Is there any hope of the American Press ever being sincere and helping the Latin American people, by printing positive articles and pictures, so that your own North American people can begin to know us and we can really work together?" Mrs. Meyer's letter concluded.

Don't turn your set off...
turn your child on!

You can.

His imagination can create worlds no television show has yet conceived.

Where is the switch?

Where it has always been. Inside, waiting to be activated by a new idea, a new friend, a new place to see or object to touch. Living and Learning Schools know this. They turn on the greatest spectacular in the world every day. The imagination of children between 2½ and 6 years old. Colors never seen before, words never heard — ideas that travel around the room faster than the speed of light — an atmosphere crackling with the excitement of discovery.

If your child is between 2½ and 6 years old, the money you are now spending for a "neighborhood sitter" could bring your child new adventure in fulfillment. Living and Learning Schools are designed to stimulate your child's interest, develop his ability to absorb new ideas and new friends — to turn on!

If you are considering fall school entrance for your child, a LIVING and LEARNING SCHOOL enrollment, in an easy, relaxed atmosphere, could be a most meaningful experience for your youngster.

Call Mrs. Lynn Craig, 699-3221 in Waltham. She will be happy to chat with you about your child. She will tell you about our nursery school program, the kindergarten program and the full day program. She will not recommend enrolling your child for any of our programs. That decision has to come from you.

Young Musicians Spend Evening With Patients

On April 15 the residents of the Woburn Rehabilitation Center on Cambridge Street were entertained by two groups of Winchester student musicians, ranging from sixth to ninth grade.

Arranged by Mrs. Robert Krussell, the evening of music created a bridge across the generation gap, providing pleasure for listeners and performers.

The program began with a group of violinists directed by Mrs. Carl Thomas. The group presented the three-part rounds: "Snow was Melting" by Schubert and "Bubbling and Splashing" by Purcell; and a "Duo" by Kollivoda, a "Musical Joke" by Mozart, and "Rondo" by Haydn.

The young violinists enjoyed turning the Mozart music upside down to play his "joke" and played the Haydn "Rondo" backwards as the composer directed, with no audible discord apparent.

Violinists participating were: Erin Daugherty, Lisa DeNatale, Lynn Di Rocco, Linda Feldmann, Janet Ferrera, Alexandra Kincaid, Caroline Mooney, Michael Cam-

An interlude of piano music by Beethoven featured Alice Schell playing "Ecclesiastes" and Jean Krussell performing "Für Elise."

In contrast to the all-violin group, the ensemble that followed was composed of brass and wind instruments, allowing the audience of convalescent patients and staff members an opportunity to see and hear an unusual variety of instruments.

Several members of the brass ensemble have been meeting together since last summer on a volunteer basis, first in the home of Mr. Robert White of Johnson Road and later in other homes. They also have played at Lynch Junior High School where they attend school.

has performed for other groups of confined adults, March 17 at the Home for the Aged on Elm Street and on March 18 at the Winchester Continuing Care Unit on Swanton Street.

The elderly and the ill have responded gratefully to the energy and youth of the student music groups. And the students have gained a valuable contact with the adult community as well as an opportunity to demonstrate their own talents and efforts.

Craig Heindel Is Cited For Achievement

A Dartmouth College senior from Winchester has been cited by a professor of biology for outstanding academic achievement during the past term.

Craig D. Heindel was commended by Associate Professor William A. Rohners "for his outstanding perception of the course material in Environmental Studies 2, and especially for his excellent paper on solid waste disposal which was forwarded to the Norwich Selection."

In a letter from Carroll W. Brewster, Dean of the College, Mr. Heindel was told that faculty citations are sparingly given, and that they become a part of each man's permanent record at Dartmouth.

Mr. Heindel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis L. Heindel of 17 Seneca Road, was graduated in 1967 from Winchester High School. At Dartmouth he has been active with the Environmental Studies Division of the Dartmouth Outing Club, the Glee Club, and Storrs House fraternity.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

If a single man is making $5,200 a year, he should buy at least $10,000 of insurance over and above Social Security and any group policy provided for by his employer.

At 22 years of age, his premiums would be lower than if he waited even a few years.

The kind of insurance he should probably buy is called whole life. This is a standard, permanent type insurance policy, sometimes called straight or ordinary life.

The premium rate which he pays upon taking out the policy remains the same as long as he lives. The accumulated values of this whole life policy could provide a neat monthly income, upon retirement.

Moreover, certain riders may be added to broaden the benefits of the basic policy.

Watch Next Week for . . .

OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

April 14, 1971

MEMO TO: Principals and Coordinators

FROM: Supt. Donald A. Klemmer

SUBJECT: European Trip

I will be away from my office for the balance of this week and for the next two weeks. During my absence Bill Clark will be in charge.

The reason for my being away from the office is that I have been invited to speak at the meeting of the European Independent Schools in Yugoslavia. During my stay in Europe I will visit the Rome School as part of our relationship with that school. Also, at the invitation of the State Department, I will be making a side trip to the American School in New Delhi.

I had assumed that our budget deliberations would be completed by this time and had, indeed, arranged my trip around Town Meeting. I am sorry that I will not be at the final Town Meeting in late April when the School Budget comes up. If Town Meeting runs until May, I certainly will be here!

You should know that this trip is financed by State Department funds. It is important for you and others to know this at a time when School Department expenditures are under such close scrutiny.

I shall look forward to seeing you all when I return.

Mrs. Vincent Galvin
45 Calumet Road
Winchester, Massachusetts 01890

Dear Mrs. Galvin:

This letter is in regard to your inquiry to Mr. Glenn Munro, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs in the Department of State. Your inquiry concerned Mr. Donald Klemmer's attendance at the recent educational workshop sponsored by the European Council of International Schools (ECIS) held in Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia. Since this Office is familiar with the ECIS and directly concerned with American-sponsored schools abroad, following your suggestion I am writing this letter to explain the role of the ECIS and the Department's relationship thereto.

The ECIS, an association of approximately 60 private, independent schools in Europe, annually conducts two educational workshops for administrators as a service to its members. Because of its interest in educational matters at the elementary and secondary level abroad, this Office has given some grant assistance to the ECIS to help defray administratively related expenses in the conduct of the two yearly workshops. Our grant assistance, however nominal, in conjunction with ECIS revenues realized through membership fees, donations and related fund-raising activities, enable the ECIS to provide its membership with certain services, of which, the workshops are but one example.

The ECIS makes all workshop arrangements, including the selection of consultants and guest speakers to participate and conduct workshop activities. Normally two such consultants are secured from the United States.

I believe the nature of your inquiry concerned Mr. Klemmer's role in the workshop and whether the Department had given a grant for his services. This Office knows that arrangement were made for the services of two consultants to the workshop. Mr. Klemmer was not one of them. If he did attend the workshop he must have done so in some other way as this Office made no grant to him or to the ECIS in his behalf and we are not aware that ECIS might have.

I trust this information has been of help to you and if there is any other way in which I may be of assistance to you, in this or any other matter, please do not hesitate to let me know.

Sincerely yours,
Ernest N. Mannino
Director
Office of Overseas Schools

SPACE AGE NEWSCASTERS (left and right), Mrs. William Fallon and Mrs. Mel Farman, introduce "Noon-In 2001" tonight, April 29, at 7 p.m. in Noonan School auditorium. Tonight's performance of humorous skits and music about Winchester is for children. The adult performance will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday. "Noon-In 2001" Increases Fund For Scholarship

Applause and laughter was generously sprinkled throughout the evening performance of "Noon-In 2001," a humorous look at Winchester's future, presented May 1 by the Noonan School Parents Association.

After so much hard work, Noonan parents and teachers are pleased that it was rewarding not only to themselves, but also to the Zella Giggle Memorial Scholarship Fund. Pending a final tally, proceeds are estimated at $385 at this time. The Noonan School Parents, who borrowed some talent from Maraca, Washington, and Vinson-Owen Schools, feel the program was a "financial success."

The "Aberjona Brass Band," which accompanied the musical numbers, featured Eleanor Baldwin, piano; Art Gast, trumpet; Ed Hammond, bass; Dick Norris, drums; and Stu Page, clarinet. The Parents Association wishes to thank the teachers and principals of the school system, members of the School Committee, and friends of Zella Giggle who supported the show. The Fund will help further the education of a deserving ex-Noonan student in the 1971 Senior High School class.

Indian Girl Enjoys Local Sponsorship

Winthrop A. Baylies of 3 Harrington Road is sponsoring Esther, a 15-year-old American Indian girl of the Tano Tribe, through Save the Children Federation, international child welfare organization of Norwalk, Connecticut. It was announced by Dallas Johnson, director of the organization's American Indian program.

The sponsorship will help provide funds for the clothing, school supplies, personal books and spending money which will enable the child to take part in school activities. The average Indian youngster leaves school before the eighth grade, often for lack of these bare essentials.

Part of the sponsorship contribution will be pooled with funds donated by other sponsors to help the members of the tribe accomplish self-help projects of their own choosing. Indian men, women and young people are contributing all the labor to such projects as building health clinics, libraries and community centers.

To combat the language barrier, which is considered a major reason why Indian youngsters lag two years behind their non-Indian classmates in school, the Federation often helps tribal communities secure supplies and school materials for kindergartens where English is taught to five-year-olds before they enter first grade.

Founded in 1932, Save the Children Federation aids children, their families and communities in the Southern Appalachian Mountains, on American Indian reservations and in many countries overseas through the sponsorship program, annual collections and in many countries overseas through the sponsorship program, annual collections of used clothing, and a general self-help fund.

The Federation is registered with the U.S. State Department Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid and is a member of the International Union for Child Welfare. An individual, school or group interested in helping a child should contact Save the Children Federation, Norwalk, Connecticut 06852.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

A number of good used homes are on the market for the prospective buyer looking for a tried and tested product. A well-located, well-built home can be a source of steadily increasing value over a period of many years.

The older home is usually located in a fairly stable tax area. The schools, libraries, paved streets, water and sewer lines, public transportation, recreational and medical facilities have been established.

Often, purchase of an older home provides the chance to assume obligations of a mortgage with a considerably lower interest rate than is available through new financing or re-financing.

Trees, shrubbery and lawns are mature, providing shade and improving the appearance of the property. The same quality of mature ity may take years to develop in a new housing development.

An older home often is a buyer's "dream home."

Theres still time to prevent ugly crabgrass!

The answer is Scotts HALT PLUS. Spread it on your lawn right now — before temperatures are regularly in the 80's. It sets up a barrier that prevents crabgrass from showing its ugly head this year. Halts plus also fertilizes your lawn at the same time. Makes your grass grow thicker, greener, sturdier. All from a single application. So if crabgrass was a problem last year, spread Scotts HALTS PLUS. This weekend would be fine.

Jaycee-ettes Continue Projects

A review of present and future projects was the subject of the April 28 meeting of the Winchester Jaycee-ettes.

Presiding over the business meeting was President Mrs. Charles Price. Those tasks which are already underway include Healthy Baby Week which begins May 9 and the annual Leadership Award to be presented to a senior high school girl at graduation.

Approximately 500 Betty Crocker coupons were collected and forwarded to the State Jaycee-ette Apnea mattress project. An earlier work meeting provided life-size Raggedy Ann dolls for the Mystic Valley Day Care Center. Later this month members will be making baked goods for the Walter E. Fernald School.

Committees were appointed to prepare a float for the En Ka parade and to make plans for the Flea Market, an annual fund-raising event in September.

At the request of the Red Cross the Chapter appointed a representative to the Red Cross board of directors. Service includes making calls for the Bloodmobile during the year.

An appropriation was made for the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, and the slate of officers for 1971-1972 was presented by the nominating committee. Elections will be held during May. A "Splash Party" and social evening for Jaycees and their wives is planned for May 15.

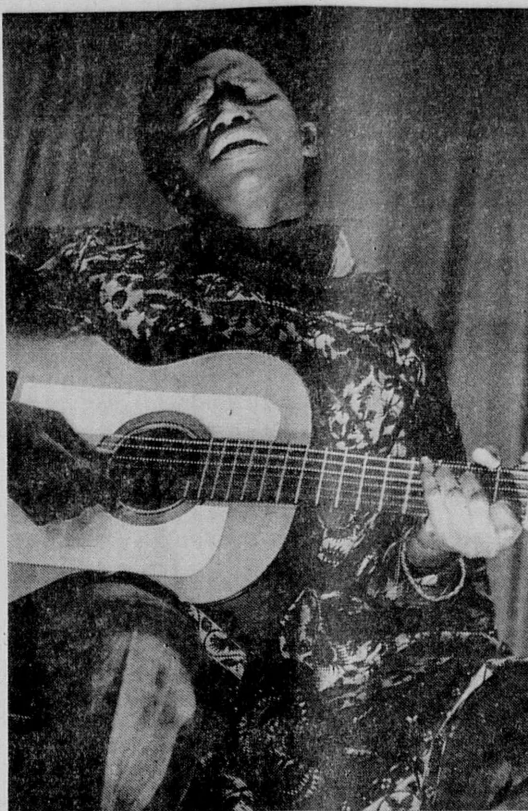

The next meeting of the Jaycee-ettes is scheduled for Wednesday, May 26.

AFRICAN AUTHENTICITY of music and costume will be provided in the guitar and dashiki displayed by Rocky Birigwa, Ugandan folk singer, at the May 12 concert and fashion show to benefit Six Weeks Adventure.

May 12 Event Will Benefit "Six Weeks"

A concert by Rocky Birigwa, Ugandan folk singer, and fashions from Dashiki Village, the Afro-American boutique located in Boston, will be featured in a benefit fashion show to be held at the First Congregational Church, Winchester, Wednesday, May 12, at 8 p.m.

Proceeds will help support Six Weeks Adventure, the interracial summer recreational program, which for the past two summers has brought together 25 children from the inner city area.

Featured performer at the fashion show will be Rocky Birigwa, African folksinger and drummer. The 21-year-old native Ugandan, a graduate student at the New England Conservatory, has recently appeared with Tom Rush and has established his American reputation through appearances on nationwide radio and television and has performed at such places as the Village Gate, New York University, and in concert at Jordan Hall and Sanders Theater, Harvard. Mr. Birigwa has graciously donated his talents to add authentic African atmosphere to the event.

Mrs. Mary Robinson, the founder of the boutique which employs women from the neighborhood who work in their homes and custom craft fashions from fabrics imported from East Africa, will be the commentator for the fashion show. It is the practice of Dashiki Village to choose members of the audience to model their creations which they feel adds elements of spontaneity and audience involvement to the affair.

For the unfamiliar, a dashiki is the loose-fitting multicolored African shirt worn by both men and women which in recent years has become increasingly popular within the Afro-American community and outside as well. As fashion inspiration it has penetrated the "mod" world of the boutique and that of haute couture.

Mrs. Linda Williams of 2 Wolcott Terrace, coordinator for the fashion show, is working closely with several of the junior volunteers from the summer program and finds much enthusiasm generating among the folk fashion-minded students at the high school. Participating with Mrs. Williams in preparations for the affair are Mrs. Lorraine Buckner, poster designer; Mrs. Anne Oppenheimer, refreshments; Mrs. Barbara Miliaras, publicity; John O'Brien, special effects; and Laurie Goldin and Kathy Mahoney, tickets.

Tickets are available at the door, through student volunteers, and with merchants displaying posters indicating their availability. A special note to mothers with young children — free baby-sitting will be provided in the first grade room of the church, provided by Six Weeks Adventure volunteers.

Articles of clothing will be on sale as well as African fabric. Orders will be taken on custom made dashikis. Six Weeks Adventure will receive 10 percent of the profit from clothing sales. In addition, African and African-inspired jewelry will be offered. Proceeds from the jewelry will be shared equally by Six Weeks Adventure and Dashiki Village.

Winchester High Nine Is Off To Rocky Start

by John F. Parrell

Coach Bill Colella's Winchester High School baseball team has not found the going rough at the outset of the 1971 campaign and to date the record is no victories and six defeats. Coming on the heels of a highly successful 1970 season which saw a triple tie for the Middlesex League championship with Woburn and Stoneham the present situation is far from a happy one.

Pitching, fielding, batting, and all around baseball sense are the four necessary ingredients for diamond success. Only in the fielding category has the Sachem nine been up to par. In the six league games to date they have made only eight errors, but that has been the sole redeeming feature. The pitching has been shaky, particularly in the early innings and the 25 bases on balls granted to the opposition have played a major part in building the unhappy record.

Then again, the batters have fallen down badly in nearly every game, with the opponents having 33 runs and 45 hits against the meager 10 runs and 27 bingles of the Winchesterites. There have been very few extra base hits for Winchester and home runs are unknown. Bob Salvucci, with .278, tops the batters. The team average is only .184.

From the foregoing it is quite easy to explain the present plight of the team. However, it is not by any means as poor a team as the records show. There is nothing seriously wrong that a few well placed hits and steadier pitching would not correct.

With only three more games to be played in the first half of the season, the boys must tighten their belts and go out to show the rest of the league that they are in reality to be reckoned with in the coming games. While the championship is definitely out of the question the Winchester team can well be spoilers for the hopes of those who are battling for the top spot.

Lacrosse Team Continues Undefeated Sweep With Wins Over Ipswich, Governor Dummer

by John F. Parrell

The Winchester High lacrosse team, coached by Gene Bouley, added victories last week over Ipswich, 10-1, and Governor Dummer Academy, 11-6, to maintain their undefeated status. This week will find stern opposition from Brookline on Tuesday and what shapes up as the most crucial game of the season at Newton tomorrow afternoon.

The Garden City team has also been riding high and last week downed defending state titlist, Longmeadow, 7-3. Last year the Newton clash was also the tightest of the regular schedule with Winchester winning a cliffhanger, 8-7. The head on meeting of the two currently undefeated teams is expected to attract a large crowd of Sachem supporters.

The ball control game, which has been the backbone of the Winchester attack this season was the main reason for the rather easy conquest of Ipswich. Captain Phil Sampson netted three goals. Mike Desher picked up a pair. Gary Fincke, with two goals and three assists, and single counters by John Thomas and Curt Woodward, topped the attack scoring group. The Ipswich offense was well contained and many of the J V players had a varsity experience during the second half. Ted ver Planck of this group tallied his first career goal and the reserves held Ipswich scoreless through the second half.

After six years of futile effort, the Sachem stick handlers were victorious over Governor Dummer Academy of Byfield at the prep school's excellent playing field. This was the best game of the year for the Winchester offense, which really put it all together in this big game. The defense played a rock ribbed game and did some excellent work in clearing the ball to the offensive group. Once again it was super goal tending by Rick Murphy, who had 21 saves and allowed only three goals before leaving the scene when the reserves came into action. On the other hand the Winchester offense kept thwarting the clearing efforts of the Dummer defense and kept the pressure on the home team. Mark Lombardi, Dave O'Leary and Dick Rosin were outstanding on defense for the Sachems. The local scoring was as follows:

Reading Tops WHS Track Team

by John F. Parrell

Once again the lack of experienced competitors in the dashes proved fatal to Coach Manny Marshall's Winchester High School track team. In a meet held at Reading the home team emerged victorious by a score of 76 1/3 to 54 2/3 for the Sachems. Near sweeps in the long jump, the two mile and the 100 yard sprint built the winning margin. Winchester was without the services of their good two miler, Terry Quinn, who was injured in a recent motorcycle accident. Chip Emery and Bruce Hill were double winners to garner 10 points apiece for the local team.

The J V team under the tutelage of Dave Berman also beat the Dummer J V team, 8-1. Pete Wakefield tallied four times for Winchester.

Local Youths Tennis League

by John F. Parrell

At a meeting of interested persons held in Wayland plans were made for the formation of a tennis league for boys and girls 15 years of age and under. Philip Richardson attended as a representative of the Winchester Tennis Association. The Winchester team to be entered will be sponsored by the Recreation Department. The Winchester Tennis Association will serve as a coordinating group. Young people who are interested in playing for the team can receive further information by contacting Donald L. Spinney, Director, at 729-4514.

Present at the organization meeting besides Mr. Richardson were: Edward W. Marks, Peter Case, and Mrs. Thurrell of Needham Recreation; Charles Keating of Wellesley Recreation; Barbara von Rosvinge, Wellesley Tennis Association; Frank Morrissey, Framingham Recreation; George Horton, Sudbury Recreation; Verne Woods, Lexington Tennis Association, and Warren Kindred of Wayland.

The last named told of the history of a successful league made up of private clubs and operating under the title of the Sudbury Valley Tennis League. With the rules of that league as a guide a new league was formed to be known as the Suburban Junior Tennis League. Each town joining the new league would start one boys' team and one for girls, with the deadline for entries May 15. Mr. Kindred has agreed to do the scheduling for this season and the teams will be placed in divisions according to geographical distribution.

Play will continue through the summer months, with a league champion to be determined by a playoff of divisional champions to be held in August.

Concord Bests Sachems By Win In Relay, 69-62

by John F. Parrell

In a nip and tuck duel which went right down to the final track event, the relay, the Concord Patriots edged Winchester, 69-62. Once again the weakness of the Sachems in the shorter running events was the most telling factor. When the final result hinged on the speed of the relay quartet the visitors had the advantage.

Bruce Hill was an easy double winner in both the high and low hurdles events and Chip Emery took the shot and discus to tally ten points each for the Sachem cause. Hagford of the Patriots took both the 100 and 440 yard dashes to lead his team.

The summary:
Long Jump: Tie between Zerby (C) and Gouzele (W), Dattilo (W), 3 Distance: 19 ft. 2 in.

Whitney Gay Closes Eventful Athletic Career

Whitney Gay, a senior from Winchester, is closing out an eventful athletic career at Susquehanna University, Selingsgrove, Pennsylvania.

WHITNEY GAY

Gay, a 6-2, 235-pounder, is the captain of Susquehanna's golf team, which has compiled a 7-5 record to date after getting off to a slow start.

He also lettered in football for four seasons as a defensive end and last fall helped the Crusaders win the Northern Division championship of the Middle Atlantic Conference. They were 5-1 in conference play and 7-3 overall.

Gay had planned to relax during the winter season, but the university's wrestling team ran into trouble when its two heavyweights quit the squad.

Although his only previous wrestling experience was in intra-murals, Gay came out for the team in mid-season and compiled a 4-1 record in the remaining matches. Susquehanna went on to post an 8-2 mark and coach Charlie Kunes presented Gay with a sportsmanship award at the post-season banquet.

A graduate of the Vermont Academy at Saxton's River, Vermont, Gay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gay, 58 Westland Avenue. He is majoring in English at Susquehanna and is senior class president.

Pee Wee Soccer Team Wins, 7-0

Winchester's Pee Wee soccer team, playing their best game of Saturday, May 1, 7-0.

High scoring center forward Errol Burke topped off the previous week's four goal performance with an unbelievable hat trick in the first five minutes of the match. Hudson, stunned by Burke's devastating scoring spree, appeared completely demoralized.

Winchester proceeded to add goals by Allyn Stillman, his third of the season; John Waite, Tom Mitchell, and Peter Gajewski. Right-winger Norm Alpert again played a fine game and was responsible for two assists.

The Winchester defense, playing as a balanced coordinated unit, held Hudson to only three shots on goal during the entire game.

The Wee Sachems will host the strong East Walpole team at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 8, at Loring Field.

Winchester Stops Byefield

The Winchester Squirts chalked up their fourth victory of the season as they held Byefield at bay, 5-1. It was a fine display of offensive playing, with credit going to Tom Galante, Ed Doherty, and J. M. Gagan.

The first goal came at seven minutes, 30 seconds of the first period at team captain Chris McCarthy stole the puck from Byefield, streaked down the middle on a breakaway, faked the goalie out of the net, and clearly put it in on the glove side. This was Christopher's first goal of the season and a mighty pretty one.

The second period was a nip and tuck battle, until at 8:15, Bubba Sanford fired a low slapshot through a screen to put Winchester ahead, 2-0. Later in the period at 14:03, Bill Strazullo received a sharp pass from the corner from Ricky Blanch for the third goal of the game.

Bubba Sanford picked up where Bill Strazullo left off, as he fired a flipshot on net, which hit defenseman Scott Anderson's stick, that went down between the goal-ies pads, making the score 4-0.

Byefield wasn't going down without a good fight. They bombarded Winchester goalie Mike Schromm with shots from just in front of the net. Finally, after many shots, the puck just eluded him to put Byefield on the scoreboard.

Byefield's hopes of coming back were shattered as Allyn Stillman wheeled around the opposition's net and stuffed it in to make the score 5-1 on a fine goal by Allyn.

Jimmy Willing played an outstanding defensive game. Goalie Steve Ferrulo had a shutout during his portion of the game.

The game puck was awarded to defenseman Peter Mahoney by Team Captain Chris McCarthy and Ronnie Devenzenzo.

Record Turnout For Cap League Opening

by James R. Stewart Jr.

The Winchester Cap League baseball season got off to a resounding start when 300 youngsters, many with parents, arrived at Ginn Field Sunday for the final registration and initial workouts of the teams.

Under the direction of Dr. Richard Blanch and Allen Ruggles, this year's crop of seven-to-11-year-old baseball aspirants surpassed all previous records for interest in the program. Staffed by an excellent group of managers and coaches, it appears that their will be fun and entertainment for everyone each Saturday and Sunday afternoon from May 8 through June 13, at least.

On Sunday, teams were organized according to schools. The coaches were able to make an initial appraisal of team prospects and individual skills, at present, of the many candidates for their schools' representatives. Unfortunately, but not unexpectedly, several schools turned out a record registration, necessitating splitting the boys into two teams, but the adult supervisors are available, and every boy will get an opportunity to play.

One of the Blanch-Ruggles innovations, sure to capture the fancy of players and spectators alike, is the numbering of the team players with appropriate cap numbers. The batting order will be according to the numbers, and number one will not bat a second time until the last numbered boy on his team has also batted. In the field, the coaches will designate the lineup and make changes as they determine.

Umpire-in-Chief Jim Stewart has arranged for adequate staffs of arbiters for each scheduled game. He will supervise the umpires overall and specifically oversee West Side Field action. Jim McGoldrick, assistant umpire-in-chief, will coordinate the umpiring at Ginn Field.

Typical remarks of managers and coaches, at random were "Boy, I found a real good left hand pitcher;" "Looks like I got some real power hitters, this year, for a change!" "I have a lot of small guys, but they sure can run!" All managers and coaches were enthusiastic about their teams and expressed their pleasure at the number of parents who came down on Sunday and were willing to help out on the teaching arts. It would appear that there will be from 21 to 25 players on each team, so the extra help will be most appreciated.

On Saturday and Sunday, May 8 and 9, the first games will be played in the round-robin series. There will be six to eight fields used for Cap League, three or four at each of Ginn and West Side Fields. The refreshment stands will be manned, and it is hoped a goodly crowd will watch.

On Saturday, the following teams will report to fields as shown: Ginn Field — Muraco I, Mystic II, St. Mary's, Vinson-Owen, Washington.

West Side Field — High Street, Lincoln, Mystic I, Noonan, Parkhurst, Wyman.

When the teams arrive, they will be told the pairings for the first and second games, Saturday and Sunday, and for the rest of the schedule. Teams will play games at both fields during the season, according to a schedule which will be given them.

Team nicknames will be determined by each team, later, but the head coaches have been designated as follows:

High Street — John Driscoll
Lincoln — Tom Cafarella
Muraco I — Charlie Morris
Muraco II — Henry Peluso
Mystic I — Norman Stanton
Mystic II — Bob Sharon
Noonan — Al Merritt
Parkhurst — George Kingsley
St. Mary's — Arthur Gorrasi
Vinson-Owen — Arthur Houlihan
Washington — Bob Grainger
Wyman — Calvin Bowker

High School Pops Concert Offers Variety

The Annual Pops Concert, presented by the Musical Organization of Winchester High School, will be given Friday, May 7, in the high school gymnasium at 8 p.m.

The audience will be seated at tables a la Boston Pops, and refreshments will be served during intermission.

The orchestra will open the program with a variety of musical selections, including the "Roumanian Rhapsody." The Girls' Glee Club will follow with songs of diversified interest, and the Double Sextette will sing some modern arrangements to a few old standards. As a finale the Band will present various of the well-known pieces of Henry Mancini.

PHOTOGRAPHED during a recent three-day visit to Washington, D.C., were the 109 members and friends of St. Mary's Catholic Youth Organization who made the trip.

More Dropouts Attend School Under GI Bill

The number of high school dropouts and other "educationally disadvantaged" veterans in school under the G.I. Bill climbed to an all-time monthly high of 30,524 in January, the Veterans Administration reported.

The previous high was 29,098 in November, 1970.

Most of this group were in training below the college level. Others were taking refresher or deficiency courses at the undergraduate level.

One special benefit for eligible veterans who have not completed high school is to attend elementary or high school half-time or more without having this benefit's use charged against future G.I. Bill education benefits.

VA pays veterans with no dependents $175 monthly (more if there are dependents) for going to school full-time, $128 for three-quarter time and $81 for half-time. If they attend such schools during the evening, veteran-students are limited to the half-time rate.

Another special benefit for veterans and servicemen beyond high school is tutorial assistance to prevent them from failing in subjects essential to their educational program.

Under this program, VA will pay up to $50 monthly in tutoring fees for a maximum of nine months.

Veterans and servicemen are eligible for educational benefits if they have more than 180 days of military service, any part of it after January 31, 1955, or if discharged for a service-connected disability, regardless of length of service.

VA urged veterans interested in going to school — especially dropouts — to get information at any VA office, or from local service or organization representatives.

Textile Field Develops New Cotton Fabric

Paper and plastics have displaced many traditional textile products in recent years. To most, however, there's still no substitute for a beautiful woven table cloth and napkins. Or for that matter, a soft woven hand towel.

Durable press, soil resistance, coating, and other easy-care finishes have helped textile makers regain some of their lost sales. But now textile technology has drawn a head on one of the industry's oldest competitors — the leather outerwear industry.

Textile technologists have come up with a new all-cotton fabric that looks and feels like real suede. Unlike suede, however, it's machine washable and machine dryable. It can be treated just like any all-cotton fabric.

The company that makes it says that it will be used in slacks and jeans, jackets, vests, shorts, purses, and practically any other apparel where suede is used. The fabric can be treated for water repellency and it comes in all the usual suede colors. Each color has the name of a famous Indian tribe, except for a silvery gray appropriately named Paleface.

Perhaps most interesting of all is that the price of clothing made from the new fabric will be just about half the price of real suede. These good news to anybody in the days of soaring consumer prices. And speaking of prices, the textile industry is proud of its record of keeping down inflationary price. According to the U.S. Department of Labor, prices of textile mill products are actually lower in price at the wholesale level today than ten years ago.

The Veterans Administration announced earlier this year that 14,800 disabled veterans — some 4,100 more than last year — were studying in colleges and pursuing on-the-job training.

Data On Local People Stored For Computers

How private are the lives and activities of Winchester residents? Not as private as they think they are.

On the basis of testimony given recently before the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights, it appears that a wealth of personal information about local people has been stored in the data banks of computers in Washington and elsewhere, ready for instantaneous inspection.

According to one witness, Professor Arthur Miller of the University of Michigan Law School, "Each time a citizen files a tax return, applies for credit or for life insurance, seeks Government benefits or interviews for a public job, a dossier is opened under his name."

Included in such data as age, birthplace, schooling, income, property holdings, political and social affiliations, tax payments, military record, marital status, law violations, and a host of other tidbits of information.

On the computers of the Internal Revenue Service, for example, are details of the earnings and expenditures of approximately 8,200 residents of Winchester.

Although this is supposedly confidential information, it is being made available to state and local governments and may be "leaked" to others, it was testified.

In the files of the Social Security Administration are the records of some 2,500 local residents who are receiving retirement or disability benefits. In addition, the administration has the employment records of nearly everyone in the area who is in the labor force.

Another collector of data is the FBI, which has an estimated 9,400 fingerprints on file of men, women, and children living in Winchester.

Included are prints of persons on public payrolls, of those who have been in military service, of people who have been arrested for felonies, and of others who have voluntarily submitted their fingerprints for identification purposes.

The surveys made periodically by the Census Bureau also produce much private information about people but this is only for statistical purposes and is kept confidential.

School Rental Revisions Considered

The Winchester School Department is currently considering methods by which to revise its school rental rates so as to bring them more in line with actual out-of-pocket costs.

Pending receipt of information from the Community School Association as to the rental uses presently being made of each institution, the Winchester School Committee is weighing the various comments of the administration. The subject has been postponed several times due to work on the budget and preparations for the new high school. Definite recommendations by the administration will also depend upon a reading from the Town Council.

William F. Clark, assistant superintendent for administrative services, has suggested a number of changes in the Rules and Regulations of the School Committee pertaining to school rentals. The first concerns the present requirement that two-thirds of the group renting facilities be residents of Winchester. It is recommended that this be amended to a "majority." Apparently the two-thirds stipulation is unique and has kept several local groups from using this service.

The need for "special approval" for holidays and Sundays could be deleted since individual approval on each occasion is already required. There is also a discrepancy between the Winchester regulations which refer only to organizations and State law which cites "individuals" as well when the use is considered to be in the interest of the community.

The Rules and Regulations also prohibit availability of school facilities for commercial purposes. However, a dance group and a dancing school currently are renting such space and a qualification in the regulation's wording would do more to assure the legality of this action.

"The real problem we have in connection with the rental rates," Mr. Clark states, "pertains to custodial charges." The recommendation is that in addition to the rental charge for the space, the custodial hourly rate whether for afternoon or evening use be a flat rate of $6. This overcomes the need to charge in accordance with the varying rates of custodial services, a method which would cost more in bookkeeping than would be realized in revenue. The elimination of rental charges for dining halls in the high and junior high schools is also suggested.

Presently, the rental charge and custodial fee is paid by the user (in most cases) to the Town Treasurer and goes into the Excess and Deficiency Fund. However, the School Department pays for custodial time out of the school rentals account.

Because the School Department now charges $3 per hour for custodial services, but must pay under the new salary schedule a rate which varies from $5.93 to $6.75 per hour, the School Department is losing money. The possibility of having the user pay the custodian directly, a practice now followed in a few instances, as a matter of policy is also being considered.

The topic is a tentative agenda item for Monday, May 10, regular School Committee meeting.

HEAVY SMOKE ESCAPES from a Valleywood Circle residence Saturday night, May 1, during a two-alarm fire. Damage was termed extensive due to heat and the blackening fumes. (Ryerson photo)

Valleywood Circle Fire Contained In Two Alarms

Four hours of work by Winchester firefighters limited structural damage to a Valleywood Circle residence in a two-alarm blaze Saturday night, May 1. Smoke and heat, however, were responsible for extensive harm to the interior.

A neighbor from Cox Road rang the first alarm at 10:05 p.m. On arrival at 2 Valleywood Circle, the home of Richard J. Piazza, firefighters found heavy smoke and heat already spreading through the unoccupied house. After gaining entrance by breaking the door and windows, flames were discovered to be concentrated in the area of the kitchen cabinets.

The fire was contained in this location and chased down within the adjacent walls and structure. The stove and some debris were removed to further this effort, while partitions were opened to allow for the escape of smoke already permeating the house.

Captain Peter L. Galuffo was in charge of operations, which began with the response of Engines 2 and 3 and the ladder and rescue trucks. When Captain Galuffo called for a second alarm at 10:16 p.m., Engine 4, the light truck, and a Woburn engine were brought to the scene, while Stoneham pump and Arlington ladder filled in at the station. Police assisted at the site.

One firefighter was "slightly overcome" by smoke, while another received a cut on the hand.

Fire Chief I. Francis Amico, who responded with the second alarm, noted that damage to the residence was extensive by smoke and heat, though experienced structurally only in the kitchen. The event is under investigation by the State Fire Marshall's office.

A kitchen clock had stopped at 9:20 p.m., indicating that the time sequence of the fire's progression in the home which was vacant for that evening.

Musket District Boy Scouts Host Show

Action was the keyword during the weekend of April 24 and 25 as over 7000 Scouts, parents and friends of Scouting attended the annual Musket District Scout Show at the Stoneham Town Hall. Conservation, Scouting's national theme for 1971, was the subject of many of the displays.

Persons visiting the show were able to test their skills on subjects ranging from driver safety to nature. They were shown how pollution occurs through use of models and watched demonstrations of tower building, first aid, cub crafts and numerous other skills. Inside again they had the opportunity, through slides and movies, of seeing and hearing about the year-round activities of units from Scout canoe expeditions to the Explorer trip to Florida.

Awards were presented to the many units that have taken part, to date, in the Council SOAR (Save Our American Resources) program by Scouter Norman Norton of Stoneham. State Representative Daniel Towse, a Stoneham Scouter himself, presented streamers to the units receiving the highest scores in display judging.

The Cub Scout action category was represented in third place by Pack 511 of Winchester. In the Boy Scout category third place went to Troop 526 of Winchester. In the display category a second place tie by Troop 507, Winchester and Post 539, Stoneham was experienced with third place to Troop 508, Winchester.

Judging during the two-day show was conducted by two, three-man teams from the Stoneham Jaycees.

This show was conducted under the leadership of the Musket District Activities Committee. Bob Debourke was Winchester Town Ticket Chairman.

The next activity planned by the Musket District is a District Camporee for Boy Scouts to be held the weekend of May 14, 15 and 16 at Camp Acton.

Arlington Advocate Purchases The Star

Century Publications, Inc. of Arlington, publisher of The Arlington Advocate, has purchased The Winchester Star from Ernest and Jason Dade.

C. Peter Jorgensen, president of Century, will become Editor and Publisher of The Star. Jason W. Dade will be Assistant Publisher of the Star and Controller of Century Publications, Inc.

Ernest B. Dade will continue as Chairman of the Board of The Star.

William T. Jordan will remain the Star's Managing Editor and Susan B. Hagblom will continue as Assistant Editor.

In a joint statement, Mr. Jorgensen and the Dades said that the combined strength of the two newspapers will benefit both communities. There will be five full-time editors and reporters available to cover news and feature stories in the two towns and advertising space will be available to local merchants on a combination basis.

Mr. Jorgensen said that all

Housing Board Names Lawyers And Architects

Legal and architectural firms have been selected by the Winchester Housing Authority, Chairman Mrs. Murphy has announced. Contracts were signed with the companies Monday evening, May 10.

Bishop and Ahern, Medford attorneys-at-law, will handle legal work for the WHA. Attorney John S. Ahern of the firm resides at 159 Cambridge Street. The firm has represented the Medford Housing Authority for many years.

Edward Sears Read and Associates of Boston was chosen to supply the WHA's architectural services. The firm has served the Middleton, Manchester-by-the-Sea, Scituate, and Pembroke Housing Authorities. It has planned two housing for the elderly developments in Reading and two in Watertown. Similar construction is under way under the firm's planning in Chatham, Rowley, and Hull.

Many architectural and legal firms were interviewed by the WHA. Mrs. Murphy said that WHA members had inspected the work of several architects during the past several months. She termed the selection of lawyers and architects as a "most difficult job." The choices made were the "best for Winchester," Mrs. Murphy said.

The selections were approved in a letter from the Massachusetts Department of Community Affairs.

Dr. Klemer Explains Financing Of Trip

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald A. Klemer recently returned from a professional and personal journey which took him to Rome, Italy, Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia, and New Delhi, India. In response to an advertisement appearing in the May 6 issue of The Star which in essence questioned the financing of his trip, Dr. Klemer has documented the backing of the State Department for this journey with a collection of correspondence from various officials.

Dr. Klemer has reiterated that the Winchester School Committee gave him permission to speak at the ECIS Conference in Dubrovnik, to visit the Overseas School in Rome and to take time out for interviews as a candidate for school administrative positions. The latter carried him to New Delhi where he has subsequently been hired as director of the American International School in New Delhi.

Correspondence, which Dr. Klemer offers to anyone's inspection, ranges from the program in which he participated as a speaker in Dubrovnik to expressions of thanks for his services there and congratulations on his appointment from New Delhi.

Dr. Klemer stresses that no Winchester funds were used to finance his trip. He states that the found trip fare to Rome was paid from a State Department grant to Rome for the School-to-School Program, the round trip fare from Rome to Dubrovnik from the ECIS budget, and it is assumed that ultimately the fare to New Delhi was covered by such a State Department grant to the American International School there.

To his statement concerning this matter which follows, Dr. Klemer adds that a person "can Star employees are being retained and that the Star's stationery store and job printing shop will continue to operate.

He stated that the newspaper will eventually be converted to the offset printing method, but that no timetable had been established. (The Arlington Advocate is now printed offset.) It is anticipated, he added, that job printing operations will be expanded in the next few months.

The main offices of Century Publications, Inc. will be moved to the Star building in Winchester sometime this summer.

Mr. Jorgensen has owned The Arlington Advocate for the past two years, during which time The Advocate won three national awards for excellence in editorial writing, typography, and photography, as well as four awards from the New England Press Association.

A resident of Arlington for 18 years, he holds both bachelor's and master's degrees in journalism from Boston University and for two years was editor of the newspaper in Bedford.

Prior to forming Century Publications, Inc. to purchase the Arlington paper he was Publications and Communications Manager for H. P. Hood and Sons, Boston.

His wife, Mrs. Kathryn Jorgensen, was named Treasurer of The Star. She holds a bachelor's degree from Ursinus College and also a master's in journalism from Boston University.

Mrs. Jorgensen has been a reporter for two daily newspapers, the Pottstown (Pa.) Mercury and the Quincy Patriot Ledger, and for the weekly Danvers Herald. For three years before purchase of The Arlington Advocate she taught journalism at Salem State College.

School Committee Elects Chairman, S. R. Parkhurst

The Winchester School Committee elected Stephen R. Parkhurst as chairman and Mrs. Mary A. Mears as vice chairman to serve over its activities until the completion of the 1972 Annual Town Meeting. Reorganization was given priority at the Monday night session, May 10.

As Mr. Parkhurst picked up the gavel that evening Committee members continued to whittle down the personal services budget toward the $782,235 figure approved by the 1971 Annual Town Meeting. They also voted to retain Latin in the secondary school curriculum and agreed upon a rentals policy.

Reorganization

Chairman Parkhurst is presently serving the second year of his School Committee term following election in March of 1970. Mrs. Mears was reelected to her second consecutive term this spring. Nominations closed for each office with their names. Both elections were unanimous.

Out-going chairman and vice chairman were Mrs. Harriet H. Dieterich and Dr. Richard B. Lawrence, respectively.

Under consideration of the personal services budget, action taken included the cut of two "new" teachers, an industrial arts and an art teacher; cuts totaling $6,735 from the summer program; and the elimination of a first grade teacher at Lincoln School. A bid to subtract one and one-half tutors for the perceptually handicapped was unanimously defeated. Secretarial help and a $2,076 position were postponed for executive session after citing "personalities."

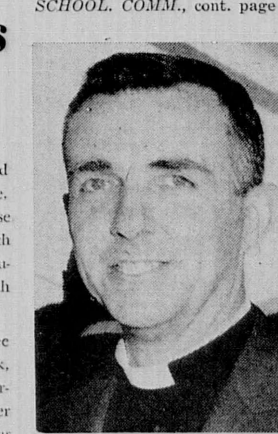

The cut of the proposed "new" teachers was accomplished after Chairman Parkhurst noted that perhaps in September the positions could be restored, "even though it does not seem so now." The industrial arts instructor for the junior high level was originally suggested due to reasons of safety. There will be about five more boys in this course at McCall and at Lynch in September of this year.

Tutors

Henry B. Perry, assistant superintendent for personnel, noted that the $5,558 total to be eliminated from the perceptually handicapped tutors amounted to four persons on an hourly basis, rather than one and one-half tutors. When put to a vote, Committee members unanimously defeated the cut.

While calling it "one of the painful things we have to do," Superintendent of Schools Donald A. Klemer cited the program's accomplishments, adding that 95 per cent of the students participating were above average intelligence.

Woburn Youth Arrested Thursday Faces Six Armed Robbery Charges

The tall blond Woburn youth arrested by Winchester police only minutes after the armed robbery of a Skilling Road restaurant Thursday night, May 6, has since been indicted on five additional counts of armed robbery in neighboring towns. He had been released as of Monday on a total of $25,000 bail.

Arresting Officer Peter R. Morgan apprehended the 18-year-old, one of two youths believed involved in the incident at Harvy's, 14 Skilling Road. A foot chase from Stone Avenue diagonally to the rear of 22 Baldwin Street was ended as the youth attempted to crawl under a fence.

Officer Robert Palmer with Auxiliary Sergeant James J. Connelly was passing by the restaurant at 9:20 p.m. on patrol when he observed a man walking from that building and was next greeted by the proprietor, James Marino, calling out that he had just been robbed. Pursuit began up Skilling to Washington Street and onto Stone Avenue.

When the escape vehicle stalled on Stone Avenue, the two youths began running, one north on Washington, one onto Bates Road. The second man was dogged by Officer Morgan from the vicinities of Muraco School to Leonard Pool and the Highlands train crossing to Baldwin Street.

Officer Anthony Pronski had joined the original automobile chase and Officer Andrew Saraco appeared at the rear of 22 Baldwin to assist with arrest. The youth was brought to police headquarters where he was booked by Sergeant Mario Buzzotta on a charge of armed robbery.

Mr. Marino informed Sergeant James J. Frongillo that a young man with a "sawed-off shot gun" had entered his store and demanded the money from both cash registers, claiming that he needed it for "dope" and that he would kill the proprietor's daughter, a 12-year-old present at the time, if he did not obey. Approximately $100 was contained in the two registers. A sawed-off caliber 22 rifle and the money were found in the abandoned vehicle.

June 16 Is Tentative Date For Special Town Meeting On Proposed Zoning By-Law

The proposed Zoning By-Law will be the major topic at a Special Town Meeting tentatively scheduled for Wednesday evening, June 16. The Selectmen expect to close the warrant for the meeting Monday evening, May 17.

Chairman Otto E. Schaefer Jr. of the Planning Board told Selectmen that his group will hold an informational meeting prior to the Special Town Meeting. A public hearing, required by law, has already been held. A report of the hearing and recommendations made by the Planning Board will be distributed with copies of the warrant, Mr. Schaefer said.

Revisions have been made in the Planning Board's original zoning proposals. The results are "less restrictive" conditions, according to Mr. Schaefer.

Mr. Schaefer had suggested Thursday, June 17, as a possible date for the Special Town Meeting. Selectmen reminded him, however, that Bunker Hill Day is a holiday for town employees. The meeting was then tentatively scheduled for Wednesday evening, June 16. The date is dependent upon the Planning Board having a new zoning map and other details ready by Monday, May 17.

Downtown Plan

The Selectmen, Planning Board, Fire Chief I. Francis Amico, Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler, and Safety Officer Donald Pigott were present at the Selectmen's meeting for a discussion of the proposed Winchester Center Plan. Mr. Schaefer reiterated his belief that the project would revitalize downtown. He emphasized that the plan was not meant to remake Winchester Center into a competitor for the Burlington Mall, but that "Winchester business is hurting."

Winchester Center has "more vacant property than is healthy," Mr. Schaefer observed, adding that "some property is not being maintained." Mr. Schaefer saw as one cause of the problem that Winchester Center "was designed before the automobile was a factor."

Mr. Schaefer told of attempts to interest other merchants in opening businesses downtown when Filene's closed its Winchester branch. Lack of parking spaces in Winchester Center handicapped these efforts, he observed.

F. Burk Ketcham Jr. of Candeb Fleissig and Associates, Hingham city and town planners, showed sketches and discussed the proposed closing off of Main Street as a through route to encourage a plaza-type shopping development downtown. A net increase of 25 parking spaces could be realized under the plan, he noted.

Chairman John J. Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen asked what criterion could be used to determine the effectiveness of a temporary closing of part of Main Street.

Mr. Ketcham said that the impact in bringing shoppers downtown would have to be studied and merchants' reactions sought.

Chief Bowler declared that the plan would increase traffic on the Mystic Valley Parkway. He said that traffic now backs up at Mount Vernon and Washington Streets, which he termed a "dangerous intersection." He said that the intersection was used by students from St. Mary's, the Lincoln, junior high, and high schools.

"When the new high school is constructed it will be worse," Chief Bowler maintained.

Opposition To Proposed MDC Rink Site Heard

A petition bearing the signatures of 35 Winchester residents who object to the proposed location of the Metropolitan District Commission ice skating rink in Medford at the Winchester line has been received by the Selectmen.

Selectmen John J. Sullivan and Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. and State Representative and Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick attended a meeting Saturday afternoon called by persons whose property is near the planned MDC facility. Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly has been in contact with MDC officials on the project.

Selectman Saltmarsh told board members Monday evening, May 10, that some persons living in the area "seriously objected" to having a rink nearby and want to discuss the location with the MDC. He noted that the project had not yet reached the bidding stage. The objecting group has suggested that MDC Commissioner John Sears delay a final site selection until meeting with those who live close to the location being considered.

The Selectmen voted to keep in contact with the objectors. Chairman John T. Moore of the Conservation Commission advised the Selectmen that his group will take a position on the rink when all information on it is available.

Postal Rates Advance Sunday, Postmaster Says

Postmaster Charles Hill announces that increases in most postage rates will take effect Sunday, May 6, as the new United States Postal Service begins its task of achieving self-sufficiency as required by the Postal Reorganization Act.

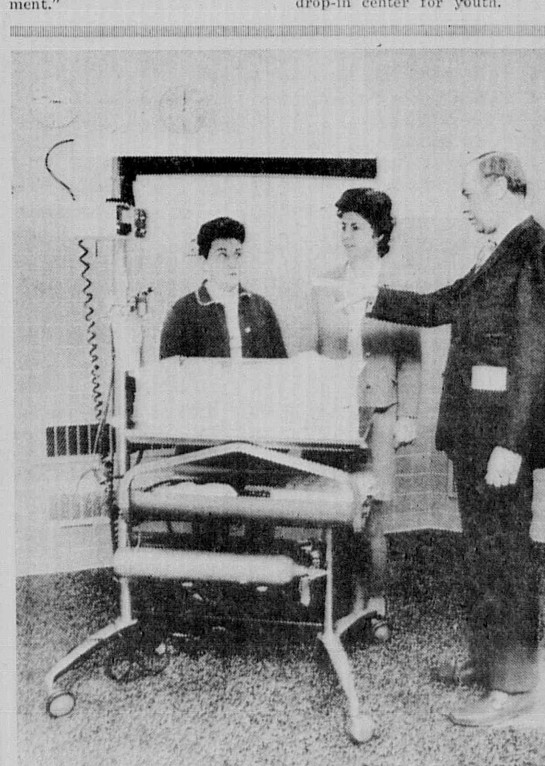

Mr. Hill noted that general postage rates have not been increased since 1967 when Congress passed what was to become its final legislative act in this respect.

He pointed out that, earlier, requests for rate increases were proposed to Congress in 1969 by both President Johnson and President Nixon. In addition, President Nixon proposed an increase again in 1970, although none of the proposed increases was acted upon by Congress.

Robbery

The 18-year-old was arraigned in Woburn District Court the following morning and released on $5,000 bail, the case continued until May 17.

North Reading police arrested this youth Sunday afternoon on two charges of armed robbery at a variety store and at a submarine shop in that town. Following indictment in Woburn District Court Monday, the case considering these incidents was also set for May 17.

Sunday night the young man appeared in Lawrence District Court charged with two counts of armed robbery at an Andover Howard Johnson's and another submarine shop.

A sixth such charge was scheduled for presentation in Concord District Court Tuesday for the armed robbery of a pizza establishment in that town. In total these six incidents have occurred since February of this year.

On Beacon Hill

PORT — The Committee on State Administration heard testimony on 12 bills to regulate the Massachusetts Port Authority by requiring that all meetings be public, that members of the authority be appointed by the Governor or elected by the public, that the names of bondholders be available to state officials, and that the authority develop a master plan for the improvement of all of its facilities rather than submitting proposals individually. Supporting the regulation bills were legislators from East Boston and Winthrop.

ENACTED — Bills given final approval in the Senate would authorize credit unions to make loans to students, authorize the revocation of a driver's license following conviction for theft of a motor vehicle, and impose a $50 penalty for failure to file a report of a motor boat accident.

HIGHWAYS — The House killed two bills which would have prohibited the Department of Public Works from constructing any portion of Interstate 95 in Lynn and prohibited the DPW from constructing any interstate highways within 100 yards of public schools.

RENT — Legislation to repeal all rent control laws in Massachusetts was killed in the House upon recommendation of the Local Affairs Committee whose chairman, Representative Donald R. Gaudette (D) of New Bedford, told the House that the optional rent control law has not yet had the test of time and should remain in effect.

SEX — The Education Committee heard testimony on bills to eliminate discrimination on the basis of sex in the Commonwealth's public schools by adding the term "sex" to existing law prohibiting discrimination on the basis of race, color, and religion.

EDUCATION — Massachusetts does not spend enough money on public education compared with other states, according to a recently released report by the Massachusetts Teachers Association. The MTA report places the Commonwealth 44th among the states on public education expenditures and 50th, or last, in the percentage of personal income dispensed on schools, while the state ranks eighth in the nation in per capita disposable income.

PROPERTY — Francis M. Keane, counsel for the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation, urged approval of legislation to require the reappraisal of property in cities and towns which assess at less than 70 per cent of full value.

Postal Rates

M. Hill explained that the new increases — authorized on a temporary basis until the newly created Postal Rate Commission can make recommendations to the Governors of the Postal Service on permanent changes — will raise first-class letter rates from 6 to 8 cents an ounce. Post cards will go from 5 to 6 cents each, and airmail post cards will go from 8 to 9 cents each.

The increases will be borne more by business than by individuals, the postmaster pointed out, since about 75 per cent of first class and airmail is from commercial mailers.

In addition to increases in first-class rates, second and third class will also go up on May 16. However, the full increases proposed by the Postal Service will not be put into effect on a temporary basis, in second and third class, since the postal reform legislation contemplates that such increases be phased over five years — or ten years for nonprofit organizations — provided Congress appropriates the necessary funds to ease the transition to full rates.

Because of the phasing provision, the increases to become effective May 16, for second and third-class will generally be only 1 1/2 of the total increase which has been proposed by the Postal Service.

No changes are made in the rates for parcel post, which is the principal component of fourth-class mail. However, the initial increases will be made in the "book rate" which is classified as fourth-class.

The new temporary rates also make changes in other postage rate categories and special service fees, such as special delivery and registered mail.

The Postal Service advised the public in February that it intended to make the temporary increases if the Postal Rate Commission did not make the recommended decision within 90 days of the request by the Postal Service.

Recently the Rate Commission confirmed that it will not be able to make a decision within the 90 days, and Sunday, May 16, was selected as the date on which the rates would become effective.

When the domestic changes go into effect, there will be conforming increases in letter rates to Canada and Mexico.

In 1954 he was appointed export operating manager. Successive appointments included divisional manager of Kendall's international division, 1959, and vice president, 1960.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Murphy; two daughters, Mrs. Chaim (Harriet) Chachkes of Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, and Deborah Murphy of New York City; a brother, Albert P. Murphy of La Verne, California; and two grandsons.

Funeral services will be private. Cremation will take place. The Norris Funeral Home, One Elmwood Avenue, is in charge of arrangements.

In lieu of flowers memorial contributions may be made to the Penobscot Medical Center, Rockport, Maine 04856.

Nazareth Academy's Annual Strawberry Festival will be held on Saturday, May 22, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the Academy grounds in Wakefield. Highlight of the festival, which features a variety of booths, will be the crowning of the Strawberry Queen at 12 noon. Proceeds will go to the Nazareth building fund. Mrs. Timothy Sullivan of 118 Highland Avenue is president of the Guild sponsoring the Festival.

What You've Always Wanted To Know About Building No. 19 But Were Afraid To Ask

IN THE BEGINNING

Building #19 started back in the Colonial days of 1964 as a part-time (two days per week) outlet for new but damaged merchandise from insurance companies, railroads, trucking companies, mail order houses, etc. Gradually, and quite haphazardly, it grew to include fresh, perfect merchandise from bankruptcies, liquidations, overstocks, closeouts, and surplus inventories. What started in the old Hingham Shipyard at 5,000 sq. ft. with two bosses and one worker has grown to 133,000 sq. ft. with sixty-six bosses and one worker (me!), and a sister store (Building #19 1/2) in Woburn — at exit 38 off Rte. 128 on Olympia Ave.

SHOPPING - - - WHY IT'S WAY AHEAD OF HORSERACING AS THE NATION'S NO. 1 SPORT

Shopping at Building #19 or Building #19 1/2 is fun. The atmosphere is relaxed (to say the least!), the employees are helpful but not pushy (when you're ready to buy, just wake one — gently!), the merchandise is varied (everything "legitimate" department stores carry plus some they don't dare), the coffee is free, and every item is a genuine, bona fide bargain backed by a guarantee or your complete satisfaction in price and performance or your money back.

A FEW "NO-NO'S" -

1. DON'T COME ON TUES. WED. OR SUN. You'll set off the burglar alarm, cause we're closed. You see Harry's uncle's grandfather died of overwork so Harry is taking no chances.

2. DON'T WEAR YOUR BEST CLOTHES — I'm a congenial slop, and Harry's worse, so our Elegant Emporiums are a wee bit (to say the least!) messy, so don't wear your best clothes.

3. DON'T BRING YOUR CREDIT CARDS. We buy for cash (or check) and sell for cash (or check). It's simpler, it's cheaper, and we don't get stuck. Uncle Harry says, "The easiest way to keep a guy out of your store is to let him owe you money."

The Spirit at Bldg. No. 19 & No. 19 1/2

This is a happy place. It's fun to visit here and poke about. We don't really care (too much!) if you buy anything. Just come down and browse about. Doing business is not a life-or-death thing. Harry's got plenty of money, our salesmen aren't on commission, and I don't have to set EVERY day — and your goodwill is really more important than your money. Word of mouth is still the best form of advertising.

Nonagon Sponsors Car Wash

On Saturday, May 15, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon in the First Congregational Church's Vine Street parking lot, Nonagon will run a car wash and food sale.

The ninth grade group will raise funds for Camp Pilgrim, known as "the camp with no boundaries." Founded in 1963 as an urban mobile day camp program, it makes use of MDC, State and National park and forest areas. The program has grown to include a resident caravan unit, a family camping program and a senior citizen's program. The camp is inter-racial, ecumenical and non-profit.

In past years the family camping program has been able to borrow camping gear for their outings. This year that equipment is not available. Without equipment, the program cannot continue. It anyone has or knows the whereabouts of any unused camping gear that could be donated it would be greatly appreciated. Equipment can be left at the church office. By calling 729-0328 days or 729-5883 evenings Nonagon will pick it up.

Nonagon earnestly asks help in its efforts for Camp Pilgrim. Help can be offered by supporting the car-wash and food sale, by donating camping gear or by donating money to Camp Pilgrim through Nonagon.

Noonan Pupils' Science Projects

The Noonan School auditorium Wednesday evening, May 5, was crowded with parents when the pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades displayed their science projects under the direction of Lawrence Kurkky.

The large turnout of parents at the fair pleased Mr. Kurkky, who thanks all who attended for their interest and enthusiasm. Months of hard work, researching and setting up the projects were spent by pupils who were on hand to relate and demonstrate their step by step report to interested parents.

Special thanks are extended to Mr. Kurkky; and Miss Paula Caffrey, principal of Noonan School.

"As a school superintendent I have seldom bothered to respond to the sort of personal and petty harassment of a few, as represented by the recent full-page collection of letters in the Star. It is unfortunate that $175 had to be spent by Mrs. Galvin for this collage of printed information. Had she wanted to gain basic information about my trip, she might have waited until I returned to come to me to get the additional details that she sought.

"I can only conclude that there were reasons for publishing this material other than a real interest in getting at the facts. I have submitted a copy of the page in the Star to my attorney because the publishing of the material is obviously an attempt to raise questions about my professional integrity.

"Correspondence regarding my recent speaking responsibilities at the ECIS Conference in Yugoslavia and my work at the Rome School may be seen in my office. The purpose of my visit to the New Delhi School is obvious from the recent announcement of my selection as director of the school. Again, let me repeat, no School Department funds were used to finance my travel or expenses to any of these places.

"Mr. Mannino's letter is the key to this collage of letters and the key phrase is 'we are not aware.' Mr. Mannino has since indicated that he has additional information that he did not have at the time he received the inquiry. Mr. Mannino is responsible for the overall distribution of funds to overseas schools, but such funds once they are granted, are not administered by him at the local level. He would have no way of knowing from his desk in Washington how the Rome School was using its State Department funds until he reviews detailed expenditures of the Rome School at the end of the year.

"My round-trip fare to Rome was paid out of the State Department grant to Rome for the School-to-School Program. Dr. Haas, the headmaster, invited me to Rome to solidify the Rome-Winchester relationship since he knew that I wish to do all I can to see to it that this program does not terminate with my departure.

"My $56.10 round-trip fare from Rome to Dubrovnik was paid out of the ECIS budget. A copy of the agenda carrying my name as a participant and the letter of invitation from the ECIS executive secretary, plus a letter of thanks for my participation, are available in my office and any citizen who wants to see this correspondence may do so.

"The School Committee members some time ago indicated that they would approve my absence for short periods for the purpose of interviews. The funds for my trip from Rome to New Delhi were paid for out of the New Delhi budget.

"In the case of the trips to Dubrovnik and New Delhi I assumed that, as often is the case, State Department funds were used to finance the costs. At any rate, there were absolutely no costs to Winchester for my travel and expenses.

"I am outraged by this obvious attack on my personal integrity. On a broader base I hope that responsible people in Winchester do not permit the voices of a small number of people to be taken as the majority voice in Winchester.

"The recent pattern of irresponsible remarks made about the professional staff in the Winchester public schools by a few in letters to the editor and at our Town Meeting will in the long run have very negative effects on the staff unless responsible people speak out on these issues. The teachers' attitude towards this town and towards their working here in our schools hinges to a great extent on their sense that what they do is appreciated and that they are human beings with dignity.

"As for myself, I think Mrs. Galvin owes me an apology."

Parish Players' Production, "The Physicists", Reviewed

by Rosalie Westlake

The place to spend a pleasant, thoughtful evening is Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church, where the Parish Players, in cooperation with the Unitarian Players and Winchester Summer Community Theatre, are presenting "The Physicists" by Friedrich Durrenmatt.

An intelligent thriller, it is essentially an entertainment that opens with satirical black humor and ends in provocative although sometimes tedious dialogue.

The play stands on the premise that knowledge cannot be suppressed, that "what is thought cannot be unthought." In two acts Durrenmatt dramatizes the fact that the discoveries made by the world's great minds are not their personal property and no amount of caution or good intentions on their part can keep these discoveries from the madmen of the world who can blithely lead mankind to annihilation.

Three physicists, two looking to buy the third magnificent brain for his own country, are residents of a posh sanatorium run by a wizened hunchback female psychiatrist. The three scientists, feigning madness, come to the optimistic conclusion that by continuing their masquerade they can save the world from future destruction, only to be outmaneuvered by true madness.

Director Fred Bush has provided Winchesterites with an evening of intelligent entertainment. His "you are there" no-curtain technique is very effective and adds needed space for the action. Excellent performances are turned in by Jack Guiderson as Johann Wilhelm Mobius, Bill Spaulding as "Einstein" and Richard Orsillo as "Newton." Isobel Block as Freulein Doktor Mathilde von Zahnd, and Jim Bonnell as the harassed police inspector deserve special mention on the performances. This amateur observer has trouble deciding when to stop "throwing bouquets" for the entire cast is in fine form even with a few opening night jitters.

Carol McIntosh found the right combination of talents to bring off a firm, polished production. Carl Boerner and crew are to be congratulated on the set. Special note should be taken of Peg Magnusen for make-up and Francine Davis for costumes. Both make-up and costumes added measurably to the chill and comedic effectiveness of the play.

"The Physicists" concludes this weekend, Friday, May 14, and Saturday, May 15, so now is the time to show yourself at Chidley Hall and enjoy a good production of a play that is far better fare than the usual clever, dated comedies that seem to strangle little theatre.

"SURVIVAL" IN THE WOODS" was the theme of this project by Penny Olivadoti, 11, and Jane Allison, also 11, sixth grade pupils at the Noonan School, at the school's Science Fair held recently. (Ryerson photo) program borrow three pictures per year for a period of four months each, and the proceeds from the tickets benefit the Winchester Art Association Scholarship Fund. The money provides art scholarships each year to qualified Winchester High School students.

Any boy or girl interested in applying for this award should contact the Winchester Scholarship Foundation which administers the fund. Qualifications are ability and achievement in the field of art, attendance at Winchester High School, and financial need.

Paintings used in the Picture Lending Program are loaned by both professional artists and by accomplished local artists. Often, subscribers decide to purchase a painting they have borrowed in order to add to their own collections.

Anyone not able to be present this Sunday may designate a friend to attend and make a selection in his stead.

Injuries Result From Collisions With Poles

Two collisions with utility poles recently resulted in personal injury to the occupants of the automobiles. The accidents occurred on Church and on Fletcher Streets.

The Police Department ambulance was dispatched to a location in front of 71 Church Street shortly before noon, Wednesday, May 5, to bring Helen V. Rafferty of 60 Forest Street to Winchester Hospital.

Mrs. Rafferty complained of chest pains and had a bruised forehead. She was admitted to the hospital. Officer Joseph N. Perritano was informed that she was traveling west on Church, when the vehicle ran off the road, struck the pole, a "no parking" sign, and ran over the lawn at 71 Church. The car was towed with front end damage.

Walter M. Benham of 14 Squanto Road told Officer William H. O'Neil that he was moving northeast on Fletcher Street Monday afternoon, May 10, when a dog caused him to swerve into a utility pole. One passenger, Craig Leslie of 2 Cabot Street, received a scalp laceration. He was released from Winchester Hospital. The driver and another passenger were apparently unhurt. Damage to the vehicle was on the left rear end and door.

The preceding day an intersection collision was recorded at Arlington Street and Manomet Road. According to the report prepared by Officer John E. Guarente, Allan T. Ruggles of 10 Jefferson Street, who was traveling south on Arlington, was making a left turn into Manomet when impact occurred with Albert S. Duffy of 1 Wright Street, going west on Manomet.

Studio Guild Elects Officers

The annual business meeting of the Winchester Studio Guild was held on Wednesday, May 5. Mrs. Kenneth Hall, one of the charter members of the Guild, was made an honorary member.

The following officers will serve during the Studio's 34th year beginning in September: President, Mrs. Alvion L. Kimball; Secretary, Mrs. Herbert Hamilton; Treasurer, Mrs. Adin Bailey, Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. John R. Coburn; Program Chairman, Mrs. Stanley Cairncross; Studio Keeper, Mrs.

S. N. F. Hedman; Housekeeper, Mrs. James Baird; Storekeeper, Mrs. Arthur Floyd; and Publicity, Mrs. D. F. Votaw.

Two "painting picnics" are scheduled for members on June 9 at the summer home of Mrs. Page Potter on Rust Island, and on June 16 at the home of Mrs. J. D. Zoerheide in Winchester.

Classes in the Studio for the current season will end on June 2. King Coffin will continue as instructor when classes resume in the fall.

NUTRITION IS OUR BUSINESS, TOO!

Helpful hints on Nutrition by Dr. Fredrick J. Stare, world-famous health authority, consultant on Nutrition to the U.S. Public Health Service and advisor to First National Stores on its Nutritional Awareness Program. The following excerpt is taken from his radio program, a Public Service of First National Stores.

Q. Could you tell me what's the basis for statements I've heard about the benefit of cooking in iron utensils?

A. Primitive areas of the world where the natives still use crude, iron cooking utensils, and particularly where they have only one pot in which they do all the cooking, quite a bit of iron comes off of this pot and gets into the food. In fact, so much iron gets into the food that occasionally it's too high and it gives rise to various disease conditions. Iron cooking pots are seldom used in our country any more, so we don't run the risk of too much iron.

Q. I've been attending weekly meetings of an organization whose purpose is to help people lose weight and maintain the loss. I'm wondering if the diet recommended is a good one since it is very high in protein intake such as fish, cheese, and eggs; however, one is limited in the intake of saturated fats. Does this counteract the high cholesterol amount contained in other foods?

A. I suppose what this person meant, "Does limiting the intake of saturated fat counteract the high cholesterol effect?" The answer is yes. Some of these groups have pretty good diets, and the main reason they're good are because they are based around fish, and fish is really an excellent food, every bit as good as meat as far as its nutrients go, and much lower in fat and less saturated fat.

Editorials:

Setting The Record Straight

A Page One story in this week's Star contains an answer by Superintendent of Schools Donald A. Klemmer to a full page advertisement appearing in last week's Star concerning his recent overseas trip.

The Star welcomes the opportunity to publish Dr. Klemmer's comments. In a series of recent editorials, "The Right To Know," this newspaper has discussed a newspaper's responsibility to inform the public about how its business is conducted.

A community newspaper should provide a public forum for its readers. We believe that citizens should have the right to question the actions of elected or appointed public officials in regard to how they handle their duties and obligations. Similarly, public officials should have the chance to respond to criticism. That's the way issues get a full and fair public airing.

Double Praise

Two recent activities at Winchester High School merit commendation.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile drew 108 contributors on its visit to the school Friday, April 16. It was sponsored by the students.

A Red Cross volunteer, in a letter to the Editor of the Star, described the students participating as "courteous, friendly, serious, and enthusiastic about their project."

"It was a real pleasure to be associated with them and I came away filled with hope for our young people," said Dorothy H. Field of 12 Maxwell Road.

Another praiseworthy project is the repainting of the WHS cafeteria by the seniors.

"Even if the cafeteria painting hadn't turned out so well, the important thing is that the students were allowed to initiate some renewal," Jonathan A. Stableford of the WHS faculty commented in a letter to the Editor of the Star.

Congratulations, Winchester High!

Our Brother's Keeper — I

Four reasons make the welfare system a timely topic.

One reason is the scheduled talk by Massachusetts Commissioner on Public Welfare Steven A. Minter Monday evening, May 17, in the Unitarian Church. Speaking before a general meeting of the Winchester League of Women Voters, he will discuss welfare problems and possible solutions.

Another reason is the recently published report in the Star that a 31 percent increase in disbursements for the Winchester Welfare Services Office took place during the 1970 fiscal year over the same 1969 period.

Still another reason is a list of vendor payments of an other than ordinary nature contained in a report on the examination of the accounts of the Medford Finance Unit by State Auditor Thaddeus Buzko. The Winchester Welfare Service Office is part of the Medford Finance Unit.

A fourth reason is contained in a statement by Frank J. Zeo, executive vice-president of the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation, Incorporated. He told the Winchester Rotary Club last month:

"Welfare costs skyrocketed from $524 million in 1968-69 when the state took over, to a requested $817 million for next year — up 56 percent and reaching for a billion dollars — almost half the state budget.

"There was a time only a few years ago when we used to refer to state and local costs in terms of millions of dollars. Now the word 'billion' is being used in reference to individual programs such as welfare and public higher education," Mr. Zeo declared.

In this editorial and in at least one more to follow, the Star will consider the welfare system and how it affects us.

Why welfare?

With much emphasis being placed upon "welfare rights" the Star suggests first examining the problem with a different approach. What obligation, if any, does society have toward those in economic need?

Since the United States has based its moral and ethical principles on Judeo-Christian teachings, the Holy Bible offers some direction in considering this question. Other religions, of course, furnish similar guidance.

The nation's public welfare system was designed originally to provide temporary financial assistance to those having neither employment nor sufficient economic resources to be able to provide the necessities of life for themselves and their families, or who, for reasons of health or family circumstances, were unable to work.

Welfare payments were a stopgap measure, designed to tide individuals in need over for as short or as long a period as required so that their health might be preserved and their family life maintained as normally as possible.

Welfare, then, was initially meant to be society's means of showing compassion and concern for the poor. Why this sympathy for the poor? Biblical verses such as these encourage it:

"For the poor shall never cease out of the land; therefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to thy needy, in thy land."—Deuteronomy 15:11.

"If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food, And one of you say unto them, Depart in Peace, be ye warned and filled; notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the body; what doth it profit? Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone."—James 2:15-17.

"He that despiseth his neighbour sinneth; but he that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he."—Proverbs 14:21.

"The righteous considereth the cause of the poor; but the wicked regardeth not to know it."—Proverbs 29:7.

"Blessed is he that considereth the poor: the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble."—Psalm 41:1.

"But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame; the blind: And thou shalt be blessed, for they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just."—St. Luke 14:13-14.

"He that oppresseth the poor reproacheth his Maker; but he that honoureth him hath mercy on the poor."—Proverbs 14:31.

"Whoso mocketh the poor reproacheth his Maker; and he that is glad at calamities shall not be unpunished."—Proverbs 17:5.

"Whoso stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry himself, but shall not be heard."—Proverbs 21:13.

"The rich and poor meet together; the Lord is the maker of them all."—Proverbs 22:2.

A reading of some or all of the verses above indicates the Judeo-Christian teachings seem to place strong emphasis on the need for compassion, concern, and respect toward the poor. Few would challenge these principles.

Controversy has arisen, however, about the best ways to implement these ethical views. In a future editorial, the Star will look at some of the complex problems which face a society in its efforts to be its brother's keeper.

Turned Down For Recreation Spot, Reader Responds

Editor of the Star:

Now that the annual Town Meeting has ended, Winchester has again gone back to the never-ending job of running the town. One of the Board of Selectmen's first duties, after town meeting has ended, is to appoint committee members to the various town committees.

Among these committees is the Recreation Committee, a very non-active committee in the eyes of Winchester youth. They face the challenge of providing "adequate" recreation to the town's young people.

Up to this point there is nothing interesting in the program that provides for full-scale youth involvement in activities. Although the town Recreation Director, who receives $13,000 per year, will try to tell you that his program is successful, it is not in the eyes of the youth.

Being someone who knows what the youth of Winchester want as part of their recreation program, I recently submitted my name as a nominee for one of the two vacancies which were to occur this year on the Recreation Committee. On Monday night, May 3, the Board of Selectmen voted under the recommendations of the Recreation Committee to fill these positions with two "qualified" people.

In its letter to the Selectmen the Recreation Committee stated: "We know the following to be interested in our committee and we would be pleased to work with any one of them." A list of five people followed this statement. But my name was not among them. "Why?" I asked the Selectmen.

The chairman replied by calling to my attention that the Recreation Committee had made an explanation as to why they did not recommend me for the committee. It read as follows:

"P.S. . . . We are aware of the fact that Robert P. Joyce of 29 Arthur Street has asked to be considered for nomination to the Recreation Committee; but feel that the people we have endorsed are more mature and better qualified." (signed) John F. Sexton, Chairman.

Of course there was little I could say to the Selectmen to defend myself, as they rapidly moved into executive session. I would, however, like to defend myself at this time and state my qualifications for this position.

As compared to the other people who were on this list, I was, in fact, the youngest (being 20 years old). But I don't feel as though age should be a factor in judging maturity. I would hope that the other nominees were more mature, in the fact that they have more years behind them, but I feel as though there was no one on that list who was as qualified for a position on that Recreation Committee as I was.

I have done more for the youth of Winchester than the Recreation Director and his committee. I set up a facility for the youth of the town and received no town support, in the way of operating expenses.

I have attended meetings whenever the future of the town's youth was at stake. I even ran for a seat in the Town Meeting (and won it) so that I could represent the views of my younger generation colleagues. But when it comes to representing the youth on a committee that affects them more than anything else, the Recreation Committee and Board of Selectmen say that I'm not qualified.

It is about time that the voice of youth was heard on at least one town committee. If you would like to see better recreation and better representation, I recommend that you call the members of the Board of Selectmen, and voice your opinion on this matter.

May I close by publicly congratulating the two members of the committee, Mrs. James Connell and Mr. Thomas Mullany. I hope that they can get the Recreation Committee moving, so it will be the first time in four years.

Volunteers To Work With Young Sought

Editor of the Star:

If you, as a citizen of Winchester, are interested in helping our kids to achieve their potential; to build their self-confidence; to find activities both stimulating and challenging; and to develop valuable relationships with people of all ages, there is Project: Potential.

As you read in a recent Star, Project: Potential is looking for willing volunteers to work with young people of junior high school age. If you have a hobby, interest, or job that you truly enjoy and would like to give some boy or girl the opportunity to share your enjoyment, we need you!

If you can respond to the enthusiasm of a fresh young mind, we want you! If the challenge of helping a child learn to cope with the pressures and confusions of his society is important to you, Project: Potential is your vehicle!

This program has gained the unanimous approval of the kids (an average of 100 a week!) who attended the sessions at McCall Junior High for five consecutive weeks. It proved to be equally beneficial to the volunteers involved.

The good that such a project can do should not be lost for lack of community support. You are the community and we (and our children) need your support!

If you feel that there is anything at all that you can contribute please call Mrs. Mary Lewis at 729-5097 or Mrs. Lorraine Stewart at 729-0406 to learn more about this very worthwhile program. The personal satisfaction gained will more than pay for your time. Thank you.

Residents Urged To Attend Talk About Pollution

Editor of the Star:

The ecological condition of our lands and waterways is a subject of great controversy throughout this country. Nationally, the concern over the thoughtless and harmful disposal of solid and fluid wastes has led to the declaration of "Earth Day" to bring the problem of pollution into focus. Locally, the issues of salting our roads and the potentially deleterious effect upon our trees has been the source of extensive debate at town meetings.

The recent history of proposed legislative action in the area of pollution control has been marked by two basic characteristics. First, fundamental differences of opinion have been expressed on the causes, seriousness, immediacy, and solution of almost every pollution problem. Secondly, every problem that has been addressed has presented an indefinite trade-off between the cost and extent of improved ecology. That is, how willing are people to spend the monies required to have clean air, clean water.

If these complex and critical problems are going to be intelligently dealt with in the near future, then the citizens whose monies will or will not be spent must be made knowledgeable of these problems. On Wednesday, May 19, at the Winchester High School Auditorium, the staff of the New England Aquarium will present an opportunity to learn more about the problems of providing clean water in a program entitled "The Pollution of Our Oceans."

I urge all of the residents of the community to take the opportunity to increase their knowledge and awareness of water pollution problems by attending this lecture. T. S. Eliot warned in "The Wasteland": "This is the way the world ends, not with a bang but a whisper."

School Board Asked To Resign

Editor of the Star:

After reading the "Letters of Interest to the Community" which appeared in last week's Star, I am shocked, as the community is, regarding the information in those letters. True, it speaks for itself.

Mrs. Dietrich failed to answer Mrs. Pronski's specific questions. This is only one example of the credibility gaps I mentioned in previous letters. It is a striking example of why the powers of School Committees must be renewed.

As I've written before, this School Committee has set up a program for the benefit of the personnel and not for the students. They are not true representatives of the taxpayers. This School Committee should resign in a body. It is too bad we don't have provisions in our charter to recall this committee.

Activities Can Dispel Boredom, Teenagers Told

Editor of the Star:

I have just returned from visiting several small towns in Maine and would like to point out some differences between them and what Judy Burns referred to as our "stagnant town of Winchester" in last week's Star.

There are literally hundreds of towns in our other states of the size of Winchester and even bigger, that provide practically zilch and certainly far less than is available to everyone in Winchester, in the way of recreation and entertainment. While having my hair done in the beauty parlor in Rockland, Maine, one of the teen-age operators complained that "there is absolutely nothing to do except go bowling." Lucky girl — at least Rockland has a bowling alley. Most towns don't even have that. She further explained that on her last double date the only thing they could do was "drive around."

I asked her about the movie house and she said that it was so badly rated 95% of the time, that that was out.

You poor Winchester teenagers — with Y's all around you — movies to pick and choose from, plays, and as far as entertainment goes — you name it — and you can have it within the half-hour! Even skating rinks. One is going to be built right in your Winchester back-yard and will be open next fall, in case the Arlington, Belmont, etc., rinks were too far away for you. Also swimming pools, tennis courts, etc., etc. — year-round sources for pleasure and entertainment. Whereas in many, many other towns you'd have to travel a good 100 miles or more to find the nearest such facility.

But no — this is not enough. You want a "drop-in center" again where you can "be served refreshments and listen to records." Perhaps you have not had the time to read the Winchester Star to learn about the pollution all around you and how the Boy Scouts (to name but one group), clean out tons of debris from the Abenona River annually. How about putting some of your heavy thinking on this subject, and, as one reader so aptly put it, "get blisters on your hands instead of your buttocks."

Why is it that you think recreation and entertainment should be provided for you by the adults? And if it isn't, you regard Winchester as a "stagnant town?" What can you do about it other than sit on the bridge and complain? Will money really provide answers to your complaints, or will blisters on your hands come closer to the solutions you're after?

Why did the former "drop-in center" fail? How would you do it better next time? How would you succeed where others failed in getting required adult supervision? What else is there to do in town? Not wait on the bridge for "someone, somewhere" to work the problem out for you — you'll stay "bored" that way! Yes, Judy, it is time you teenagers all did something about it! Try some of these suggestions for the elimination of boredom and substitution of excitement, fun, and satisfaction:

You — Clean up the Town — any place, any time. Talk about pollution doesn't do it.

You — Organize discussion groups with businessmen, professional men, scientists, engineers, lawyers, fair-housing leaders, town officials. You evidently have a lot you can tell them, and they would like you to listen to them!

You — Repair the little wooden bridges on the Abenona.

You — Help at election times; provide rides, assistance.

You — Attend Town Meetings. Perhaps you'll understand why Town money is hard to come by.

You — Organize and support church activities, the kind you say are dying.

You — Pick candidates for Town office, and campaign for them.

You — Give your services to En Ka, the Hospital, the Town, your church, the old folks in Town, the needy in Winchester, Woburn, Medford. It can be fun.

You — Take pride in your home town. The future is yours.

BOOK REVIEW

by Katrine C. Laban
Winchester Public Library

TIME WAS

by Richard Berczeller

Do you like books about doctors by doctors? This one is a gem. Richard Berczeller, an Hungarian refugee, went to medical school in 1920 in Vienna. Perhaps it is the locale that does it — or could it be the author — the doctor himself? But the story is pure delight. Yes, he had his problems but he never makes them seem like anything but pure fun.

Richard's medical studies are dealt with pithily, but not overmuch technical detail. His loves (and he did fall in love consecutively) all sound delightful and all left him without a scar. He married Maria, who had scorned him when she was a child and never left loving him thereafter.

The book is a series of vignettes; many were published in The New Yorker. All of them have a point (I won't say moral). Listen to this excerpt:

" . . . Fromm, our chemistry professor was internationally known . . . He had been one of the heads of the poison-gas team of the German Army . . . Fromm's name had a prominent place on the list of war criminals presented by the Allies to the German and Austrian governments. The demand for their punishment was never honored; the Kaiser had fled to Holland, and in Germany itself many of the generals on the list were back in positions of power. Fromm himself received the much coveted appointment at Vienna University. (Even if he had been handed over to the allies, it is likely that he would have prospered, just as his successors, the German scientists of the Second World War, were welcomed with open arms by the United States, Britain, and the Soviet Union.)"

The same Fromm said to Richard:

"You would have made a good soldier, brave, courageous, although a bit impudent. You aren't Jewish by any chance?"

"I am."

"Hm," he said looking embarrassed. "Let me tell you a story one of my colleagues at the Army research laboratories told me. A poor man went to his tailor to have his torn jacket repaired, and the tailor said the jacket would be ready in a few days. It wasn't. Altogether it took 30 days. When the man finally got it back he said, 'You've taken 30 days to mend my jacket, and God only needed seven days to make the world.' 'Look at the beautiful job I've done on your jacket,' said the tailor, 'Then take a look at the world.'"

And so it goes. Berczeller's teachers, his women and his patients are all individuals, much more interesting and individual than characters in fiction. And he enjoys himself so much, no matter what. There isn't an inkling of despair or depression in the whole book. He has no sense of racial discrimination, although he had to flee Austria with his family. Any reader can take nourishment from this happy, hopeful, well-written book.

Restaurant Manager Thanks Police For Help

Editor of the Star:

I would like to extend my thanks to the Winchester Police Department for a job well done. Last Thursday night a gun-wielding young man robbed Harry's Roast Beef of Winchester. Due to the quick and courageous action of the Winchester Police, the suspect was apprehended shortly after the hold-up.

Special recognition should go to auxiliary officer James Conley, as well as officers Peter Morgan and Robert Palmer. My experience with the Winchester Police Department has assured me that our policemen are truly dedicated professionals; and it is indeed reassuring to know that such fine men are working night and day to serve and protect the citizens of Winchester.

Homefronters Grateful For Bake Sale Aid

Editor of the Star:

We wish to express our appreciation to all those who supported the Winchester Homefronters' Bake Sale held on May 7. This benefited the fund used for filling and mailing the Christmas boxes to our servicemen and women.

Special thanks go to the telephone solicitors of the local precincts who not only called for baked goods but also checked on the correct addresses of our sons and daughters away in the service. We also thank those who sold at the table and the ones who donated even though they had no one in the service.

People who couldn't contribute on May 7 are still sending contributions to Mr. Ralph Hatch, the treasurer. Hopefully, the final sum will give the committee a good start in planning and buying gifts during the summer.

Expanding on the operation of this remedial instruction was Mrs. Judith A. Hawkes of the perceptually handicapped specialists staff. In anticipation of an approximate increase of 37 pupils in the program at the secondary level, plus an increase in the elementary schools, she felt that this cut would "seriously affect" the program.

A part-time tutor presently carries six to nine students, working three hours a day or 15 per week. The cut would mean that each tutor would be responsible for about three schools. Only the most severe cases receive help each day.

Pointing out that the Town receives one-half of the program costs back from the State, Dr. Joseph J. Alpert of Winchester informed members that there is now legislation pending which could mean 100 per cent reimbursement or reimbursement of the difference between the average per pupil cost and that for each child participating in the perceptually handicapped program.

He later added that the law requires children be screened to determine if they have such a handicap, while in light of this cut, they would be offered a corresponding drop in remediation. He also noted that there is a waiting list in Winchester to enter the program, and that students entering the junior high school would be affected. "It is difficult enough to maintain the program," Dr. Alpert termed it a "symptom of what Winchester is trying to do," to fit the system to the individual, and not vice versa.

In agreement with Dr. Alpert was Mr. Speers, who tagged the program as a "bargain." He noted that treatment is being given to those with average and above intelligence, making it "almost sadder than the mentally retarded" because students know that they have the ability and yet are frustrated by a physical impairment. School Committee members began delving into other areas in which a cut may be more appropriate and suggested budgeting techniques concerning the Leslie School summer program; sabbaticals; clerk aides at the elementary level; specialists; class size increase; substitutes; and the building committee's secretaries.

Summer School

A total of $6,735 was eliminated from the summer school program, including $1,100 in driver education and $2,635 for a Leslie School specialist. The intention to discuss a different form of budgeting with the director of the Leslie School was expressed.

Removal of the first grade teacher at Lincoln School was called a "calculated risk" by Chairman Parkhurst. The calculations are that 11 of 35 eligible students will enroll at St. Mary's. The cut leaves only one first grade class at Lincoln School.

Consideration of the personnel services budget ended with plans that the administration would come up with the "next batting order" of cuts at the next regular meeting.

Latin

The proposal for the eventual phasing out of Latin from the secondary school program was turned down. Committee member Lane McGovern, supporting its retention, said that he had received requests from parents that the language be retained and information that guidance department personnel were not recommending the study to pupils.

A possible solution of the language dilemma, he continued, might be to team Latin I and II, allowing a teacher to pick up a French class, and scheduling German IV as a non-scheduled election.

"THE SKULL" was the subject of a project by Cheryl Pierce, a ten-year old grade five student, at the Noonan School Science Fair, held recently. (Ryerson photo)

tive, Vincent E. Larocco, principal of the Senior High School, state that this idea probably could be accommodated by making other adjustments.

The administration had recommended that Latin be dropped from the offerings because enrollments are approaching zero, the cost did not seem to be justified, and the teachers are needed in other areas. Such low enrollment in Latin "amounts to a teacher cost per student over triple what would be the normal and is unjustifiable in light of the heavier enrollments in other language classes." Two-fifths of a teacher would have been made available.

It was pointed out by Committee member Paul R. Del Rossi that such enrollments and relative costliness presently exist in other course areas.

While it was voted to continue Latin I, the method of scheduling language courses will require further deliberation.

Rentals

The School Committee passed the two-thirds necessary vote to revise the Rules and Regulations on rental of school buildings. The recommendation presented by William F. Clark, assistant superintendent for administrative services, was made in an effort to bring the costs and methods of payment by those renting facilities into a more realistic focus with the actual costs to the School Department.

The revision cites the General Laws of Massachusetts and deals basically with the priority of use, regulations for rental of facilities, and rental fees. Copies will be made available to each school parent association.

As a result of approval, custodians will now be paid directly by the group renting facilities. While the Winchester Town Council had perused the proposed revision, he made no ruling concerning commercial uses. A phrase barring commercial use was inserted.

Personnel

Among personnel items the School Committee approved the resignations, effective June 25, of Miss E. Anne Ferren, High Street School, ungraded primary; Mrs. Anne P. Gatti, Muraco School, grade 2; Miss Frances Z. Lasser, Senior High School, Spanish; and Miss Margaret E. Morehouse, High Street School, ungraded primary.

A leave of absence for 1971-1972 without pay was granted to Miss Hollis Strong, Lincoln School, grade 4. Reappointment of Miss Barbara R. Zoukis, Lincoln School, grade 5, was made and Mrs. Eileen L. Bosco, was elected to the Noonan School intermediate grades at $10,939.

A sabbatical leave was given Bernard J. Silva, member of the Senior High School guidance department staff at full pay for 1971-1972. He will participate in an internship program with Dr. Norman Goldsmith, chief psychologist at the Lexington Guidance Center, a program affiliated with the Mystic Valley Mental Health Association. He will also undertake part-time graduate work at Tufts University. Mr. Silva's salary is $15,000. The cost of his replacement was given as $9,000.

It was the opinion of Superintendent Klemmer; Dr. W. Howard Niblock, director of pupil services; Mr. Larocco; and Thomas P. Budewitz, director of the guidance department, that the school system would benefit a great deal from this training and outside experience.

Extra-curricular appointments were made and curriculum counselors were named, including English, mathematics, and science. Other categories in the Council were postponed to executive session.

Driver Ed

The Committee voted to accept the lowest bid for the summer driver education course. Pat's Auto School of Wakefield, who presently services the Stoneham and Melrose high schools, offered the lowest figure, $52.50 per student.

Authorization was also given to Committee member Mrs. Dieterich to sign the payroll.

The minutes of the meetings of April 19 and April 26 were approved earlier in the evening. The next regular session of the School Committee will be May 24.

On Beacon Hill

ELECTIONS — Attorney Charles H. McGuire, former chairman of the Democratic State Committee, opposed a bill to have primary elections held on Sunday. He told the Election Laws Committee that Sunday football games and other sporting events would keep more voters away from the polls than at present.

ALCOHOLICS — Governor Sargent, in a special message to lawmakers, has asked for a reform of society's treatment of the alcoholic. He has proposed that the Department of Public Health coordinate the establishment of detoxification and rehabilitation services and license all treatment facilities to prepare the way for a repeal of the crime of public drunkenness by March 1, 1974.

EXEMPTIONS — Attorney Matthew L. McGarh, representing the union of Boston and Suffolk County service employees, warned the Committee on Taxation that unless the Legislature moves this year to remove the tax exemption afforded to private colleges and hospitals, there will be a service boycott against the institutions. He said his group has been working with organized labor employed by the public utilities to go "along with us in stopping services to these places which pay the city no taxes."

BUILDING — The Boston Redevelopment Authority and the Beacon Hill Civic Association asked the Committee on State Administration to postpone construction of the proposed new state office building until the Government Center Commission studies the site. There was no opposition to the study bill. A spokesman for the Civic Association said the planned high-rise, to be built over the underground garage on Ashburton Place, would overshadow the residential area of Bowdoin Street and would "set records for public cost and extravagance."

VISITORS — Killed by the Senate was a House-approved bill to allow tenants of public housing to entertain overnight family guests without permission from the local housing authority.

SIGNATURES — Birth control advocate William B. Baird urged the Committee on Election Laws to approve his bill allowing a candidate for state-wide office to obtain only 3000 voter signatures to get on the ballot instead of the present 62,000.

HITCHHIKING — The Public Safety Committee heard testimony on bills for a study of hitchhiking. SST — Two bills to prohibit person-to-person transports from landing or taking off in Massachusetts won preliminary House approval without debate. The action is expected to be contested at another reading.

REGULATIONS — House Speaker David M. Bartley appealed to the Committee on State Administration to favor his bill to require all state agencies to file copies of their adopted rules and regulations, which have the force of law, with the clerks of the House and Senate. He said he wants to curtail activities which are arbitrary and countermand legislative intent. There was no opposition.

LICENSING — The Committee on Government Regulation took under advisement bills for the licensing of assistant physical therapists, psychologists and radiologic technologists.

Town Meeting On Zoning

The proposed Main Street closing could make Mount Vernon Street "one of the busiest streets in town," Chief Bowler predicted.

"Traffic lights would require re-timing," Chief Bowler pointed out. The officer now assigned to duty in the traffic box at the rotary downtown would be stationed at a new location, he continued. Additional parking meters would be required. Meters cost $136 each, according to Chief Bowler.

Chief Bowler said that the plan conflicted with the $136,000 Topics Program, the Commonwealth is prepared to spend $25,000 to improve the intersection at Main and Mount Vernon Street, Chief Bowler declared. He said that if the intersection were closed off, the Topics work there might be lost.

The Selectmen decided to defer action until Monday evening, May 17, on the question as to whether to include an article in the warrant for the Special Town Meeting on the temporary closing of part of Main Street.

Mr. Schaefer suggested that if the Board of Selectmen did not wish to raise the closing issue at this time, board members could specify areas where they would like to see something developed, an agreement could be reached, and town officials could go forward on a plan to turn the center business situation around.

TOPICS Program

The Selectmen approved three out of four suggested Topics programs. Approved were proposals for traffic improvements at Highland Avenue and Mount Vernon Street, Skillings Road and Lake Street, and Skillings Road adjacent to the new Winchester High School. Held in a by-lane was a Topics plan for changes at Mystic Valley Parkway and Main Street.

Selectman Arthur E. Dunbar's recommendation that the Permanent Building Committee be asked for suggestions on how to meet an anticipated parking problem when the new high school opens was accepted by the board.

Palmer Street

Chief Bowler told Selectmen that angle parking on Palmer Street constituted a traffic hazard. Officer Pigott recommended that angle parking be eliminated there, parking regulation signs be installed, and curbing be placed on the cemetery side of Palmer Street, as recommended last year. Chairman Sullivan said that he would have the proposals before the board.

Mr. Ketcham gave a visual proposal on capital planning which Chairman Sullivan described as "one of the best presentations I've seen on this subject."

Four New Patrolmen

Accepting Chief of Police Ed Edmonds, the Selectmen named four ward F. Bowler's recommendations for permanent patrolmen. Appointees include Paul C. Carlin of Arlington; James P. Kelley of Medford; John H. Morgan of 13 Rock Avenue, and Theodore W. Yeannopolis of Medford.

Chief Bowler said that the appointments would enable him to start scheduling shifts of four days on and two days off. The proposal had been delayed because of a manpower shortage, he said.

Mr. Swanson Named

Former Selectman Ralph M. Swanson has been named by the board as its appointee to the Snow and Ice Removal Study Committee. The body was created under Article 17, passed at the Annual Town Meeting.

Jurors Selected

Chosen at the Selectmen's meeting Monday evening, May 10, for prospective jury duty were Robert D. Heleman of 150 High Street; Haig J. Adamian of 3 Country Lane; Robert P. Stevens of 16 Berkshire Drive; James L. Pettee of 19 Jefferson Road, and George J. Govostes of 46 Swanton Street.

No Hearing Set

Chairman Sullivan commented on a letter received from Robert P. Joyce of 29 Arthur Street, whose request for appointment to the Recreation Committee was turned down by Selectmen Monday evening, May 3. Mr. Joyce of 29 Arthur Street, whose request for appointment to the Recreation Committee was turned down by Selectmen Monday evening, May 3. Mr. Joyce had sought a hearing with the Selectmen and the Recreation Committee "for the purpose of discussing the reason behind my name being deleted from persons wishing to be on the nomination list for the Recreation Committee."

Mr. Joyce was considered for the post but not selected, Chairman Sullivan pointed out. The appointments of Mrs. James E. Conneli Jr. of 4 Churchill Road and Thomas Mullane of 142 Sylvester Avenue to three-year terms on the Recreation Committee tee were "in the best interests of the town," Chairman Sullivan stated.

"It would be out of keeping with board practice to review appointments we made," Chairman Sullivan explained.

Mr. Joyce told Selectmen that he had sought the hearing "not because the people selected last week were not qualified for the job," but because his name had not appeared on the list of applicants recommended by the Recreation Committee.

Mr. Joyce asked why none of the applicants had been interviewed by the Selectmen.

Interviews are conducted only when the board is in doubt, Chairman Sullivan explained.

Hearing Planned

A public hearing will be held Tuesday evening, June 1, on an application by T. Tighe and Sons of 36 Holton Street for storing 5,000 gallons of gasoline underground. The hearing will be held on a Tuesday rather than a Monday, because Monday, May 31, is Memorial Day.

The Selectmen will consider on Monday evening, May 24, at their monthly meeting with Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien an offer by the renter of uniforms for town incinerator personnel. The company, which bid successfully for the business last year at $2,450, has offered to handle the assignment this year for $1,998. The figure, since it is below $2,000, would rule out the seeking of competitive bids. The Selectmen agreed to meanwhile seek the advice of Attorney Leonard J. Mullen Jr., town counsel on the matter.

A letter from Eugene Rotondi concerning surface drainage on Churchill Road was referred by the Selectmen for comments to Superintendent O'Brien and Town Engineer John H. Clarcia. Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly also will prepare a status report on the situation and make the information available to the Selectmen.

The Selectmen agreed to minor modifications in Town Hall alterations plans, as proposed by the Massachusetts Department of Public Safety. The changes concern signs and accommodation for the blind.

Resurfacing Subject

Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. noted that a substantial sum had been cut from the Highway Department's budget for resurfacing streets and sidewalks. He suggested that an attempt be made to restore the funds at the June 16 Special Town Meeting. To do otherwise would be a "step backwards" in the resurfacing program, Selectman Saltmarsh declared.

The Selectmen agreed to discuss the matter Monday evening, May 17.

Fill To Be Used

Chairman Sullivan advised his colleagues that 10,000 yards of fill removed from the Davidson Park area would be used to town-owned property at the cemetery. The move will save the town money, he noted.

Selectman Paul F. Amico announced his plans to resign as the board's representative on the Metropolitan Area Planning Council. The Selectmen will discuss this and other appointments next week.

Announcement of a meeting of the Committee on Names was made by Chairman Sullivan. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 18.

The Board of Selectmen will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday, May 17. The earlier starting time will enable the Selectmen to make an 8:30 tour of New England Telephone and Telegraph Company facilities.

No executive sessions were held by the Selectmen this week. The full proceedings were open to the press and public.

Two Incidents Of Attack Reported

Winchester residents have been the apparent victims of two incidents of attack recently. Charges of assault and battery are being brought against four youths for a Ginn Road event, while a Main Street housewife has claimed an attempted rape.

Mid-afternoon Tuesday, May 4, a Ginn Road man, 35, informed two young boys that they were not to use his property as a "short-cut," or tramp through his garden. Shortly after the two returned with two more boys and a scuffle ensued with the man.

According to the police report filed by Officer Robert G. Baird, the man received injuries to the head and a scraped left knee. The case was continued to May 18.

A Main Street woman informed Inspector Sergeant William T. Haggerty that when she entered her kitchen at 12:30 p.m. Friday, May 7, a young man was standing there. In a struggle which followed, the man reportedly attempted rape, but as she kept screaming finally ran out of the house and south down Main Street.

Lynch Junior Math League Places Ninth

This year students at Lynch Junior High School participated in the Intermediate Math League which consisted of 25 communities in the Eastern Massachusetts areas.

Five meets were held in which teams of ten students from each school completed problems from various areas of mathematics. More than 250 students were involved in the meets, and three students from Lynch were among the top 50.

They were Alexander McRae, Joseph Vickroy, and George Zettler. Placing ninth this year, the Lynch Team shows excellent prospects for the future provided money for bus transportation can be found.

Dr. Miller Is Consultant For New Area School

Dr. George L. Miller Jr. of 22 Thornberry Road, vice president for academic affairs at Lesley College, is a consultant for the Living and Learning Schools, which will construct a new educational facility for children in this area in Woburn.

Nursery school, kindergarten, and an all-day program are planned for the school, which will be opened by September at 225 Washington Street, Woburn. This will be the fourth such school to be operated by Living and Learning Schools, whose administrative offices are in Waltham.

Children ages 2½ to 6 are being enrolled for the fall program at the Woburn school. The program will run from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Lunch and snacks will be provided. Children may also be enrolled for half-day programs, mornings from 9 to 12, or afternoons from 1:30 to 4:15 p.m. Flexible schedules will be arranged to accommodate the needs of working parents.

The program will focus upon open classrooms, with interest centers to stimulate and encourage each child's special interests and needs. The Woburn school will be a one-story structure, with special dividers making room arrangements flexible.

School's Show Will Feature Oriental Rug

The "Rug of Civilization," a priceless Oriental masterpiece, will be one of the feature exhibits at the Browne and Nichols Antique Show and Sale which will be held May 12-14 at the school gymnasium, Gerry's Landing, Cambridge.

Formerly owned by the deposed Shah of Persia, the rug is now the property of Koko Boodakian and Sons, Inc., of 1026 Main Street, who has agreed to exhibit the rug to help raise funds for the Browne and Nichols Scholarship Fund.

This rug and the items presented by over 40 antique dealers from the New England area should be worth the price of admission. Local parents of the school's students include Dr. Lawrence F. Quigley Jr.; Mrs. Norman J. Selverstone; Mrs. Walter B. Stockwood; Mrs. Curtis Hamilton; and Mrs. Lloyd H. Thomas Jr.

MRS. MICHAEL R. FEENEY

The Rev. John H. O'Donnell officiated at the service. Carl S. Fudge played the harpsichord at the church and later at the reception held in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white cotton lace with a floor-length veil banded in matching lace and carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. Frederick K. Martin (Margery Hickey) of Honolulu, Hawaii, was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids included Miss Deborah A. Dillon of Winchester; Miss Regina Harwood of San Francisco, California, and Winchester; and Miss Sharon Feeney of Claremont, sister of the bridegroom. Complementing their pink gowns trimmed in white were wide-brimmed white straw hats banded with pink daisies and Maybaskets filled with pink and white daisies, pink rosebuds, and baby's breath.

Best man was Bernard Haubrick of Claremont. Serving as ushers were Richard Stone and Robert Hunt, both of Claremont.

The bride (Koko to her friends) is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hickey of Church Street and Harwichport, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Mahern of Dedham. She was graduated from Winchester High School in 1967; received an associate in arts degree from Briarcliff College, Briarcliff Manor, New York, in 1969; and expects to acquire a bachelor of arts degree from the University of New Hampshire next month this June.

Mr. Feeney is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Roberts of Claremont, New Hampshire, and Sherbrook, Canada, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael R. Feeney of Devil's Lake, North Dakota. He was graduated from Claremont High School; attended Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee; and received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of New Hampshire in 1970. Seavey-Segerstrom

Miss Joan Knott Segerstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Segerstrom of 2 Maple Road, became the bride of Donald Arther Seavey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Seavey of Woburn, in a two o'clock ceremony on Saturday, May 1, in the Church of the Open Bible, Burlington.

MRS. DONALD A. SEAVEY

The Rev. Carlton Helgeson performed the service. A reception followed in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, appeared in an ivory peau de soie gown with embroidered Alencon lace trimming the bodice, high neckline, and wide cuffs of the long bishop sleeves. Her full-length veil was of ivory illusion tulle edged with matching Alencon lace. Pink and white roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath composed her bouquet.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Allan M. Clarke of Griffith, Indiana, sister of the bride. Her sleeveless lilac gown featured an empire bodice and white embroidered trim. Pink and lilac flowers were worn in her hair and formed her nosegay.

Bridesmaids, attired as the matron of honor in a shade of pink, were Miss Diane Seavey, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Avlyn Webb, both of Woburn, and Miss Lavrie Carlson of Saugus.

Having the honor of best man was Allan Stanford of Woburn. Carl Segerstrom of Wilmington, Delaware, and Peter Segerstrom of Winchester, both brothers of the bride; Paul Anderson of Glastonbury, Connecticut, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and Fred Erwin of Worcester, shared the duties of ushers.

The bride carried a cascade of white roses.

Mrs. Steven Rae of Winchester was matron of honor. Pink karate was styled into a formal gown featuring an A-line skirt and bib of white sheer nylon. Lace was applied to the high neckline and long puffed sleeves. A wide white picture hat and a basket of pink and white carnations complemented her costume.

"It is up to the motor vehicle owner to renew his registration before its deadline by obtaining a registration application properly endorsed from his insurance company and taking it to the nearest Registry office during May."

Morgan Memorial Flea Market Has Antique Focus

Seventeen board and corporate members of the Morgan Memorial Goodwill Centers, residing in Winchester, are among the sponsors for Goodwill's big sixth annual antiques Flea Market on Saturday, May 22, at the Topsfield Fair Grounds.

The entire proceeds of the event, which attracts thousands of people, will go toward a special fund to send the state's neediest boys and girls to the Morgan Memorial Fresh Air Camps in South Athol.

The Winchester sponsors include Allister MacKay, Seymour M. Niles, Eric Guy Cleveland, Allen O. Eaton, John Arthur Dolan, Louis H. Hamel Jr., George Sanford Hebb, Kenneth W. Lamprey, Dr. John J. Alpert, Ben S. Seetoo, James L. Jenks Jr., Oliver T. Bergstrom, William H. Buracker, Harold S. Bugee, Vincent P. Clarke, Hazen H. Ayer and Ernest B. Dade.

The Morgan Memorial Antiques Flea Market is the largest in New England. In keeping with tradition there will be the usual door prizes. Scores of volunteers will turn out to man ticket booths, the parking area and the 101 other duties involved in the smooth operation of the giant attraction.

Proceeds from the Antiques Flea Market will help send the state's neediest children to Morgan Memorial summer camps. They are selected on the basis of physical need, environment and malnutrition, and recommended by 36 agencies.

More than 180 dealers in antiques and other specialties, some from as far away as California and Alaska, will be displaying their unusual wares and novelties, come rain or shine.

The caravan of dealers is camped on the highway long before dawn waiting for the gates to open so they can obtain a good location. In the event of inclement weather, the giant Flea Market is transferred into the huge sheds at the Fair Grounds in Topsfield.

Hospitals rank as the third largest employer in the United States. More than two and a half million Americans are employed in hospitals.

Mrs. Fernald Is Supervisor Of Homemakers

Mrs. Alfred L. Fernald has been named supervisor of the North Metropolitan Homemaker Services, it was announced by S. Raymond King Jr., program director.

Mrs. Fernald, a resident of Winchester, was graduated from Wheaton College with a bachelor of arts degree and attended Simmons School of social work for two years. She has done specialized work with glaucoma patients.

Prior to her appointment with North Metropolitan Homemaker Services she served as a medical social worker at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary; a medical social consultant for Department of Rehabilitation, Federal Security Agency, Washington, D.C.; and director of social service of the Episcopal Eye and Ear Hospital, Washington, D.C.

The North Metropolitan Homemaker Services provides mature, trained and professionally supervised women and men who have a genuine liking for people to help families and individuals during periods of crisis. Mr. King pointed out. On the job at present, he said, are 10 homemaker-home health aides who are helping many families and individuals in Burlington, Lexington, Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Winchester, and Woburn by caring for children while the mother is sick and by caring for the elderly, the convalescent or chronically ill in their own homes.

During the past six weeks, Mr. King said, the service was provided to many families and individuals in the nine communities. He emphasized the need for more homemaker-home health aides to meet the growing demand for the service in this area. Persons interested in becoming a homemaker-home health aide or home orderly should contact S. Raymond King Jr., program director, North Metropolitan Homemaker Services, 223 Swanton Street, 729-0505.

citizens in the several North Regional Communities included in the service area. It is administered at present as a "special project" under the aegis of UCS.

The program has been assigned to the UCS Health Technical Advisory Committee for overall supervision and technical guidance, but it will maintain close day-to-day liaison with the North Region Planning Committee of UCS. UCS and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health have provided grant funds to cover the program's start-up costs.

UCS, the voluntary health and welfare planning council for more than 65 cities and towns in Metropolitan Boston, is a member agency of the Massachusetts Bay United Fund.

Would you believe a real free offer if you saw one?

Then take a good look at this one. It only happens once a year.

We'll install a gas conversion burner in your present furnace or boiler. We'll let you use it for a year. And we won't charge you a cent. All you pay for is the gas you use.

At the end of a year, we'll remove the gas burner free, if you're not satisfied. Or, you can stay with clean, dependable gas heat.

We made a lot of new friends with last year's offer. Ask your gas company for a list of people in your area. Again this year, our offer is for real—for a limited time only. Take advantage of it before the offer is withdrawn!

Service Academy Exams Announced By Congressman

Congressman Torbert H. Macdonald announced that a preliminary Civil Service examination will be held for candidates to the Government Service Academies.

In making the announcement, the Congressman stated: "Any young man who feels he is eligible and wishes to compete for a vacancy should write me requesting that he be nominated. These should be received by me no later than May 28, 1971, at 2100A John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Government Center, Boston, Massachusetts 02203."

The United States Civil Service Commission will conduct a preliminary examination on Tuesday, July 8, in Boston. Complete information may be obtained at Congressman Macdonald's office in Boston.

Congressman Macdonald emphasized that fact that admission to the academies is by competitive examination and this preliminary examination is merely a qualifying examination.

In concluding his announcement, Congressman Macdonald stated: "In making my selection I will take into consideration the applicant's academic achievements, as well as his traits of honor and integrity, character, personality, potential leadership, and inspirational qualities. I can assure every young man who has a sincere desire to apply to a service academy, and their parents as well, that the selection will be fair and impartial."

Mystic Valley Annual Report Is Issued

Some important changes in the picture of mental health care have occurred during the year. These include growth at the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center, redistricting from the Worcester State Hospital to Metropolitan State Hospital in Waltham, and the birth of a division of psychiatry within the department of medicine at Winchester Hospital.

The local branch has tried to reflect the concerns that many have expressed about the gaps in mental health care in this area. In November Dr. Clinton Bagenstose spoke about his experience in developing a complete psychiatric unit at the Melrose-Wakefield Hospital. Development of this rather large unit was accomplished without federal-state funding. Its success and the complexity of creating this kind of service are impressive.

This year the local branch ran a series of four "Mother's Morning Out" meetings in Winchester. In its third year, this program has attempted to create a relaxed atmosphere where young mothers can make friends and can share with one another their thoughts and concerns about raising young children. Talks about children's TV (ACT), developmental issues of two and three-year olds (Dr. Norman Goldstein of M.V.M.H.C.), children's art (Mrs. Feinberg of Elliott-Pearson) and travel provided springboards for some good communication. In addition some time was spent discussing the Clinic.

This has been a year of growth at the Mystic Valley Children's Clinic. Even the name has been changed to the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center. Use of the Center by Winchester residents has increased. Referrals were 31 from doctors, 27 from the schools, 13 from social or legal agencies, and 16 from family and friends.

New services added this year are after-care service for patients released from Metropolitan State Hospital and a day-care center, located in Woburn, for severely retarded children.

More funding from the state and towns has made this growth possible. Six new positions were provided by the State Legislature and the towns were asked to double

Healthy Baby Week Marked By Jaycee-ettes

In honor of "Healthy Baby Week" sponsored by the March of Dimes May 9 through 15 the Winchester Jaycee-ettes are distributing a booklet entitled "The Modern Baby" to the offices of the obstetricians, pediatricians, and general practice physicians in Winchester.

Posters to emphasize the need for early pre-natal care and the importance of immunization against childhood diseases will be displayed throughout the town. Medical supervision during pregnancy is a vital first step in safeguarding the health of the unborn child.

During the observances of "Healthy Baby Week" which appropriately begins on Mother's Day, a case of formula will be given by the Jaycee-ettes to the first new resident of Winchester born at the Winchester Hospital.

Hospital Friends Annual Meeting Is May 20

Friends of Winchester Hospital will hold its annual meeting next Thursday, May 20, in Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church. This is the first year that the annual meeting will be held in the morning. Nine o'clock coffee will be followed by a short business meeting.

Reese James, Winchester Hospital administrator, will address the group on "The 70's — We Prepare for the Future." He will discuss the needs and future goals of the hospital.

Mrs. Thomas Dowd, president of the Friends, said this week, "Members are urged to come and learn more about their hospital so that they can be effective public relations ambassadors. We hope that anyone who is interested in doing volunteer hospital work will join us at the meeting."

Social Security Insurance, Private Life Insurance Grow

Private life insurance in the United States has grown in close parallel to social security survivors insurance during the past 20 years, according to John E. Loneragan Jr., District Manager of the Cambridge Social Security Office.

"The comparison suggests that survivors insurance, most of which protects the future of the dependents of relatively young workers who contribute to social security, has not displaced private life insurance, much of which is taken out on middle-aged and older lives," Mr. Loneragan said. A social security administration analysis shows that the total face value of social security survivors insurance is now about $1,100 billion. The total face value of private life insurance in force is about $1,300 billion, according to Mr. Loneragan.

"Both have grown at nearly the same rate since the end of 1950, when the face value of social security survivors insurance was about $170 billion and private life insurance about $234 billion," he said.

In 1960 the corresponding amounts were about $503 billion for social security survivors insurance and $542 billion for private life insurance.

"The two have grown together, each meeting a social and economic need," Mr. Loneragan said.

The face values of social security survivors and private life insurance in force at any given time are astronomical in the study because they represent what dependents and beneficiaries would be paid if all the insured persons died at once, Mr. Loneragan explained.

The Cambridge office will no longer remain open on Wednesday evenings. The office hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. By calling 491-0700 and asking for teletext, most matters may be handled without the need to personally visit the office.

After-Care Clinic At Health Center

The Mystic Valley Mental Health Center is located in a large white rambling house under tall shade trees in Lexington. It seems remote from the austere brick buildings and isolation of Metropolitan State Hospital on the Waltham-Lexington line. But a link between them has been established.

Too often in the past, patients who left the hospital have been forced to return when the pressures of everyday life became too great. Now services are evolving at the hospitals and in the community to help these people. One of these is the After-Care Program of the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center which serves Arlington, Burlington, Lexington, Winchester and Woburn.

When Metropolitan State Hospital was reorganized last year to take patients from these towns, an after-care program, coordinated with the hospital, became possible. This cooperative approach was outlined recently by Dr. Bennett Aspel, director of the After-Care Clinic. He works directly with the social worker and doctor in the admitting building of the hospital, and maintains close contact with the staff when he visits patients at the hospital. Together they discuss the patients' future needs, and the help the mental health center can provide. By the time the patients are ready to leave the hospital, they are well acquainted with the After-Care program and with Dr. Aspel.

Most patients who come to the After-Care Program do so for medication. The major tranquilizers have revolutionized the care of people with psychiatric disorders, and most of them can live normal lives with the help of the drugs. But patients still need easy access to the medication and often reminders to take it. Some can use help in understanding its role in regulating feelings and behavior, and all need medical supervision. Continuing contact with professional help is often essential to their recovery.

Dr. Aspel sees the role of the After-Care Program in broader terms, however. It can provide social services. It can help patients gain insight into their problems, and the effects of their illness on their families. It can provide vocational counseling and personal counseling for the children of those struck by mental illness.

Other agencies in the community can also serve former patients. Dr. Aspel considers the Mental Health Center as a coordinator working with these agencies and individuals. For instance, it can arrange job training and placement with the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission. It can initiate home visits through the Visiting Nurses Association. And it can provide consultation to private physicians treating former patients if they request it.

Coordinating these services makes clear how limited available help is for former patients. The Mystic Valley After-Care Program now sees about 50 people regularly, from once a week to every two months. It expects to increase the case-load gradually, but it cannot help all the patients from the five towns who leave the hospital.

Because of the limitation in staff and facilities, it cannot now handle those with drug problems. It cannot yet provide a program for alcoholics who need more contact and flexibility in treatment. There is a crying need for programs to deal with these problems in the community. As part of the services of a Mental Health Center, a half-way house and a day hospital are needed. With more staff these facilities could be added to help troubled people in the community, gradually allowing them to resume independence along with patients who leave the state hospital.

The community, too, can reach out to help these troubled people. Volunteers associated with the Mystic Valley Mental Health Association have been involved with the state hospital patients for several years. It was this Association along with the Mental Health Association of Central Middlesex which initiated the successful Mental Health Case-Aide Program in 1965.

This program has helped over 100 patients leave the hospital since then, and now functions as a part of the State Department of Mental Health. The "Happies," a social club of volunteers, patients and former patients, has also been meeting now for several years and helping patients. The After-Care Program of the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center is developing new roles for volunteers.

Mrs. Nancy Simcus, a volunteer, has become essential to the After-Care Program. She does the book-keeping and organizes all the appointments. Visits to the office are pleasant occasions because she is always ready with friendly conversation and a warm cup of coffee. More opportunities for volunteers are expected to open as the After-Care Program expands.

This program at the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center is the first step to broad help for former patients in the community. It can work, as Mrs. J., a middle-aged widow and former patient would testify. She was hospitalized off and on for over 11 years, and had been living at home for about six months.

Suddenly she was faced with a difficult family crisis. In her case it was a rebellious son, but it could have been anything from daily frustrations to the death of a relative. She felt she could not deal with her problem, and wanted to return to the hospital.

But with encouragement, a change in her medication, and closer supervision, she got through the difficulty. From it she gained insight into her whole life situation, and, for the first time, did not have to retreat to the hospital when the pressures became too intense. She found help at the Mystic Valley After-Care Clinic.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

A young man should focus full attention on three divisions of his life: First, when he is single. Second, when he gets married. And third, when children arrive.

All of these three divisions are tied up, lock, stock and barrel with insurance.

First of all, he should see a reputable insurance agent. The professional advice and guidance thus provided can spell the difference between success and failure in business adventures, health and happiness in home life and peace of mind while driving a car.

In no other commercial field does one person exert so much helpful influence over our lives as does the insurance agent or broker.

Time is tremendously important with insurance because the older you are, the more you pay.

Winchester Families Larger Than Average For Country

With a new baby boom beginning in the United States, reflecting the rising trend of young folks reaching marriageable age, the question of population and family size is being widely discussed.

In Winchester, how big is the average family? How does it compare with families in other parts of the country?

Now that there are nearly 25 million more people in the nation than there were ten years ago and an even larger increase forecast for the next ten years, there is concern in many quarters regarding housing, air pollution, jobs, and the various other problems of a more concentrated society.

That concern has been recognized in Washington, where President Nixon has set up the "Commission on Population and the American Future," headed by John D. Rockefeller 3rd, to find out what we can expect in the way of population growth and how we can deal with its impact on living conditions.

In Winchester, on the basis of the 1970 census figures, which show a total of 22,289 people in the area and 6,436 households, the average locally is 346 persons per 100 households.

Compared with other communities, this is somewhat high. The average throughout the United States as a whole is 320 per 100 households. In the New England States it is 325.

As seen by Dr. Philip M. Hauser, University of Chicago sociologist, the growing concentration of population, especially in urban areas, poses a threat to the quality of daily life.

It creates health problems due to air and water pollution, difficulties with the disposal of waste products, traffic congestion, housing shortages, and the like, he said.

The commission appointed by the President will examine the effect of population changes on the environment and will even go into the heated subject of uncontrolled population growth.

To keep the population at its present level—no increase and no decrease—the average number of children born would need to be no more than 2.13 per couple, according to the Census Bureau. Currently the average is 3.18.

Smith Club Notes Addition To Scholarship

Members of the Winchester Smith College Club and husbands heard a talk by Dr. Peter Row of the faculty and a report of the success of the recent Film Festival which raised money for a local girl's tuition scholarship at Smith College.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Harrigan of 4 Bigelow Avenue. Coffee and dessert were served by Mrs. Neil Borden and her committee.

Mrs. Philip Parsons, club president, introduced the speaker, Dr. Row, head of the department of government at Smith College, did his undergraduate work at Cornell and earned his doctorate at Yale University. Among his many honors have been both Ford Foundation and Fulbright grants. His remarks on "President Nixon's Foreign Policy?" emphasized this country's present and possible future role in Southeast Asia. Dr. Row expertly fielded questions from the floor following his talk.

Members learned that again this year the proceeds from the club sponsored movies series would permit giving of a tuition scholarship at Smith College to a girl from Winchester or a nearby town. In the event that there is no deserving girl from this area, the money will be given to the director of scholarships at Smith College to award to a needy girl from another area or country.

Audubon Walk Set For May 15

Mrs. William L. Glowacki of 18 North Gateway will lead an Audubon walk starting at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, May 15, at her home. As a climax to Audubon Week the Massachusetts Audubon Society is sponsoring Audubon walks throughout the Commonwealth.

"These walks take place at the height of the spring migration, when the Massachusetts countryside is at its prettiest," Mrs. Glowacki said. "They offer birding and nature enthusiasts an opportunity to get together, to enjoy the promises of spring, and to find out a little more about natural history. The walks are informal and fun, and are open to everyone."

Mrs. Glowacki may be contacted at 729-1623.

March Of Dimes Sponsors Healthy Baby Week

"Healthy Baby Week has a life-saving message," says Mrs. Mary Hackett, Mothers March chairman of Winchester.

The public health education drive, sponsored by The National Foundation - March of Dimes, is observed this year from May 9 through 15.

"We want women to know that prenatal care is an indispensable part of pregnancy. Early and regular medical attention may detect, control or prevent severe, even fatal damage to mother and child," says Mrs. Hackett.

Use of the rubella vaccine in children is a solid measure for the prevention of birth defects. If an expectant mother is exposed to rubella (German Measles), especially in the first three months of pregnancy, her baby may die or be born blind, deaf, mentally retarded or multi-handicapped.

By January, 1971, some 23 million children — less than half the target population aged one to 12 — had been vaccinated against the disease. Many medical authorities believe that in certain areas this may blunt the severity of the rubella epidemic expected this year or next. The disastrous wave of 1964-65 killed or impaired some 50,000 unborn and newborn infants.

"Healthy Baby Week should direct public attention to the positive steps we can take to achieve our goal of well-born babies," says Mrs. Hackett. "Public Health officials recommend vaccinating children against certain communicable diseases early in life. These include rubella, tetanus, regular measles, polio and diphtheria. The earlier spread of these diseases is blocked, the sooner we can maintain population immunity."

Drugs, Alcohol Said Responsible For Two Deaths

A State pathologist and chemist has ruled that the deaths of two young Reading men in a Shore Road apartment on Wednesday night, March 3, were attributable to alcohol and drugs," according to medical examiner Dr. Harry L. Benson. Working out of State police headquarters in Boston, the pathologist has been continuing tests since the autopsy, which was performed the following day.

The bodies had been discovered, apparently several hours after death occurred, in the apartment where the two were visiting. Deceased were Steven J. Beauchamp, 19, and William F. Whitmore, 26, both of Reading.

The first oil pipelines in the United States were laid about 1867, because there were not enough oak barrels to transport all the oil being produced.

Lynch Defeats Wakefield, 3-2

The Lynch Junior High School baseball team opened its season with a 3-2 victory over Wakefield. Mike Heffernan and Gary Beard were the offensive stars, while Kevin Pierce turned in a masterful job of relief pitching to get credit for the victory.

In the second game Saturday, May 1, Lynch was overpowered by a strong Reading A team 9-1. John Friberg, Gary Beard, and Wayne Dennis shared pitching chores for Lynch.

Gary Beard played his usual strong game at first base when not relieving on the mound. Tom Brennan was the only bright spot on offense against the southpaw slants of Slavin, stellar Reading pitcher.

Lacrosse Team Edges Newton High, 9-8, To Keep Its Undefeated Record

by John F. Parrell

The Sachem stickmen, coached by Gene Bouley, maintained their position as top lacrosse team in Eastern Massachusetts by beating Brookline 8-2 and following it up by a sensational win over Newton, 9-8. The Newton team was rated as the major threat to upset the Winchester crew and for the second year in a row they missed by a single goal margin. Provided the local team can avoid some unexpected upset it would appear that they probably will repeat as champions of this section of the state and be ready to face Longmeadow once again for top honors.

The 22 saves by Rick Murphy in the Sachem nets proved to be the difference, as the Garden City team kept putting on pressure right to the end as they tallied twice in the last couple of minutes. It was a fast and exciting game from start to finish, with both teams giving their best in what was without a doubt the outstanding lacrosse game of the entire schoolboy season.

Captain Phil Sampson netted three goals to lead the scoring against Brookline, with Curt Woodward and John Thomas each adding a pair. The other goal was tallied by Bill Logan, who also had two assists. Gary Fincke and Chris Osgood also were credited with assists. Excellent stick checking by Mark Lombardi helped keep down the number of Brookline shots. Rick Murphy in the Winchester goal turned in 14 saves.

Bill Logan broke open the scoring in the Newton game as he popped one into the net after only 20 seconds of play. The home team roared back almost immediately as Walter Cox hung up the first of his three goals at the one minute mark, with an assist from John Murphy. With the ball moving fast up and down the field Logan came right back on a setup from John Thomas to move Winchester ahead by 2-1 after just over another minute had been played. One minute and 37 seconds later it was once again a tie game as Dealy beat Rick Murphy for the equalizer.

This ended the opening burst of action and the teams battled on even terms until 8:12 of the period had been played, when Gary Fincke scored the first of his four goals. The balance of the first session was scoreless and the Sachems led by 3-2.

Fincke took little time in getting his second score at the 22 second mark of the next period. This built a 4-2 edge, which held until just after the eight minute mark, when Dealy again brought Newton within one goal. However, it was Fincke again at the 10:25 mark and Winchester held the half time advantage by 5-3.

Whitney of Newton went in unassisted at 1:45 of the third stanza and once again the home team was at Winchester's heels. Play was fast and furious throughout the period until Fincke came through with another at the 11 minute mark with Thomas getting the assist. The final period started out with a rush as Cox of Newton tallied after only 15 seconds of play. Of 20 seconds later Fincke scored his fourth and final goal, to be followed by Captain Phil Sampson at the one minute mark. Thus, three goals had been recorded in one minute of play. Cox hung up his final marker after just over six minutes had elapsed, but Chris Kadesch did take home one title by teaming with his father to defeat Bill Bird and George Goodwin, former champions, in the men's doubles final, 7-6, 6-3. Top honors in women's doubles went to Joan Strassmann and Sylvia Stabile who prevailed over Jessie Janjigian and E. Williams in their final, 6-4, 6-7, 6-2.

There were numerous tie breaking sets during the tournament but the most exciting one of all came in the finals of the mixed doubles where Beverly Rhymes and Bob MacKenna, an unseeded team, defeated Mr. and Mrs. John Natale, 7-6, 4-6, 7-6. The outcome hinged on the final point, match point for both teams, after the score in the final set had reached 6-all in games and 4-all in points in the tie-breaking game.

After an experimental period the use of the tie-breaker (A 5 out-of-9 point game with serve changing after every two points) when the score of any set reaches 6-all in games has now come into widespread use in tournament tennis. It has generated new levels of excitement among players and spectators alike.

There was a consolation tournament in one event, the women's doubles. This consolation final was won by Joan Bird and Brenda Johnson over Alison Taber and Joan Stevens, 7-5, 6-4.

Phil Kadesch, No. 1 Winchester High School player, and No. 2, 16-and-under junior player in New England, served notice that he is a factor to be reckoned with among the big boys when he upset Charlie Watson, former ten-time town champion, in a semi-final match, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1. Both players had progressed easily to the semi-final round.

Kadesch had defeated A. Morgan, R. Onanian and G. Hillier. Hillier had previously upset Stan Dickinson, 6-2, 6-3. Watson had previously moved ahead on a bye and wins over J. Boschetti and Sig Soremba. Tom Raleigh, a top New England player for many years, had no problem in reaching the finals over Bill Cox, Ben Wightman and John Natale. Natale was the other semi-finalist with wins over Aram Conragan, S. Kaplan and Sven Roosild.

The No. 1 seed also was the titleist in women's singles. Nell Walker moved to the final round with a bye and wins over Lucille Merker and Brenda Johnson. The No. 2 seed, Nancy Carlston advanced with a bye and a win over Martha Knudsen but then was upset in the semi-finals by Jessie Janjigian, 6-4, 7-5. Janjigian had previously conquered Faye Daglis and Stella Gallant.

All four of the seeded teams in men's doubles reached the semi-finals as expected where Bird and Goodwin defeated Jack Corf, the tournament chairman, and Will Aldrich, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4. In the other semi-final Kadesch and Kadesch defeated Ben Wightman and Don Ellis, 6-2, 6-3. The winners, the Kadeschs, had a real fight to survive in a quarter-final match over Stan Dickinson and Sven Roosild by taking a final tie-breaking game, 6-7, 6-4, 7-6. Another father and son team to be reckoned with in the future are Alan Chandronnait and Alan Jr. who reached the quarter-finals before bowing to Corf and Aldrich.

The Winchester Squirts will host Reading at 2:20 p.m. Saturday, May 15.

Raleigh, Walker, Kadesch's Win Indoor Tennis Titles

Five indoor tennis championships were decided over the weekend at the Winchester Indoor Tennis Center on East Street. Tom Raleigh won the men's singles title over his young opponent, Phil Kadesch, but only after eking out the third set on a tie-breaker, 6-2, 6-7, 7-6. Nell Walker also required three close sets to win over Jessie Janjigian for the women's singles crown, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5.

The losing semi-finalists in women's doubles were Prudy Horne, Jan Collins and Ruth Twombly - Nell Walker. The losing semi-finalists in mixed doubles were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bird and Sylvia Stabile - Jack Corf.

The tournament was a successful conclusion to the indoor tennis season at the local indoor facility. Trophies will be presented to all winners and runners-up at a dinner dance at the indoor courts tomorrow night, Friday, May 14.

Winchester Outclasses Wakefield

The Winchester Squirts, whizzed by Wakefield, 6-1. Both teams played a fine passing game, but Winchester outclassed Wakefield, with a tipping of the hat to Mark Fazio, Tony Donlon, Dana Kawa Buddy Pronski, and Bubba Sandford.

The first period was a quiet one, compared to the other two, as Allyn Stillman buzzed by Wakefield defensemen and fired the puck home as he beat the goalie to the lower left hand corner.

Wakefield had a chance to strike back as Tony Donlon went off for elbowing, but Wakefield couldn't penetrate through Winchester's defensive armor, Jimmy Willing.

Wakefield got on the scoreboard in the early moments of the second period as Bill DeRoche passed the puck to Bobby Mazzone, who beat goalie Mike Schramm to the right of the net.

Later on it was Wakefield goalie Bob Williams who was baffled, as Winchester scored three consecutive goals in the second period and two more in the third.

Allyn Stillman scored his second goal of the Wakefield net and jammed the puck in, Ricky Blanch was next to score, as Bill Strazullo tried to feed Allyn Stillman. Somehow the puck went by Allyn and landed on Ricky's stick. He blasted it in, making the score 3-1. In the final minute of the second period it was Allyn Stillman with another goal, giving him the hat trick.

The third period opened up as Wakefield's Mike Devlin got a penalty for hooking, but nothing further developed. Shortly afterward, Christopher McCarthy scored on a long blipshot which deflected off the goalie's stick and sent in to make the score 5-1.

The final goal came when Peter Mahoney fired a low slapshot, which was tipped in off a Wakefield player's stick to end the game, 6-1. Fine defensive play was demonstrated throughout the game by Mike Jacobson, Paul Mahoney, and Bob Lenard.

Goalie Steve Ferrullo had a shut-out again for his portion of the game. Ed Doherty, Jim Gagon, and Ron DeVenzano made some fine offensive plays.

The game puck was awarded to hustling winger Ricky Blanch by team captains Steve Ferrullo and Bobby Lenard.

The Winchester Squirts will host Reading at 2:20 p.m. Saturday, May 15.

Rules For New Youth Tennis

The following rules have been adopted for the newly formed Suburban Junior Tennis League. Boys and girls in the 15 and under bracket are eligible to play for the Winchester team, which is being sponsored by the Recreation Department and the Winchester Tennis Association. Those interested in playing should contact the Recreation office, or call 729-4514.

1. Membership — Boys and girls must be residents of the Town for which they play. Players listed in NETA rankings, honorable mention, etc. for 1971 (based on 1970 tournament play) are ineligible.

Age Limitations: Participants must be 15 years of age or younger. Players cannot be included who will reach their sixteenth birthday before December 31 of the current year. Each boys and girls team can field a maximum of two fifteen year olds in each match; the other team members must be younger.

2. A team must have at least three courts regularly available for its home matches in order to compete in the league, unless special conditions warrant a relaxation of this rule by the Committee.

3. Matches must be played as scheduled, unless a change in date is approved by the clubs involved. Weather not permitting play, the home team supervisor will contact the visiting team supervisor to reschedule the match at the earliest mutually agreeable date — but in all cases within a week of the original date.

Matches start at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesdays unless both clubs agree to alter the time.

4. The home team supervisor shall contact the visitors at least two days before a match is scheduled to confirm arrangements.

5. Home teams must supply five cans of new balls, one per match.

6. Boys and girls team matches shall consist of three singles and two doubles matches. No Player shall play more than one match. Seven different players should be available.

The three singles must be played in the order of their ability. The first and second singles players will be the two best players on the team actually engaging in the match, the third singles player will be representative, and the two doubles teams will be played in the order of their ability. It is not necessary that the first doubles team be made up of the fourth and fifth best players on the ladder and the second doubles team be made up of the sixth and seventh best players. (The third singles position gives the coach some leeway to experiment with doubles combinations.)

7. No coaching is permitted while the team matches are in progress nor during any individual tournament matches sponsored by the league. Only players are allowed on the courts while matches are in progress.

8. A maximum of ten minutes will be allowed for physical injuries incurred during a match. If at that time a player is unable to continue, that match will be forfeited in the team score. A match is to be considered started with the first serve.

9. A maximum of fifteen minutes will be allowed for the warm-up play with the opponent. This includes practice serves by all players.

10. Scoring — Singles matches shall consist of 10 game Pro Sets. The first to reach 10 games will be declared the winner, however, a player must win by two games. Doubles matches will be the first to win 12 games but they also must win by a two game margin.

Any club not being able to field an entire team will default a point for each match not played. Any great difficulties in fielding a team should be reported to your opponent in advance of the day of the match so the people involved can make other plans.

Singles line-ups shall be exchanged at the start of the match (the doubles line-up also), naming only players who are on hand and available for play. If defaults are necessary because a player(s) are unavailable for play, such defaults should start at the third singles position. If two players are missing, then the three singles matches and first doubles should be played but the second doubles should be defaulted. The idea is to use the greatest number of participants, and the least number of points defaulted.

In a team match, each of the five matches will count for one point. The club with the highest number of points at the end of the season will be declared the division by the league scorer. (Boys and girls teams are scored separately.) In case of a tie, the club that won the league match between the two concerned will be the champion.

Reporting Results — A representative of the winning team should mail match results promptly to the league scorer on the forms provided. The scorer will notify the boys and girls division champions as soon as possible and they will meet for the League Team Title. The site will be mutually agreed upon or determined by a flip of the coin by the league scorer.

A Day Camp With a Space Program?

Not one leading to another planet, but rather right here on earth. Tufts university will conduct a new Camp Wilderness for four weeks in the wide-open spaces of New Hampshire. The overnight camp is situated on 6000 acres of private land with six mountains, a trout-stocked pond, and an 80-foot waterfall. It will provide youngsters 10-13 years of age an appreciation for nature's values above man's more selfish motives. Rugged hiking, survival training, and rope bridge construction are part of the experience. Camp Wilderness is primitive-style camping.

Meanwhile, Tufts will be operating its four-year-old day camps on the Medford campus: Jumbo Camp for boys and girls 8-13, Tom Thumb Camp for 6-7 year olds, and Tiny Tim Camp for 4-5 year olds.

Camp brochures and application forms are available by writing: Registrar, Tufts Summer camps, P.O. Box 85, Tufts University Branch, Medford, Mass. 02153, or by calling 662-6860 between 7 and 8:30 p.m. weekday nights.

Rule Changes By Headmasters

Several major changes in rules governing the conduct of high school sports in Massachusetts were announced recently by Dr. Bertram H. Holland, Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the Massachusetts Secondary School Principals' Association (MSSPA).

The changes, to become effective next fall, are the result of a year-long study of all rules for interscholastic sports for both boys and girls by coaches, athletic directors, and principals, and are as voted by the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Council (MIAC). The MIAC, a 15-member board composed of School Committeemen, Superintendents, and Principals, is headed by Natick School Committeeman Paul Ambler.

The far-ranging changes include: Introduction of an ineligibility clause for violation of Rule 18, which limits a student wishing to compete on a school team and a non-school team during the same season.

A new and simplified definition of the Semester Rule which will read: "A student shall be eligible for interscholastic competition for no more than six consecutive semesters beyond the ninth grade." Reestablishment of the MSSPA's long-standing ban against inter-sectional bowl games in football which are promoted and managed by authorities outside the educational field for charity purposes.

Definition of conditions under which schools may participate in basketball tournaments other than the sectional and state tournaments sponsored by the MSSPA. Introduction of a penalty clause for violation of any MSSPA sports rule.

Definition of the recognized distinction between a jamboree and a game, and the limitation of jamborees to one per school, per sport, and this to be played before a season begins.

Adoption of girls' skiing as a winter sport with the rules to be the same as those for boys. Official rules for the participation of girls in nine other interscholastic sports were adopted earlier this year. The sports are basketball, cross country, track and field, field hockey, gymnastics, softball, swimming, tennis, and volleyball.

There were several other changes in the rules, many of them minor variations designed for improved administration.

A certain few proposals were returned to the MSSPA's Rules Committee for further study and one was of major significance, a proposal to extend the maximum length of periods for schoolboy hockey from 12 to 15 minutes.

Rule 18 was introduced a few years ago to protect youngsters from possible overexertion through competing on two teams, school and non-school, during the same season. The rule has been well received but modifications are now added which allow a student to compete in certain combinations of two sports. They include such combinations as school basketball and non-school golf, school basketball and non-school gymnastics, etc.

Penalties against violations of Rule 18 will be added for the first time next fall. The rule now says: "Any player who violates this rule shall be declared ineligible for the remainder of that season. Any game in which such a player shall have participated on or after the date of the violation of this rule shall be forfeited." The need for penalties has been demonstrated by recent developments.

The original Semester Rule was introduced several years ago and was known as the Eight Semester Rule, as it embraced four high school years, Grades 9 through 12. There are now many three-year high schools, and many junior high and middle schools with various combinations of grades. The new rule simplifies administration by limiting itself in specific definition to grades 10, 11, and 12. A "grandfather clause" is added to protect those now in high school who might be affected adversely by the new change.

The ban against post-season football bowl games was reintroduced after a one-year omission from the rule books, and the controversy which followed the granting of permission to Brockton High School to play such a game in Florida last December.

The statewide basketball tournament next winter will be preceded by new sectional tournaments to qualify teams from four state areas. Thus the need to redefine the conditions under which other tournaments could be played.

Henceforth a team may play up to 20 regular games, plus one tournament, exclusive of the sectional or state tournament.

All games, including tournament games, must be completed within the season limits, except for sectional and state play. The rules-makers then excluded three long-established tournaments from such restrictions by saying: "The games played in the New England Catholic Tournament, the Clark University Tournament, and the Western Massachusetts Small Schools Tournament, shall not be counted as part of the 20-game limits."

Bantam SoccerTeam Wins*Over Marlboro

Winchester's Bantam Soccer team found the combination at a game in Marlboro last Saturday, winning 2-2. Their first goal came in five minutes by Peter Mitchell, his first of four, and 50 minutes later scored their ninth goal by Paul Austin.

Marlboro did get two goals during the second half, although Paul Sullivan, usually at wing, did well in the net with the absence of injured goalkeeper Wayne McNeill.

The strong comeback win was attributed to good positional play and aggressiveness, which was not prevalent the previous week in the 1 to 0 loss at Hudson.

Scoring goals were Peter Mitchell 4, Tom Waite 2, Roy Palumbo 2, and Paul Austin 1. Other noteworthy performances were by Rick Mauger, Phil Casey, Peter Martini, Tim McLaughlin and Chris Carzo.

The next game is at 2 p.m. Saturday with Natick at MacDonald Field.

BAYS SoccerA-A Division*Team Wins, 4-2

Winchester's A-A soccer team defeated Medford, 4-2, in a well played game in spite of the dampening influence of the prevailing unfavorable weather.

Early in the first half Medford converted a penalty kick into a goal. Their second goal resulted from a Winchester error.

Center forward Jay McGoldrick scored two goals. Halfbacks Keith Bond, John Carzo, and Craig West did a fine job of checking the Medford offense. Norman Janson displayed excellent talent as the left half back and scored a goal on a pass received from the right wing, Lance West.

Ken Curtis played well as the left wing. One of his corner kicks was converted into a goal by Brian Flanagan playing in the inside left position.

Winchester soccer fans are invited to attend Sunday's game against Medford. Kick-off time is 2 p.m. The place is MacDonald field.

St. Mary's Squirt Team, Still Winning

St. Mary's Squirt Hockey team has completed more than half of its league schedule at Hockeystown with an undefeated record.

The team is made up of lads who had not reached their 11th birthday by January, 1971. Despite their tender years, the boys have developed their skills amazingly, under Coach Charles Hartness and Assistant coach Bob Cohen.

The team roster shapes up as follows:

Goalkeepers — Patrick Fortin and Brian Leibovitz. Pat is ten years old and is an excellent bet to be in the nets for St. Mary's. Brian Leibovitz, only seven years of age, is simply phenomenal for his age and size.

The defensive corps is made up of Andy Twomey, Kevin Conley, Campbell Rogers, and Bruce McDonald.

Andy Twomey was to be the team's bulwark on defense, but has not played much due to illness. Kevin Conley is an eight year old who is an excellent skater and is slated for stardom.

Campbell Rogers and Bruce McDonald are both ten year olds who are new to organized hockey, but both have excellent size and mobility and are constantly amazed by his coaches with his savvy. Bob Carpenter is an absolutely incredible seven year old that has to be seen to be believed. Bob is also the team's leading goal getter.

Ed Rauso is a nine year old who hustles even when he is putting on his skates. John Shumski, a muscular seven year old, never gets beat in a corner. Maury McCarthy, an eight year old, can do anything asked of him and do it well. Maury scored three goals in one shift on the ice during one of St. Mary's games this year. Jeff Cohen, a ten year old, has developed a good scoring touch as this season has progressed, and has been a steady player, going both on defense and as a forward.

The team is coached by Charles Hartnett of 1 Lagrange Street, who has done a great job with the aid of Bob Cohen of 18 Ware Road, who coaches the defense.

The team is one of four squads currently wearing the well-known black and gold of St. Mary's in a program directed by John Falla and Rev. Bernard Hoy.

The record and future schedule of St. Mary's Squirt team is as follows:

| St. Mary's 5, Winthrop 0 |

Pee Wee SoccerTeam Defeats*East Walpole

Winchester's Pee Wee soccer team continued fine playing by knocking East Walpole from the ranks of the unbeaten with a splendid 5 to 0 victory Saturday.

The scoring began at the opening gun as Peter Gajewski tapped in a loose ball in the first minute of play. Seconds later left-winger William Strazzullo added the second goal and the rout was on. Norm Alpert, who assisted on the second goal, notched the third goal shortly before half time.

Both Strazzullo and Alpert scored booming goals from each wing in the second half to seal the victory.

Performing with their usual coordinated team play the defensive unit, sparked by Chris Morgan at center halfback, turned in their third successive shutout. So outstanding was the play of the defensive unit that the highly regarded East Walpole forwards were limited to only three shots on goal.

Winchester goal scorers: Errol Burke, 7; Norm Alpert, 3; Will Strazzullo, 3; Allyn Stillman, 2; Peter Gajewski, 2; Matt McCroary, 1; John Waite, 1, and Tom Mitchell, 1.

Cap League Hot and Cold

By James R. Stewart Jr.

The Winchester Cap League Season opened last Saturday afternoon with some close and some not so close contests. Both West Side Field and Ginn Field were the scene of three six-inning games that initiated the six-week-end season, to the delight and support of many parents and friends of the 7-10 year olds.

On West Side Field, the Tigers clawed the Red Sox 18-0 while the Apollos soared over the Golden Hawks in a see-saw battle that was decided in the last inning, 13-12. The Warriors clipped the wings of the Golden Eagles 19-2 in the final contest.

At Ginn Field, meanwhile, the best game of the day was waged between the Yankees and the Hornets, with the Yankees walking off with the victory 4-3. On other diamonds, the Cardinals were in the "home" team to win, flying much higher than the Orioles by 18-4 and the Blue Jays peaked away the Bobcats 24-1.

The Sunday schedule was rained out, allowing the players and their coaches to spend the whole day with Mother, which was poetic justice. These games are rescheduled for Sunday, June 13.

Complete rosters of the Cap League Teams will be announced at a later date to make certain that they are accurate and that no "ringers" are included. A "ringer" is a boy who applies with a falsified application (such as was discovered in two cases Saturday) and whose parents will receive a letter from the co-directors. It is specified in the application forms that the applicant is seven years old and not more than 11 years old as of August 1, 1971. The truth of this and other statements ENACTED—Bills given final approval by lawmakers and sent to Governor Sargent would authorize 75 additional days of dog racing in Massachusetts and would permit dancing in Suffolk County on Sundays until 2 a.m. in establishments where alcoholic beverages are served.

LINSKY—Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson appointed Representative Martin A. Linsky (R) of Brookline as a part-time consultant to the department. Representative Linsky, who is assistant GOP Floor Leader in the House, is slated to work on a plan for integration of social services administered by HEW. The consultantship will reportedly require Representative Linsky to work both in Massachusetts and Washington for one day a week over the next few months.

NAMED—Harry J. Elam, former executive secretary to the Governor's Council, was nominated by Governor Sargent as associate justice of the Boston Municipal Court to succeed the late Judge Elias F. Shamon. Also submitted to the Executive Council for approval were the appointments of Attorney Joseph V. Ferrino of Winthrop as special justice of the East Boston District Court to succeed Judge Thomas E. Key, who retired, and Manuel V. McKenney of Jamaica Plain as clerk of the Dorchester Municipal Court. He would succeed the late Clerk John P. Holland. Meanwhile, at its weekly meeting, the Council took no action on the Governor's appointment of Arlyne F. Hasset of Watertown as special justice of the Watertown District Court.

KINDERGARTEN—The House advanced legislation to give local school committees the option of deciding on kindergarten classes. Present law requires all communities to offer kindergarten by 1973.

LOTTERY—House Speaker David M. Bartley of Holyoke has asked his Committee on Government Regulation to "look into" the operation of the New Jersey Lottery, which has reportedly surpassed expected revenue production. Representative Bartley said the New Jersey plan is aimed at the "numbers" game and is expected to bring in $100 million in sales this year with $30 million going to the state.

Two Enterings Occur On Monday

Two incidents of breaking and entering were reported to Winchester police on Monday, May 10, one at a Cross Street business, the other at an Oneida Road residence.
Officer Robert G. Baird responded to the Winchester Carton Company, 50 Cross Street, at 9:10 a.m. at the request of office manager, Robert Dwyer. Method of entry was unknown at that time and only $2 in change from a desk drawer was believed to be missing.

According to the police report of Officer Daniel C. Pearson, a handbag containing approximately $100, credit cards, and papers was removed from the kitchen table of an Oneida Road home. The occupants, who were upstairs shortly after 10 p.m., were alerted by the barking of their dog. Entry was made through an unlocked kitchen door.

Local Residents Hear Venezuelan Official's Talk

Several Winchester residents attended a reception and banquet at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City recently, marking the 161st anniversary of the Venezuelan Declaration of Independence. Invitations had been extended to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Blackham Jr. of 33 Canterbury Road, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Woodward of 13 Sheffield Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Meyer of 145 Cambridge Street.

Dr. Hugo Perez La Salvia, Minister of Mines and Hydrocarbons for Venezuela, discussed his republic's oil situation. He noted that oil constitutes 90 percent of the value of Venezuela's total exports and 67 percent of its national budget.

The United States, he said, consumes 50 percent of Venezuela's total exports. Dr. Perez La Salvia brought an invitation from Venezuelan President Rafael Caldera for a "world round table, where producing and consuming countries sit together," to "find a firm and long-term solution for the benefit of human kind, before the situation gets worse."

Dr. Perez La Salvia declared that the "critical oil situation" had ATTENDING THE RECEPTION preceding a banquet at the Starlight Room of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City Monday evening, April 19, were, from left, Dr. Hugo Perez La Salvia, Minister of Mines and Hydrocarbons of Venezuela; Mrs. Perez La Salvia; Mrs. Phillip Woodward of 13 Sheffield Road; Mr. and Mrs. John I. Tierne, and Mrs. Edwin A. Meyer of 145 Cambridge Street.

"direct and damaging results" on New England employment and industrial growth. He is planning a cycle of roundtables and conferences in Boston and other New England cities on the topic. Dr. Perez La Salvia is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Expressing his affection for Massachusetts, Dr. Perez La Salvia stated a hope that a "positive attitude" on the part of private enterprise and government officials "would open a door for better understanding and a most just oil policy toward Venezuela, a safe oil source to the United States during all circumstances."

Mr. Nastasi Jr. At Conference

Joseph R. Nastasi Jr. of 24 Mason Street, has earned membership in the All-American Quality Club of American Mutual Insurance Company of Boston.

As one of 40 top personal lines salesmen, Mr. Nastasi attended the four-day conference at the Doral Hotel on-the-Ocean, Miami Beach, Fla., May 9-12.

Mr. Nastasi, who has been with American Mutual since 1962, is a personal lines salesman in the Wakefield sales office.

Local Unitarian Women Participate Nationally

Mrs. George E. Kimball of West Hartland, Connecticut, formerly of Winchester, has been re-elected president of the Unitarian Universalist Women's Federation continental organization of 17,000 church women with headquarters at 25 Beacon Street, Boston.

Mrs. Kimball has held office in the Federation since its founding, serving first as treasurer, then as second and first vice president. She has also been a member of several committees of the continental Unitarian Universalist Association, and is currently on the UUA Committee on Ministerial Welfare. She is a member of the Board of the Winchester Women's Alliance of the Winchester Unitarian Society, and is a member of the Cambridge Alliance of the First Parish in Cambridge.

She served two terms as president of the Massachusetts Girl Scouts, Inc., which operates several summer camps in the Commonwealth. A graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, with graduate work at Columbia University, she formerly taught science and mathematics. She is the mother of four grown children. Her permanent home is now in West Hartland, and she maintains an apartment in Cambridge.

Also attending the convention at Dallas were Mrs. Jewel Jackson of Wildwood Street and Mrs. Grace White of Sheffield Road.

How have residents of Winchester reacted in the past year to the nationwide campaign aimed at reducing cigarette smoking?

How much are they smoking, compared with people in other parts of the country?

On the basis of the latest statistics, although many men and women have joined the "I quit" ranks, most of them are elderly people and those who had been light smokers. The heavy smokers, on the other hand, have stepped up their consumption somewhat.

According to preliminary data covering the country as a whole, released by the Department of Agriculture, for the first time in four years there has been an increase in per-capita smoking. Consumption by adults rose by nearly two packs per smoker in 1970, it reports.

The trend was not uniform, however. Figures obtained from the Tobacco Tax Council, an industry source, point to increases in 18 states and no changes or decreases in the others.

In Winchester, according to a breakdown of its figures, approximately 2,759,000 packs of cigarettes were sold in the past fiscal year.

This was at the rate of 199 packs for every local resident over the age of 18.

It was less than in some parts of the country and more than in others. The average rate of consumption in this age group, nationally, was 202 packs. In the New England States, it was 236.

Women appear to have a harder time giving up cigarettes than men do. Among the reasons advanced for this are the feeling among women that they are less likely to get lung cancer or heart disease than men are and that they might gain weight if they stopped.

Even though the cost of smoking has been rising, due to the higher taxes imposed on cigarettes by many states and local communities, it has had little effect on sales. Americans are spending more than ever before, over $10 billion a year, in that direction.

In Winchester, the overall outlay last year was approximately $1,131,000, or about $82 per smoker. (Park Row News Service)

Labor Commission Dismisses Case Brought By MTA

Stephen R. Parkhurst, chairman of the Winchester School Committee, has announced that the complaint brought against the Committee by George R. Shea of the Massachusetts Teachers' Association on behalf of Marilyn H. Smith has been dismissed.

Formal notice has been received from Alfonso M. D'Apuzzo, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Labor Relations Commission, advising them that at an executive session held by the Commission on May 7 it was voted to dismiss the complaint which charged the School Committee with prohibitive practices within the meaning of the Labor Relations Law.

With this action, the case is being officially closed at this time by the Labor Relations Commission. The School Committee was represented in this action by Mark E. Gallagher Jr., special legal counsel.

The case stemmed from disagreement over a grievance hearing in February for Miss Smith, an English teacher at Winchester High School.

House Cut Issue Will Be Debated

A Constitutional Convention of the Massachusetts House and Senate will debate a proposed cut in the size of the Bay State House of Representatives at a June meeting, State Representative Harrison Chadwick has announced. In a statement on the House-cut issue, Representative Chadwick said in part:

"Last week in determining the agenda for this session's Constitutional Convention of the House and Senate, House Republicans proposed the addition of the House-cut question. Predictably, the Democrats opposed it — not only the issue itself, but even placing it on the agenda for debate.

"Fortunately, despite some opposition, the Senate agreed to include the question. Thus, both House and Senate will now debate the matter at a later meeting of the Convention, which will be held sometime in June.

"For House-cut supporters, the inclusion on the agenda this year is crucial in order to bring the question before the voters on the ballot at the earliest date. Right now, that would be 1974. The question must be acted upon favorably by two consecutive legislatures in constitutional convention before it can go to the people for their action.

"The House-cut issue is one where public opinion is particularly strong. Not a single representative who voted for the House-cut was defeated for reelection. On the other hand, a significant number of those who opposed the cut lost in the election.

"I think many know that I have consistently favored a reduction in the size of the House as a means of increasing its efficiency and its accountability to the people. In fact, I was the first person to propose and file legislation to reduce the size of the House to 160 members," Representative Chadwick concluded.

Planning Board Explains Changes In Zoning By-Law

The Planning Board Monday evening submitted to the Board of Selectmen the final proposal for the proposed Zoning By-Law, including a map indicating a number of changes from the original proposal. The complete text of the By-Law, including the final version of the map, will be distributed to all Winchester residents with the warrant for the special Town Meeting called for Wednesday evening, June 16.

A number of important changes are included in the revisions recommended by the Planning Board. Problems brought out at public and individual meetings with various property owners prompted the changes, according to Planning Board members. The Board decided that the originally proposed section on Non-Conformities, for example, would cause too much hardship to be workable, even though its provisions are typical of more and more modern zoning laws.

Highlights of changes recommended in Section 3 on Non-Conformities were pointed out by the Planning Board as follows:

Unprecedented Demands Facing Welfare, Commissioner States

"The big problem facing the Welfare Department," said Massachusetts Public Welfare Commissioner Steven Minter, "is to make the system work in the face of unprecedented demands."

The Commissioner spoke to a large audience of members of the Winchester League of Women Voters and their guests Monday evening, May 17, in the Unitarian Church.

Commissioner Minter pointed out that the Welfare Department's expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1971, would amount to 800 million dollars, half of which is paid by the state and the rest by the Federal Government. Factors accounting for the rise in cost are persistent inflation, the 12-year-high in unemployment, the increase in the number of eligible senior citizens, and growing awareness of legal rights to assistance programs, the Commissioner declared. The cost of the Medicaid program alone has amounted to 285 million dollars.

In the long run the Commissioner believes that a nationally administered program of assistance with uniform standards would produce more equitable results. He also said that if people on welfare are required to work, there must be training programs, supportive care such as day care centers, and probably a permanent Public Works program to provide for those who could not otherwise be absorbed into the economic system.

Day care centers for children are expensive to run, he said. The question, according to Commissioner Minter, is whether their benefits outweigh the cost of giving AFDC mothers an adequate allowance to allow them to remain at home.

By next year the Welfare Department plans that social workers be relieved of the duty of determining the applicants' eligibility so that they may have the time and energy to carry out needed social services.

National studies show that less than three percent of AFDC cases have been fraudulent, he said. In Massachusetts there have been cases of fraud, he said, but claimed the Department rarely receives credit from the news media for the number of cases referred to the District Attorney's office for indictment. Some 800 claims are being investigated.

Computerization with an adequate staff to run this program would be helpful, he continued. There are some 73,000 families on AFDC, 60,000 persons over 65 on old age assistance, 29,000 in the disability category, and 32,000 in the general relief program.

To a question about housing the Commissioner replied that the majority of people on welfare assistance do not have enough income to get adequate housing. In Massachusetts alone 200,000 units are needed immediately, especially for middle-sized and large families, he maintained.

Frank Fontaine's Home To Be Auctioned Tuesday

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fontaine at 407 Highland Avenue will be sold at public auction at 11 a.m. Tuesday, May 25, at the Internal Revenue Service office in Room 209 of the Federal Building in Lowell. The property was seized for nonpayment of delinquent taxes.

Hundreds of persons toured the home during a public inspection Tuesday afternoon, May 11. A long line, which had formed early during the two-hour inspection period, still existed more than 45 minutes after cutoff time for tours.

Several IRS employees conducted the inspection tours, taking several individuals at a time on walks around the three-acre site and through the interior of the house, from basement to the third floor. An IRS spokesman said the

Trains Running As Strike Ends

Boston and Maine railroad service between Winchester and Boston, Woburn, Wilmington, North Billerica, and Lowell was resumed Wednesday, May 19 after a two-day shutdown due to a nationwide strike of rail signalmen. The walkout ended with the signing by President Richard M. Nixon of a Congressional moratorium on strikes by the union, which was coupled with an interim 13.5 percent pay raise.

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority provided extra bus service during the two-day rail transportation stoppage. Two morning trips were added to the Lowell to Boston MBTA run, which operates via Cambridge Street. In addition, the MBTA arranged with Metropolitan Coach Service and Voell Bus Company to run three morning bus trips from Woburn and Winchester Center to the Lechmere MBTA Station and three evening routes from Lechmere to Winchester Center and Woburn.

With the trains back in service, supplemental bus service has been discontinued by the MBTA.

Mr. Phillips Jr. New Chairman Of Water Board

Ernest A. Phillips Jr. has been elected chairman of the Water and Sewer Board. He will serve until the conclusion of the 1972 Annual Town Meeting.

The other board members are Parker N. Blanchard and Harry E. Chelaro. Mrs. Janet E. Manzie is clerk of the board.

Seven Articles On Warrant For Special Town Meeting

Not more than seven articles will be on the warrant for the Special Town Meeting to be held Wednesday, June 16, with the proposed Zoning By-Law as the principal issue. One article, calling for initial steps in adopting the Winchester Center Plan, may be dropped, as the Planning Board has requested. An eighth article, forbidding

Education Association Presses Complaint Against Committee

The Winchester School Committee was served with a second letter from the Winchester Education Association at its executive session meeting Monday night, May 17, concerning Mrs. Barbara F. Boyle, home economics teacher in Winchester's secondary schools.

The communication of May 17 from the WEA requests a "formal grievance hearing" for Mrs. Boyle and alleges specific violations of the 1970-1972 Agreement between the Committee and the Association. In the School Committee's initial reply of May 18, it contends that a hearing has been provided to Mrs. Boyle and that further comment will follow its additional study of the matter.

The following is the text of the letter from the Rights and Responsibilities Committee of the WEA and a statement concerning the current status of Mrs. Boyle's case. The School Committee's letter of reply is also provided. Chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst explains that the Committee's statement is necessarily brief at this time due to the fact that there has not been sufficient time to study or consult a lawyer on the specifics of Monday's letter.

Dear Mr. Parkhurst:

In reference to my letter to Mrs. Dieterich of April 16, 1971, in which it was stated that the Agreement between Winchester School Committee and the Winchester Education Association has been violated in the case of Mrs. Barbara F. Boyle, we wish to specify the grievance as follows:

1) The terms of the Agreement in Article III as it pertains to "conditions of employment" have been violated.

2) Between April 15, 1970, and January 28, 1971, Mrs. Boyle was never given a copy of an observation or evaluation report from any of three different supervisors in accordance with Article XXI A. As of April 1970 there was no indication that there was any problem between supervisors (two Principals and a Coordinator) which might give evidence that they were dissatisfied with her performance.

3) In accordance with Article II Paragraph A "The Committee and the Association agree to carry out the commitments contained herein," the Winchester Education Association expects that the School Committee will act promptly on this matter and allow Mrs. Boyle a hearing before the Committee to receive answers to questions previously asked regarding her failure to be placed on tenure. She should have the right to counsel and witnesses, and the right to cross examine. The Winchester Education Association further expects that this will result in the reappointment of Mrs. Boyle to tenure in the Winchester School System.

Sincerely,
John J. Waite Jr.
Rights and Responsibilities Committee
Winchester Education Association

Dear Mr. Waite:

I wish to acknowledge your letter of May 17 specifying the grievance of Mrs. Boyle.

May I point out to you that the current contract between the Winchester School Committee and the Winchester Education Association did not go into effect until September 1, 1970; also, that Mrs. Boyle has already been granted a hearing by the School Committee.

In any event, the Committee will take the matter under advisement and you will be hearing from us further in this regard in the near future.

Very truly yours,
Stephen R. Parkhurst

Homeowners Engraving Project Will Augment Burglary "Attack"

"Help Us Help You . . ." The slogan of the Winchester Police Department, an outgrowth of the continuing attack on burglary, takes on more substance today when the Homeowners Engraving Identification project goes into effect.

The thrust of the project is not only to foil attempts at theft, but also to gain the cooperation of the community in efforts to combat this form of crime. Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler terms it a "self-help program."

Basic procedures, according to project director Officer John W. McKinley, involve the etching of an owner's social security number onto valuable items, such as televisions, stereos, business machines, personal property which can be converted into cash by a thief. The items and their serial numbers are then registered with the Police Department. In the event of theft this list provides a ready means by which to identify stolen articles.

The Department will also distribute stickers to these home and store owners warning burglars that "All valuables on these premises have been marked for identification by Law Enforcement Agencies." The stickers should be affixed conspicuously to doors and windows.

The engraving tools are now available at the Police Station. They may be borrowed for a period of time during which the property owners should etch his social security number on the nonremovable part of the item, usually near the manufacturer's serial number plate. Although not even this is foolproof, in the event that a thief is forced to file away the numbers, these marks in them selves are a traceable form of identification.

boarding house, lodging, or dormitory facilities for more than four unrelated persons was removed from the warrant by Selectmen because the petition for the article did not bear the required 100 certified signatures.

The lineup of articles as of now shows:

1. The proposed Zoning By-Law.
2. Building Laws Revision Committee changes in definitions to coincide with the proposed Zoning By-Law.
3. Funds for administering proposed Zoning By-Law, including compensation for a Zoning Administrator and for professional services.
4. Winchester Center Plan.
5. Highway maintenance funds.
6. Water and Sewer Board request for truck.
7. Committee on Names recommendation for renaming the High Street School.

A vote by the Board of Selectmen would be necessary to drop the present Article 4 from the warrant, as the Planning Board has requested. This action could not take place until the next Selectmen's meeting. The article calls for temporarily closing a part of Main Street down to traffic Monday evening, May 24. Unless the step is taken, the article will remain on the warrant.

What would have been an eighth article on the warrant lost out, when 22 of the 117 signatures on a petition submitted by its sponsors failed to meet certification standards. One hundred certified signatures are required.

The article sought to amend the existing Zoning By-Law. Had it remained on the warrant, action on it would have been unnecessary if Article 1, calling for adoption of the proposed Zoning By-Law, had passed.

A group including Fred F. Stockwell of 6 Ledgewood Road recently announced plans to house ten youths in a proposed dormitory at 2 Dix Street. The youths would attend Winchester High School as tuition students under the A Better Chance program, sponsored by Dartmouth College of Hanover, New Hampshire.

The ABC group received an option to purchase the property from the Prudential Committee of the First Congregational Church. The home was the residence of the late Edmund Sanderson.

Justice Wilkins Dies, Began Career Here

Retired Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court Justice Raymond Sanger Wilkins died Tuesday night, May 11, in his Beacon Hill, Boston, home following a lengthy illness. Justice Wilkins had predeceased his distinguished 26-year career in the State's courts by serving as a member of the Board of Selectmen and as Town Moderator in Winchester during the early 40's. He was 79.

RAYMOND S. WILKINS

Justice Wilkins retired from the State Supreme Court on September 1, 1971, claiming his many years of service and circulatory ailments which resulted in the amputation of one leg six years ago as reasons. He held the position as the 30th chief justice of the 270-year-old Massachusetts Court for 14 years.

Born in Salem, May 24, 1891, he was the son of Samuel Herbert and Marietta (Rowell) Wilkins. He attended the former Salem Classical and High School. After entering Harvard University at the age of 17, he was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in 1912, cum laude, and a bachelor of laws degree, cum laude, in 1915 from the Harvard Law School.

During World War I he served with the 301st Field Artillery in France from 1917-1919, completing his duties with the rank of captain. A fellow officer was former Massachusetts Governor Leverett Saltonstall.

Justice Wilkins began his law practice with Storey, Thorndike, Palmer and Dodge. He became a partner in Palmer, Dodge, Barstow Wilkins and Davis in 1932, continuing as such until a judicial appointment in 1944.

In 1926 he had moved from Salem to Winchester, entering the Town's civil and political activities. He served as Town Moderator from 1940 to 1943 and had been elected to the Board of Selectmen in March of 1935. Justice Wilkins was also active as chairman of the Town's Republican organization at that time.

Having served as Gov. Saltonstall's counsel since 1939, he was elected by the Legislature to the Governor's Council for 1941-43.

Supreme Court
In January of 1944 Mr. Wilkins was named a justice of the Supreme Judicial Court by Gov. Saltonstall. In September, 1956, he was appointed chief justice of the high court by Gov. Christian Herter, a post which he held until his retirement last summer despite the 1966 surgery.

During his career Justice Wilkins received honorary degrees from Suffolk, Northeastern, Boston, and Tufts Universities; Western New England College, and Portia Law School.

He was a member of the American, Massachusetts, Boston, Essex, and Middlesex Bar Associations and the Council of the American Law Institute. Justice Wilkins was honorary president of the Boston Legal Aid Society and president of the Harvard Law School from 1955-1957.

Representative From NASA Talks At Noonan School

Noonan School students received a visit from Lawrence J. Costanzo, space science education specialist, recently. His comments dealt with NASA and its Space Science Demonstration Unit.

The unit comes from the Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Maryland, named for Dr. Robert H. Goddard, an Auburn native and pioneer in the field of rocketry. Mr. Costanzo illustrated his talk with replicas of the Atlas Centura, Gemini Titan, Apollo, Saturn One, Two and Five, and other satellites with solar cells.

Mr. Costanzo, a former teacher and graduate of Oklahoma State University, has replaced classroom teaching with traveling over the country to speak on NASA and its program for young students.

Introducing Mr. Costanzo was L. Kurkij, science teacher at Noonan who invited the NASA Demonstration Unit to come to Noonan.

Of particular interest was the space unit used by the astronauts and its complex unit which provides all the needs of the astronaut including a cooling system. Samples of freeze dried food and how they were consumed by the astronaut was explained to the children.

A demonstration of telemetry showed how messages from the satellite are received by the ground station and fed into computers, a system called multiplexing.

Mr. Costanzo ended his talk with a quote from Dr. Goddard, "It is difficult to say what is impossible, for the dream of yesterday is the hope of today and the reality of tomorrow."

Grand Jury Action Slated On Armed Robbery

While court action stemming from an armed robbery in Winchester on May 6 has just begun, legal action arising from a February 5 motor vehicle fatality on Forest Street has apparently ended.

An 18-year old Woburn youth was bound over for the Grand Jury by Judge Alfred Sartorelli in Woburn District Court Monday morning, May 17. According to Lieutenant Andrew Crawford, prosecutor of the Winchester Police Department, probable cause was found for the charges of armed robbery, assault with intent to murder, and unlawful possession of a firearm. He was held in $5,000 bail.

The incident occurred Thursday night, May 6, a Harry's, 14 Skilling Road. Police were alerted seconds after the event. Of two young men who were pursued, this Woburn youth was apprehended at the rear of 22 Baldwin Street by Officer Peter Morgan. Court proceedings on several counts of armed robbery have been undertaken by other town police departments.

Safety Officer Donald E. Pigott has been informed that the appeal made by the operator of a motor vehicle involved in the February 5 fatality of Miss Catherine T. O'Malley of 201 Washington Street has been withdrawn.

Mrs. Annie Cabral of 63 Washington Street was found guilty of "driving so as to endanger" by Judge Sartorelli in Woburn District Court on March 26. With the withdrawal of the appeal, she made payment of the $20 fine.

Single Auto Collides With Six Parked

Shortly before noon Saturday, May 15, the Winchester Police and Fire Departments responded to the vicinity of the 600's, Main Street, where a large crowd and a considerable amount of glass were found. Cause of the disturbance was the collision of a single car with six parked vehicles.

According to the police report of Officer Frank Tranchita, personal injuries were reported only to two children, a three and a nine-year-old, who were passengers in an automobile lined on the westerly side of Main Street. Each was said to be "shaken up." They were taken to Winchester Hospital.

A citation for operating under the influence of alcohol was issued to the operator of the vehicle, who was arrested at that time for being drunk.

While moving south on Main Street, the vehicle had crossed the center line, striking a car parked at the side of the opposing lane, and then continued back to the right lane where contact was made with five other stationary vehicles.

Damage to this automobile was on the front and right side. It was towed. Extensive damage was listed to only one of the parked cars, in which the children were seated. It was also towed.

Assisting at the scene were State Police Officer William McCarthy, and Winchester Officers Richard Beaton, Erwin Nurnberger, Donald Jackson, and William Gannon. Engine Four and the Rescue truck of the Fire Department were dispatched so that firefighters could disconnect batteries and clean up glass.

Other Mishaps

An intersection collision at Pond and Cambridge Streets Tuesday afternoon, May 11, resulted in relatively minor damage to the vehicles involved. The accident occurred as one car was making a left turn into Pond while another automobile was trying to pass this car.

A rear-end collision was investigated at 9:33 a.m. Friday, May 14, at Washington and Swanton Streets. The operator of the first vehicle, moving north on Washington, was stopped at a traffic light when contact occurred from behind with another automobile driven by a Medford man. Both vehicles were towed. Officers Joseph N. Perritano and Donald E. Jackson answered the call.

Mid-afternoon Monday, May 17, Officers Daniel Pearson and Erwin Nurnberger and Woburn Police were dispatched to Cambridge Street. According to the police report a trailer truck owned by Beacon Fast Freight of Dorchester was traveling south on Cambridge when an automobile driven by an Arlington man hit the median curb and then the left side of the truck, sending the car up onto the median strip.

A passenger in the car was transported to Choate Memorial Hospital, Woburn. There was no damage to the truck listed, however, there was damage to the right side of the vehicle.

Unitarians Plan Church School Day Service

Both youth and adults will mark the completion of a rewarding year in the Winchester Unitarian Church School with a Church School Day service in the sanctuary this Sunday, May 23, at 10:45 a.m.

The theme of the service, "It's Love That Makes a Family," has been considered in the junior and primary chapel services for the past five weeks. They discovered that animal and human children are nurtured through the devotion of the mated pair who become their parents, and that surrounding the human family is the larger family of the church, nation, and mankind.

Banners made by the classes, songs, and readings composing the service will reflect this concept. The primary department will give the call to worship following the colorful procession of banners into the sanctuary.

Following selections by a young instrumentalist group, the Junior Choir will sing "Every Man's Home," "I'm Proud to Be Me," "If I Had a Hammer," "Let There Be Peace," "Praise the Lord" and "No Man Is an Island."

The Sacred Dance Choir will interpret "Come Play with Me" from Sesame Street. Greetings from the minister, the Rev. Jack D. Zoerheide, and from Dr. James D. Hume, chairman of the Religious Education Committee, will be followed by the presentation of Bibles to the third graders.

Special envelopes in the pews will provide an opportunity for adults and children to support the "Six Weeks Adventure Program" sponsored by the Ecumenical Association which will be based in the Unitarian Church again this summer. The young people of the church, as well as the adults, who shared in this adventure last year were eager to participate again.

An open house in the church school will bring parents and friends into the classrooms after the service in the church. Murals, ceramics, models, original filmstrips and a sound movie will be displayed by the classes as they serve refreshments to their guests. The petunia and marigold plants decorating the classrooms are from the Caverly Memorial Fund and will be given to all members of the school and staff as a symbol of life and beauty.

Serving as candlelighters from the third grade will be Elizabeth McMillan and Michael Worth. Readers during the service will include Richard Redpath, Philip Jackson, Warren Mouradian and Andrea Fritch. Carrying the class banners will be Abigail Mackey, Peter DelGreco, Susan Wheeler, Greg Cummings, Laurie Buttery, David McMillan and Suzanne Worth.

The following third graders will be receiving Bibles from the Curtis Nash Memorial Fund: Deborah Barnard, Stephen Brownell, Lester Buttery, Joyce Fryklund, Craig Grimes, Gretchen Guzik, Lucia Jackson, Drusilla Jaffe, Melissa Kerman, John Keyes, Kristina Magnusen, Elizabeth McMillan, Karen Miller, David Parkhurst, Tannis Redpath, Leah Russell, Meg Sutherland, Sally Weylman, Susan Wheeler and Michael Worth.

Singing with the Junior Choir will be: Mark Barker, Ann Bird, Cindy Cunningham, Laura DelGreco, Erin and Sherri Daugherty, Patricia and Susan Hankins, Sara MacKenzie, Debbie and Robin Nichols, Laura and Sarah Parkhurst, David Russell, Ellen and Tom Stoddard, Kathy Wheeler and Julie Zoerheide.

Instrumentalists will include Susan Hankins, flute; Timothy Morgan, trumpet; Christopher Morgan, saxophone; and Erin Daugherty, violin.

Jane Puffer, Debbie Gregory and Susan Jones will be the dancers. Ushering will be done by Forrest Abbott, Robert Bird, John Parkhurst and David Trageser.

The Junior Choir has been under the direction of Mrs. Eleanor Baldwin. Mrs. Bee Gonnella has directed the Dance Choir. Mrs. Mary R. Witham is the church organist, and Mrs. Barbara Marshman, director of religious education.

Church School Day marks the close of regular classes in the church school until September. A special Vietnamese Culture Study for grades one through eight will be offered for the first three Sundays in June.

League Plans Convention

The Winchester League of Women Voters will meet for its annual convention on Wednesday morning, May 26, at the home of Mrs. Chester L. Dawes, 74 Wedgement Avenue.

This is an important meeting for League members. Officers and directors for the following year will be elected, and Mrs. Philip Hankins will present the budget. Mrs. Frederick Herberich has been appointed parliamentarian for the discussion and adoption of local study or action programs for 1971-72.

Delegates to the recent convention of the Massachusetts League will report on statewide programs. Mrs. Wilbur Lewis and her committee are planning to serve coffee at 9:15 a.m.

GREATER BOSTON GUIDANCE CLUB members included two Winchester schools personnel at the recent visit to Suffolk University, Boston. Among members were (left to right) Thomas Budrewicz, director of guidance at Winchester High School; Francis X. Flannery, treasurer of Suffolk University; Eugene I. Prior, Lynch Junior High School counselor; and Thomas A. Fulham, president of Suffolk.

Music Club Public Student Concert Two From Town To Serve On TV As Auctioneers

The third annual student concert presented by the Winchester Music Club will take place on Sunday, May 23, in Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church at 7:30 p.m.

The student concert event was established by Music Club teachers to provide the more mature student musician with an opportunity to perform for the community at large. Since Club meetings are limited to members, it seemed proper to share the efforts of serious music students with the community. Participants in the public concert are recommended by their music teachers and prepared by them for the special performance.

The student concert on May 23 will reflect the diversity of instrumental skills that has characterized the Winchester Club meetings. Music lovers, parents and friends are urged to attend the concert that will be a satisfying demonstration of community young people who have developed creative skill through much time and effort.

There will be an opportunity for members of the audience to meet the performers over refreshments after the concert.

ABC Committee Elects Officers

The Winchester Committee For A Better Chance Trust elected officers and trustees at a meeting Saturday, May 15, at the Church of the Epiphany.

Policy decisions were made regarding the selection of students who will participate in the program. Preliminary plans for a fund-raising campaign were also discussed.

Unanimously elected, as recommended by the steering committee, were:

Executive Committee: Dr. Robert H. Anderson, president; Fred F. Stockwell, vice-president; Charles P. Harris, treasurer; and Mrs. David B. Holmes, clerk.

Committees: John F. Reno, finance; Dr. Donald E. McLean, health; Mrs. Frederick C. Rozelle Jr., host family; Anthony J. Celli, housing; John A. Dolan, legal; Philip B. Parson Jr., personnel; Lawrence Beckley, school liaison.

Michael Strah, Second Congregational; the Rev. John J. Bishop, Epiphany; the Rev. Leonard Pelletier, Immaculate Conception; the Rev. Dean Benedict, Methodist; the Rev. Henry A. Marquardt, St. Eulalia's; the Rev. Bernard Hoy, St. Mary's and the Rev. Jack Zoerheide, Unitarian.

At large committee members include J. P. Barger, Joseph W. Gibson, Edward Haddad, Earl Johnson of Lexington, Vincent Larocco, ex-officio, of Reading, Dr. Edward S. Rendell, and Mrs. Ione Willis.

Environmental Summer Duties For Mr. Heindel

Craig D. Heindel, a Dartmouth College senior from Winchester, is among seven students who have been chosen to intern with the Vermont Environmental Center during its annual Summer Internship Program.

Mr. Heindel and the other six interns, all students from various New England colleges, will spend the eleven weeks from June 16 to September 1 in residence at the Center's facility in Ripton, Vermont. They will assist with and participate in the Center's summer series of teacher training workshops in Environmental Education.

Specific responsibilities of interns will range from program planning and implementation to janitorial and maintenance tasks.

Mr. Heindel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis L. Heindel of 17 Seneca Road, is a 1967 graduate of Winchester High School. At Dartmouth he has been active with the Glee Club, the Ski School, and the Environmental Studies Division of the Dartmouth Outing Club.

Editorials:

Our Brother's Keeper — II

One of last week's Star Editorials, "Our Brother's Keeper—I," maintained that welfare was initially planned to be society's means of showing compassion for the poor. The editorial traced this concern to Judeo-Christian teachings, upon which this nation has largely based its moral and ethical principles.

How to implement these views has resulted in controversy. Criticism has arisen from two sides.

Constantly rising welfare costs have created an increasingly strong reaction from large numbers of those paying the bills. They claim that waste and abuses exist in present welfare practices.

Complaints that welfare payments have failed to meet needs have been voiced by some recipients. Some have joined militant "welfare rights" organizations. Incidents of picketing, sit-ins, and violence have occurred at some welfare offices.

Climbing expenses alone cause some of the unhappiness about welfare. The Winchester Welfare Service Office, for example, had a 31 percent increase in disbursements during the 1970 fiscal year over the comparable 1969 period.

Other than ordinary payments to vendors also have inspired some objections. State Auditor Thaddeus Buzko reported some of these disbursements in a report on the examination of accounts of the Medford Finance Unit. The Winchester Welfare Service Office is part of the Medford Finance Unit.

In addition to the usual payments to doctors, dentists, druggists, hospitals, nursing homes, and other medical units, the Medford Finance Unit made the following disbursements between March 7, 1970, and November 30, 1970, according to Auditor Buzko's report:

- a. $61.35 to four newspapers for apartment wanted ad
- b. Home repair bills of recipients as follows:

|-------------------|----------|
| Plumbing | $205.00 |
| Plumbing | 435.44 |
| Porch and gutters | 400.00 |
| General | 500.00 |

- c. $250 to pay back food bills of recipient purchased at neighborhood stores

- d. $10 for carfare to look for an apartment

- e. On August 11, 1970, $777.72 for transportation to California of a recipient who has now returned from California and appears on relief rolls

- f. $85 to replace money stolen

- g. $35 for deposit for phone ordered by doctor
- h. $114.43 for real estate tax adjustment as provided in lease

- i. $38 for two past due finance company payments

- j. Motel charges as follows:

- 1. Two adults and five children April 10, 1970, to July 6, 1970, $3,223
- 2. $1,160 covering period April 28, 1970, to July 20, 1970

- k. Total payments of $8,727.50 to various cab companies

- l. Seven month mortgage payments amounting to $1,025.66 to prevent foreclosure of recipient's home

- m. Admission fee and portfolio for New England School of Art $50, and $111.20 for transportation to and from school

- n. College application fee $25

- o. Entrance examinations and application fee $57.50

- p. Registration for nursery school $22

- q. Rental of typewriter $25

- r. Past due gas bills of: $114.70, $115.43, $137.19, $170.95, $190.74, $229.23, $358.00, $435.79

- s. Past due electric bills of: $125.84, $153.68, $199.55, $248.79, $473.93

- t. Court costs of $25, $30, and $50 for divorce actions.

The flat grant concept was designed, according to Auditor Buzko, to provide separate quarterly payments, in addition to the semi-monthly grant, to recipient families with dependent children having additional needs. He claimed that several recipients received quarterly flat grant payments, although a short time later the cases were closed.

As an example, he mentioned that a flat grant payment of $142.60 was made on September 18, 1970. On October 1, 1970, the recipient moved out of the state, Auditor Buzko's report declared.

Auditor Buzko told the Woburn Lions Club recently that motel bills for welfare recipients in the Lawrence Finance Unit from September, 1970, to February, 1971, cost taxpayers some $17,398.10. Massachusetts has a "runaway welfare system" with "total confusion," he maintained, in tracing activities since the Commonwealth took over the system from cities and towns in July, 1968.

"We have tried desperately in all instances to account for the more than one billion dollars which has been expended in this direction and while we have been able to throw some light upon the activity of the Department of Public Welfare, I must confess that we would need to double the staff that we now have in order to complete what I would consider to be an adequate and complete audit of the activities of this agency," the former State Representative from Salem stated.

Only a few of the regional offices reconcile their bank accounts, Auditor Buzko declared. He termed the reconciliation function as hopeless and urged the Welfare Offices to start anew, "to straighten out the situation."

"Some welfare offices have done this, he said, but by the end of a month, in some cases, "the new bank accounts go unreconciled, so nothing is really gained."

Auditor Buzko recommended four steps to help correct conditions which he considered poor:

1. "We have reason to believe, but no proof, that a number of Welfare recipients are presently collecting monies from more than one agency of the Department. To correct this, we propose that every welfare recipient should be required to obtain a Social Security number and that a file of these numbers be maintained in the Boston office of the Welfare Department and that the Social Security number of everyone applying for welfare should be cleared through this central office before any payments are made.

2. "We recommend that every person on welfare be equipped with a card such as issued by banks. This card should include a photograph of the recipient and his Social Security number.
3. "We recommend that the financial records of the Welfare Department be set up in such a way that it should be possible to determine how much money has been paid to a particular vendor such as a doctor, dentist, hospital, pharmacy or furniture store.

4. "We recommend that the financial records of the Welfare Department be set up in such a manner that the total payments made to any recipient could be easily determined. We know of several instances wherein people on AFDC have also received funds from the General Relief Appropriation."

State Senator Roger L. Bernashe (D) of Chicopee, one of the earliest critics of the Springfield welfare system abuses, was recently quoted as saying, "Welfare is a good example of wrong planning. We made our program so attractive, the Governor of California posted signs at the airports telling people to go to Massachusetts."

What are the thoughts of some others on the welfare controversy? A further look will be taken in another editorial on the subject.

Reader Troubled About Razing Of Historical Spot

Editor of the Star:

The Woburn Times printed on its front page a tragic picture — the magnificent Loami Baldwin 310-year-old mansion that is to be razed! Progress? Rather an outrage to United States history. What for? An asphalt parking lot!

This charming house, once graced by elms, had magnificent gardens lined throughout by box hedges, (as elegant, from the old prints, as ever graced Williamsburg) which reached down the banking to the edge of the Middlesex towpath Canal. Colonel Loami Baldwin's great engineering achievement. He was the chief engineer and builder of the Middlesex Canal.

The Middlesex Canal from Boston to Lowell was a first in United States history — the first longest United States towpath barge canal. The failures and successes made in solving myriad problems from start to its completion expedited development of all other United States canals as the Erie and the Chesapeake and Ohio (now thankfully preserved by the efforts of William O. Douglas and other United States citizens.)

Baldwin was the first ever to employ a wye level in order to obtain the first accurate surveying here in the United States. For this and other civil engineering achievements he was named the "Father of Civil Engineering."

Through his efforts the Baldwin apple blossomed throughout New England.

If only money spent on arms could be spent to rescue this historic house of one of the United States' great citizens! Is this what happens when Historical Societies are allowed to die as happened in Woburn?

Also on this same front page were complaints by homeowners who built their homes down low abutting the remnants of the Middlesex Canal. (Loami had sense enough to build on high ground.) They have built their homes in a fine wetlands area and typically they are enraged and cry to the city to clean them up and pump them out this wet spring! If they had done their homework they would know that they had built homes on an ancient river (preglacial) floodplain. They probably built in a drought year.

Thus does Woburn build and continue to build in chaotic fashion more and more houses and factories on its flood plains with absolutely no head for flood plain zoning — an outrage to ecology! Lynnfield, which has had extensive flood plain zoning for many years, has no such problems. What in the world is Woburn waiting for?

As more water is tightly channeled as a result of more and more building and the cellars fill, Woburn taxpayers are going to hear more pitiful cries for help and be expected over and over to run to the rescue.

Let us not allow such building on our flood plains! Those who build there should pay their own dredging and cave in expenses! Even the ancient Bible cautions about building a house on sand. As for our great water systems and magnificent historic treasures and great engineering leaders like Colonel Loami Baldwin, are there not enough left of us who care?

Justice Wilkins, Taxes Discussed By Herbert Lord

Editor of the Star:

The Town of Winchester needs revenue through the only method known to government, taxes. Nothing is more certain in this valley of tears than death and taxes; the former is the greatest adventure in life from which one never returns to tell about it; a release from life's boredom and responsibility; the latter is a burden, meaning taxes levied upon the inhabitants for the pursuit of happiness and the pride of ownership, the protection from interference of others, supposedly equal in assessed valuation according to location and size; all taxpayers are willing to pay fair share for this pursuit of honesty, love of one's country, but fight to the bitter end for being pushed around in over-valuation, larger taxes.

Reasoning is for the sole purpose of gaining more revenue to be used exclusively for reducing the tax rate and for no other purpose, but it usually does not work out that way, for the large spenders of taxpayers' money is the opportunity of the School Committee, for instance, to increase salaries of teachers, add a few more assistant principals, assistant superintendents, more courses of study, even though students do not learn the 3 R's, reading, writing, and arithmetic.

In fact ex-president Conant of Harvard and Admiral Rickover, the inventor of the atomic submarine, are continually advising the taxpayer that college men do not know how to read, write, or spell and have to take refresher courses the first year in college. The Town of Winchester has made many mistakes in spending money, the most recent being in building the new high school in a swamp when there was and still is plenty of land, Manchester Field, for one half the cost. "If one's foresight was as good as one's hindsight, one would not be kicked for a damned sight."

Eternal vigilance is the price of all that we hold dear or one's liberty. Is it worth it; be skinflints with the dollar and one need not be as much concerned where the taxpayer's goes. Human nature being what it is one will consider his monetary position first and the good of the Town secondarily. For the good of the Town is a good battle cry but that is about all or as far as it goes. See that your armor is in good shape, dare to stand and be heard but be sure that it makes sense.

Vox Clamantis in Deserto

Raymond Sanger Wilkins, ex-Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:

One will never see his like again. About 20 years ago we discovered that we were playmates at the Methodist Camp-Meeting Grounds at Hedding, New Hampshire. It was the Chau-tauqua Circuit where we heard men such as William Jennings Bryan, thrice nominated by the Democratic Party; Bryan was active in the Stokes Trial which killed him, as his opponent was Clarence Darrow.

Justice Wilkins was a giant in the law not only in Massachusetts but all over the country. A rare sense of humor even on himself. He was a leader here in Winchester, chairman of the Board of Selectmen. This writer valued his friendship and the Emmanuel Church in Boston on Newbury Street was packed with those who paid their last respects.

APPL Committee Opposes Plans For Apartments

Editor of the Star:

Do we want more apartments in Winchester?

The Planning Board has proposed five sites for garden apartments in Winchester, indicating the construction of approximately 2,500 units.

What does this mean to us, the taxpayers? Let us list some of the "benefits" of building garden apartments in this town.

1. Approximately a 35 percent increase in town population (mostly residents of a non-permanent nature).
2. Up to a possible additional 3,000 children introduced into our schools. How many new schools will that entail with our present system running at close to capacity?
3. Approximately another 4,000 cars using our streets, with no advance planning or calculation of the effect of this increased load.
4. Approximately 8,000 more people making about five pounds a day of refuse to be disposed of in our already overburdened incinerator, and no land-fill area left to handle overloads.
5. Approximately 35 percent increase in demand upon water, sewer, police and fire protection services, the increase coming rapidly, not gradually.

Seriously, to logical and thinking persons the aforementioned "benefits" of the proposed apartments will mean an added tax burden far and above any new tax revenues generated by the new apartments.

Planning Board

A revised section 3.42 also permits reconstruction of such non-conforming structures "notwithstanding the lot area and frontage requirements of the district, providing the reconstruction meets all the other requirements of the district."

Section 3.5 Non-Conforming Uses. Substantial relief for owners of properties in a legally non-conforming use is provided by a new section 3.51, according to the Planning Board. It now reads, "Any structure being lawfully devoted to a use not permitted by this by-law may be altered, repaired or reconstructed for the same use, or any other use as permitted in subsection 3.53, provided such construction or reconstruction does not increase the floor area or the lot area covered by the structure."

In addition to fundamental changes in the non-conformities section, a number of minor changes in the table of uses in Section 4 were included to take care of omissions on the original proposal. A major change in the District Regulations, Section 6.1, was also made in the requirements for the Light Industrial District. Minimum lot area is reduced to 20,000 square feet, lot frontage to 100 feet, and yard requirements reduced proportionately.

"The Planning Board believes that the proposed Zoning By-Law with all of the changes now recommended is workable and should substantially alleviate the concern of those property owners who felt the original proposal would cause them undue hardship," Chairman Otto E. Schaefer Jr. commented.

A map showing the changes recommended since the original proposal will be published in next week's Star. The map and text will also be seen in the office of Town Engineer John H. Clarcia.

The Planning Board pointed out that it is still possible for citizens to propose amendments to the proposal at the Special Town Meeting. Because of the stringent legal requirements of the state statutes, however, amendments must be submitted to the Moderator in writing, preferably in advance of the Meeting. This is necessary because amendments which fundamentally alter the advertised proposal cannot be considered, the Planning Board advised.

Auction

to be used for submitting sealed bids, are available from the IRS office at 500 Essex Street, Lawrence.

Twenty percent of the bid price must accompany the bid in cash, certified check, cashier's or treasurer's check, or by a United States postal, express, or telegraphic money order. The balance must be paid on or before June 25.

The Fontaines may redeem their property within 120 days, under IRS regulations, by meeting the agency's financial requirements.

Vandalism To Town Property Is Reported

A considerable amount of vandalism, ranging from window breakage to defacement with paint, has been reported by Town officials over the past weekend.

Two more windows were reported broken at Noonan School in addition to the five noticed last Wednesday night. Paint was also used to mar the side of the building. The inevitable "class of 71" materialized on the rear of the Senior High School Saturday night.

An approximately 50-foot section of wire fence was removed from in front of the Winchester Post Office, while another window at the Public Library was shattered.

At the driveway entrance off Sylvester Avenue to Wildwood Cemetery the chain barrier and fence gate were damaged. Sign posts in this vicinity and the handles to water spigots had also been broken off. Harold Moran, superintendent of Wildwood Cemetery, reported.

Superintendent of Streets Robert O'Brien informed police of the loss of several lights at the Town Incinerator off Swanton Street also over the weekend.

Seven Articles On Warrant

Some opposition had been expressed to the proposal by some residents in letters to town officials and to the Editor of the Star. The existing Zoning By-Law permits property to be used as the ABC group intends, while the proposed Zoning By-Law limits the number of unrelated persons so housed to two.

Vandalism High

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien told Selectmen Monday evening that vandalism incidents were high at the town incinerator. He reported weekend breakage of special mercury vapor lamps costing $300 each. He envisions $3,500 in costs for anticipated damages.

From 20 to 30 street signs disappeared weekly. Superintendent O'Brien declared. Last week, 45 manhole covers were removed and dropped into the manholes. The latter practice could cause injury or death to a motorist or pedestrian, Superintendent O'Brien warned.

The Wedgemere Avenue-Foxcroft area leads as a site for vandalism, Superintendent O'Brien stated. School vacation periods are the busiest times for vandals, he noted.

"Deep concern" was expressed by the Selectmen over the vandalism problem. Parents were urged by board members to become "more concerned" over the situation. The cooperation of all citizens was asked by the Selectmen.

Fontaine Property

The Selectmen discussed a letter from the Planning Board inquiring about the possibility that the Permanent Building Committee might be interested in acquiring the Frank Fontaine home at 407 Highland Avenue in connection with possible enlargement of Mystic School property.

Chairman Leroy W. Long of the Permanent Building Committee indicated that his group was not in a position to recommend that the town buy the Fontaine site at the coming Internal Revenue Service auction. Selectman Paul F. Amico suggested that Mr. Long's committee advise the Selectmen of this in writing.

Police Commended

The Selectmen joined Chief Bowler in commending Officers Peter Morgan and Robert Palmer and Auxiliary Officer James Connolly for apprehending a Woburn youth on armed robbery charges following the holdup of Harvey's Roast Beef at 14 Skillings Road. James S. Marino, manager of Harvey's had written the Selectmen praising Officers Morgan, Palmer, and Connolly for "quick and courageous action."

"My experience with the Winchester Police Department has assured me that our policemen are truly professionals; and it is indeed reassuring to know that such fine men are working night and day to serve and protect the citizens of Winchester. Mr. Marino wrote the Selectmen.

Patrolman Named

Franklin P. Bartlett of Bedford was appointed a permanent patrolman upon the recommendation of Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler. Paul C. Curtin of Arlington had been named to the post last week, but declined the appointment.

The Selectmen voted to put into effect recommendations proposed last July by Safety Officer Donald E. Pigott concerning Palmer Street. The changes include the elimination of angle parking on the southerly side and institution of parallel parking; installation of six no parking signs on the fence of Wildwood Cemetery, applying to the northerly side; painting of a yellow line, and placing warning signs on both ends of the street. The Selectmen will advise the Park Department of the proposed changes.

Jurors Chosen

Chosen for prospective jury duty at the Selectmen's meeting Monday evening, May 17, were Francis B. Bracken of 15 Maxwell Road and Dante Spezzafero of 15 Grant Road.

Appointed to the Fire Code Study Committee by the moderator were Pery Bugbee of 22 Symmes Road, Justin James of 27 Sheffield West, and Wilbur C. Otis of 82 Hemingway Street, the Selectmen were informed.

Mr. Kenney Named

Attorney Raymond J. Kenney Jr., former chairman of the Finance Committee, was appointed by Selectmen as town representative on the Metropolitan Area Planning Council. He succeeds Selectman Amico, whose resignation was accepted by the Selectmen with thanks.

Selectman Amico explained that he had succeeded State Representative and Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick in the post. Selectman Amico had volunteered to serve "for a while" one and one half years ago when legislative duties caused Mr. Chadwick's resignation.

By resigning from the Council, Selectman Amico would be able to devote more time to other matters more directly concerned with the Board of Selectmen, he pointed out.

Welfare Move

The relocation of the Winchester Welfare Service Office from Town Hall will be discussed by the Selectmen Monday evening, May 24. By that time, the Selectmen expect to have heard from Welfare authorities of moving plans.

Lack of funds will prevent assignment of a summer intern to Town Hall this year, according to the Massachusetts Department of Community Affairs. Selectman Chapman's recommendation that the Selectmen express regrets and offer to help encourage the program next year was adopted by the board.

Architect Arthur Rand's suggestion that the contract for three safes for Town Hall be awarded to the low bidder was accepted by the Selectmen. Mosler Safe Company of Waltham bid $5,972.80 for supplying, delivering, and installing three Mosler four-hour record safes. The other bidder was Diebold, Incorporated, of Boston, whose cost for three Diebold safes would have been $6,552.

Ridge Street

The condition of Ridge Street is so poor that Superintendent O'Brien's plan to place a temporary seal on the surface is not possible, he informed the Selectmen this week. Hot-topping part of it will be necessary instead, he said.

An appropriate budget switch will be made by Selectmen next year in answer to a request from Chief Bowler. He noted that the Police Department was paying $31 a month or about $370 a year for municipal parking lot lighting.

Selectman William G. Chapman Jr. urged the Selectmen to remind the Permanent Building Committee to advise the board on its priorities as to school sites requiring additional land.

Sidewalk curbing orders were signed by the Selectmen for Grayson Road, James Street, Stone Avenue, and Raymond Place.

Only One Bidder

Only one bid was received in response to a Police Department appeal for bids on supplying two 1971 heavy-duty four-door sedans to two 1971 heavy-duty four-door station wagons. Chief Bowler advised the Selectmen. Bonnell Ford of 666 Main Street bid $10,162, which the Selectmen accepted upon Chief Bowler's recommendation.

The Selectmen discussed the lack of bidding interest on the part of other dealers. Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly said that manufacturers no longer give fleet or special discounts to dealers, reducing the incentive to bid. Dealers also no longer receive funds for maintaining the vehicles, Mr. Donnelly explained.

Voters at the Annual Town Meeting had authorized $10,200 for purchasing the four cruisers. The Bonnell bid was for $38 less than that figure.

The Selectmen decided to use letters from the Police, Fire, and Highway Departments together with others, to determine the estimated cost of the impact of the proposed Zoning By-Law. The Selectmen plan to discuss the information in detail before the Special Town Meeting.

Proposal Declined

Attorney Leonard J. Mullen Jr., town counsel, has advised Selectmen that it would be in the "best interests of the town" to seek bids for renting uniforms for town incinerator personnel. The firm which bid successfully for the business last year at $2,450, offered to provide the service this year for $1,998. The figure, since it is below $2,000, would have ruled out the seeking of competitive bids.

Selectmen postponed until Monday evening, May 24, discussion of the appointment of a temporary assistant superintendent for the Highway Department with Superintendent O'Brien.

Superintendent O'Brien will confer with Park Superintendent Herbert S. Mullen on cleaning up town-owned land at Glen Green. Superintendent O'Brien said that controlling dumping at the site would be the responsibility of the Board of Health or Police Department.

A new rent schedule may be set up by Selectmen for a town-owned house at 11 Linden Street. Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly said that rent under a lease expiring August 1 was "extremely low."

Tree Warden O'Brien informed the Selectmen that he would have further tests made on a tree on Canal Street to determine whether it is diseased and will report his findings in three or four weeks.

Superintendent O'Brien expressed his wish to serve on the Snow and Ice Removal Committee. Selectman Paul F. Amico, noting that such an assignment could cause Superintendent O'Brien to "get bogged down," suggested that he recommend someone to represent him. Superintendent O'Brien said that he would reconsider the matter. The Selectmen deferred action for one week. Board members were advised that the Water and Sewer Board had named one of its members, Harry E. Chelafas, as its designee to the Snow and Ice Removal Study Committee.

School Committee

History

Mr. Waite, Chairman of the Rights and Responsibilities Committee and director of mathematics for Winchester schools, has been involved in the case since January. A major function of the PRR is to hear and assist teachers in the redress of grievances.

"The P.R.R. has been unanimous in its support of Mrs. Boyle and its belief that she has a grievance against the School Committee." The following account of the case's history is given by the Boileys: This position was formally sent to the School Committee on April 16. A letter also dated April 16 to Mr. Waite from the then School Committee Chairman, Mrs. Harriet Dieterich, requested that the PRR give more detail of the alleged grievance. The letter also stated, "With regard to her (Mrs. Boyle) individually, the question of tenure with its ancillary problems seems to be foreclosed, not only because of the agreement, but by terms of the contract."

Since this exchange of letters Jeffrey Freedman, general counsel to the Massachusetts Teachers Association, requested on April 25 that an informal meeting or hearing be held in order that Mrs. Boyle might have an opportunity to present her position to the School Committee more fully and that the Committee might then reconsider her appointment for tenure in the Winchester school system.

"This request was denied" in a letter of May 10 from Henry B. Perry, director of personnel, to Mr. Freedman. Writing for Mrs. Dieterich to such a meeting in the view of the School Committee would not be "fruitful," and that the School Committee had already listened to and received written materials from Mrs. Boyle regarding her experiences in the Winchester schools.

"Courtney"

The letter refers to the "courtney hearing" which Mrs. Boyle had on March 23. The meeting was granted at the request of the Winchester Education Association and was held in executive session following a regular School Committee meeting. Mrs. Boyle began her presentation at 11 p.m. At the close of her talk, according to Mrs. Boyle, she was asked no questions by the Committee but was asked for the notes from which she spoke. Two members of the Committee, Lane McGovern and Stephen Parkhurst, were not present at the meeting.

Subsequently on April 6 at a special meeting the Committee voted not to renew Mrs. Boyle's contract after June 25, 1971. Mrs. Boyle began teaching in both junior high schools as a part-time teacher in September, 1966, taking the overload of home economics classes at both schools.

"For the last three years she has been considered a full-time teacher," According to Mrs. Boyle she was never informed of dissatisfaction with her teaching performance or personality until January 28, 1971, when Mr. Perry informed her that she was not being recommended for tenure. Non-tenure teachers must be so informed by February in the Winchester system.

Counsel at the requested grievance hearing will be Charles M. Healey III, a Springfield area attorney. His services are provided by the Massachusetts Teachers Association of which Mrs. Boyle is a member.

In its growing awareness of the need to strengthen the local association and its ties with the MTA the new president of the WEA, Arthur H. Hanway, a social studies teacher at McCall Junior High School, has called for a WEA general meeting May 26 for all teachers in the Winchester system. Invited speakers are Richard J. Durkin, president of the MTA, and George R. Shea Jr., legal counsel for the Association. They will speak primarily on the services and functions of the MTA and its relationship to the local education association. Mrs. Boyle will also speak to the membership at this meeting.

"Recommended"

In a prepared statement for the Star Mrs. Boyle writes, "I have taught in Winchester five years. Up until January of this year I was told I was a successful teacher and was always recommended for increased increments. Mr. Forte, my principal at McCall Junior High School, in fact, recommended me for tenure in 1969 to 1970. Even though I never saw any of my evaluation until January of this year they have been complimentary."

"For two years in a row Mr. Forte called me a 'fine, friendly, dependable teacher.' For two years in a row also, Mr. Handy, my principal at Lynch Junior High School, wrote, 'Mrs. Boyle has been a very cooperative, pleasant, energetic and successful teacher. She has served her position in the Lynch Junior High School very satisfactorily.'"

"My attempts to reverse the decision of the School Department have been very frustrating. Still, support has come from my husband, friends, colleagues, students and my own strong sense of justice which will not allow these violations of professional standards to go unchallenged.

"My greatest surprise over the last few months is that many who profess stated beliefs in the excellence of Winchester schools have allowed inefficiency and unprofessionalism to be condoned — and even rewarded. This has been happening despite the fact that Mr. Waite and other members of the WEA Professional Rights and Responsibilities Committee have been trying to inform the School Committee that conditions are wrong."

"I have done or said nothing that I do not want a part of the public record. I only ask that I be given the kind of hearing which will allow a fair and impartial airing of the procedures which led to my loss of a teaching position in the Winchester public schools. For myself and my teaching colleagues in Winchester I also feel that it is important that the questions which I posed to the School Committee on March 23 concerning administrative policy be answered."

Citizen's Call Solves Theft Of Meter

An anonymous telephone call to the Winchester Police Department Wednesday, May 12, led to the apprehension of two local youths for the larceny of a parking meter.

A young man was observed looting meter no. 59, located on Main Street near Converse Bridge, into the trunk of an automobile. A description of the vehicle and the license plate number were obtained.

Officers Donald E. Pigott and Jasper F. Asaro began an investigation and located the operator of the car, who identified a second youth believed involved in the theft. The two 18-year-olds will face charges in Fourth District Court.

Drug Course Is Completed By Officer Mawn

A certificate of completion was recently granted to Police Officer Kevin P. Mawn for a narcotic drug training course conducted at Bentley College in Waltham.

The course was offered by Project PREP, the drug division of District Attorney John J. Droney's office, and directed by Assistant District Attorney Foster Furcolo and his staff.

Officer Mawn is the fourth officer to receive a certificate from Project PREP. Chief Edward F. Bowler announced May 20.

Fountain Idea Of Mr. Cusack's To Be Dedicated

Former Selectman William Cusack who now resides in Deerfield Beach, Florida, saw the recent completion of one of his projects there, a lighted fountain which will be dedicated on Memorial Day.

The pre-cast stone fountain was described by the Deerfield Beach Observer as "a project of the Beach Beautification Committee of One, William Cusack, a Cove Beach Club resident."

Mr. Cusack also served on the Finance Committee while living in Winchester.

Some 99% of the earth's gases are found within the first 100 miles above the earth's surface. This envelope acts as a "blanket" to help steady and evenly distribute the temperature over the earth's surface, keeping it, overall, between the freezing and boiling points of water. The atmosphere blocks out many forms of high energy radiation which might be detrimental to life.

Garden Club Elects Officers

Officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Winchester Estates Garden Club, held at the home of Mrs. Hildegard Coulter of 14 Winerest Drive, Monday evening, May 10. Forty members had a pot luck dinner before the meeting.

Chosen to direct the club's activities for next year were: Mrs. P. P. Lele, President; Mrs. Richard Adler, Vice-President; Mrs. Peter Ford, Treasurer; Mrs. Joseph Conway, Recording Secretary; Mrs. James O'Brien, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Gerald Westlake, Ways and Means; Mrs. Harold Anderson and Mrs. Richard Yamamoto, Program Co-chairmen; Mrs. Joseph Cicco, Membership and Hospitality; Mrs. Kimball Sherry, Maintenance; Mrs. Vincent George, Horticulture; Mrs. R. A. Richmond, Publicity; Mrs. William Owens, Yearbook, and Mrs. Hugh Frey, Workshops.

Outgoing president, Mrs. Douglas Davidson, thanked members for their contributions in making the year so successful. Program Chairman, Mrs. P. P. Lele, announced the final events for the year. A group met for a guided tour of Smith Pond on Wednesday morning, May 12, and concluded the tour at the Ridge Street home of Mrs. Joseph Cicco for coffee. A Boston Harbor tour for members and their children is being planned for a release-time day, Tuesday, June 15. Guests are also invited. Further information is available and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. P.P. Lele, 729-5837.

Mrs. Rolland Robison announced several work shops for the En Ka parade entry. Mrs. Kimball Sherry is in charge of the costumes with Mrs. Richard Yamamoto responsible for decorations and Mrs. Douglas Davidson for music.

Creighton L. Horn of 457 Washington Street, has been promoted from foreman to sales engineer. Mr. Horn has been with J. H. Winn since 1939.

About 175,000 widows of veterans who died of service-connected disabilities and 65,000 wives of veterans totally disabled in service are eligible for educational benefits. Individuals interested in these benefits are urged to contact the nearest VA office or local veterans service organization representative.

INITIATING EQUIPMENT purchased for the Homeowners Engraving Identification project is William A. Wilde Jr. of 34 Robinhood Road. Mr. Wilde, a member of the Winchester Community Security Committee, first proposed the funding of the project to the Winchester Rotary Club. (Police Department photo)

"Attack"

Funding for the project, which has necessitated the purchase of engraving tools and other items and the printing of stickers, has been accepted by the Winchester Rotary Club. This coordination of finances was undertaken by William A. Wilde Jr. of 34 Robinhood Road, a member of Rotary and of the Winchester Community Security Committee.

"Attack"

The project itself is an integral part of the "Comprehensive Attack on Burglary" for which the Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 distributed through the Governor's Committee on Law Enforcement. Now in operation for five months, this program is scheduled for completion in October of this year.

The "attack," whose next progression is into a Store Security Check project, is constantly undergoing evaluation by the Department and the consulting firm, Analytic Sciences Corporation of Reading. The effect of the Homeowners Engraving Identification project will also be taken into consideration.

Chief Bowler, observing that up to now most citizens' approach to the burglary problem has been "fatalistic," action only when it happens to them, hopes to arouse the interest and involvement of the community. "There are only so many officers. We need the eyes and ears of the public."

The biggest problem faced by the Department concerning thefts is the identification of stolen property. Cameras, typewriters, musical instruments, recording equipment, bicycles, jewelry, gardening and building tools, etc., are all fair game for a burglar. Registration of these valuables, their serial numbers and a description, with the Police Department and will be provided as demand allows. It is hoped that eventually the Auxiliary Police will be able to aid in coordination of scheduling.

History

Although the idea for the project has been suspended in the mind of the local police department for some time, the engraving program is believed to have originated on the West Coast. It has been initiated in approximately 80 Southern California communities, in New Orleans, Louisiana, and most recently in Wayland.

The rationale behind the California project is threefold: a thief apprehended by police with marked items in his possession can not plead that they are his property; since possessions are now more easily identifiable, a thief is likely to get "stuck with the goods" when his goal is really to redeem items for cash; and the warning stickers may deter a burglar from making an attempt to break into a home or business at all.

The potential of the project for Winchester is high. All residents are urged to take advantage of these possibilities before they are the victims of a burglary. They will help themselves, as well as the Winchester Police Department.

Rev. Wiseman To Celebrate First Mass

The Rev. Denis Vincent Wiseman, O.P., will celebrate his first Mass at the Immaculate Conception Church, North Cambridge, Saturday evening, June 5, at 5. The Reverend Brother Francis Tarquinio will serve as deacon.

Celebrating with Father Wiseman will be three of his newly ordained classmates, former teachers and friends, including his cousin, the Rev. Paul Hurley of St. Patrick's Parish in Lynn.

Father Wiseman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wiseman of 6 Winslow Road. He received his early education at the Immaculate Conception School in North Cambridge and at Mattignon High School, from which he was graduated in 1962.

After attending Boston College for two years, Father Wiseman entered the Dominican Order in July, 1964. He made his novitiate in Somerset, Ohio. He continued his studies at St. Stephen's College in Dover for three years, acquiring a master's degree in philosophy.

Theological studies were pursued at the Dominican House of Studies in Washington which awarded him an S.T.B. degree in June of 1970. Summers, Fr. Wiseman has taken biblical studies at Providence College. Last summer he served as deacon at St. Dominic's Church, Youngstown, Ohio.

Father Wiseman was ordained Thursday, May 27, by Terence Cardinal Conke, Archbishop of New York, at Saint Vincent Ferrer's Church, New York City.

Father Wiseman will spend a short vacation with his family before beginning his summer assignment at St. Vincent Ferrer's Church, Madison Heights, Michigan. In the fall, he will return to Washington to complete his theological studies leading to a master's degree.

Local Library Hosts Meeting On How To Expand Library Use

The Winchester Public Library was host for a meeting centering on Reaching the Unreached last week. Librarians from six neighboring towns attended. The survey now being conducted at the local library, through the schools, and by telephone to a sampling of people who do not have cards was one of the specific examples used to illustrate how a library can discover who does and does not use it. The program was one of a series being conducted by the Eastern Massachusetts Regional Library System of which Winchester is a member.

Four staff members traveled to Stoughton to a Publicity Workshop, also under the auspices of the Eastern Region. Staff members from ten libraries shared their experiences there. Specific instruction was given in the writing of news releases. Many suggestions on posters, displays, and types of programs were illustrated.

The most visible advantage of Winchester's membership in the regional system, according to the local staff, is the delivery service from Boston Public Library three times a week. Patrons see the panel body truck which speed inter-library loan books. Film deliveries between libraries in the Boston sub-region can be handled by the delivery truck as well as pick-up and return of books.

Books borrowed by local people from Boston Public Library can be returned to the Boston library by the delivery service if they are turned in at the circulation desk at the Winchester library before the due date. Many local residents have availed themselves of the privilege of a free card at Boston Public Library, a service also made possible through Winchester's affiliation with the regional system.

The heart and blood vessel diseases now claim the lives of more than 1,000,000 Americans yearly, being responsible for about 53 percent of all deaths.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Bible Lesson-Sermon Sunday at Christian Science church services.
One of the Scriptural verses is from Psalm: "In the multitude of my thoughts within me, thy comforts delight my soul."
A related passage to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Unless the harmony and immortality of man are becoming more apparent, we are not gaining the true idea of God; and the body will reflect what governs it, whether it be truth or error. Therefore acquaint now thyself with Him, and be at peace."

Local Troops Participated In Mall Expo

At the recent Girl Scout Expo held at the Burlington Mall, Cadette Troop 703 won second prize in one of four fashion shows. Each girl made and modeled her own outfit.
Girls of 703 taking part were: Mary Ellen Babin, Mary Ellen Bronagan, Ann Coughlin, Kathy Cronberg, Kathy Dorsey, Heidi German, Susan Landry, Michelle Mandeville, Carol McElhinney, Nancy McHugh, Claire Murphy, Ann Nadeau and Kathy Noble.
At the same Expo, Junior Troop 492 displayed many of their activities of the past year centered around hospitality and the home. The girls demonstrated cooking, made place mats, designed centerpieces and set a table at which they served coffee and cookies to their mothers.

HOUSEBREAK

The Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 in October of 1970 for the project "Comprehensive Attacks on Auto Theft and Burglary." In connection with this heightened focus on burglary, the Department will present "Housebreak," a column suggesting ways in which Winchester residents may assist these efforts against crime in weeks to come through the pages of The Star. Look for it.

Keep all lights outside your house on as a deterrent to unwanted persons. Consider purchasing an automatic timer to regulate specific lights in your home and put it into operation each day, even when you are present. Let it do the work for you.

If you see a vehicle parked in shadows by your property, especially if it remains for any length of time or seems to attract unusual activity, keep it under surveillance, then call the police station. Don't turn lights on and off, allowing yourself to be seen. Try to record the registration number in case the vehicle leaves.

Officers for 1971-1972 from the Winchester public schools include Treasurer, Miss Paula Caffrey, principal of Noonan School; Corresponding Membership, Miss Muriel McTeague, reading specialist, McCall Junior High; and Past President-Consultant, Mrs. Edna P. Smith, reading specialist for Winchester.

Assisting officers of the Council with registration and hospitality were Ellen Cummings, grade 1 teacher, and Maryalice Norris, Lori Bratzler, and Edith Riccio, all grade 3 teachers, all in Noonan School.

A welcome was extended by Dr. Donald A. Klemmer, superintendent of schools, followed by a musical interlude provided by the Girls Double Sextette of the Senior High School, directed by Wendell Withington, director of music in the public schools.

The First Annual Reading Teacher of the Year Award for 1971 was given to Mrs. Smith. Those interested in applying for this award for 1972 should be members in good standing in both the Middlesex Council and the International Reading Association. A listing of their activities and interesting work in reading should be included.

Guest speaker was George N. Moore, lecturer of the Curriculum center, Wellesley public schools, and lecturer for Institute for Differential Instruction, Newton Lower Falls. He addressed the group on "Providing for learning differences in reading." Free materials were distributed to the audience with a workshop-type of explanation as to how these materials could be applied by the teacher in the classroom.

The new reading laboratory opened in January, 1971, at Lynch Junior High was inspected by the audience under the guidance of Director Mrs. Marion Niblock, reading specialist at Lynch.

Lawrence— McDonald

At a 12:30 ceremony on Saturday, May 1, in the Immaculate Conception Church, Miss Marie Louise McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McDonald of 79 Wendell Street, became the bride of Peter D. Lawrence, son of Mrs. Sherman Rockwell of Narragansett, Rhode Island, and the late Henry Lawrence.

MRS. PETER D. LAWRENCE

The Rev. Bernard Herlihy officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception followed at the King's Grant, Danvers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Edwardian gown of light ivory English net with a fitted bodice applied with motifs of Alencon lace and seed pearls. A veil of silk illusion was arranged from a matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis, accented by baby's breath and delphinium blossoms.

Mrs. Ronald Riley of Woburn was matron of honor. She selected a gown of navy blue voile with a white bib front and cuffs and a white picture hat. Her bouquet was composed of blue daisies, pale blue delphiniums, bachelor buttons, and baby's breath.

Similarly gowned and holding blue daisies, delphiniums, and baby's breath, the bridesmaids were Miss Sheila McDade of Watertown and Miss Martha Stoney of Stoneham.

James McDonald of Winchester, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers included John McDonald of Winchester, brother of the bride; Alan Doane of Waltham, cousin of the bridegroom; Michael Caruso of Winchester; and James Rose of Medford.

Attending the guest book was Mrs. Richard Skellett of Dorchester.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and Addison Gilbert Hospital School of Nursing, Gloucester. She was formerly on the staff of the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. Lawrence, a graduate of Woburn High School and East Coast Aero Technical School, is currently employed by Eastern Airlines.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple is residing in Long Island, New York.

Visiting Nurses Finish Season's Board Meetings

The May Board Meeting of the Winchester Visiting Nurses Association was held at the home of Mrs. Ronald Stillman of 4 Lakeview Road on May 14. Guest speaker, Mrs. Mary Jane Anderson, spoke on "Predicting and Preventing the Problems of Pre-School Children."

Mrs. Anderson has been director of the Unitarian Cooperative Nursery School for the past three years. She is a graduate of the Elliott Pearson School at Tufts University.

Predicting future problems and preventing them is one of the advantages of a nursery school, she stated. It is an educational experience for both parent and child to be a part of a cooperative school. Problems to overcome are "school phobia," exhibited by a few children, and the natural aggressiveness of the four-year-old. Shyness, compulsive talking, articulation, and toilet habits are a few of the problems of which the nursery school teacher must be aware.

The Visiting Nurse Office will move from 14 Fairmount Street to 17 Maple Road on May 25. ENKA has generously contributed money for lighting fixtures at each nurse's desk in the new office.

Home visits by the nursing staff decreased in March and April from the same months in 1970.

Mrs. Ellis Green, vice-president of the Visiting Nurses Association, is chairman of the hospitality committee that provided the luncheon for the meeting.

This May meeting is the last board meeting of the season for the Association.

Hospitals rank as the third largest employer in the United States. More than two and a half million Americans are employed in hospitals.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

One of the serious points to consider when borrowing on your life insurance policy is to look at the picture should you die before repaying the loan.

Naturally, the amount still owed the insurance company would be deducted from the sum paid your beneficiary — which all adds up to less insurance. The more cash value you tie up as loan collateral, the less there is for emergencies.

Your life insurance policy is a very valuable asset to the overall programming of your home life.

Don't borrow on your life insurance policy because it is easy and inexpensive. Borrow when the need seems right smack in the face and there is no other way out.

Watch Next Week for . . .

Local Persons Planning Dinner

Three Winchester residents are members of the committee for the Sheriff John J. Buckley Dinner to be held on Saturday, May 22, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel, Boston. They are Cynthia L. Barone, Michael Howland, and Joseph Albani.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

There are three types of depreciation which might affect the value of a property.

(1) Physical depreciation: wear and tear or action of the weather.
(2) Functional depreciation or obsolescence: this might be the result of a poor floor plan or inadequate space.

(3) Economic depreciation: result of run down neighborhood, poor police protection, and other forces outside of the property itself.

Each of these factors should be easily discernable. They serve as a signal that you should give extra consideration before possibly buying such a property. Don't hesitate to ask us for advice concerning the likely future outcome of such a purchase. We may be aware of property potential that you had not considered.

If you are interested in buying property for depreciation purposes, be sure it is not too old to be of tax benefit.

"Two By Fours" Are In Demand

Polyphonic Patchworks — a new kind of disease? No, it is the Concord Area Music Schools Association's newest contribution to the enrichment of music participation and appreciation in the community.

Following a standing room only folk-rock concert of late April, CAMSA and the Friends of the Library are bringing the popular singing group, the "Two By Fours," to the Concord Library in a free concert at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, May 23.

This colorful group of 11 singers is composed of business and professional men of the Greater Boston community who have been singing together for over 15 years. Theirs is a happy mixture of modern close harmonies, spirituals, shanties, folk songs and traditional collegiate and glee club types of music.

Featured with this group are Thomas Worthen of 56 Oxford Street, Edward Crabtree of 7 Rislley Road, Herbert Bixler of 31 Fells Road and William Jeffery of 5 Cliff Street.

The group recently returned from an outstanding performance in the nation's capital when it appeared at the annual Spring Sing held in the Potomac School in near-by MacLean, Virginia.

The group will shortly be taking part in the Channel 2 auction when their services will be sold to the highest bidder.

Winchester High Nine Splits League Games

by John F. Parrell

The best possible description of this year's Winchester baseball team can be found in a paraphrase of the old nursery rhyme: "When they are good, they are very, very good, but when they are bad . . .!" This was never more clearly shown than during the past week when they played fine ball to whip Concord-Carlisle by 7-2 and Wakefield by 6-3, and then in two barrages of errors they were whipped by the leading teams, Belmont and Reading. Through their first six games they made only a total of eight errors. They equaled this total in the Belmont game and surpassed it in handing the victory to Reading.

Ed Fitzgerald, winning pitcher over Concord and Wakefield, has apparently rounded into fine condition. However, he suffered a muscle pull late in the Wakefield game and was forced out of action. Coach Bill Colella hopes that the injury is only temporary and that Ed will be available for the important games which lie ahead over the next two weeks.

However, every dark cloud has a silver lining and with his staff in shaky condition the coach was forced to call upon Larry Penta for the Reading assignment. Larry was the victim of gross non-support as he stifled the Reading bats with only three hits over 5 1/3 frames and the visitors tallied a pair of unearned runs. It was a spectacular performance for the youngster who deserved a far better fate.

Steve Devaney came on in relief and his control was off but errors compounded with more errors made the triumph by the league leaders an easy one in the end. It was quite a ball game for the first five innings, but in the interest of mercy the description of the final innings must be omitted.

Winchester was held hitless for five innings by Dean Koulouris, who duelled Penta head and head but lost his no-hitter on singles by Tom James in the sixth and Dean Koulouris in the final inning.

Sachem bats which have been rather quiet so far this season rang out for 11 base hits against Concord as they went on to pile up their 7-2 margin. This was against a Patriot team which lost seven of its first nine games by one run, Bob Salucci, with two triples, Ben Dolan with a double and a pair of singles, and Dana Peterson, who chipped in two singles, were the backbone of the Winchester attack. Concord batters garnered seven hits off Fitzgerald, but when they threatened in the seventh he fanned two of the last three hitters to preserve the victory.

The Belmont game was far closer than the 12-6 count indicates, with five runs for the visitors in the seventh inning and nine of their dozen classified as unearned. Belmont hopped off to a three run start with a pair of walks, two throwing errors, and a single by Bill Ruane accounting for the runs. Winchester had only three hits and it required some shaky baseball by the visitors to help in the Sachem scoring. Between them John McEvoy and Ralph Sabatino, who pitched for Belmont gave 14 bingles were doubles by Bob Carroll and Bob Wolfe.

Larry Penta started the game and was relieved by Dana Peterson in the third. The latter did not last long and eventually Steve Devaney and Steve Mulloy came on to be the sacrificial victims of the seventh inning blast by the visitors, with three errors contributing to the five run total, only one of which was earned.

The Wakefield game was a much happier affair as Fitzgerald was master of the situation until he began to suffer pain and was relieved by Steve Mulloy, who finished the game. The Indian batters mustered seven hits to only one more for Winchester. However, three of the Sachem hits came together and built a four run inning and that was the difference between the teams. John Procopio and Lamy of Wakefield each had a pair of hits to pace the attack for their teams.

WHS Track Team Drops Two Of Its League Meets

by John F. Parrell

The Winchester High School track team dropped two league meets to power-laden Stoneham and Wakefield with limited numbers still playing a prominent role in the setbacks. Those who are representing the Sachems have been giving their all and have shown marked improvement. However, with 14 events to be run it is difficult to have a winning team without sufficient competitors in each of them.

In the Middlesex League meet held at Stoneham Saturday the only Winchester scorers were Bruce Hill and Chip Emery. Hill garnered second place in his high hurdles specialty and Emery threw the discus 130 feet, 11 inches to take third honors.

The team fared far better against Stoneham's talented Spartans than was expected, with the final tally being 78-54. There was a great improvement in the short running events as the locals picked up second place in the 100, 220, and 440-yard dashes and Tartarian copped the half mile event. Emery and Hill were double winners for Winchester. The teams split the first places exactly even. Cody was a double winner for Stoneham as he took both sprint events.

Against Wakefield the locals did not fare quite as well, with the speedsters from that school prevailing by 89-42. Fahey was the big gun for the visitors as he won three events, the long jump, and the 100 and 220 dashes. Hill and Emery each hung up eight points for the Sachems with a first and a second place.

Swim Club Adds New Lifeguard

Ed Porter of Mayflower Road, personnel director of the Winchester Swim Club, and Al Mulcahy, pool manager, announce confirmation of acceptance of appointments of Bob Hinkley, Miss Linda Boesch, and Steve Meltz to the club staff for the summer season.

A new lifeguard to the club will be Miss Boesch of Church Street. Miss Boesch, who has her water safety instructor's certificate and who was a lifeguard at the Winchester Town Pool last year, is completing her sophomore year at the University of Massachusetts.

Returning as lifeguard for another season are Bob Hinkley and Steve Meltz. Both have water safety instructor's certificates. They recently completed an outstanding swimming team season for the Lexington High School swim team. Completing their senior year at Lexington High, they were co-captains of the swim team which won the Eastern Massachusetts swimming championship this year.

Hank Twitchell has advised Pool Manager Mulcahy that extensive planning and preparations and progress made by work crews this spring will enable the club to open the pool on the first weekend of June, weather permitting. Mr. Twitchell added that new rules and regulations established over the winter should broaden the use of the pool by members.

Persons interested in information or membership may contact James Beck of 1 Ivy Circle or call 729-5314.

Lacrosse Team Scores Three More Victories

by John F. Parrell

The Sachem stickmen continued their winning ways as they ran their winning skein to ten consecutive victories by downing Concord, the Andover Academy JV team, and Beverly in action last week. The scores were Winchester 13, Concord 6; Winchester 9-Andover JV 0; and Winchester 10, Beverly 4. With only five games left on the schedule it would take a major upset to keep them from copping the high school championship of eastern Massachusetts for the second consecutive season. Should they repeat their success of last year the state title will ride on the result of the game to be played at Longmeadow on June 5 with the defending titlists from western Massachusetts.

In last week's games Winchester maintained a lead over the opposition and were never threatened except in the Beverly game. The visitors from the North Shore showed some fine goal tending and held a 2-1 lead in the second period before the Sachems started to get rolling. It was the only time so far this season that Winchester has trailed against high school opposition. However, the local team settled down to play their usual steady game and pulled away from the Beverly team.

Against Concord Gary Fincke was the leading scorer as he chalked up three goals and a like number of assists. Chris Osgood had a pair of goals and also assisted twice. Double goal scorers included: Larry Knowlton, George Evans, and John Thomas. Bill Logan was credited with a goal and two assists. Captain Phil Sampson rounded out the scoring with a single goal.

At Andover the academy boys dominated the play in the early stages, but excellent goal tending by Rick Murphy thwarted every offensive move. The Sachem offense was slow in getting underway but after Larry Knowlton tallied at 4:18 of the first period it improved with the progress of the game, and the Winchester team kept popping in goals to build and eventual 9-0 edge. The local players felt that they had not played their best game, but the final result was never in doubt once they found the scoring range. The Winchester scorers were:

|----------------|---|---|
| Gary Fincke | 2 | 4 |
| Phil Sampson | 2 | 0 |
| Bill Logan | 2 | 0 |
| Larry Knowlton | 1 | 0 |
| John Thomas | 1 | 0 |
| Phil Tavares | 1 | 0 |
| Chris Osgood | 0 | 1 |
| Greg Sacca | 0 | 1 |

Late in the second period the Sachems got moving against Beverly and moved into a 3-2 half time lead. The third period saw a barrage of Winchester scoring as they pushed five goals past the Beverly net.

Bus To Longmeadow

Tentative plans have been made to have a bus for Saturday, June 5, to attend the State Lacrosse Final between Longmeadow and Winchester. The bus seats 50 people, and 10 seats are already taken.

Anyone interested in attending the game should contact Nick Troiano at 729-0928. The cost will be $5 per person on a first-come, first-served basis.

The bus will be hired only if sufficient people sign up. Don't miss this game, it promises to be a tremendous contest.

Conservation Aided By Cubs' Planting Chore

XEROX COPIES
STAR OFFICE

Cub Scouts of Den 6, Pack 510, of the Muraco School completed a conservation project recently to earn each a wolf badge.

Taking part in planting two azalea bushes in the courtyard at the school were Jay McKinley, Tim Riordan, Thomas Norton, David Cataldo, Gary Greco, and Jim Flaherty.

Funds to purchase the plantings were raised by the den during the winter. Assisting the Cubs in choosing the azalea bushes was Paul Mahoney of Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm and Nursery, who donated a second bush for the boys to add to their landscaping project.

Mrs. Lorrie Norton and Mrs. Virginia McKinley are the mothers for Den 6.

To weed without feeding...

All it takes is an easy spreader application of KANSEL. It provides the same positive weed control as Scotts PLUS-2—without the fertilizing. So if dandelions, clover and similar weeds are a growing concern, but your lawn doesn't need fertilizing, spread KANSEL now. It will take care of the weeds before they can crowd out any more good grass.

Music Club Concludes Meetings

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Schell, 19 Wedgemere Avenue provided the gracious background for the final meeting of the Winchester Music Club on May 9. The program, planned by Mrs. Huihertha Lewin and directed by mistress of Ceremonies Jane Thompson, provided a full evening of piano and instrumental music.

The last meeting of the year is attended by many sixth grade private music students invited as guests in anticipation of their becoming members as seventh graders in the fall season.

Of particular interest was the announcement of the founding of a Winchester Music Club Scholarship to be administered through the Winchester Scholarship Foundation. The funding of the scholarship was possible through the presentation of two public concerts in recent years and by the support of many music lovers in Winchester.

The evening's program provided an unusual variety of musical experiences for the performers and audience. The first number was a duet by Kalliwoda for violin ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Doris Thomas. Violinists were: Michael Cammarata, Erin Daugherty, Lise De Natale, Lynne Di Rocco, Linda Feldmann, Janet Ferrera, Vernon Fritch, Alexandra Kincaid, and Caroline Mooney.

Piano solos were played by: Christine Fopiano, "At Evening," Wright; Nancy Errico, "Spring Song," Grieg; Monique Phinney, "Solfeggietto," Bach; John Bishop, "Fantasia and Fuge," Bach; Tom Stevens, "Prelude," Debussy; Sandy Groll, "Sunken Cathedral," Debussy; Laura Lee Down, "Etude," Chopin; Piano duet, "March Heroique," Chopin, played by Hope Stavros and Alice Schell; and "In the Merry Month of May," Merkel, performed by Christine Chan.

Colette Hodas accompanied by Patricia Cruyse played Handel's "Sonata No. 4 for Flute and Piano." Mrs. Barbara Demsey accompanied Kathy Levinson in the second movement of Handel's "Sonata No. 4 for Violin." Bruce Blomberg in the "Suite for Clarinet" by Telemann; and Peter Reynolds playing "Scene and Air for Clarinet" by Bergson.

Music teachers represented in the program were: Edith Bolster, Carol Feleke, Ruth Hayden, Albert Horn, Edward Mitchell, Doris Thomas and John Willis.

Performing guest artists for the evening were members of The Great Grape Group, prepared by Robert White. The group consists of students from Lynch Junior High School who are developing an ensemble for popular music. Members are piano, Alice Schell; flutes, Cindy Jones, Rosilyn Gosse; clarinets, Tom Jones and Jim Votaw; trombone, Allan Krusell; and trumpets, Daniel Holmes and Bobby White. Their program offered "Spinning Wheel," "Aquarius," and "Windy."

Special honor was given to two Music Club members who are graduating after six years of membership and active participation, Jane Thompson and Douglas DeNatale. A gift was presented to each by Mrs. Thomas, violin teacher for the two students.

After-meeting fare was provided by Mrs. DeNatale and Mrs. Hodas.

All present at the meeting, which completed one of the busiest years enjoyed by the Music Club, were urged to attend the third annual Student Concert Sunday, May 23, in Metcalf Hall. Sponsored by the Winchester Music Club, it will present members in performance.

Housing Group Leaders Attend All-Day Program

Mrs. Mary E. Murphy, chairman of the Winchester Housing Authority, and John L. Doherty, vice-chairman, attended an all-day workshop on housing programs Wednesday, May 12. The Metropolitan Area Planning Council sponsored the program, which was held in Waltham.

The Council was created by the Massachusetts State Legislature in 1963 as the official regional planning agency for the Boston metropolitan area.

Many speakers addressed Housing Authority officials present. Also attending were representatives of the Massachusetts Department of Community Affairs, and the Federal Housing and Urban Development Department.

Following each of the panel presentations, discussions from the floor took place.

Many Car Excise Bills In Error, Assessors State

The Collector's and Assessors' offices at Town Hall have been "flooded" with calls from residents who have received erroneous automobile excise bills, the offices revealed in a joint statement this week. Errors in many of the more than 10,000 bills received here from the Commonwealth are due to a computer changeover, the statement said.

The explanation of the problem, signed by Chairman Windsor S. Carpenter of the Board of Assessors, and Miss Marguerite H. Troop, Collector-Treasurer, stated:

"This past week, the Town received from the State over 10,000 excise bills to mail to local residents. Due to the State change over from a computer in Texas to one in Massachusetts, they now find many of the bills are in error.

Registration Opens Tuesday For Summer School Sessions

Summer School brochures, including registration forms, are expected to be available to the public on Tuesday, June 1. The delay experienced this year has been due to the tentative cuts in the School Department budget.

Two registration forms will be enclosed, one for Lesley School programs, the other for Winchester classes only. Response to each of these programs will govern the actual offering this summer.

The public is urged to read course descriptions carefully in order to choose the proper instruction for each student.

An expansion of the Lesley program is anticipated this year. Two laboratory schools to be conducted at Vinson-Owen and Washington Schools offer identical enrichment curricula. The purpose for scheduling two such schools is to trim transportation problems of summer school participants in half. Almost all children will now be able to walk to the nearest laboratory school.

Also under the Lesley division will be a kindergarten readiness program for children entering kindergarten this fall. Information regarding this curriculum will be forwarded to all parents of children already enrolled for this fall.

The third Lesley phase is a learning disabilities program to be held in Lincoln School.

Regular Winchester remedial and developmental reading courses will be taught in Lincoln School, while all secondary school classes will be held at McCall Junior High School as usual.

After reading course descriptions and procedures for entering summer school, parents may obtain additional information from Frederick J. Murray, summer school director, 15 High Street.

Registration opens Tuesday, June 1, for the summer sessions which will run for a six-week period from July 6 to August 13, inclusive of all programs.

There will be no delivery of mail by carriers, and there will be no window or lock box service on Monday, as the post office will be closed.

Mail collections will be limited to a regular holiday schedule, with collections being made from the boxes in front of the post office and the boxes on the adjacent island, at 3 p.m. Monday.

Post Office To Be Closed

Postmaster Charles R. Hill announces that the Winchester Post Office will be closed on Monday, May 31, in observance of Memorial Day, which falls on Sunday.

There will be no delivery of mail by carriers, and there will be no window or lock box service on Monday, as the post office will be closed.

Mail collections will be limited to a regular holiday schedule, with collections being made from the boxes in front of the post office and the boxes on the adjacent island, at 3 p.m. Monday.

Offset Section Is Star's First

An eight-page offset section of the Star this week gives readers a preview of what's ahead in production for Winchester's community newspaper.

The section is produced by the offset method. Other sections of the newspaper are printed by the letterpress process. Eventually, the Star will use offset exclusively.

One advantage of offset is its ability to reproduce photographs and other pictorial material with a clarity difficult to achieve through letterpress under normal newspaper printing operations.

The main reason for printing the offset section this week is to present a detailed reproduction of the proposed Zoning Map in cooperation with the Planning Board. This map shows the changes that have been made since the by-law proposal was first published earlier this year.

The map covers two full pages and is considerably easier to read than the map printed letterpress this winter. It shows how the town will be zoned if the new by-law is enacted by the Special Town Meeting on June 16.

The nationwide trend toward conversion from letterpress to offset has accelerated during recent years. The American Press, a national trade publication, reported in April that 64 percent of the country's more than 8,000 newspapers are now printed offset. In 1961, the magazine stated, only four percent were offset.

Selectmen Set Guidelines For Club Liquor Licenses

Proposed operating hours, police recommendations, and license application procedures were discussed by the Selectmen this week with representatives of organizations belonging to the United Clubs of Winchester. The hearing was the first step in preparations to issue liquor licenses to club applicants.

The town does not intend to profit from license fees, but only to cover its costs, Chairman John J. Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen explained. Commonwealth laws permit fees to range from $100 to $2,500, he noted. Stoneham and Woburn charge the minimum, he pointed out. Winchester will likely set fees close to the minimum, he predicted.

One Tuesday evening will be probably set aside for public hearings on all applications, Chairman Sullivan declared, rather than considering them at one of the weekly Monday evening meetings.

Attorney William J. Speers Jr., representing the Winchester Country Club, explained that the club will not apply for a license now. Its clubhouse is located in Arlington, he pointed out, although two-thirds of the club's land is in Winchester. Arlington does not plan to have a special referendum on the club liquor question, he added.

"If Arlington should turn this down and if I can find any justification for applying in Winchester, we'll come back," he said.

Recommendations for clubs by Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler were presented by Lieutenant Andrew Crawford. Many of Chief Bowler's suggestions were based on Chapter 138, Section 12, of the Commonwealth's General Laws.

Liquor sales would not be permitted between 2 and 6 a.m. Chief Bowler suggested a 12 midnight normal closing time, with 1 a.m. permitted for New Year's Eve, or special occasions for which permission was obtained from the Selectmen.

While the normal opening time recommended by Chief Bowler was 11 a.m., on Sundays and on Christmas Day, the clubs would not serve liquor until 2 p.m.

Roland Twombly, representing United Clubs of Winchester, said that a 12 midnight curfew was "a little short." He suggested 1 a.m. as a closing hour and 1 p.m. as a beginning hour for Sunday liquor sales. He also asked that a later closing hour than 1 a.m. be provided for on New Year's Day.

Liquor sales would be limited to members and to guests introduced by club members. Sales of packaged liquors by the clubs would be illegal.

Center Plan Out

An article calling for preliminary steps toward adoption of the Winchester Center Plan was removed from the warrant for the coming Special Town Meeting by the Selectmen. The Planning Board had requested the deletion. Seven articles remain on the warrant signed by the Selectmen.

Facing action at the meeting Wednesday evening, June 16, will be these articles:

One—Proposed Zoning By-Law.

Two—Building Law amendments in conjunction with the proposed Zoning By-Law.

Three—Funds for administration of the proposed Zoning By-Law.

Four—Funds for resurfacing and repairing streets and sidewalks.

Five—Funds for Forest Street maintenance and construction.

Six—Funds for Water and Sewer Board truck.

Seven—Report of the Committee on Names on choice of name for the High Street School.

Part of Main Street would have been temporarily closed under the Center Plan article dropped from the warrant. This would have been an initial step in an attempt to revitalize the downtown shopping district.

Noting the removal of the Center Plan article from the warrant for the Special Town Meeting, the Selectmen agreed on several items which they felt should be considered in connection with the proposal. These included:

Documented opinions of affected businesses in the area; criteria for evaluating the success or failure of the plan after implementation; identification of responsibility to continue or discontinue the experiment; details of implementation of plan and cost estimates on such factors as loss of parking meter revenue; plans for emergency, police, and fire vehicles in affected areas; the parking impact when the new Winchester High School is opened; the planners' opinions of which specific present businesses in the center area would benefit and which would suffer under the plan; consideration of other plans which might provide for additional parking space, and the impact of possible rezoning of the center on the plan.

Dr. Niblock Heads CONCERN

Dr. Howard Niblock was elected last week as chairman of CONCERN for the coming year. Dr. Niblock, former principal of the high school and now director of pupil services, succeeds Dr. Donald McLean, who has been chairman of CONCERN for the past two years.

Student Jay Zerwekh and Richard Swanson were elected vice-chairmen of CONCERN, Betsey McDonough was elected treasurer. Mrs. John Bradley of 11 Lawrence Street, was re-elected secretary.

A. Paul Forgetta, junior high school guidance counselor, gave a report from the committee on recreational needs. Mr. Forgetta and students Holly James and Mark Hennessey made the initial study on recreation. Members of CONCERN enlarged the committee to explore the findings of the committee.

School Committee Approves Guidance Head, Reworks Budget

The Winchester School Committee while carrying out routine personnel matters at its Monday night session, May 24, approved the position of guidance head for grades 10 through 12. Efforts will now be made to fill this job vacancy which was reworked from the current 7-12 post.

Members continued to manipulate figures in the personal services, other expenses, and capital outlay accounts in a further attempt to meet the reduced budget set by the 1971 Annual Town Meeting. A review of the School-to-School program was also presented.

Guidance Head

The position of guidance head for grades 10 to 12 will replace the present job which encompasses grades seven to 12. The motion was passed by the School Committee with one dissenting vote. The current position will be left vacant when Thomas P. Budrewicz takes over the duties of assistant principal of the new high school.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald A. Klemer explained the position recommended by himself, Director of Pupil Services W. Howard Niblock, Assistant Superintendent of Personnel Henry B. Perry, and other administrators as an "end point for a college preparatory school system."

A 43-week-per-year job, it will be subject to an eight per cent position ratio, as opposed to the five per cent for 40 weeks governing regular guidance counselor staff at the Senior High School. The coordinating position will deal with the open campus plan, mini-courses, distribution of information to parents, and guidance in college preparatory and work experience programs. Sixty per cent of Winchester's school population was quoted as entering four-year colleges.

Committeeman Paul R. Del Rossi, who cast the "no" vote on the motion, stated that he would find it "hard to vote in favor" of the 10-12 guidance head when better attention might be directed at the possibility of creating a full-time K-12 position.

As presently arranged four counselors serve the Senior High School, five operate between the junior high schools and four act among the elementary schools. The senior and junior counselors presently report to Mr. Budrewicz, while the elementary counselors consult with the elementary principals who eventually reach Mr. Niblock, with whom Mr. Budrewicz is also in contact. It was to this structure that Mr. Del Rossi referred.

Due to the "volume of activities at the Senior High School" Assistant Superintendent Perry stressed that one person was necessary to handle these matters on a day-to-day basis.

WITH UNDERSTANDING
Acceptance

Today, we must accept as fact that half of the American population has no meaningful association with any church or synagogue. Yet these people are human and seek to express their grief and honor their dead. That they may do so in a dignified manner in accordance with the dictates of their consciences, a contemporary service, which may be described as "humanistic," is evolving. As Funeral Directors, we are called upon to accept, without prejudice, this trend in American life.

"Both the Collector's and Assessors' Offices have been flooded with calls from townspeople who have received erroneous bills. Abatements or corrections must come through the Assessors' office and it will take some time to make these adjustments.

"It would facilitate the work load somewhat if you would return the bill to the Assessors' office with a note of explanation as to why it is in error.

"Neither office has any extra help to take care of the tremendous work load this has put on these departments and we ask your cooperation and understanding as we try to remedy this situation," the statement concluded.

Card Of Thanks

The Gattineri family wants to thank all our loving friends who attended the funeral Mass, for their prayers and for the sincere heartfelt sympathy that they have extended in our time of sorrow.

Open Basins Are Dangers

A Winchester resident has inevitably become the victim of one recent form of destructive pest, the removal of catch basin covers.

Injury to a Rangeley Road resident was limited to "scratches" after he fell into an open basin at Central and Church Streets Friday night, May 21, while walking with his wife.

Investigating the incident Officer Erwin W. Nurnberger Jr. found that the cover had been dropped into the basin, a practice which has been especially prevalent in the West Side area recently. The cover was replaced.

AN IMPORTANT IMPENDING BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

I'm really not sure how it happened. I must have let my emotions run away with me. You see there's this building right next door to Building #19. It's not much to look at but it has nice lines and a friendly appearance. Somehow or other I got involved with it a little while ago, and ignoring Harry's protestations, throwing caution to the winds, I've squandered well over $100,000 (two pints of paint, 136 nails, a little lumber, some paving, 8 light bulbs, and even more) to convert the former Building #18 into a lush, plush retail palace, rivaling (but losing) the Taj Mahal in splendor and beauty. This not-quite-new, not-quite modern showroom will sell (we hope) sporting goods, shoes, yard goods, fabrics, draperies and office furniture. It will be ready (more-or-less) by induced labor this Thursday at 9:00 A.M. (There'll be no ribbon cutting ceremony because Harry refuses to get up that early).

A FEW WORDS ABOUT DIRTY CLUBS

A Chicago manufacturer of "custom built" golf clubs, (names I never heard of) had a rat, a sneaky, sooty, smudgy fire. Since my reputation for dirty golf is well known, the insurance company came to us with some 1000 assorted woods, irons, and putters, and since our reputation for being lazy is equally well known, we decided to sell the lot as is, without cleaning it up. The insurance guys say they are usually $10.00 to $15.00 each. (I have my doubts because all the clubs I tested sliced badly.) Our price, in order to encourage dirty golf, is only $3.30 per club. Here's what's in the lot:

| No. 1 — No. 9 irons | left handed clubs | $3.30 |
| wedges | junior clubs | |
| 2 faced chipping irons | all sorts of putters | |

REFRIGERATORS

At long last received some refrigerators — two lots, one a freight damaged lot (Kelvinators) showing very little damage. The other an insurance lot (Frigidaire), with damage varying from nil to almost total destruction. We've priced them all according to condition — every one at least below dealer cost, every one sold with a satisfaction-or-your-money-back guarantee.

Kitchen Table Thefts Continue

Among recent incidents of breaking and entering, instances have been reported in which forced entry was not required, unlocked doors having provided ready access.

Wednesday morning, May 19, police received two complaints. In each case a pocketbook had been removed from a kitchen table. On Emerson Road the intruder (s) gained a purse containing approximately $60 by jimmying a rear door. On Arlington Street an unlocked front door yielded a pocketbook holding a wallet, credit cards, personal papers, and a checkbook.

The following day, May 20, the loss of a radio and a stereo amplifier was made known. There was no sign of forced entry. A side door was unlocked.

An attempt at entry into a Birch Lane residence was apparently unsuccessful. Jimmy marks were discovered around a rear screen door Sunday morning, May 23.

On Monday, the 24th, a stereo photograph and records could not be located in a Myrtle Street home. Entry was probably gained through an unlocked rear window. A lady's watch was taken from a Swanton Street residence where it is believed a lock was picked.

Occupants of a Bigelow Avenue house informed police that at 9:30 p.m. four unidentified men fled down Johnson Road when the owners surprised them in their home, by putting on the lights. After attempting entry by the front door, the four had success at the rear, but were reported to have taken nothing in their flight.

Bachelor Of Arts To Be Conferred

Among the 525 degrees to be handed out at commencement exercises Sunday, May 30, on the campus of St. Bonaventure University, St. Bonaventure, New York, will be that of John A. LaPointe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. LaPointe of 16 Pierpont Road.

Principal speaker at the graduation will be Bob Hope, comedian and actor, who will receive an honorary doctor's degree.

Vehicles Take Brunt Of Larcenies

A number of larcenies reported to Winchester police during the recent week have been committed predominantly through the entry of motor vehicles.

Ransacking of automobiles parked on Highland Avenue, Church Street, Aberjona Drive, and Shore Valley, Sunset, and Sheffield Roads netted intruders such items as a three-band short wave radio, sunglasses, stereo tape deck, electric razor, and four hubcaps. In one case the canvas roof was slit.

A total of 10 bicycles were said to be missing since last Tuesday from the garages and yards of Grove, Alben, Richardson, and Cambridge Streets and Sylvester and Mystic Avenues residences. A minibike was taken from a West Chardon garage.

Other complaints included the motor from a snow blower on Grove Street, flag from Bigelow Avenue, 17-foot fiberglass canoe from Chesterford East, gas lawnmower from Lincolnshire Way, and a new American flag, five by eight feet, from the Veteran's Memorial Monument.

Counselors Will Conduct College Series

On Thursday, June 3, Winchester High School counselors will conduct a series of college information sessions for juniors and interested parents.

During the day from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in room 301, counselors will be on hand to explain and demonstrate resource materials available in the guidance office and to answer any questions about post-high school planning. Parents are welcome to attend.

The Heart Association, supported by the 1971 Heart Fund Campaign, which is being conducted here throughout February, estimates that more than 27,000,000 Americans suffer from some form of heart and blood vessel disease.

En Ka Parade Prize Awarded Estates Garden

The downpour greeted marchers in this year's En Ka parade on May 22 could not dampen the spirits of some 40 children who guided "The Good Ship Lollipop," prize winning entry of the Winchester Estates Garden Club.

In costumes designed by Mrs. Kimball Sherry and made by the mothers of the marchers, the children handed out lollipops to those who lined the parade route.

The theme song "Good Ship Lollipop" was recorded by the children at the home of Mrs. Douglas Davidson, and was broadcast throughout the parade over sound equipment loaned to the club by Dr. Richard B. Lavrance.

Mrs. Richard Yamamoto was responsible for the design and construction of the boat, and under her direction club members made the gay and colorful candies and lollipops which decorated the float.

Boys who carried the club's banner were Paul Feldmann and Stephen and Jeff Cicio. They were followed by the sound car driven by Vincent George assisted by his son Wayne.

Pulling the ship full of lollipops were Greg Albers, Martin Lele, and Jeff and John Richmond. Crew members who followed behind the ship were: Amy, Susan and Billy Harris; Tannis Redpath; Kerry Connolly; Malcolm Lele; Diane Cannava; Joey Restighini; Lysette Bronwyn; and Gillean Hunt; Amy Maxwell; Brian Conway; Debbie Caley; Chris and Brian Lison; Cheryl Daugherty; Kathy, Christy, and Beth Davidson; Nancy, Carol, David and Michael Anderson; Paul and Jimmy O'Brien; Sharon, Lonnie and Cara Jean Yamamoto; Karen and Jimmy Feldmann; and Judy Center.

Winchester Nun Is Graduate Of Nursing School

The school held its 8th annual commencement at John Hancock Hall in Boston. Sixty-five student nurses were graduated.

Bradley and Co., Incorporated, has been named a trustee and member of the investment committee of the newly-formed Northwestern Mutual Life Mortgage and Realty Investors, a real estate investment trust capitalized at $100 million.

Board Changes Its Meeting Day

The Board of Selectmen will meet at Town Hall at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 1.

Because Memorial Day will be celebrated Monday, May 31, the Selectmen rescheduled their weekly Monday evening meeting to Tuesday.

Secretary Volpe Helps Dedicate College Building

Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, formerly of Winchester, spoke at the dedication of Frank Marcuccella Hall at Franklin Pierce College, Rindge, New Hampshire. The ceremony was held Sunday afternoon, May 23.

Honorary chairman for the dedication, Secretary Volpe, together with Mrs. Frank Marcuccella, unveiled the plaque bearing Mr. Marcuccella's name. Secretary Volpe's interest in Marcuccella Hall stems from his long friendship with the late Mr. Marcuccella, who was president of the John A. Volpe Construction Company at the time of his death in 1966.

Frank Marcuccella Jr. of Winchester was a member of the Dedication Committee.

Construction, begun on Marcuccella Hall last spring, was recently completed. A two-story building, it houses classrooms, laboratories, seminar rooms, and a 100-seat lecture hall, in addition to a greenhouse, faculty offices, and auxiliary services needed for the study of physics, biology, and chemistry. It is equipped with the latest scientific instruments and audio-visual instructional aids. It is the college's seventh major structure.

Editorials:

Our Brother's Keeper—III

Two recent Star editorials have discussed the Massachusetts welfare problem.

"Our Brother's Keeper—I" maintained that welfare was initially planned to be society's means of showing compassion toward the poor, in keeping with moral and ethical principles stemming from Judeo-Christian teachings.

"Our Brother's Keeper—II" related some of the controversy concerning Massachusetts welfare practices. Findings in an audit of welfare system financial records by the office of State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko were published. Complaints from both taxpayers and recipients were mentioned.

What are the thoughts of some others?

"Formerly such welfare recipients as were able-bodied were required to work for what they could earn toward their own existence," recalled the Mansfield News. "Today, it's different; get it, whether or not you are able to be employed."

"Governor John Volpe recommended at $37 million state welfare budget for fiscal 1968, and his total budget was almost precisely what welfare alone will cost the state in fiscal 1972," observed State House Correspondent Wendell H. Woodman of the New England News Service.

"Reducing the agency's budget has accomplished nothing because the agency simply spends its way to a deficiency budget," Mr. Woodman claimed.

"The welfare system had been riddled with incompetence since the state took it over in 1968. The state's welfare budget has multiplied 25 times in that period. It is approaching one billion dollars a year," Mr. Woodman continued.

U. S. News and World Report stated on November 30, 1970, that the number of people on welfare rolls across the nation had climbed to nearly 12.4 million — an increase of more than 2,000,000, or 20 percent in one year, according to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In Massachusetts, the jump was 24 percent, the magazine said.

"In the past five years, welfare costs have doubled to more than 12 billions annually. And the Department of Health, Education and Welfare warns that they could double again in the next five years if steps are not taken to reverse the trend," the publication continued.

In its February 8, 1971, issue, U. S. News & World Report declared, "Demand is building up for a sweeping reform of the nation's welfare system. Reports from financially hard-pressed cities and states show why. Relief rolls are rising, costs are soaring — and taxpayers are complaining."

"By 1975, if present trends continue, more than 16 million people will be on relief, collecting 25 billions in welfare," the article went on.

"Many Governors and mayors regard the soaring costs of the public assistance and medical programs as the most crucial domestic problem in the nation today," the publication continued. "State and local officials say the open-end benefits that are mandated by law under the welfare program are forcing a cutback in other vital services, such as public safety, education, and transportation."

"The job incentive factor has given way to a welfare incentive. Men who are willing to work and want to find work find that they can make as much, if not more money on welfare, with myriad fringe benefits thrown in — medical care, refrigerators, household supplies, you name it," wrote Mr. Woodman.

As of February, 1970, 15.3 percent of Boston's population was collecting relief payments, according to U. S. News & World Report.

Dr. W. A. Leavell, a newspaper columnist, said that in 1947, New York City had only one person out of 32 on relief.

"Today, one out of seven people living in New York City is on relief," notes Dr. Leavell.

How about solutions to the welfare problem?

"Instead of pumping more dollars into welfare, into the dole, why not spend some of that money to create high paying jobs and train the poor to fill these jobs?" asked Dr. Leavell.

"In addition to tightening expenditures; prosecuting those who obtained money unlawfully; eliminating workers who allowed abuses; the law should be amended so that those legitimately on welfare should be allowed to retain any money they earn," suggested the Melrose Free Press. "At present, there is no incentive for the ambitious — no opportunity to upgrade living for themselves or their children. Consequently, they take the easy way — do nothing and remain on welfare permanently."

Massachusetts Public Welfare Commissioner Steven Minter, addressing a public meeting of the Winchester League of Women Voters at the Unitarian Church Monday evening May 17, suggested that a nationally administered program of assistance with uniform standards would produce more equitable results.

Vernon Stinzi, former Administrator on Welfare in Pierce County, Washington, commented in the November 30, 1970, issue of U. S. News & World Report: "The need is for more emphasis on early education and skill training to keep people from ever getting on welfare, rather than only trying to remove them from the rolls by training them after they are already receiving public assistance."

"Money relieves the pain for a day, but true warmth, compassion, and a desire to help others can provide the means for permanent rehabilitation. Only people can solve the problems of the poor," Mr. Stinzi concluded.

Says Defacement Hurts Memory Of Mr. Manchester

Editor of the Star:

I refer to Mr. Ryerson's photograph of the Manchester Field Memorial Plaque and Boulder appearing in your issue of May 13, 1971, over the caption "Defacement was evident at Manchester Field recently" — an instance of current vandalism which has shocked many Winchester people of all ages. What a way to "honor and respect" the memory and achievements of one of Winchester's most dedicated public servants!

How easy it is to forget the strivings of these public-spirited men of an earlier day who, often with scant support and from small beginnings, laid the foundations of the Winchester we now know. Such a man was Forest Manchester, and one wonders if the perpetrators, before daubing paint across his name on the bronze plaque and smearing their own names and symbols over the boulder itself (John, Dave, Tex, Jim to mention a few), had read the inscription on the plaque, would they still have proceeded to deface? Hopefully, no. The inscription reads:

MANCHESTER FIELD
Named in Memory of Forest Clyde Manchester
1859-1899

Winchester Town Counsel
Member Massachusetts Legislature
Member Metropolitan Park Commission

He was instrumental in making Manchester Field a Public Park. A Loyal Benefactor of this Town. A man of Vision and Sacrificial Spirit, a Lover of Children and of Nature.

"I have Lived only for the Right!" A reflective account, set down some years later by a contemporary of Mr. Manchester, records how Manchester Field came into being: "In the final years of that century, one of the most important pieces of work having to do with the growth and development of Winchester was the clearing up of what is now Manchester Field and making it into a fine playground. This field then consisted of a railroad freight yard, lumber and coal yards, tumble-down shacks, pig pens, and outhouses — all in the center of town. One going there today could hardly imagine the conditions that existed there at the time."

"In addition to the most desirable extinction of a disgraceful looking area, it was essential that the Town gain control of it so that the Metropolitan Commission might locate the Mystic Valley Parkway where it is now. Forest C. Manchester headed a group of other leading citizens to deal with the problem. Without going into details, Mr. Manchester personally contacted and enlisted the support of the Metropolitan District Commission (then called the Metropolitan Parks Commission), the city of Boston (owner of water rights in the vicinity), both houses of the Massachusetts Legislature, and the Governor.

"It soon developed that, in the first place, the Boston and Maine railroad yard had to be moved. The Railroad agreed to move, and land was obtained for them above Swanton Street. Once they had vacated the rest of Manchester Field, as it then existed, could be bought for $75,000, a very large sum at that time — and no small sum now, for that matter. This was brought up at Town Meeting.

"Mr. Manchester and others spoke for it, but the motion was lost. An adjournment for a week was secured.

"A postcard was prepared by Mr. Manchester and his Committee and mailed to each voter in town, urging him to be at the next meeting. The result was that the Town Hall was packed full. The case was re-discussed, and the motion to purchase the Manchester Field area was carried by an overwhelming majority. With the location of the Parkway determined, the clearing up of this land assured a new Winchester."

While intervening years to the present have brought realignments in the area the better to serve the growing Town, Manchester Field remains very much a part of that "new Winchester" of which it became so principal an architect.

College Student Answers Letter On Youth Events

Editor of the Star:

Having read Mr. Joyce's letter of May 13, I feel compelled to answer in order to clarify many of the issues that he has raised.

In reviewing the history of the Winchester Youth Organization founded by Paul Eaton in 1967, it is important to remember the exact contractual terms of the constitution. According to the charter, the organization would be strictly student run and supported. In this way, the students would gain pride and experience in raising funds independently through various activities and in governing their own center.

As Chairman of the Finance Committee under Mr. Joyce's presidency in 1968-69, I was concerned with raising the $8,000 annual operating costs.

At the end of the year, there were adequate funds to maintain the center well into the next year. The fact that the center did not continue to operate was due to lack of interest on the part of students. After all, no new board was elected when the '69 seniors graduated and left for college. In addition, the dues paying membership had declined to only 200.

From these figures, it would have been absurd for the Recreation Department to assume an $8,000 annual burden. In addition, it seems hard to believe that Mr. Joyce represents the "youth of Winchester" on the basis of 200 members of a now defunct organization.

As the "representative of youth" Mr. Joyce asserts that the Recreation Department has done nothing for the youth of the town of Winchester.

At the same time, as an employee of that department for the past two summers, I have seen continual improvements and additions to the Recreation program.

The public beaches serve approximately 6,000 people a summer, with more than 800 enrolled in swimming lessons. The past few years have seen the introduction of a program for the mentally retarded, a hockey rink, judo, weight lifting, and a flag football league as well as the expansion of tennis lessons. Despite all these programs, Mr. Joyce presented a motion to the Town Meeting in March to cut the Recreation Budget.

Finally, in turning to the Recreation Committee selections, I have worked under Chairman John Sexton for two years and found him fair, capable, and definitely concerned about the "youth of Winchester."

Therefore, I am certain that Mr. Joyce's rejection was not based on age discrimination. Rather it expressed reservations about the applicant's "maturity and qualifications" as the Recreation Committee memorandum to the Selectmen stated.

Facts Exchange Aided By Grant, Reader Observes

Editor of the Star:

On my return from Hawaii and Australia, I noted an item about my trip in the Winchester Star of April 8, 1971. In addition I had received letters from Senator Brooke and Congressman Macdonald congratulating me on my appointment.

Perhaps I can be permitted to clarify and extend the second and third paragraphs of your article. Fullbright grants are usually fellowships, for study abroad, or Lecturerships, for combined study and teaching. Both of these are usually for a year.

In addition, there are Distinguished Visitorships, for shorter stays, with the Visitor giving technical and popular lectures at the visited universities, in addition to consultation with leading local professionals and public authorities. These Visitorships are initiated by action of the country visited.

I was granted a Distinguished Visitorship to Australia, at the request of three Australian universities, and, on the way, I took advantage of a standing offer to visit the University of Hawaii. This is the second such award I have been granted; the other was to Mexico in 1962.

The latest trip was quite rewarding. I visited the Universities of Adelaide, Melbourne, Canberra and Sydney, consulting with faculty and graduate students in several departments of each and with public officials and consultants connected with urban planning, water resources, computer data processing, and libraries, discussing applications of my work in these various fields.

I gave a total of 15 lectures on mathematical physics, underwater acoustics, and operations research as applied to libraries and to public affairs in general. In addition to driving more than a thousand miles through the country outside the cities, I chaired a meeting of a professional society, met with officers of several other societies, and discussed library computerization with the staff of the Australian National Library and with the Librarian of the Australian Army Supply Department's information center. The meetings were, I believe, mutually informative.

During my visit to Hawaii, in addition to exploring three of the islands and giving five lectures, I conferred with researchers in physics, acoustics, physical oceanography, urban planning, and library science.

The Fulbright-Hays Act, in my case, has made possible an interchange of the latest information in several fields of research which are developing rapidly in both countries. This interchange could not otherwise have occurred.

Reader's Dream Is Town Museum, Opening In 1980

Editor of the Star:

Dateline: 1980.

The opening of the Winchester Museum was attended by well over 800 residents last Tuesday. Selections dedicated the building in a brief ceremony, acknowledging the instrumental positions of the offices of Town Engineer, Water and Sewer Board, Planning Board, and Public Schools in making the exhibits possible.

This unique museum consists of four large rooms. One is devoted to the history of the Town, and includes Indian artifacts and other memorabilia donated by private citizens and the Winchester Historical Society.

A second room is devoted to the Natural History of Winchester. In it are specimens and descriptions of plants, animals and geological features, helpful in understanding ecological concepts.

Most unusual is the third room, a product of great cooperative effort from various branches of the community. Here displayed is a sectional exhibit of Winchester topography.

Mounted on six tables which can be wheeled to connect with one another is a three dimensional map of Winchester, on which every house and waterway, every public building and factory, is designed to scale. This exhibit, made by art and shop classes in the schools, and by volunteers in the community, was conceived as a way to better visualize planning for the town. It is possible to lift houses, etc. from the display and substitute models of proposed changes. Large transparent plastic sheets fit the table sections. These show sewer and storm sewer connections, and other underground features.

The fourth room is devoted to Massachusetts government.

It is felt that the museum will relate to many school subjects; be of help to Town Meeting Members and Town officials; and be of some value in promoting business opportunities to prospective factory owners and shopkeepers. It offers everyone a chance to know the town.

The Museum was first proposed in 1971. Action was postponed for several years.

BOOK REVIEW

THE CURSE OF THE CONCULLENS

by Florence Stevenson

This book is a must — the ultimate spoof on Gothic novels. But you don't need to ever have read a Gothic to enjoy it. Just in itself, it is one of the funniest books extant. It has everything — a sulky ghost, a banshee, a werewolf and an enchantingly beautiful, Lucy, who admits she's enchantingly beautiful. Her favorite heroine is Jane Eyre and she is "absolutely determined to become a governess and practice my profession in some lonely manor house in the moors." She gets her chance when Mama walks through the cabbage patch (where she claims to find all her babies) apparently for the 16th time and sends Lucy off to Ireland to O'Hagan's Keep as governess to an Earl of Concullens's family.

Lucy reluctantly parts with Margery, the ghost in the parsonage attic.

"I do wish," Mama said as I joined her, "that your dear Papa had had more success in exorcising that woman."

"Margery is harmless, Mama," I protested. I could have added that she was much more harmless than Papa, if I had wanted to remind her that she was in delicate condition again, but I knew she would consider my observation horribly unladylike as well as betraying a knowledge no nice young girl should possess. (The time is 1865.)

Before Lucy leaves the parsonage, Mama becomes unexpectedly serious.

"You know about the fate worse than death?"

"Yes, Mama," I said. "I have heard about it — but I have never been entirely sure as to what befalls one. What could be worse than death?"

To my surprise, she turned bright pink. "Well . . . you know — fallen women —" she whispered.

"Oh," I said, relieved. "Well, I am exceptionally surefooted, Mama."

Lucy does eventually discover what the fate is — much to her delight! To quote further would be unfair to a prospective reader, but the flavor is the same throughout. The book should really be read aloud if one could contain one's own laughter sufficiently to do it. And be sure, there's a plot and a good one.

Mr. Carroll Will Suggest Cuts In Budget

Editor of the Star:

In the Winchester Star of March 4, 1971, I wrote an open letter to all precinct members and town officials in Winchester to refuse to act on the school budget until such time as the School Committee printed a list of the salaries of the school personnel.

A pamphlet of 24 pages was prepared by the School Committee, as requested by Town Meeting Members. This pamphlet should be made available to every taxpayer in this town and it should be required reading. I assure you that after reading it, you will need a good shot of whiskey or a tranquilizer!

Under the heading of "Administrators," seven names are listed, for whom the salaries total $142,142. Secondary school principals:

Principal, $24,263; Assistant Principal, $17,908; Assistant Principal, $19,091; Principal, $22,163; Assistant Principal, $17,908; Principal, $21,663; Assistant Principal, $18,408.

There are four coordinators, salaries ranging from $14,385 to $17,836; seven directors, four at $18,486, to a "low" of $14,381; teachers' salaries up to $18,173.

There are nine elementary school principals with salaries as follows:

Two at $17,466; one at $18,019; four at $18,775; one at $19,525; one at $20,025, and one assistant principal at $16,122.

The maximum salary of elementary school teachers is $16,483. There are 14 counselors in this school system — maximum pay of $15,465, and 29 specialists — maximum pay of $15,971. Liberal fringe benefits are added to these salaries.

This heavy burden is not warranted because the student enrollment is less than 5,700 — a vast difference from college enrollment, where the majority of salaries couldn't compete with those in Winchester.

I propose to make a list of cuts in the school budget which I hope will have the support of every taxpayer, because this school budget has become completely out of hand.

Teachers' Views Asked On School Lunch Questions

Editor of the Star:

It has been said that the Winchester Elementary School teachers have been informally polled as to their attitudes toward an in-school lunch program and that the results are a major consideration in determining the School Committee's school lunch policies. It is difficult to understand why this should be, when leading educators all over the country consider single sessions to be an integral part of their program and many of our teachers have not taught under single session conditions for an entire year . . . when it is stated in their contracts that Winchester Elementary School teachers are not required to supervise lunchrooms . . . and when the Massachusetts Legislature has recently enacted a law which will require all school systems to have in-school lunch programs in operation by the fall of 1973.

Perhaps more pertinent questions should be asked of our women school teachers. It would be interesting to know how many of our teachers do not have school age children and consequently are not aware of the problems it poses for those who do.

What percentage of our teachers live in other communities and are able to work in Winchester because their own town has a lunch program?

What are the problems confronted by those teachers who do have children in our elementary schools?

Are secondary school teachers affected by the fact of no lunch program and how?

What do teachers do who live locally and teach in another school system?

Are there potentially good teachers who remain at home because there is no school lunch program?

It would be interesting to hear from these teachers. Parents for Single Sessions would welcome news or opinions from them either directly or through the courtesy of the Winchester Star.

School Committee

Director Niblock offered that he was "willing" to accept the coordination of the K-12 guidance program, but also alluded to the volume of other work involved in the pupil services position, especially in special education. He cited the benefits of a uniform policy and philosophy throughout the school system.

The administration was authorized by vote to seek candidates for the 10-12 post.

Other personnel matters involved the approval of three resignations and appointments to various teaching and guidance counseling positions and to that of audio-visual coordinator. A total of $8,817 was granted for further appointment in the summer workshop including physical education, drug education, cataloging in the libraries, art, industrial art, and home economics. Another total of $1,659 will be applied to language posts there.

Budgets

The School Committee continued to work at paring down the various accounts of the School Department budget. In sense-of-the-meeting gestures items were retained and deleted from such consideration.

Under personal services discussion eddied around the comparative participation of the Lesley School and the Winchester system in the summer program. The result was a tentative $5,000 cut from this account pending the results of separate registration data for the two divisions of the summer session.

Under other expenses conversation halted on the relative merits of retaining the new Spanish I class at the ninth grade level as opposed to a further reduction in audio visual software for the elementary schools. Dr. Klemmer noted that basically all new or innovative programs, except those of the new high school, have been eliminated. As of that evening, the Spanish I class was struck out in favor of the audio visual materials.

School-to-School

Presentation of the current status of the School-to-School program by Superintendent Klemmer ended with Chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst's comment that it "is up to us to carry the ball" on the project.

Resulting from a proposal made in May of 1968, the program undertaken with the Overseas School of Rome, Italy, since this time has involved the exchange of curriculum materials and ideas and administrative and teaching staff.

Dr. Klemmer has suggested that for Winchester's continued participation in the project a Committee for International and National Education be established. This committee would study the possibilities being offered by other organizations and be responsible for evaluation. A visit by the new superintendent of schools to the Rome School "as soon as reasonable" and creation of a stipend position for coordinator of the committee was also recommended.

In other matters a brief discussion of policy regarding the process for informing parents of children in the public schools identified with communicable diseases was undertaken. The item will be brought up for a vote at the next regular meeting.

Chairman Parkhurst noted that a change in the Rules and Regulations would not be necessary, but that an effect would be made on the method of notification. The proposal would mean that public health officials rather than those in the schools, would be responsible for making such situations known.

Also for discussion at the next meeting is information on achievement test results. A request from a resident has been received for mathematics scores specifically. Dr. Klemmer said that it was the intention of the School Department to report on the tests in the late spring or early summer.

The School Committee gratefully accepted the $150 gift of the McCall Junior High School Associates, which has been earmarked for two all-directional microphones for use in that school.

The Committee opened and closed its Monday night meeting with executive sessions. The initial period was devoted to the review and approval of recommendations of the Scholarship Committee for scholarships to be distributed among the class of 1971. Members concluded their evening in private for discussion of personnel and positions involved in budget cuts.

Approval was given to the minutes of the May 10 meeting in earlier business.

Proposed items for the June 14 agenda include recommendations on a policy for differential staffing and evaluation of this year's drug program.

Selectmen

Police Commended

Nine police officers have been commended by the Selectmen and Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler "fine police work" in apprehending a suspect shortly after the armed robbery of the owner of Harry's Roast Beef, Incorporated, 14 Skillings Road.

Tribute was paid to Sergeants Mario A. Buzzotta and John J. Frongillo, Inspector William E. Nash, Officers Anthony Pronski, Daniel C. Pearson, Peter R. Morgan, Robert W. Palmer, and Andrew J. Saraco, and Auxiliary Sergeant James J. Connelly.

Chief Bowler praised their "outstanding police work, cooperation, and team work."

Welfare Move

Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly told the Selectmen that there is no set date for the Winchester Welfare Service Office to move from Town Hall. The Selectmen asked the office to move by July 1, in order not to delay Town Hall renovations. Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. will pursue the matter.

Chairman Sullivan suggested that the board seek to develop solutions for specific problems during the forthcoming year. A particular problem could be assigned to each Selectman, he said.

Deed Signed

The Selectmen signed a deed conveying town-owned Palmer Street land to the Winchester Housing Authority. Housing units for the elderly will be constructed at the site.

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien informed the Selectmen that $73,000 remained in the Snow and Ice account out of $233,000 provided for 1971.

Sidewalks on Wincrest Drive and Highland Avenue will be ready prior to the reopening of school. Superintendent O'Brien advised board members.

Recycling Projects

From five to ten tons of paper a week are being collected at the recycling container at the town incinerator site, Superintendent O'Brien notified the Selectmen. The town is averaging $20 a week from paper sales at three dollars a ton.

Plans to recycle other items were discussed by the Selectmen and Superintendent O'Brien. The possibility of local organizations participating in the recycling effort by transporting materials from containers at the town incinerator area to receiving points was mentioned.

No APPL Hearing

A request by the APPL Committee for a hearing before the Selectmen to present its views on the proposed Zoning By-Law was denied. Board members decided that they should not conduct hearings on zoning.

Appointed to the Fire Code Study Committee were Carlton J. Dane of 19 Prince Avenue and James B. L. Lane of 8 Ardley Road. Andrew Connolly was re-appointed dog officer. Michael Boodakian is the Planning Board's representative on the Committee on Names, the Selectmen were advised.

Funds Not Received

John C. Collins, director of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health's Division of Environmental Health in Boston, has informed the Selectmen that his department has received no funds for an aquatic nuisance control program. The project was authorized under Chapter 878 of the Commonwealth's Acts of 1970.

"Until funds are made available to the Department, it will be unable to proceed in the cost sharing program with cities and towns as authorized under Chapter 722 of the Acts of 1969," Mr. Collins wrote.

Sidewalk curbing orders were signed by the Selectmen this week for Clematis Street and Loring Avenue.

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien recommended that former Selectman Edmund A. Williams serve on the Snow and Ice Removal Study Committee.

The Selectmen have appointed James Denton to the Solid Waste Disposal Study Committee. James Wakefield has been named to the group by Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick.

Forest Street Curve Is Again Accident Site

An automobile was "totaled" and facial injuries treated as the result of a motor vehicle accident early Wednesday morning, May 19, only several hundred feet from the site of the February 5 fatality of this year.

According to the police report of Officer Richard W. Fisher, a single automobile was executing the Forest Street curve at 2 a.m. when it struck a utility pole and flipped over at a location in front of 225 Forest.

Barbara A. Thompson of Stoneham, operator of the car, was treated at Winchester Hospital for facial injuries, including stitches, and released. The pole was broken in half and the transformer knocked off, eliminating electric power in the area for several hours. Officers Kevin Richardson, Anthony Pronski, and Frank Vozzella responded.

On February 5 in the midst of a winter storm the area opposite 235 Forest had been the scene of a three-car chain of events accident which resulted in the death of a Washington Street woman two days later.

Other recent motor vehicle accidents involved an intersection collision at Johnson and Hawthorne Roads Tuesday evening, May 18. The rear of the automobile operated westerly on Johnson by Lewis Linson of 29 Thornberry Road was in contact with the front end of that driven by Dr. Michael A. Segal of Lexington when a third car in the lead made a right turn into Hawthorne. Mr. Linson complained of neck injury. Officer Francis R. Manzie assisted.

Wednesday afternoon, May 19, Elaine Stroh of Arlington informed Inspector William E. Nash that while she was moving north on Church Street an unknown automobile came out of Waterfield Road, not stopping for the sign, and damaged her car on the front and right side. It then proceeded south on Church without stopping.

The first of three accidents investigated Friday, May 21, was reported at 7:52 a.m. As detailed in the report of Officer Donald P. Jackson, Robert H. Paone of 141 Sylvester Avenue was proceeding around a parked car at a position approximately in front of 45 Cross Street when he collided with the automobile operated by Christos C. Soudros of Lowell.

In the late afternoon hours Officer Frank Tranchita was called to the intersection of Lake and Main Streets where an accident had occurred. Damage to the automobile driven by Donald W. Meek of Woburn, moving south on Main, was to the left front, while that to the car operated by Olga R. Hennessey of 4 Squanto Road, traveling west on Lake, was to the right front.

About one-half hour later the Skillings Road by-pass was the approximate site of a two-car skirmish. Officer Henry J. Cogan Jr. investigated. While making a left turn out of a parking lot the left

If these conditions are not met within the allotted time, a $50 fine for each additional 48 hours the "nuisance" remains will go into effect. The defendant will appeal the finding.

Fire Chief I. Francis Amico noted that this is the first time in which he can remember a local case being resolved in the courts. In the past cooperation and "diplomacy" have been used, but Chief Amico adds that the Department intends in the future to enforce its convictions with regard to fire safety conditions.

According to Lieutenant Joseph M. Connolly, inspector for the Winchester Fire Department, the case started in February when the Board of Health received two complaints concerning conditions on the property. Following a joint inspection of the site in March, Lieutenant Connolly and Michael D. Saraco, director of the Board of Health, agreed that it was more a matter for the jurisdiction of the Fire Department. Two letters forwarded to the property owner cited "accumulations of combustible rubbish" and removal of a "partially demolished barn."

After receiving no response to these notifications, Chief Amico continued, a meeting with the Woburn Clerk of Courts and an additional hearing were scheduled, both at which the owner apparently failed to appear. The issuance of a complaint and a summons ultimately led to the Tuesday court decision.

Lieutenant John P. McHugh of the Winchester Police Department acted as prosecutor, while Lieutenant Connolly and Director Saraco were present to testify.

In the past such cases have been the province of the Board of Health, however, Chief Amico mentions several cases now in progress through the diligence of the Fire Department and anticipates more such action in the future. The Department "means business."

Regional School Is Admitting 22

Twenty-two Winchester boys and girls have been accepted for entry into the ninth grade at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School in Wakefield in September. Again this year, hundreds of potential students are being rejected because of lack of space, especially those from heavily populous Chelsea and Malden.

Successful Winchester applicants include:

District School Committeeman J. Edward Sharkey of Winchester, a member of the Student Needs Committee, says that plans for school expansion are being discussed. Superintendent-Director Douglas J. Tilley has been asked to firm up ideas concerning an immediate change to house the health services program. The latter courses are in big demand, Mr. Sharkey said. Action is needed to support them prior to consideration of other further expansion, he maintained. No added funds will be asked, since students will be used in much of the work, he said.

He noted that Lawrence Regional Vocational School, only four years old, has construction plans prepared and financed to double its capacity.

Dr. McLean also reported on the program in the sixth grade science classes in drug orientation. Following a course of study on drugs, the children are then addressed by Dr. McLean and Dr. Roy Johnson on the medical aspect of drugs. They in turn are followed by high school students who talk to the sixth graders on a student-to-student basis.

"The program has been designed to give a scorched earth policy to the drug question before these pupils have entered junior high," said Dr. McLean.

The by-laws of CONCERN limit the terms of chairman to two years, and Dr. McLean was unable to accept re-election.

New members of the committee are Dr. Niblock, Charles Hoffman, Dennis O'Donnell, Phil Sampson, Robert Kelley, Eugene Prior, Maria Malatesta, Dr. McLean, Mrs. George Kingsley, Mrs. David Ewing, Richard Swanson, and Jay Zerwekh.

Dr. McLean outlined at the annual meeting the recent visits which various members of CONCERN have made to other towns that wish to establish organizations to fight the drug problem. Most recent of these visits was that which Phil Sampson, Dennis O'Donnell, Lieutenant James Cogan of the Police Department and Dr. McLean made to Burlington. Phil Sampson recently addressed more than 50 Waltham high school students, and is working with them to help them establish a student-to-student program similar to that in Winchester.

Meeting About Zoning By-Law Draws Over 100

Over one hundred including Town Meeting Members and other interested citizens, attended the recent meeting of the Winchester Property Owner's Association, held on Thursday evening, May 20, at Knights of Columbus Hall. The general agenda item was the proposed Zoning By-Law for Winchester, as prepared by the Planning Board. This is on the warrant for the Special Town Meeting to be held on Wednesday, June 16.

Attention was focused on the probable effects which application of the by-law, as written, could have on businesses and residences. Development of new apartment complex zones, with concurrent increases in population and traffic, was also outlined.

Corresponding increases in the Winchester tax rate were claimed by speakers to be an unavoidable consequence if the Zoning By-Law is passed. The creation of new positions for a zoning administrator and other clerical personnel were described as additional expenses which would have to be supported by the tax dollar.

Mrs. Margaret Mahoney Nunes, attorney for the association, noted that, unlike regular Town Meetings where amendments may be voiced from the floor, such procedure is not followed during consideration of the new by-law. All such amendments must be submitted in writing, prior to Town Meeting and the town council may not consider them admissible if in his opinion the amendment will substantially change the by-law.

Association president Jack Coakley stated that the association will schedule another public meeting before the town meeting. The time and date will be announced in next week's Star. All Town Meeting Members will be individually invited to this next meeting, since it is of particular importance that they have an opportunity to be thoroughly familiarized with the content of the proposed by-law, Mr. Coakley said.

All interested citizens and property owners are also welcome to attend the next meeting.

En Ka Street Fair Aftermath

Cloudy skies and an early morning deluge failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the near record crowds at this year's En Ka Street Fair last weekend.

Prizes for entries in the En Ka Street Fair parade Saturday morning were as follows: Winchester Estates Garden Club and VNA both received awards for the entry most in keeping with the theme of the Fair, while Los Companeros were chosen as "most in keeping with their own organization," which is a Spanish singing and playing group from Winchester High School.

Title-Bound Lacrosse Team Wins Two More Games For WHS

by John F. Parrell

The Sachem stickmen, coached by Gene Bouley, won a pair of lopsided victories last week to run their season's total to an even dozen victories without a loss. Medford's second year team fell by 16-2 and Newton South was outclassed by 14-3. The margin of victory in the latter game was a bit surprising because the South team had played their city rivals from Newton North a close game before finally succumbing, 4-2. The final high school game of the season was played Monday with Framingham North.

The Winchester team will wind up the regular schedule by playing Rivers School on Tuesday, with the finale Saturday at Winchendon School.

Town Softball League

Last year's finalist opened the Town Softball League season Monday night at Leonard Field, as the Elks beat the S.O.I. behind the strong pitching of Jay Rowe.

Tommy Lynch with 2 hits and 2 R.B.I.'s led the Elks. Kevin Mawn with a sacrifice fly, Eddie Roy with a single and Jim Treacy with a triple drove in the other Elks runs.

Dick Gaudioso drove in the only S.O.I. run with a long triple. Jay Rowe gave up three hits and struck out seven. Allen Johnson was the losing pitcher.

Wee Sachems Defeat Dedham

The Wee Sachem Booters in the Pee Wee soccer program overcame the spunky but inexperienced Dedham soccer team Saturday, 12-0.

Starting slowly, with an opening goal by Jackie Driscoll and two goals by John Scott, the first half ended with a reasonable score of 3-0.

The second half was a different matter, as Winchester slammed in an amazing nine goals in 30 minutes.

John Scott notched his third goal of the game, followed by another goal by Jackie Driscoll. There were two goals apiece by Kurt Illinger, John Barcus, Matt McCroary, and a singleton from Owen Cote to close out the scoring.

The last game of the season for the Wee Sachems will be against Sudbury at Sudbury High School Field.

Lexington Tops Sachem Nine 4-1

by John F. Parrell

Scoring all of their four runs in the fourth inning the Lexington Minutemen ran their league record to 10 wins and four losses as they stayed in contention for the title and a playoff berth. The loss brought the Sachem slate to exactly the reverse of the winners' record. It was a tight ball game with only one extra base hit, a double by Cronin of the visitors. Winchester had six singles but could only manage a single run, which came in the second inning, when John Procopio singled after Dave Ansbarg reached second on a throwing error. Tom James and Bob Salvucci had a pair of hits for Winchester. Wayne Morrison was the leading stickler for Lexington High.

Ed Fitzgerald went along well for three innings and might have survived the fourth but for a disputed call. He had weathered a bases full situation in the second, but he was not so fortunate in the fourth. John O'Brien walked and then Fitzgerald helped dig his own grave as he misplaced Modono's bunt. The next batter also bunted to sacrifice the runners a- long. A clean single by Brian McAllister scored O'Brien and then Don Bolton came to bat. He watched a pitch as McAllister advanced to second base. Then came another bunt and in attempting to field it the umpire ruled that Tom James had interfered which gave Bolton first base and allowed Modono to score.

In an attempt to nail Bolton stealing, the ball went into center-field and another run came across. The final Lexington score came over the plate on Morrison's second single. Thus Lexington had built a game deciding lead on a mixture of two singles, errors, and bunts, the most damaging of which came to the umpire's decision. But the game was over to all intents and purposes as Dana Peterson thwarted the Minutemen the rest of the way. Winchester got runners to second base in both the sixth and seventh frames but Jackman slammed the door on them.

Fitzgerald Bats And Pitches Win

by John F. Parrell

Ed Fitzgerald, who has been the most effective Winchester pitcher this year, came through with another victory Monday afternoon. Watertown was the victim, 6-4. Fitz contributed a major share by effective hurling. He also swung a very effective bat to drive in half the runs tallied by the Sachems. The Winchester batting, which has been on the light side in most of the games to date, was much more potent, with a home run, triple, and double besides six singles helping to solidify the victory. Fitzgerald, meanwhile, kept the Watertown attack stymied until the fifth inning when pitcher Sil DiRico hit the first of his two home runs and scored Chick Barrett to tie the game.

In the sixth inning, one run was scored by John Procopio, who crossed the plate on Fitzgerald's single. Winchester added another in the third and held the lead until the first Watertown outburst in the fifth. Bob Scott walked in the Winchester fifth frame and scored on a triple by Ben Dolan. The latter later crossed the plate for a two run lead.

In the sixth inning a double by Bob Wolfe was followed by a home run by Fitzgerald. It was now 6-2, with Winchester in front. Weary as the result of a long afternoon and the strain of running the bases, Fitzgerald wilted in the final inning.

Chick Barrett started things off with a single, and up came the slugging pitcher, Sil DiRico. Once again he drove a long home run to register a pair of runs for the Raiders and it was a 6-4 ball game. Steve Devaney came on to retire the side without further damage, and Winchester had its fifth victory.

Woburn Takes Tight Game, 3-0

by John F. Parrell

Coach Bill Colella's baseball team tangled with traditional rival Woburn last Friday and lost in one of the tightest games of the season, 3-0. Although Winchester out-hit the visitors by 3-2 they were held well in check by junior Dan Burger of the visitors. Dana Peterson, on the mound for the Sachems, baffled the visiting batters but some bases on balls and errors at crucial moments combined to bring about the defeat.

Burger scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth inning. He walked and advanced to second on an infield error by Winchester. Severance went down on strikes but Jeff Lentz singled to right. Dave Ansbarg made a perfect throw to nail Burger at the plate, but when the dust cleared the umpire's signal of spread hands indicated that the run had scored.

In the following inning the Sachems misplayed the visitors into two insurance runs. Dale Clements walked and pitcher Burger attempted to sacrifice him along. However, pitcher Dana Peterson's throw to second for the force play went wild into the dirt. On an attempted force play at third base the throw was wide of its mark and Clements scored. Steve Devaney then took over the Winchester pitching chore and finished the game unscathed except for granting another run on a wild pitch.

Jeff Lentz had Woburn's only hits, both singles. A walk and a single by Bob Carroll gave the Sachems runners on second and third in the last inning, but Burger was equal to the pressure and he fanned the last two Winchester batters.

Belmont Downs Sachem Runners

by John F. Parrell

A surprisingly strong team performance by Belmont found the Maroons ahead of Winchester, 83-48. In compiling their total the Belmont speedsters took nine of the 14 first places and almost completely dominated the two shorter dashes and the two mile run and javelin as they garnered 32 points in these events to a mere four for Winchester. Only in the pole vault was the edge top heavy for Winchester as Wild and Wilson took the first two places. Bruce Hill took both hurdles events and Davenport of Belmont dominated the dashes, with Cicelis taking the shotput and discus.

Bruce Hill In State Finals

Bruce Hill was the only Winchester track man to qualify in the class C trials for the State Meet held last Saturday at Andover. He will compete in the finals which will be held Saturday afternoon. Bruce has been a consistent winner in both the high hurdles and the low hurdles in Middlesex League meets. He hopes to be able to be among the leaders on Saturday and thus be a qualifier for the statewide finals.

Couples A Go-Go

A new High Team Series (1899) was rolled Saturday evening, May 15, by teammates Isabel Hart (495), Bob Harris (486), Marge Roesech (496) and Wimpy Burnett (422). Included in that high total was Isabel Hart's 204 game, the best game of the evening. Bill Ross had the men's high game — 194 — and the evening's high series — 522.

It's a close race in the Team Points Won division. Phil Roesech leads with 38, Campbell Dennis has 36½, Isabel Hart and Wimpy Burnett have 35 each. May 29 will be the final night of bowling to provide a winner in this category.

After bowling hosts were Joan and Bob Harris. President Bill Ross reminded members of the June 5th awards dinner.

Soccer Bantams

In Third Place

Framingham ended their Soccer schedule with an undefeated record 5-0-1 at Winchester Saturday by beating Winchester, 3 to 1.

Although starting the second half trailing 2 to 0, Winchester played a closely matched game with their opponent. But Framingham added another tally before Winchester's Tom Waite scored. Tom, the youngest member of the team, has scored three goals in five games. Gerard Kivney and Jackie Panteleo played well in their first game since completing their hockey program.

Winchester, in third place, will travel to Wellesley, who are in second place, on Saturday, the last scheduled game before playoffs.

Duplicate Bridge Club

The Knox Challenge Bowl will be played in competition on Wednesday, June 2, in the Club Individual Championship. Our thanks go to Adele and Everett Knox who have been loyal and working members of the Club. This tournament has an interesting format, each hand being played with a different partner.

In Section A's twelve tables on Wednesday, May 19, there were only four North-Souths above average with Elodie Flewelling and Ed Joyce posting a huge score to win. East-West on the other hand, the field was very closely bunched. Dolly Pasquale and Gay Schreiber taking first place but eight other above-average pairs crowding at their heels.

Everyone is vulnerable, West the dealer, and the hands rotated for convenience. The bidding at our table went:

West 2S (weak), North pass, East 2NT (forcing), South double, West pass, North 3NT, East pass, South 4D, West pass, North 5D

As you can see from a perusal of all four hands, there are three losers in the North-South hands — two clubs and the queen of hearts.

Now assume that North-South contract for game in four hearts. They have the same three losers, but they make the game instead of going down one.

Sounds simple looking at all four hands, doesn't it? In actual play, however, eight of the eleven North-Souths were in diamonds, four bidding game and four stopping in a partial. Only two found the four-four heart fit to collect a tie for top on the board. At the other table there was a 3S sacrifice in the other direction.

North-South did make the 5D at two tables because of West's lead of the ace of spades, allowing South to discard his two small hearts on North's king and queen of spades.

The spinner expressed no lament at her situation in life: "I have a dog that growls, a parrot that swears, a fireplace that smokes, and a cat that stays out all night. Why should I want a husband?"

Squirts In 3-0 Shutout Against Peabody Players

The Winchester Squirts walked away with their first shutout of the season against Peabody, 3-0. It was up-and-down hockey throughout the game, with good forechecking, backchecking, and stick handling by Winchester's forwards, Bill Strazullo, Allyn Stillman, Ricky Blanch, Jim Gagon, Dana Kawa, Peter Mahoney, Mark Fazio, Ed Doherty, and Ron DeVenzenzo.

Allyn Stillman received a direct pass from Jimmy Willing, broke loose, faked two Peabody players on his way, skated around the defense, and tucked in the first goal of the game.

The Tom Galante, Dana Kaka, and Peter Mahoney line fought Peabody off with many shots on the net but were unable to score. Secondly, hustling defenseman Jimmy Willing appeared in front of Peabody's net to flip in a shot off Stillman's rebound, making the score 2-0 at the end of the first period.

The second period consisted of excitement, good skating, checking, a few penalties, and a pat on the back to Winchester's great defense, consisting of Tony Donlon, Bubba Sandford, Jimmy Willing, Bob Lenore, Mike Jackson, and Paul Mahoney. Mike Schromm played goal for the first half of the game, making many beautiful saves.

Bill Strazullo dug the puck out of the corner, passed to Stillman, who fired it home to make the score 3-0, Winchester.

In the third period Peabody played hard and well, shooting often on goalie Steve Ferrullo. Many difficult and beautiful saves were made by Steve, especially a glove save like picking cherries. What seemed like hours was only a minute. Peabody removed their goalie, hoping with the sixth attacker Winchester would weaken and lose their shutout. At this point, the Winchester cheering section encouraged the boys who fought at the six Peabody attackers, keeping the score 3-0 in favor of Winchester.

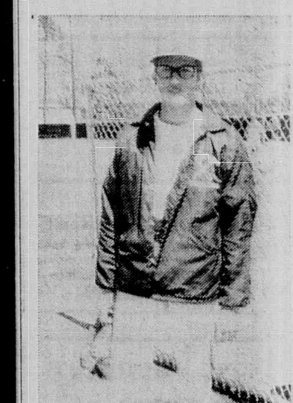

Ferrullo had much pressure on him, but was able to handle it shutout style. Both Winchester goalies played an outstanding game.

The game pucks were awarded to Allyn Stillman and goalie Steve Ferrullo.

Winchester will take on the Melrose Squirts at 8:20 p.m. Saturday, May 29, at Hockeytown, U. S. A.

Bruce Mullen On South Alabama Baseball Varsity

Bruce Mullen, 1970 graduate of Winchester High School, is a member of the varsity baseball team at University of South Alabama in Mobile.

BRUCE MULLEN

A 5' 11" freshman, Bruce is a pitcher on former major league manager, now head baseball coach at the university, Eddie Stanky's Jaguars who were just ranked number 12 in the nation. So far this Spring, the team has chalked up 35 and 10 record with Bruce seeing action in ten of those games.

"We felt Bruce had a fine potential in baseball when we brought him to the university," reported Coach Stanky. "He hasn't disappointed us. As an 18-year old freshman, he is being used in relief assignments this year and has had 8 fine appearances to date. With the experience he is gaining we're counting on him to be a starting pitcher for us next year as a sophomore."

Bruce will play baseball this summer in the Eddie Stanky League in Mobile while taking extra courses at the university.

Cap League Is One Day Short

By James R. Stewart Jr.

Placed, again, by May showers and wet grounds, the Winchester Cap League Baseball season got another jolt when the May 22 games had to be postponed because of wet grounds. These games are now rescheduled for Sunday, June 20. A couple more rainy weekends and Dr. Dick Blanch and Allan Ruggles, co-directors, will be looking at double-header possibilities.

In the feature game at West Side Field, before an unfortunately small but enthusiastic group of spectators, The Hornets nipped the Golden Hawks, 3-1. Alan Christip started the Hornets off on the right track with three innings of no-run ball. He helped his own cause by smacking a three base hit to score what proved to be the winning two runs. Bruh Houllahan came in in the sixth inning to snuff out a Hawk rally, striking out the side with the bases loaded. David Lindbo caught a magnificent game behind the plate. Martin Lele contributed a double and a single.

On the other side of the scoring ledger, the Tigers bombed the Yankees, 12-1, in a game that was close up to the fourth inning. While Peter Capone pitched well and Bruce and Jim Campbell furnished some offense for the Yankees, David White, Brian McNamara, and Brian Nolan pitched almost shutout ball in opposition, allowing just three hits. The game was featured by stout hitting, as expected. Pitchers White and McNamara slammed home runs, the latter's circuit clout coming with the bases loaded. John Kolonan had a bases loaded double to knock in two runs. Joe Valente and Jim Edwards were the standouts in the field for the Tigers.

At Ginn Field the Blue Jays continued their unbeaten streak with an 11-6 victory over the Apollos. Stephen Grainger stood out with his excellent catching and topped it off with a smart pitching effort in the final inning. Kevin Conley pitched and caught effectively during the game while Roger Miller made several outstanding plays at third base for the Jays.

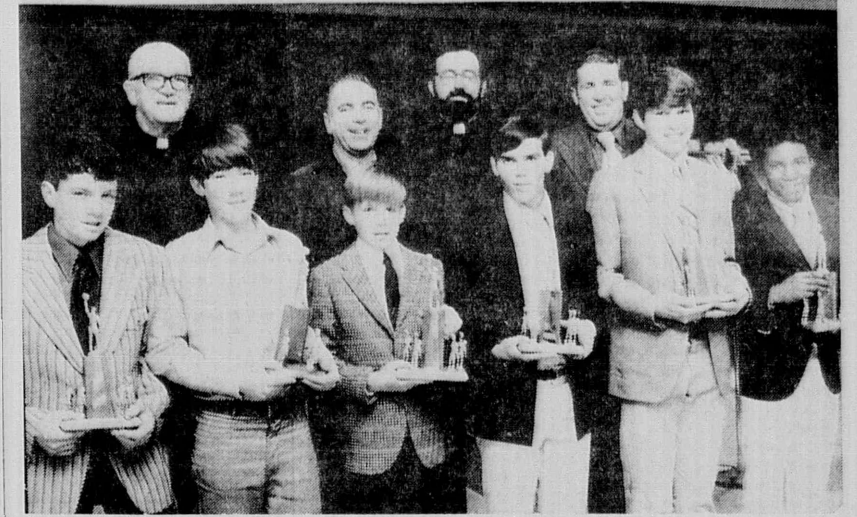

Ginn Field's feature game saw a tight, well-played ball game between the Orioles and the Warriors, with the Warriors squeezing by with a 3-2 win. Behind 1-2 in the last of the sixth inning, Gary Errio blasted a home run to tie it. Singles by David Brown and Jim Muller set the stage for a tie-breaking double by hero Ian Donahay and the Orioles had earned their first victory of the young season.

The Eagles contributed their first win, also on Ginn Field, as they unloaded on the Bobcats, 11-3. Offensive strength by Jay Baradi, Jerry Kimball, and Mark Schwarzman and some fine defense played by Tom Cafarella were the standout features of this game. In the sixth game of the day the Cardinals defeated the Red Sox, 11-2.

Games scheduled for next weekend, if it doesn't rain, are, May 29: Ginn Field 1 - Tigers vs. Bobcats; Field 2 - Golden Hawks vs. Yankees; Field 3 - Orioles vs. Eagles; West Side 1 - Hornets vs. Apollos; Field 2 - Cardinals vs. Warriors; Field 3 - Blue Jays vs. Red Sox.

On May 30, the lineup is: Ginn 1 - Red Sox vs. Hornets; Field 2 - Apollos vs. Eagles; Field 3 - Tigers vs. Orioles; At West Side Field 1 - Warriors vs. Blue Jays; Field 2 - Golden Hawks vs. Bobcats; Field 3 - Yankees vs. Cardinals.

McCall Junior Associates Elect '71-'72 Slate

The board of the McCall Junior High Associates held its Annual Meeting before the Spring Concert, Friday, May 14, to elect new officers and to present Principal Joseph C. Forte with a gift of $150 for "something special" for McCall Junior High School.

Mrs. S. Bennett Brenton, outgoing president, opened the meeting. A brief report of the year's activities showed how dues and income were spent.

The board feels that the year's highlights were three social hours given for the benefit of the McCall staff in December, February, and April. These took the place of the customary teachers' luncheon, usually held in June. They were held in different homes and were well attended and well received. The board hopes to repeat them next year. Also given to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation was $100.

The slate of officers for 1971-1972 are as follows: President, Mrs. John Andrick; Vice-president, Mrs. George W. Johnson; Secretary, Mrs. Ernest Benshimol; Treasurer, Mrs. Robert Quinn; Social Chairman, Mrs. George Crawford; Publicity, Mrs. Richard Lawrence; Membership, Mrs. Samuel Perkins; Ways and Means, Mrs. John McPhail; Nominating Committee, Mrs. Dan Test; and Room Mothers, seventh grade, Mrs. Thomas Callahan; eighth grade, Mrs. Serafino Perra; and ninth grade, Mrs. John Barcus.

Explorer Post Members View Canoeing Films

White water canoe racing in New England and a two-week wilderness canoe trip in Algonquin Park, Canada, were the subjects of movies shown at the May 19 meeting of Explorer Post 505. The films were narrated by canoeing expert Robert Field of North Reading, who was formerly head of the American White Water Association.

After the movies, final plans were discussed for the Post's three-day, May 29-31, canoe trip on the White River in Vermont. A dozen boys and two adults will make this trip, which is a prelude to an extensive week or ten day wilderness canoe trip planned for the summer.

Post 505 is chartered under the Explorer program of the Boy Scouts of America, and is open to boys aged 15 to 21. The specialties of Post 505 are canoeing, mountain climbing, and camping. Meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. on alternate Wednesdays at the factory of the sponsoring organization, Menumatics Inc. (Chuck Wagon Foods) located on Micro Drive off Holton Street between Cross Street and Montvale Avenue in Woburn. Interested Winchester and Woburn boys are invited to attend or to call 729-2557 for information.

A free press can of course be good or bad, but most certainly without freedom it will never be anything but bad. Freedom is nothing else but a chance to be better, whereas enslavement is a certainty of the worse — Albert Camus.

Regional School Costs Petition Hearing Slated

A preliminary hearing will be held next month at Middlesex Superior Court in Cambridge on a petition for a declaratory judgment to determine the proper method of assessing Winchester and 11 other participating communities their share of the 1971 budget for the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School in Wakefield.

Two time extensions have been granted in setting a hearing date because service had not been completed on parties involved in all 24 instances. Service on all parties has now taken place.

Parties to the action include Winchester, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, and Winthrop. The petition was prepared by Attorney Simeola.

District School Committee J. Edward Sharkey of Winchester and representatives of the other towns had obtained oral and written advice from counsel that the original assessments had been overstated, especially to Winchester.

Mr. Sharkey had maintained that "full enrollment," as referred to in the agreement, meant the number of students based on quotas established by the committee.

The Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational District School Committee had voted to ask the Massachusetts Department of Education's legal department for a ruling concerning cost apportionment.

Mr. Sharkey's position was confirmed in the ruling. William J. Wallace, general counsel for the Massachusetts Department of Education, said that his opinion was written in collaboration with Attorney Joseph Robinson of the Massachusetts School Building Assistance Bureau.

Reception Fetes Noonan Teacher

Miss Sarah M. McGowan, well-known teacher at Noonan School, will be the guest of honor at a reception marking her retirement on Sunday, June 13, at the Noonan School auditorium from 3 to 5 p.m.

Miss McGowan has taught children at Noonan for 44 years and has been a source of inspiration to the school children and many residents of the community.

The Noonan staff and Parents Association cordially invite both former and present students of the Noonan School and their parents, as well as others who have known Miss McGowan during her many years to attend this tribute.

Alumni Magazine Features Winchester Rhodes Scholar

Richard L. Taylor of 2 Marchant Road, the first Rhodes Scholar in Boston University history, was the subject of a feature story in March Bostonia, B. U. alumni magazine. Mr. Taylor received his bachelor's degree from the B. U. School of Public Communication Sunday, May 23. He majored in public relations.

To be chosen as a Rhodes Scholar, Mr. Taylor was required to write a 1,000-word essay on his plans. He had to furnish eight references and was interviewed several times as the field of candidates was narrowed from 650 to the 32 chosen.

During his two years at Oxford University, England, Mr. Taylor plans to study philosophy, politics, and economics. He will leave the United States for Great Britain in mid-September, in time for classes which will start in October. He expects to complete his studies by June, 1973. He then plans to study law. Later, he will seek public office.

Mr. Taylor was co-recipient of the 1971 Scholar-Athlete of the Year award, presented annually by the B. U. Varsity Club. He was the captain of B. U.'s varsity baseball team.

At college, he was the highest ranking undergraduate in his national fraternity, Omega Psi Phi. He was the first student member of B. U.'s Athletic Council. He was one of five students on B. U.'s 21-member Presidential Search Committee.

Born in Montgomery, Alabama, to Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn W. Taylor Jr., Mr. Taylor attended junior high and high schools in New York City.

Mr. Taylor was president of the student body at Richmond Hill High School in Queens. He earned all-city honors in basketball.

A brother, Franklyn W. Taylor III, is stationed with the Army in Vietnam. A sister, Deborah, is a junior at Winchester High School. Two other sisters are pupils at the Mystic School. Flora is in the sixth grade and Rebecca is in the fourth grade.

ABC Committee Will Decorate Dix Street Home

The Housing Committee of the Winchester A Better Chance program is making plans to furnish and decorate the house at 2 Dix Street, recently purchased from the First Congregational Church by the Winchester Committee for A Better Chance Trust.

Each room in the house will be decorated by a volunteer person, family, or group of friends. All furniture, kitchen supplies and appliances will be provided through the efforts of the Housing Committee. The house must be ready for ten high school students, two resident tutors, and a resident director and his family by September 1.

Mrs. John Reno is chairman of the group furnishing the house. Mrs. Andrew Nichols, Mrs. John Mills, Mrs. Allan Schell, Mrs. Clarence Lyon, and Mrs. Frank Bates are additional members of the Housing Committee.

Nearly four million people work for a citizen's health. For every doctor, there are 12 additional workers in health careers in the U.S. Many work in hospitals.

Red Cross Involves Local Youth

The "involvement bridge" was opened to local youth at the annual meeting of the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross at Charlotte Ver Planck and Thomas Belden, class of 1972, Winchester High School, were elected to the board of directors for a one-year term.

This inaugurates a community involvement and participation which may begin by serving with Red Cross and by understanding the ways in which Red Cross may serve Winchester youth.

A large step was taken at the Winchester Bloodmobile held April 16, sponsored and staffed by Winchester High School students. This has hopefully prepared the way for a constant use of the "involvement bridge" in bringing community participation to and from Red Cross through Winchester youth. This fledgling program will grow and prosper in direct proportion to the interest, enthusiasm and effort put into it.

At this annual meeting the chairman's gavel was passed by Clarence S. Lyon to Robert J. Halisey, newly elected Winchester Red Cross chairman. The nominating committee presented the following slate which was duly elected:

Three-Year
Kenneth Paul Chase, Andrew Crawford, James B. Edson, Edward E. Goodwin, John F. Looney Jr., James M. Olivier Jr., Arthur E. Rand, John J. Waite Jr., Mrs. Jeanne Zudeck.

One-Year
William W. Jeffery, Charlotte VerPlanck, Thomas Belden. The following officers and members were duly elected to serve as the executive committee for 1971-1972:
Chairman, Robert J. Halisey; Vice Chairman, Charles L. Morgan; Secretary, Mrs. Wayne E. Davis; Treasurer, Ralph W. Hatch; Anthony J. Celli, Peter Galuffo, Clarence S. Lyon, Mrs. Albert I. Parker, and Lewis B. Snow.

The following blood program awards were given:
Seven Gallon Donor Pin—William A. Wilde Jr.
Six Gallon Donor Pin—Miss Marguerite H. Troop.

Awards to volunteers for service were as follows:
Five-Year Pins
Mrs. John F. Elliott, Mrs. Charles K. Hannan, Miss Grace M. Mahoney, Mrs. Emily M. McDavitt, Mrs. Lawrence T. Smith, Mrs. Charles Zerwekh, Mrs. Mary E. Daly, Mrs. August Niewenhaus.

10-Year Pins
Mrs. Harold E. Berquist, Mrs. John H. Foley, Mrs. E. Carl Hoglund, Mrs. George H. LeMay, Mr. William L. Martin, Mrs. Richard J. Morrow, Mrs. Elizabeth Rutherford.

20-Year Pin
Mrs. Albert I. Parker.

25-Year Pin
Mrs. Henry K. Fitts. Nelson Vogelsohn, administrator of the Massachusetts Red Cross Blood Program was guest speaker. He described certain new processes which ensure complete use of all blood from Red Cross donors. The vital significance of the Red Cross Blood Program throughout the Commonwealth was emphasized.

Medicare Pays Most Of Aged's Health Expenses

The Federal Medicare Program, now in its fourth year, pays the largest share of the health care bill for people 65 and over, according to John E. Loneragan Jr., District Manager of the Cambridge Social Security office.

"A Social Security Administration study shows that in the year ending June 30, 1969, Medicare paid $6.3 billion, or 47 percent of the total personal health care bill for persons 65 or older in the United States," Mr. Loneragan said. Other government programs — such as Medicaid and the Veterans Administration — paid $3.4 billion, or 25 percent of the health care bill for the aged, according to the study.

Private payment accounted for $3.8 billion, or 28 percent of the bill. "Of this total, direct out-of-pocket payments accounted for $3.2 billion; private health insurance and philanthropy paid for the rest," Mr. Loneragan said.

The average annual medical bill for the elderly was $692 per person, according to the study. "But the average out-of-pocket outlay for anyone 65 or older was only $163," Mr. Loneragan said. Medicare includes both hospital insurance, which is financed by contributions to social security, and medical insurance, a voluntary program financed by individual premium payments and matching contributions by the Federal Government.

Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration. Medicaid, the State-Federal program that helps pay health care bills for the indigent and some of the medically indigent population, paid $2.1 billion during the 12-month period, according to the Social Security study.

The Cambridge office will no longer remain open on Wednesday evenings. The office hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. By calling 491-0700 and asking for teleservice, most matters may be handled without the need to personally visit the office.

"Guest In The House"

Reviewed by
D. S. Thompson

When Winchester director Eloise Kadesch brought, "Guest In The House" here on May 8 with drama club members from Emmanuel College, she scored another first.

Comments heard as the audience left Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church were:

"I forgot it was a play — it moved — it was so real — better than many things I see on TV."

"Surprising that young actors can give such polished performances."

"Nice touch to include some of our favorite Winchester players. Thomas Kell always gives a believable characterization."

"Rev. Benedict was a 'shoe-in' as the minister."

"Sound effects and lighting added reality to atmosphere. Nice to know that our own Lynch Junior High School students Hugh Vartanian and Jeff Barger did those."

Miss Robinson Is Graduated From Skidmore

The president of Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, New York, conferred a bachelor of science in physical education degree upon Carolyn B. Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Robinson of 11 Samoset Road, at commencement exercises Sunday, May 23.

A dialog between two principal performers of the New York City Ballet broke tradition by replacing the customary commencement speaker.

New Capital Due For Local Firm

Spencer-Kennedy Laboratories, Incorporated of 2 Lowell Avenue recently agreed to accept an 87 percent exchange of its convertible debt for common stock and is completing arrangements for additional interim operating capital, according to Robert Weissman, president.

Included in the exchange were $488,000 of 6 1/2 percent Convertible Subordinated Debentures due 1979 and $100,000 of 8 percent Convertible Subordinated Notes Due 1979. Arrangements are being finalized which would have the effect of exchanging $300,000 of 7 1/2 percent Convertible Subordinated Demand Notes. The combined exchange, if completed, would total $888,000 of debt to be exchanged for 222,000 shares of common stock at $4 per share.

"We are now completing negotiations to bring in new operating capital to the Company on an interim basis," reports Mr. Weissman. "At the same time, management is working to secure more permanent financing."

Mr. Weissman added that the funding is necessary to begin production of Spencer-Kennedy's new line of cable television transmission amplifiers.

"Backlogs have improved significantly in the last quarter for our subsidiaries, Atlee Corporation and Wesco Electrical Company, Inc." he continued. "Now we are looking forward to the finalization of the Federal Communication Commission rulings in this quarter and the subsequent improvement in the cable television equipment market."

Vacationers May Take Advantage Of Homeowners Engraving Project

Winchester residents are now turning their attention toward summer vacations, making preparations to open seasonal homes or rent cottages at lake and seaside areas. The Winchester Police Department suggests that as much care be taken in temporarily vacating local residences. Participation in the Homeowners Engraving Identification project is one means of doing this.

The project, which was put into effect May 20, entails the engraving of an owner's social security number on valuable property, and the registration of these items and their descriptions with the police department. There is no cost to the participant.

Stickers warning burglars that "All valuables on these premises have been marked for identification by Law Enforcement Agencies" are then issued for use on doors and windows.

Engraving tools, provided through the funding of the Winchester Rotary Club, are now available at the Police Station and may be borrowed for three days at a time. Officers will assist home and store owners with their questions or more detailed information. It is hoped by project director Officer John W. McKinley that eventually the auxiliary police can be mustered for this service.

Social security numbers should be etched onto a permanent part of the property, usually near the manufacturer's serial number plate. Items suggested for registration include televisions, stereos, business machines, cameras, typewriters, radios, musical instruments, recording equipment, a wide variety of tools, valuable items which could be converted by a thief into cash.

In the event of theft police will have a ready means of traceable identification on that property which has been registered. Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler has remarked that the greatest problem in investigating burglaries is in trying to get an adequate description of stolen items.

The Monterey Park (Southern California) Police Department has claimed origination of the engraving identification idea. Engraving program went into effect in 1963, the chief of police there has cited encouraging statistics. Based upon a city population of 50,000, "among 4,000 participating households, there have been only three burglaries since the project began. In the 7,000 non-participating homes, there have been more than 1,800 burglaries."

In this Southern California community it has been the experience that property owners "are quick to join up after they have been victimized." In Winchester, Chief Bowler has expressed the hope that an actual theft experience will not be necessary in order to prompt residents to take part in the project.

Clean-Up Quiz Given

Good housekeeping equals good home safety. Why?

Because good housekeeping gets rid of trash and rubbish, breeding place for about 50,000 of the fires which destroy or damage American homes each year, according to Fire Chief I. Francis Amico.

He suggests you test yourself on this Clean-Up Quiz from the National Fire Protection Association. The prize for every "yes" answer is more safety for your family, says Chief Amico. And every "no" answer is a signal for action.

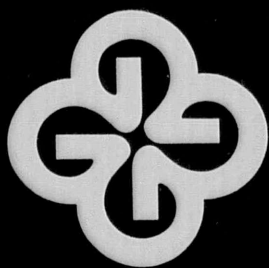

Here are the questions:

1. Do you dispose of ordinary trash and rubbish regularly?
2. Do you keep attic, basement and closets free of accumulations of old clothing, mattresses, curtains, drapes, lamp shades, old magazines and newspapers?
3. Are our oil mops hung up and oil rags kept in closed metal containers?
4. Do you empty ashtrays only when sure the contents are completely cold, and are ashtrays large and deep enough to keep burning cigarettes from falling out?
5. Do you have your heating equipment and chimney checked and cleaned at least once a year?
6. Do you check appliances and extension cords regularly for frayed insulation and loose connections, and repair or replace promptly when necessary?
7. Are paints and solvents stored in tightly closed metal containers, away from heat, and do you dispose of empties and near empties promptly?
8. Is the garage kept free of clutter, and do you store gasoline only in tight-capped, clearly-marked metal cans — never in glass jugs?

It will be the final performance of the 1970-1971 season for the 117-member senior orchestra and the public is invited to attend without charge.

Soloists are from more than a dozen of the over 70 Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire communities represented in the orchestra.

The Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra now is concluding its 13th year. Its younger brother, the 107-member Greater Boston Junior Youth Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Robert O. Corley, is ending its eighth year.

Each orchestra is composed of musically talented students from public, private and parochial junior and senior high schools. Auditions currently are being held at Boston University's School of Fine and Applied Arts for seats in the two orchestras for the 1971-1972 season.

Mrs. Merna Brenner, president of the GBSYO board of directors and executive director of both orchestras, has reported that because of the number of graduations this spring there will be openings in all orchestral sections.

High school graduates are not eligible for GBSYO membership.

Each orchestra rehearses every Saturday from 8:45 a.m. to 12 noon throughout the school year and each performs in four major concerts.

From this community, Scott Knopf has been a member of the senior Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra this year.

Kathy Levinson, Thomas Page, and Jane Silverstone have been members of the junior orchestra, this season.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

Men struggle to seek security, when the insurance agent is just around the corner.

Borrowing on your life insurance policy eliminates that feeling of desperation which other forms of borrowing inflict. There are no threatening letters, no notices that dampen your appetite for a delectable breakfast.

You can take as long as you wish to make repayments. Moreover, a policy loan does not suspend or in any way invalidate your insurance. You remain protected and the loan does not retard the growth in the policy's cash value.

In fact, the money you borrow is not deducted from the normal cash value of your policy. Your policy remains intact. You remain fully protected throughout the existence of the loan.

Watch Next Week for . . . "More About Borrowing On Life Insurance"

Mr. Ball would welcome comments and questions on his column. Call him at John H. Eddy and Company located at 39-41 Thompson Street, Winchester

Dr. Wilson Will Conduct Final Service Sunday

First Congregational Church's interim minister, the Rev. Arthur E. Wilson, D.D., concludes his pastorate at the church on Sunday, May 30. The minister-elect, the Rev. Walter Davis of Santa Barbara, California, begins his pastorate August 23. Dr. David Kreider and Dr. Kenneth Henley will carry on in the leadership of the church during the summer.

Dr. Wilson came to Winchester after a 35-year ministry in the Beneficent Congregational Church in Providence, Rhode Island, and a year's interim in South Australia. His church in Providence was chosen as one of 11 churches in the United Church of Christ "which did not pussyfoot in a time of revolution."

He was a delegate to the World Council of Churches for six years, president of Providence Rotary, and was widely known for his nightly program on radio, "Parson Pete." The program received a national radio award.

He has honorary degrees from Piedmont College, Brown University, and his alma mater, the University of Maine. He has been the recipient of the bronze award of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and in 1967 was the first clergyman to receive the Roger Williams Man of the Year award of the Greater Providence Chamber of Commerce.

Sunday, May 23, parishioners of First Church gathered after the morning service to greet Dr. and Mrs. Wilson and express their appreciation for their ministry, which began September 1, 1970. A special edition of the Jerusalem Bible, illustrated by Salvador Dali, was presented. The committee for the reception included Mary E. Barger, Roy Darwin, Janet Duffy, Jenness Eugley, Edward Haddad, Otis Jason, David Kreider, Josephine Nason, Cedric Robinson, and Frank Gunby, chairman.

Dr. Wilson's concluding sermon on Sunday, May 30, at the 10:45 a.m. service will be, "This I Believe."

The program will be sponsored by the Volunteers of the Center. Mrs. Paul Keleher of Winchester is co-chairman.

Winchester volunteers participating will be Mrs. Robert M. Boutwell, Miss Catherine Burke, Mrs. Robert Gagliano, Mrs. Thomas Derro, Mrs. Archibald Dresser, Mrs. Walter Crotty, Mrs. John Carey, Mrs. Albert Herrmann, Mrs. Richard Hillger, Mrs. Marie Higgins, Mrs. Edward LeRoux Jr., Mrs. Paul Keleher, Mrs. Walter Maroney, Mrs. Albert Maggioni, Mrs. Robert O'Brien, Mrs. Anthony Perrone, Mrs. William Sullivan, and Mrs. Edward L. The Center receives patients from Boston and Greater Boston hospitals and from out-of-state and conducts a program to ready the patients for normal living.

The Goodwill Auxiliary is presenting 64 performances between last September and next June, and has been forced to decline more than 30 additional invitations because of the busy schedule. During the first half-year of 1970, when the show was created, it was presented 32 times in all parts of eastern Massachusetts. Bookings are already being made for late 1971 and 1972.

The Fashion Show is revised as new costumes and oddities are made available.

The Goodwill Industries plan of self-help for handicapped people began at Morgan Memorial. The self-help plan has spread around the world. There are now 140 autonomous non-profit Goodwill's in the United States and 22 overseas.

Today's need of spiritual alertness will be emphasized at Christian Science churches Sunday.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. The Golden Text is from 1 Thessalonians: "We are all the children of light, and the children of the day; we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others, but let us watch and be sober."

Supporting commentary from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you. The cement of a higher humanity will unite all interests in the one divinity."

MRS. GEORGE R. MOOZA

Officiating at the ecumenical service were the Rev. John W. Bishop of the Church of the Epiphany and the Rev. Mark Sheehan of St. Mary's Church. A reception followed in the Heritage Room of the Colonial Inn, Concord.

The bride wore a gown of ivory silk organza fashioned with an empire waist, long sleeves, and A-line skirt flowing into a chapel-length train. Alencon lace appliques accented the front of the gown and the sleeves. Her long two-panel silk illusion veil was trimmed with matching lace appliques. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Susan Smith of Peabody was maid of honor. She chose an empire-waisted, lilac crepe gown with high collar and short sleeves, accented at the neck and high waist by fuchsia velvet ribbon. She held a nosegay of lilac and white chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaid, Mrs. John Bird III of Boardman, Ohio, was similarly attired.

Robert J. Mooza of Newton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Seating guests were Charles Karyanis, cousin of the bridegroom, and John Kollias, both of Belmont.

Attending the guest book was Miss Jane Murdoch of Newton.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bird wore an aqua silk worsted dress highlighted with a white orchid. Mrs. Mooza, mother of the bridegroom, selected a gold ensemble with a white orchid.

The bride, a graduate of the Chandler School, Boston, is currently employed in the medical department of the Polaroid Corporation.

Louis Briasco Named Bowdoin Alumni Secretary

Louis B. Briasco of Winchester, a graduate history student at Brown University, will become Alumni Secretary of Bowdoin College July 1.

His appointment was announced Friday by Dr. Roger Howell Jr., President of the College in Brunswick, Maine, and William D. Ireland Jr., of West Boylston, President of the Bowdoin Alumni Council.

A summa cum laude member of Bowdoin's Class of 1969, Mr. Briasco will succeed Glenn K. Richards '60, who is resigning at the close of the current academic year to enter the ministry.

Mr. Briasco has been attending Brown for the past 1½ years and will be awarded an M.A. degree in history at Brown June 7. During the past year he has been a Reference Fellow in Brown's Rockefeller Library under a special program supported by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the National Council on Library Resources.

A graduate of Bowdoin with High Honors in History, Mr. Briasco was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity for the recognition and promotion of scholarship. During his undergraduate career he was awarded honorary James Bowdoin Scholarships in recognition of academic achievements. A Dean's List student, he majored in history.

Mr. Briasco was a manager of Bowdoin varsity lacrosse teams and was an active member of both the Bowdoin Glee Club and the Bowdoin Museum of Art Associates. During his freshman year he was a member of the staff of WBOB-FM, the student campus radio station. As a junior he was nominated by his fraternity, Chi Psi, for the Wooden Spoon Award, presented annually to the most popular and respected Bowdoin junior as voted by his classmates.

A native of Boston, Mr. Briasco is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Briasco of 6 Royalston Avenue, and a graduate of Winchester High School.

President Howell issued a statement in which he said "Mr. Briasco has a special talent for making and perpetuating friendships and a genuine liking for people of all ages. Not only as President of Bowdoin but also as his former teacher here, I look forward to working with him in behalf of the College during the years ahead."

Mr. Ireland said in a statement "On behalf of all Bowdoin alumni, I extend to Mr. Briasco sincere congratulations and our very best wishes for success. It is most heartening to know that the College has seen fit to appoint a man close to our younger constituency, whose support of their alma mater will be so vital in the future. He will also be in the very important position of working with those members of the Alumni Association whose ties with Bowdoin are deeply rooted in the heritage and traditions of the College."

DIPLOMAS AWARDED from Mount Auburn Hospital School of Nursing, Cambridge, on Thursday, May 6, went to Cynthia Sugarman Rayne (left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edith Sugarman, and Susan A. Zenga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Zenga Sr. of 209 Cambridge Street.

Community Schools Install Officers

On May 12 in the Wyman School auditorium Mrs. Kilmer McCully, outgoing Community School Association president, greeted retiring and newly elected representatives from each school chapter, school principals, guests from the Winchester Public Library, Mrs. Ernest Dieterich of the School Committee, and other townspeople present at the 30th annual meeting of the Association.

Mrs. McCully cited some of the many Association activities during the past year, including participation in the Save the Children Federation clothing drive, Scholarship Foundation, teachers' fall convention, Elementary School Report Card Committee, Extended School Year Study, conference with the education consultants regarding the selection of the new school superintendent, Winchester Trails, enrichment programs such as Adventures in Music and the presentation of the St. Paul's Choir School, and affiliation with CONCERN and WACE.

Within the CSA organization, a new chapter, High Street School, was organized and operated effectively; the Education Committee and its relationship with the School Committee was greatly strengthened; the dancing program was studied and recommendations for major revisions were accepted; and the question of school rental policies was studied and a report prepared for the School Committee.

Mrs. McCully expressed appreciation for the productive and progressive year to all the officers, committee chairmen, and chapter representatives, with special indebtedness to the Association's hard working secretary, Mrs. Edgar Hammond.

Mrs. Charles Sheeran, library coordinator for Winchester's public schools, then addressed the meeting. She spoke about the findings of a National Education Association study regarding the place of libraries in schools from kindergarten to college levels. With the current trend toward independent study involving the extensive use of audiovisual equipment along with traditional printed materials, the NEA study emphasizes that instructional materials centers (I.M.C.'s) must provide valuable experiences in preparing students for this important area of their education.

In addition to acquiring a greater variety of equipment and many more books, Mrs. Sheeran remarked that our Winchester School libraries need more professional and/or paraprofessional workers to staff the centers and to instruct all students in library use. She acknowledged the many accomplishments of the 406 parent volunteers who have been involved in the libraries since the program began in 1967. She anticipates their continued help for the future growth of the I.M.C.'s.

Following Mrs. Sheeran's presentation, the Association heard annual reports from the officers, standing committee chairmen, and the presidents of each school chapter.

Commenting on the progress of the Elementary Report Card Committee, Mrs. Paul Gray said she is working on the sub-committee to seek uniformity in the approach to parent-teacher conferences; and Mrs. Christopher Brown is studying ways to revise the card itself. Suggestions regarding report card and conference revisions may be directed to Mrs. Gray and Mrs. Brown, parent representatives on the Report Card Committee.

Constitutional revisions are represented in writing to board members at the last regular meeting were unanimously approved.

The Association voted the following officers and committee chairmen for 1971-1972: President, Mrs. Robert Bigelow, 39 Grove Street; vice president, Mrs. Richard Freeman, 14 Franklin Road; Secretary, Mrs. John W. Heffernan, 70 Thornberry Road; Treasurer, Mrs. Melvin Farman, 5 Chesterford Terrace; Publicity, Mrs. William Kirk, 86 Swanston Street; Social, Mrs. James Phillips, 5 Wilson Street; Enrichment, Mrs. John DeMars, 61 Wedgemere Avenue; and Nominating, Mrs. Anthony Pelletier, 14 Wildwood Street.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

"The vital processes of civilization require, and the combined interests of millions guarantee, the security of property. A society in which property was insecure would speedily degenerate into barbarism. A society in which property was absolutely secure, irrespective of all conceptions of justice in regard to the manner of its acquisition, would degenerate, not into barbarism, but death."

— Winston Churchill

Police Begin New Schedule

The new duty schedule for the Winchester Police Department, known as the "four and two plan" approved by the 1971 Annual Town Meeting, went into effect Sunday, May 23.

Currently followed by other local communities, the plan involves a three-shift day. Individual officers work a "four-days-on, two-days-off" schedule which totals the usual five working days within the calendar week.

According to the new hours the day shift begins with roll call at 7:45 a.m. and ends at 4:30 p.m. The first half of the night shift is on duty from 4:15 p.m. to 12:15 a.m., followed by the second half from 12 midnight to 8:00 a.m.

Initiation of the schedule has awaited the appointment of four new policemen, bringing the staff to full complement. The most recent appointment made by the Board of Selectmen Monday evening, May 17, was Frank P. Bartlett of Bedford, who fills the vacancy created when Paul C. Curtin of Arlington declined the position offered on May 10.

Other officer elected to the Winchester force on May 10 include James P. Kelley of Medford; John M. Morgan of 13 Rock Avenue; and Theodore W. Yeannacopolis of Medford.

Home And Garden Annual Meeting Provides Slate

The Winchester Home and Garden Club held its annual meeting at Drumlum Farm in Lincoln, former home of Ralph Waldo Emerson, on Wednesday, May 19.

R. Joseph Froelich, director of the historic site, spoke on "Attracting Birds By Special Plantings." He recommended flowering crabapple and honeysuckle to draw colorful birds, and thistle and sunflower seeds for finches, cardinals, and grosbeaks.

Members enjoyed strolling through the grounds where school children tour daily, viewing farm animals in their rural setting.

The following were elected to the executive board for the year '71-'72: President, Mrs. Henry R. Delaney; Vice President, Mrs. James E. Grassi; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Walter Dignam; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Allen O. Eaton; Treasurer, Mrs. Gerald J. Churchill; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Robert F. Some 99% of the earth's gases are found within the first 100 miles above the earth's surface. This envelope acts as a "blanket" to help steady and evenly distribute the temperature over the earth's surface, keeping it, overall, between the freezing and boiling points of water. The atmosphere blocks out many forms of high energy radiation which might be detrimental to life.

Fortnightly Is Represented At State Gathering

The Fortnightly of Winchester was represented at the 79th annual convention of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs May 12, 13, and 14 at the Sea Crest Hotel in Falmouth. Attending from the local club were Mrs. Richard C. Sheppard, president; Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, Mrs. Ralph R. Meigs, Mrs. Gerald F. Mosher, and Mrs. William E. Priest.

The newly elected President, Mrs. Marshall W. Ross of Mattapoisett announced her theme of the year, "Freedom and Responsibility" and asked her 30,000 members each to contribute one dollar to finance the program.

One half of the amount will be turned over to Sam Tyler, director of the Massachusetts Council on Crime and Correction, "for the expansion of services in the interest of prison reform as a tool for crime prevention." The other half will go to a maintenance fund for the Federation's 277-acre Memorial Forest in Sudbury.

The over 750 delegates learned that scholarships totaling $93,000 in all categories had been given for the 1970-1971 season and a total of $57,000 was given towards veterans' work for the same period.

The U.S. Government first minted five cent pieces in 1749. Today, Americans spend the equivalent of 68,000,000 five cent pieces a day for their newspapers.

Residents Opposed To MDC Rink Site Awaiting Decision

An early decision is expected from the Metropolitan District Commission on the exact location for the proposed $1,000,000 artificial ice skating rink in Medford near the Winchester line. Several local residents met with MDC officials Wednesday, May 26, to voice objections to a suggestion that the facility be situated about 400 feet from a Winchester home.

Meeting with MDC members were State Representative and Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick, Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr., Town Engineer John H. Ciarcia, Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly, State Senator Philibert Pellegrini, Richard A. Clarke of 378 South Border Road, Mrs. Thomas Danahy of 17 Dennett Road, and Albert J. Mongiello of 20 Dennett Road. The latter three Winchester residents were representing themselves and others living in their area who are opposed to having the MDC rink placed close to their property.

The objectors maintained that the site being considered was "not in the best interests of the area, particularly with the proposed access and egress on South Border Road." The MDC commissioners were advised of a crown on the hill which creates a view "practically totally obstructed."

Those opposed claimed that the fully-enclosed rink would generate noise in the vicinity of homes costing $50,000 and up. Parking of cars would be another problem, they declared. A "severe traffic safety problem" would be intensified, they continued.

All present favored a rink which would serve Winchester but "not in a place where it would generate a traffic problem," in the words of one spokesman.

Metropolitan District Commissioner John Sears indicated that a decision as to site would be made fairly soon. He noted that the Medford rink is one of three let on a combined contract. Rinks in Canton and Waltham are also authorized under the project.

A location beside the new Medford School at the tennis courts might be favorable to State Representative George L. Sacco Jr. of Medford, State Representative Chadwick said. This site would place the rink near utilities and on a street served by public transportation. Winchester residents present at the meeting indicated their belief that the rink could serve the people of Winchester just as well from that spot.

Families To Take To Canoes For Aberjona Trip On June 12

Anyone with a canoe available is invited to take part in a Sierra Club-sponsored canoe trip down the Aberjona River on Saturday, June 12.

The journey will start at Skillings and Shore Roads at 9:30 a.m. Cars will be spotted along the route to Medford and near the Levine Boat Yard in Chelsea, where the trip will end.

Winchester Aberjona, Mystic Lake, and Mystic River paddlers will meet with a group of Alewife Brook paddlers at the Monsignor Condon Music Shell on the Mystic River Parkway to eat home-packed picnic lunches. The Alewife Brook group will start from Little Pond at the Arthur D. Little facilities, off Route 2.

Some will end their trip at the Music Shell. Other hardier paddlers will continue on to the Mystic River in Chelsea.

Teachers' Group Aids Mrs. Boyle

The Winchester Education Association has voted unanimously to fully support Mrs. Barbara Boyle, a home economics teacher, in her grievance against the School Committee. The WEA action followed a talk to the group by Mrs. Boyle May 26 at McCall Junior High School about not being placed on tenure.

In other business, Massachusetts Teachers Association policies were explained to WEA members by MTA President Dick Durkin and MTA Legal Counsel George Shea, who also answered questions.

Municipal officials are expected to join in the outing. The object of the trip is to emphasize its pleasure and the need for clean streams.

Winchester families already planning to participate include the Albert Vanderbilts, Lee Wellers, Allan Schells, Daniel Hrit-zays, Richard Freemans, John Moores, David Turnquist, Thorton Stearns, W. K. VerPlanckes, Howard Fraziers, and Mrs. Ellis Green.

According to Malcolm Peyton of Cambridge, a member of the Sierra Club, some club members made a trial run of the Aberjona Sunday, May 23. They found an "incredible" amount of pollution and dumping, according to Mr. Peyton, including all kinds of hardware items, near Montvale Avenue, Woburn.

Persons making the trip June 12 will use maps supplied by Harry Boodakian, who had used them during the Boy Scouts' recent cleanup of the Aberjona.

Firefighters Plan June Testimonial

A testimonial dinner for retired Firefighter Henry P. O'Melia of 16 Loring Avenue will be held on Friday, June 25, in the Sons of Italy Hall, Swanton Street.

A social hour from 7 to 8 p.m. will begin the evening, followed by dinner and dancing until midnight.

Firefighter Charles R. Moran is chairman of the event, assisted by Lieutenant Bernard F. Styles and Firefighter Robert W. Swymmer.

Zoning By-Law Cost Impact Being Studied By Selectmen

The Board of Selectmen may make a statement on the cost impact of the proposed Zoning By-Law at the Special Town Meeting Wednesday evening, June 16. Chairman John J. Sullivan offered to prepare a cost estimate after Selectmen this week heard the views of town department and committee heads on budgetary effects, where anticipated, of apartment house construction.

Town officials were asked to guess what effect a maximum possible number of 1,916 apartment units would have on their expenditures. The units were broken down by areas as follows: Moss, 936; Lombard, 169; McGonigle, 87; Richardson, 195; Shattuck, 135; New England Laundry, 60; and Main Street, 334.

Chairman Sullivan estimated that the 1,916 units would add not more than 4,000 persons to the town's population, based on an average of two persons per unit at the Parkview Apartments and one-and-one-half persons per unit in the garden-type apartments at Wedge Pond.

Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler anticipated that $107,000 more would be required to pay for eight additional patrolmen yearly. He saw no need for a hike in departmental capital expenditures.

Increased Fire Department expenses of $384,000 were foreseen by Fire Chief I. Francis Amico. The amount included $200,000 for new equipment over a period of years and 20 additional men at $184,000 a year. The Selectmen indicated, however, that some of the equipment might be necessary even though the proposed Zoning By-Law was not passed.

Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien predicted that $35,000 more would be required by his department annually, largely for incinerator expenses, if the population were increased as anticipated.

Chairman Albert A. MacDonnell of the Park Commissioners noted that with more persons using the playgrounds in the summer, additional Recreation Department personnel might be necessary.

Ernest A. Phillips Jr. of the Water and Sewer Board saw a sufficient amount of water for a 4,000-population jump but noted that a marginal sewer problem existed in some sections. An engineering study would be needed to correct this situation, he advised. Problems could arise in the Moss and Lombard areas otherwise, he warned.

School Committee Chairman Stephen Parkhurst believed that planned additional construction would take care of an increased pupil load. The number of extra students would be essentially the same, whether apartment units of single houses were constructed, he pointed out.

Passage of the proposed Zoning By-Law "would not materially affect plans we now have," Chairman Parkhurst declared.

Dr. Warren J. Taylor of the Board of Health did not expect any major effect in his budget if the zoning were changed.

Consecutive Sessions

If a second session of the Special Town Meeting is required, Chairman Sullivan has proposed that it be held Thursday evening, June 17, the evening following the first session. The suggestion will be made to Town Meeting Members for their consideration.

Robert L. Johnson Day Honors Former Local Man

Mayor Fred R. Alofsin of Newport, Rhode Island, proclaimed Monday, May 17, Robert L. Johnson Day in honor of the former Winchester resident. Mr. Johnson, associate executive director of the Navy Young Men's Christian Association in Newport, will leave around July 1 to become executive director of the Dunoon Armed Services Center at Dunoon, Argyll, Scotland.

Prior to moving to Newport, the Johnsons lived at 145 Cambridge Street. Mrs. Johnson is the former Bette Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Nelson of Pond Street. Mr. Johnson is the son of the late Doris M. Johnson, who resided for many years on Black Horse Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and their four sons expect to be in Scotland about three years.

Mayor Alofsin's proclamation noted that Mr. Johnson "has been a distinguished resident of our city since January of 1964."

"Mr. Johnson, while serving as associate program director, program director, and since March, 1969, as associate executive director at the Navy Y.M.C.A. in Newport, has demonstrated that he is a person of ability and competence, and is richly deserving of this promotion, and we in Newport deem it a privilege and honor or to add to the many accolades that have been bestowed upon Robert L. Johnson by setting aside this day in his honor, and extend to him and his family the greetings of the City of Newport upon their farewell to Rhode Island.

"Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved that I, Fred R. Alofsin, Mayor of the City of Newport, Rhode Island, do hereby proclaim Monday, May 17, 1971, as Robert L. Johnson Day and do call upon all the citizens of Newport to join with me and his multitude of friends in expressing to Mr. Johnson our heartfelt congratulations and best wishes upon his recent promotion."

Mr. Johnson, a graduate of Brown University, holds a master of arts degree from the University of Rhode Island. He is a past secretary of the Newport Lions Club and a trustee of the First Congregational Church.

Before entering Y.M.C.A. work, he spent seven and one-half years as a line officer in the Navy. For two of these years, he was an instructor at the Officer Candidate School in Newport.

State Statutes Rule Minibikes, Residents' Bane

Numerous recent complaints from Winchester citizens concerning the illegal operation of minibikes has prompted the Winchester Police Department to caution riders on the legal guidelines governing their use.

Responding to residents' concern Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler and Safety Officer Donald E. Pigott stress that operation on streets and public ways is against State law.

A minibike is not subject to the inspection requirements imposed upon motor vehicles (brakes, lights, license plates, etc.) by the State Registry. However, a person apprehended for a minibike violation is liable under those penalties governing motor vehicle operators.

Glass Blowing Demonstration To Highlight Savings Bank's 100th Anniversary Celebration

There will be an opportunity this month for Winchesterites to see first hand a live demonstration of Bohemian Glass blowing.

James F. Dwinell Jr., president of the Winchester Savings Bank, has announced that starting Monday, June 14, through Friday, June 18, Miss Grace Howell, nationally-known Bohemian glass blower, will visit Winchester Savings Bank to put on a continuous daily demonstration of her unique glass-making artistry in the main office lobby during banking hours.

According to Mr. Dwinell, the week of Miss Howell's appearance is also being designated as 100th Anniversary Week in observance of the bank's first century of service to the community.

Miss Howell, a native of Iowa, was born into a family that has specialized in glass blowing for five generations. She received her first lessons at the age of five and has been active in this unusual profession ever since.

In earliest days, the Howell family toured America 12 months of the year demonstrating their antique and unique method of Bohemian glass blowing and were in great demand at fairs, exhibits, clubs, and conventions.

While Miss Howell devotes most of her time to exhibitions, she is frequently invited to supervise the making of large Christmas ornaments at the Corning Glass Works in New York, and also has taught Santa's helpers at the famous North Pole in the Adirondacks.

Phil Sampson On Lacrosse All-American

Phil Sampson, captain of the undefeated Winchester High lacrosse team, has been named to the senior All American squad. The team is made up of the top senior stars of high school and prep schools. Selection for it marks the highest possible achievement in schoolboy lacrosse. The local student, who was also tri-captain of the Sachem football team, is headed for Harvard, where he hopes to continue with both his academic and athletic success.

He will be a member of the New England East All Stars in the annual East-West game, scheduled to be played at the Tufts University Field on June 2. Joining him in this game will be teammates Gary Fincke and Curt Woodward. Mark Lombardi and Chris Osgood of the Winchester team have been selected as alternates, so Coach Gene Bouley's eastern state champions will be well represented.

Winchester High 1971 Graduation Sunday Afternoon

Three hundred forty seniors are candidates for diplomas to be awarded at the 121st graduation exercises of Winchester High School. The ceremonies will be held at 5 p.m. Sunday, June 6, at Manchester Field.

The Winchester High School Band will play "Alta Barocca" by Giovannianni as a musical prelude at the exercises. "Pomp and Circumstance," by Elgar will be played for the procession. "The National Anthem," by Francis Scott Key will follow.

Saying the invocation will be the Rev. John J. Bishop, rector of the Parish of the Epiphany. The band will play selections from "Oliver" by Bart.

Dennis O'Donnell, president of the Class of 1971, will welcome those attending. Miss Janina Wankowicz will deliver the senior address.

Awards, scholarships, and diplomas will be presented by Principal Vincent E. Larocco, Superintendent of Schools Donald A. Klemer, Chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst of the School Committee, and Mrs. George B. Redding, chairman of the Scholarship Committee of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation. The ceremonies will conclude with benediction being pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Bishop.

There were 365 candidates for diplomas in the 1970 class at Winchester High, 25 more than in this year's group.

AN OPEN CAMPUS delight is the opportunity to spend a free period in the sunshine at the Converse Bridge. Winchester High School students Gail Yagjian, a senior, Carol Wrisley, a junior, and Randy Pepper, a senior, are doing just that. (Ryerson photo)

WATER, WATER everywhere, but it might be wise not to drink it because of pollution. Seven rainy Sundays and many days of spring rains brought the Aberjona River up to a high level. The scene is of dams and waterfalls at the Converse Bridge on Main Street. Mill Pond and Town Hall are in the background. (Ryerson photo)

Science Fair At Parkhurst Offers Variety

Wednesday evening, May 19, was special for sixth graders at Parkhurst School. It was the night of their Science Fair.

For the past month the children have pursued a favorite subject in science, examining every facet of their topic, designing charts, and conducting experiments.

During the school day other Parkhurst students were guided through the auditorium. They emerged talking about what projects they might do when they were sixth graders.

That evening it took parents, who smiled at the youths' enthusiasm, longer to tour the room. Each table commanded one to stop and test the principles of the displays.

For instance, the optical illusion until offered many activities which not only fooled the eye, but defied common sense.

Marbles rolled around a wooden heart to show the flow of blood through the one-way valves into the body and back again.

A seashore was created with all the realism of beach sand, seaweed, crabs' legs, and an infinity of shells. Even the smell was present. Another ocean scene featured in octopuses.

One could rub their feet on a rug or participate in other static electricity experiments.

A home-made box camera actually took pictures. The developed photographs were ranged at its side.

Plants have been growing and flowering since September at Parkhurst School through the efforts of students with green thumbs. A greenhouse was recreated to house the flourishing greenery.

Electromagnets rang bells, and telephones worked by batteries. Sound traveled through solids, liquids, and gases. Bones (fresh, artificial, old large, and small) were displayed and discussed. School experts cleaned silverware and distilled water.

In a lighted black box one could star-gaze at a reproduction of the night sky. Elsewhere young mechanics explained engine parts. Of most interest was a bicycle equipped with a mini-bike engine, condenser.

EXPLANATION of their project on "The Uses of Wood" is offered by Karen Andersen and Lisa Battista at the Parkhurst School Science Fair on May 19.

structed by students using spare parts.

One could test his knowledge by looking at the cross section of a tree to determine the age, whether the winters were long, or the summers dry. The reward was a badge. Two electrical boards (handmade, of course) challenged many of the visitors on subjects being displayed.

Pollution and drugs were not left out. Pollution was covered by a colorful flat scale model of a painted river flowing through a paper town, by a filter holding automobile exhaust, and by water collected from several streams and canals in this area.

The drugs exhibit belied much research beyond the course given at school. The project was completed by a personal interview with Dr. Donald McLean of Winchester. Tablets which burned with the odor of marijuana were included.

These were not the only fumes permeating the auditorium. At each half-hour interval a volcano erupted much to the excitement of children and adults alike.

Some 99% of the earth's gases are found within the first 100 miles above the earth's surface. This envelope acts as a "blanket" to help steady and evenly distribute the temperature over the earth's surface, keeping it, overall, between the freezing and boiling points of water. The atmosphere blocks out many forms of high energy radiation which might be detrimental to life.

Unusual, Useful Gifts Received For TV Auction

Throughout the Channel Two viewing areas, which includes Massachusetts, parts of New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, merchants, companies, and individuals are donating many useful and imaginative "Auctionables" which will be sold during this year's WGBH Auction. The 1971 Auction, the sixth television auction for Channel Two, will again be featuring many gifts from generous Winchester supporters.

In addition to paintings, sculpture, and antiques from Winchester artists and collectors, local gifts have ranged from the practical—fuel oil, vaporizers, dry cleaning, car washes and loam; to the athletic—health club passes, tennis racquets, scholarships to basketball school; to the fashionable—gift certificates to clothing stores, gourmet cookbooks, Oriental rugs, ten yards of black velvet—and an agouti.

Area Chairman Mrs. Andrew Nichols, Team Captain Mrs. Russell Bollinger, and their Go-Getter volunteers have called on industries, companies, associations, and services in Winchester. In tallying their returns, the Go-Getters have found many local merchants who want their product to have "Extra Selling Power" on this year's Auction which is called "The Auction with ESP." The eight-day extravaganza of bargain sales and unique items will begin Saturday, June 5, and continue through June 12.

Each year it is estimated over one million view the production, which involves every corner of the community in its volunteer manpower of more than 3,000; contributions from 5,000 donors; and auctioneers including United States Senators, college presidents, local telecasters, sports figures, and station supporters.

Among the Winchester contributors are: Anderson's Jewelers and Silversmiths, Aileen's Fashions, Arlene's Fashions, the Black Horse Bookery, Koko Bookfakian and Sons, Craddock Apothecary, Derro Construction Company, Diamond Antenna and Microwave, Valia Downes, H. J. Erskine and Sons, Europa Coiffures, Fabric Farms, Fells Hardware, Fitzgerald Fuel Inc., Gremar Manufacturing, Homestead Shops, Mrs. Gilbert Wood, D. D. Howard, Kirsten Travel Advisors, W. H. Serving All Faiths WITH UNDERSTANDING Unstructured

As every American school boy knows standardization was the means by which the miracles of technology were made available to the masses. This huge success has, unfortunately, led to the theory that all aspects of human existence can be standardized—grief included. Our experience in the field of Funeral Service leads us to an opposite conclusion. The emotional reactions of people in bereavement show infinite diversity. They need personal attention which cannot be structured. It must come from a heartfelt empathy which develops as the need arises.

WE SELL MORE THAN WHITE ELEPHANTS

As the salvage outlet for several insurance companies, trucking companies, Penn-Central Railroad, and a few mail-order houses, we find ourselves peddling (trying to) all sorts of weird items ranging from topless birdcages to a $40.00 circuit breaker (slightly scratched and dented—on display in Hingham), from golf tees (10c a handful—bring your biggest hand) to pianos from disposable uniforms to huge sheets (8' x 18') of 1/2" polished plate glass. Fortunately these far out items are just a small percentage of the surplus and salvage that flows in here every week. The majority of the shipments are conventional merchandise such as you'll find in any other classy department store. Here's a few examples:

CAMPING & TENTS

We buy slight irregulars (faded fabric, crooked seams, etc.—all perfectly usable, durable, and fully guaranteed) from two prominent manufacturers of tents and sleeping bags. The savings run from about 25% to 50%. Here are a few specific examples:

- 7'x7' umbrella tent, aluminum frame, 6 oz. ... $12.95
- 7'x12' family edge tent, canvas, 6 oz. ... $39.95
- 12'x12' dining canopy, dry treated canvas ... $13.70
- 34"x77" sleeping bag with 3 lb. fill ... $ 6.60

RECORDS & TAPES

We have literally over 5,000 records, tape cartridges, and reel-to-reel tapes at less than wholesale prices. I know the papers are full of so-called bargains in this field but the usually turn out to be off brand, out-of-date stuff. I invite you to shop us and compare. If you feel it was a wasted trip, we'll give you a free record, or tape. Fair enough? Here's a few examples of 8 track stereo tapes we're selling for $3.00 each:

Pearl ... Janis Joplin
Portrait ... The 5th Dimension
After the Gold Rush ... Neil Young
Bridge over Troubled Waters ... Simon and Garfunkel
The Isaac Hayes Movement ... Isaac Hayes
Iron Butterfly Live ... Iron Butterfly

CARPET & RUGS

A huge inventory of broadloom, indoor-outdoor carpet, commercial carpet, kitchen carpet, area rugs, accent rugs, room size rugs, and remnants—all at bargain prices (for example, indoor-outdoor carpet at $1.59 sq. yd.), all sold on a satisfactory-or-your-money-back guarantee.

FURNITURE & BEDDING

Famous brands of current goods selling at less than dealer's cost. The secret? We sell for less because we buy for less.

TELEVISION & APPLIANCES

Name brand products at huge savings because of minor appearance defects (scratch, dent, crate rub, etc.)—all sold with the same guarantee as the fancy stores plus our own, satisfaction-or-your-money-back, guarantee.

CLOTHING & DOMESTICS

Complete (more or less) departments for men, women, children, and home furnishings, just like the "legitimate" stores—only at a fraction of the price.

Appreciation Party To Honor Mrs. Dorothy Comfort Sunday

Many townspeople are expected to enjoy the appreciation party which the Public Library Trustees are sponsoring for Mrs. Dorothy I. Comfort, Children's Librarian, on Sunday, June 6, from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Junior Library.

Although her appointment as Children's Librarian became effective in June, 1965, she had served at the library since September, 1963, when she joined the staff as Assistant Children's Librarian. Before coming to the Winchester Library, Mrs. Comfort was in charge of the Children's department at the Concord Free Public Library for six years.

Her innovative programs with children have achieved statewide recognition. She wrote a section for a handbook prepared by the Connecticut State Library on "Creative Programming for Children." Craft classes in the summer have been added to the usual story hours, film programs, visits to schools, visits by classes to the library, and work with other community agencies such as nursery schools, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and Jayceeettes.

One of the first to realize the impact of TV on preschool children, Mrs. Comfort's preschool story hours include action games, and handwork as well as stories, filmstrips, and music, including rhythm bands. Her contests during winter vacations have ranged from designing bookmarks to a riddle read-in with prizes awarded by age groups for the best productions.

Variety in the summer reading program has been created by allowing children to report other than orally. One summer, puppets, shadow boxes, and paper-bag sculpture decorated the Story Hour Room. Last summer poems were accepted as reports. A huge map of the town was covered by the end of the summer with balloons, each one representing a book read.

Exhibits in the display case have shown her knack with handwork. Much of the material has been loaned by local people but the arrangement has been Mrs. Comfort's. During the winter there was an entertaining show of Crafts from Olds and Ends — place-cards and coasters were made from Christmas cards and coffee can tops, wrapping paper was created with designs from string and poster paint, tissue paper flowers in plastic baskets — even those with no creative knack found their imagination stimulated.

Now a resident of Woburn, Mrs. Comfort made her home in Winchester on Highland Avenue for many years so her friends in town are numerous and will join the staff and her patrons in thanking her for her services to the children of Winchester.

Mrs. Chen Named Simmons College Faculty Member

The Graduate School of Library Science, Simmons College, Boston, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Ching-chih Chen to its faculty for the 1971-72 academic year as assistant professor of library science. She holds a bachelor of arts degree from National Taiwan University where she was a Rotary scholar, and a master of arts degree in library science from the University of Michigan where she was holder of the Barbour Scholarship, a graduate fellowship established for oriental women who had the highest scholastic achievements during their undergraduate years.

MRS. CHING-CHI CHEN

Mrs. Chen worked at the Queensborough Public Library, New York, as a librarian-trainee prior to her graduation from the Michigan Library School, the University of Michigan Libraries as a service librarian, the Windsor Public Library as a senior reference librarian, the McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario, as its head science librarian, the University of Waterloo, Waterloo, Ontario, as the head librarian of its Engineering, Mathematics & science Divisional Library, and since September, 1968, she has been an associate science librarian at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. She is the author of numerous articles on library science.

Mrs. Chen is married to Dr. Sow-Hsin Chen, an associate professor of nuclear engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The couple has three children, Anne, 9, and Cathy, 7, both at Vinson-Owen School, and John, 2.

Local S.P.C.A. Plans Unusual Pet Benefit

A truly novel event for the benefit of the Winchester SPCA will be the "Poolside Pet Promenade And Fashion Show" on Monday, June 14, at 2 p.m. (next day in case of rain) at the home of Mrs. Winthrop Knox, 1 Westgate.

Pets, canine and feline, will be walked by their owners (in freshest spring finery) around the Knox pool. Later gorgeous Hong Kong knits and robes will be modeled. Mrs. Bradford Bentley will commentate. There'll be a champagne punch with bite-size refreshments served and a boutique for jewelry, china and superlative "white elephants" to tempt browsers.

Guide for Massachusetts?

By Wendell H. Woodman

The welfare reform package submitted to the California Legislature by Governor Ronald Reagan should go on the required-reading list for lawmakers in Massachusetts.

Even those left of center who haven't tripped into lunatic fringe have conceded that the Reagan proposal is a responsible attempt to restrain runaway costs that have assailed the California treasury, just as welfare costs have drained the Massachusetts treasury.

Governor Reagan's notion is to separate welfare recipients into two broad groups: employables and unemployables.

The latter would include blind persons, the elderly, and permanently disabled, and under his plan, welfare checks would be processed automatically for these groups, or similar to processing and distribution of Social Security checks.

In the employables category, the social worker would be obliged to aid the recipient in landing a job. It also would include a job training program. In some cases, recipients would be expected to perform public assistance work.

That is the philosophy behind the Reagan plan, but the Governor also has proposed 11 changes that could just as easily be applied to the Massachusetts welfare program. They follow:

1. In the Aid for Families with Dependent Children category, budget schedules would be limited to children under age 18. The sore point in not imposing that restriction is subsidization of education.

The theory is that the education of a student should not be subsidized by welfare, but by scholarships or through some other means.

A state like Massachusetts, certainly, could realize extensive savings in the welfare budget by adopting the age restriction.

2. Because aliens can come to Massachusetts to join the welfare rolls, with the residency barrier eliminated, the state should apply for full federal reimbursement for aliens on welfare.

3. The welfare applicant's year-long average income, and not his current income, should be the determining factor in establishing eligibility. An individual, this proposal presumes, should budget his income for future needs over the annual period.

4. Reagan's plan would limit baby sitting expenses under AFDC to $50 monthly. Massachusetts presently allows all such costs.

5. The present federal computation formula for determining eligibility on the basis of gross income could be supplanted by a maximum gross income limit, possible on a monthly basis.

6. The value of a person's car as determined by the excise tax should be categorized an asset in determining eligibility for public assistance.

7. Public assistance should be cut off when the recipient refuses work if he is able to work.

8. In cases of paternal non-support, the welfare agency, instead of trying to persuade the wife to bring non-support action, should itself prosecute the husband.

9. Welfare fraud should be deemed a crime of larceny and not a misdemeanor, and the statutory penalty should be increased.

10. Some health care requirements should be made of the recipient. Totally free medical support serves as an incentive to visit the doctor, often needlessly. Some charge, perhaps as little as a dollar, should be imposed to deter recipients from visiting a specialist instead of swallowing two aspirin tablets.

Such a proposal would relax the pressure being exerted on hospitals, doctors and dentists, as well as medical vendors, and it might serve to restrain increasing medical costs under welfare.

11. Able-bodied welfare recipients could be enlisted into a public assistance works program if jobs are not available for them, if they are not suited for available jobs, or if they cannot be trained for available jobs.

Under Reagan's proposal, which he calls reclamation of refuse, or recycling, the program would concern itself with conservation work, cleaning the environment, and so forth.

The Reagan plan is a beginning in reversing the welfare tide, and the above points from that program could effectively be applied to the welfare system in Massachusetts.

To that list, we would add the suggestion that each identification card under the Medicaid law contain a photograph of the recipient to which it was issued. Fraud in this particular category is widespread, and pharmacists, realizing the fraud, are virtually powerless to do anything about it.

The Reagan proposals may not appear as dramatic or imposing as other proposals that have been offered, but they represent a beginning, and state officials in Massachusetts should give them serious consideration. (New England News Service)

Firemen's Group Is Praised For Entertainment

Editor of the Star:

My husband and I just got home from the Fireman's Relief Association annual entertainment at the Senior High School auditorium. All I can say is I feel sorry that I didn't encourage all my friends to go.

With all the troubles in the world today, just to get away and relax like we did at the performance is the answer. I'm sure everyone who attended feels like I do, exhilarated, and remembering when we thought we had troubles (in the good old days).

Not only will you feel glad you attended, but I'm sure the Fireman's Association will be pleased to fill the hall. It is not easy to plan a show such as this and you might as well enjoy it.

Such entertainment as Lou Barnard, master of ceremonies, with his quick wit, plus Dick Burgess, with the tunes bringing back memories of days gone by; Dorothy Stratton, with her beautiful voice singing the hit from "Love Story," Charlie Goston, making you think Tom Jones is there on the stage. Last but not least the novelty tight-rope walking, brilliantly done.

I'll see you in '72.

Sees Lack Of Interest For Local Youths

Editor of the Star:

I, as a parent and taxpayer in Winchester, would like to know why Winchester can't do a little for their youth.

The parks and fields are in deplorable condition. One can't imagine why they can't put some of our money back into our children's recreation. We are the only town that has to pay ten dollars, plus three fifty for Little League and we still had to appropriate money for a fence at Westside Field which to me is town business, not Little League. Then we can't even get them to put it up after we give them the money. The backstops are a mess! We can't even get the town to give us sand to put on the bases to keep the dust down. As a manager's wife, I am tired of the complaints that I get about the conditions of the field.

I am thoroughly ashamed of my town! When I go to other towns to watch competitive sports, hockey, mostly, the boys from our town look like a bunch of bums. Other towns not as affluent as Winchester outshine our boys in appearance. I know that Winchester does not support any or all sports, recreation, and teenage drop in centers, or any other youth groups, but with the rate of drugs and juvenile problems that we have, I wouldn't brag about it!

With the great ability of the youth in Winchester, we, the town, should be ashamed of the way we sit and pass the buck from one committee to another. There is no YMCA or YWCA. We have to go to Woburn.

There is no skating facility. We go to Arlington, Bedford, Melrose, or any other town that will take our youth.

As a parent who is involved with the youth in Winchester, I am embarrassed for the town and its lack of interest for our children. The people who are running this town better get off their other end before the town becomes the largest nursing home in existence.

Bottles, Cans To Be Recycled Topic Of Letter

Editor of the Star:

Where can you take bottles and other glass? To Woburn Beverage Discount Center, 2 Main Street, Woburn. Please, clean glass. Separate by color, if possible. Broken glass acceptable. 2 Main Street is just past Cross Street, opposite Wong's Chateau.

What about cans? May 22 was a Stoneham event. Boy Scouts here will celebrate Keep America Beautiful Day June 5. The Atlantic Gelatin Company in Woburn has offered to transport cans from community collection centers set up by local Boy Scouts. We trust Winchester Scouts are participating and that they will announce details.

Says Compost At Dump Is "Dream" For Gardeners

Editor of the Star:

Some time ago I heard a discussion on the problem of waste. Our city and town dumping areas are disappearing as they become filled and buildings are erected. Open burning has become an ecology problem. Many cities and towns have expended vast sums of money to construct incinerators. This reduces the problem, but we still have ash and other materials to dispose of.

Saturday during my weekly trip to the incinerator, I noticed that Winchester may soon be looking for another area. Surveying the area I recalled reading an article in the Boston Sunday Globe. "Never say 'chemical' to an organic gardener." Being an amateur gardener myself, and preferring organic matter to chemicals, I realized that we have an excellent compost pile in the town dump. I believe that the nitrogen, phosphorus, iron, and potash contained in this compost would be an organic gardener's dream.

Winchester has many beautiful yards and gardens and I should imagine that many home owners enjoy creating their own landscapes. If it were made known that this vast amount of compost were available for the taking, there would be many trash cans leaving the dump area just as full as when they entered.

Many professional gardeners may wish to purchase this rich organic material. It would be an asset to any new lawn or garden.

A.P.P.L. Group Disappointed At Hearing Denial

Editor of the Star:

The APPL Steering Committee has written the Board of Selectmen as follows:

"We were disappointed to learn that you will not grant APPL a hearing on the proposed zoning changes. Our desire for a hearing before you was motivated principally by our realization that Winchester still has not heard convincing reasons from the Planning Board supporting their contention that garden apartments in residential areas will be 'good for the town.'"

"While the Planning Board has consistently failed to give the town numbers and backup data, our committee has developed some data that lead us to ask a number of questions. How is it that after supposedly some four years in the preparation of this plan, the Planning Board cannot, or will not, provide real numerical data to support their proposals. Where tax money is at stake, we feel the people are entitled to answers from elected officials. Our questions are as follows:

"1. When you build garden apartments with three bedrooms in a town famous for its school system, is it not reasonable to expect children? How many children will there be in 2,500 or more apartment units?

"2. What overall effect will a sudden 35 percent increase in town population have when for ten years or more in Winchester we have averaged one and one half percent per year population growth?

"3. What will the same 35 percent population growth, literally overnight, do to our now barely adequate incinerator facility?

"4. Again, just how many additional town employees in the services area will be required to handle the huge increase in population? How much additional equipment will have to be purchased?

"5. Since access to almost all of the proposed garden apartment sites is wholly inadequate, how many roads will have to be built, widened, or altered at the expense of existing homes? Can some of the areas handle the traffic at all?

"6. Finally, what does this monumental change from a slowly growing to a rapidly growing town, from a fundamentally quiet residential town to a quasi-urban environment, mean to us all?

"Once more, where is the evidence that four years of planning went into the proposed zoning changes when these questions are still not answered after eight months of public inquiry?

"We will ask these questions again at the second public hearing, and ask them of every Town Meeting Member before the Special Town Meeting."

Gilbert Hood Jr. Is Volunteer In Hospital Drive

Gilbert H. Hood Jr. of 6 Everett Avenue is a volunteer in the current fund-raising effort of the Boston Hospital for Women, part of the Joint Venture Campaign. Through the Joint Venture, three major Boston teaching hospitals will provide improved and broadened services to the public by constructing a new, integrated medical center.

Mr. Hood joins hundreds of other Greater Boston residents in assisting the Boston Hospital for Women, the Robert B. Brigham Hospital, and the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital to join together to create the Affiliated Hospitals Center.

The Center, says Mr. Hood, has been planned to let each individual hospital expand its potential of service independently, while benefiting from shared "core" facilities, knowledge and resources.

At the planned new medical center, each of the three Harvard Medical School teaching hospitals will continue to pursue its own specialties in its own building. By coordinating and sharing, however, the institutions will be able to obtain the most modern facilities and take advantage of the latest medical care techniques in the most economic manner, he said. Virtually every aspect of adult and infant health care will be provided for in the 820-bed center because of the capabilities of the three hospitals.

Under the Joint Venture Campaign agreement, each hospital is responsible for a portion of the total construction costs.

Boston Lying-In Hospital and the Free Hospital for Women combined in 1966 to become the Boston Hospital for Women. The Hospital's association with the Harvard Medical School traces back nearly a century-and-a-half to the founding of Lying-In by Dr. Walter Channing, the medical school's first dean. Since then, a third-of-a-million babies have been born there and over a million women have received gynecologic treatment in the Hospital and its clinics.

RIDE OUT THE DARK

by Christabel Bielenberg

This is the autobiography of an Englishwoman who married a German in 1934. He, together with many of his friends of the middle-class intelligentsia, could not believe that his countrymen would follow Hitler so blindly. However, when the Jew-baiting began to get under way and many of Bielenberg's friends were insulted, ill-treated and incarcerated, they began to make plans to emigrate to Ireland. They found it difficult to tell Peter Bielenberg's father that his only son was going to leave the country and procrastination brought disaster, because Peter's call-up into the Air Force arrived before they had brought themselves to break their news. This was in the summer of 1938.

"Peter's father died quite suddenly before Peter returned from the Sudetenland. I was sad and yet not sad, because I had become very fond of my father-in-law and was glad that he did not live to see his Hamburg become a beer-garden. . . . Even if he had lived, he would not have had to hear of our plan to emigrate to Ireland, for shortly before Christmas a friend . . . returned from China. Peter visited him in Hesse, and when he returned all thought of turning his back on what I had learned from my Times to call 'the German question' had faded from his mind."

This friend, Adam von Trott zu Solz, came from a large and complicated family of land nobility in Hesse."

"He had won a Rhodes Scholarship and spent two years in Oxford, and if his return to Germany in 1933 had not coincided so exactly with Hitler's coming to power, his career would doubtless have been a straightforward one. But he had found on his return that Government service was barred to him unless he became a member of the Party, and except for a career in business, or a lectureship in some non-controversial subject in a university, there were few openings left for anyone who had no intention of toeing the Party line."

Adam was determined to help bind together those in Germany who felt as he did about the regime and inspired in Peter the resolution to fight against the Party and all it stood for.

"This was heady stuff, and as soon as Peter asked me if I was game to throw all former resolutions overboard and to join me in what appeared to be a desperate race against time, I knew that as far as I was concerned the gentleman's residence in Ireland could go to the devil. The thought of being able to do something positive—which we had suppressed for so long—was enough to send our spirits soaring, and I had Hitler behind bars and a new era dawning. . . ."

Their efforts, of course, were doomed to failure, and too late, they found themselves inside Germany for the duration of a war which they were both lucky to survive.

Peter's reputation for being "agin-the-government" cost them dearly. Not only had they to put up with all the physical dangers of war—the allied bombing, the scratching for food, but they had to beware of informers and watch their words so that their children did not repeat the wrong things at school. Inevitably, in 1944, after the plot against Hitler's life had failed, Peter was arrested and eventually sent to Ravensbrueck. He was one of the fortunate ones that were released, but his great friend Adam had hanged.

Christabel Bielenberg's book is warm, articulate, humorous and her only bitterness is directed towards "the prison trained inside out, with the criminals in command, noisy and ruthless, yet also naive and incompetent."

It also shows how a country, with its moderates struggling to avoid catastrophe, can be swept into the abyss by a company of strong-armed lunatics.

Rink

MDC officials said that their planner would explore the MHS site proposal with the Medford city planner, the Medford School Committee, and the Medford City Council.

State Representative Chadwick and State Senator Pellegrini joined Selectman Saltmarsh in speaking on behalf of the local objectors.

During the conference with the Commissioners, local residents also recommended stronger enforcement of speeding restrictions on South Border Road, which is patrolled by MDC Police. Increased lighting on the street was also a topic.

Selectman Saltmarsh said that the meeting with the MDC was an "amicable" one, with the Commissioner giving a "courteous" reception to the viewpoints of the Winchester delegation.

The Selectmen recently received a petition signed by 35 residents who objected to the proposed rink site.

After hearing Selectman Saltmarsh's report on the MDC meeting Tuesday evening, June 1, the Selectmen voted to have Executive Secretary Donnelly check weekly with MDC officials on the status of their site selection decision. The Selectmen noted that the proposed rink would be open nearly 24 hours a day eight months of the year.

Minibikes

According to State law a minibike may be driven on a person's own private property or on that of another person if such permission has been granted. Areas in which use is forbidden include streets, public ways, sidewalks, school and town property, and business properties (particularly food store parking lots).

Penalties for both youth and adult on violation of minibike operation begin with a citation for operating an unregistered and uninsured motor vehicle. If a court deems the operator guilty, a mandatory $100 for the uninsured vehicle is levied.

The progression is then to a suspension of the right to operate a period of time which varies at the discretion of the court. In the case of a youth this suspension will be enacted at that time when he applies for a motor vehicle license. Concerning an adult the Registry of Motor Vehicles may actually suspend or revoke his motor vehicle license. An adult may also be arrested for a minibike violation.

The Winchester Police Department is required to enforce these statutes just as it must implement those for motor vehicles. Adults "instructing" their children in the operation of minibikes are also urged to educate them in the law.

Humiliation is an emotion caused by suddenly shrinking to our normal proportions.

Selectmen

Promotions Made

The Selectmen joined Fire Chief Amico in congratulating three recently promoted members of the Fire Department. The men are Captain Robert W. McElhinney, and Lieutenant Norman J. Delorey and Charles R. McNutt.

A common victualer's license was granted to Stephen Captain of Peabody to operate a Captain Pizza restaurant at 791 Main Street. The applicant owns other branches in Peabody and North Andover. Operating hours, subject to adjustment depending upon patronage, will be from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. or midnight, Mr. Captain anticipates.

Taken under advisement was a request by T. Tighe & Sons of 36 Holton Street to store 5,000 gallons of gasoline underground.

See Parking Problem

Town officials and residents expressed concern about parking problems which they expect to develop when the new high school opens. A large group of Holland, Spruce and Nelson Streets residents attended a hearing Tuesday evening to discuss the matter with the Selectmen and Chief of Police Bowler.

The Selectmen took the matter under advisement, promising to inform area residents of their decision. The Selectmen plan to ask school authorities if it would be possible to provide additional off-street parking on the high school property.

Between 100 and 150 motorists, believed to be largely students, now park in the vicinity of the high school in the daytime. Since the new high school will have no space set aside for student parking, this number will likely be seeking parking room in the Holland, Spruce, and Nelson Streets area, Selectmen believe. The 195 parking spaces at the new school will be used by personnel and visitors.

Chief Bowler and Safety Officer Donald E. Pigott recommended parking restrictions on the three streets to help prevent safety hazards and to permit unimpeded movement of emergency vehicles.

To Organize

Organizational meetings of the Solid Waste Disposal Committee and the Snow and Ice Removal Study Committee will be held Monday evening, June 7, the Selectmen announced. Selectman William G. Chapman Jr. suggested that both groups supply Selectmen with minutes of their meetings and with advance notice of meeting dates.

The Conservation Commission has advised the Selectmen that it has chosen Nolan T. Jones as its appointee to the Snow and Ice Removal Study Committee.

Welfare Move

Winchester Welfare Service Officer Agent William Supple hopes to know by July where he can relocate his office. Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly informed the Selectmen this week. The town has asked the Welfare Office, a state agency, to move from Town Hall to make more room for town departments.

Renovations at Town Hall are under way. Architect Arthur Rand advised the Selectmen.

During the renovation work, some town departments will temporarily move into the auditorium. Executive Secretary Donnelly is arranging telephone service for such moves.

The Selectmen agreed to assist the Welfare office in its future moving project and to remind the state of the coming move.

Republican Women Meet For Bridge

The Church of the Epiphany was the scene of a dessert bridge held on May 13 for members and guests of the Women's Republican Club.

Generous contributions for door prizes were donated by the Winchester Drug, Spaulding Bookshop, Gift Boutique, Baskin Robbins, Lofano's and Anderson Jeweler's all of Winchester, and Cramer International of Newton.

About 25 tables for bridge formed the complement of a good afternoon.

Winchester, Woburn Battle Town Line Fire

When Winchester firefighters responded to a line box alarm at 12:45 a.m. Friday, May 21, they found the structure at 5-7 Main Street, Woburn, Wong's Chateau, "fully involved" in flames.

The combined efforts of Winchester and Woburn against the two-alarm fire ended approximately three hours later with heavy damage limited to the kitchen and overhead attic area. Smoke and water damage was experienced throughout the building.

A neighbor, Dr. James Higgins of 3 Main Street, Woburn, noticed flames escaping through the kitchen window of the Chinese restaurant and sounded box 561, joining Woburn apparatus were Winchester's engines 2 and 3 and light and ladder trucks.

Lieutenant James Connelly, in charge of Winchester apparatus, was joined by Chief I. Francis Amico, who sent in the call for additional equipment.

All Winchester firefighters had returned to the station, covered by Arlington, Medford, and Winchester during this time, by 3:13 a.m. Each engine had been pumping for about two hours.

Following a day-long examination of the structure Friday, Woburn Fire Chief Edward B. Callahan, Lieutenant Leo Walsh of the State Fire Marshal's Office, and Woburn Fire Inspector George Williams have tentatively determined that the blaze was caused by defective wiring in the kitchen.

No official estimate of the damage has been made as yet. The amount of insurance carried on the building owned by Wong Quan Yen of Boston has not yet been ascertained.

Firefighters completed duties that Friday with a two-hour fight against flames at a Cambridge Street residence, Engines 2 and 3 and the ladder and rescue trucks responded.

The third floor area and roof was the focus of the fire at 130 Cambridge Street, property owned by Richard Bray. Apparatus was discharged at 7:19 p.m. with the rescue truck and fire prevention car returning the next day for salvage work and investigation.

In charge were Chief Amico, Acting Captain Joseph E. Shea, and Acting Lieutenant Charles R. McNutt.

The spinster expressed no lament at her situation in life: "I have a dog that growls, a parrot that swears, a fireplace that smokes, and a cat that stays out all night. Why should I want a husband?"

A LIVE DEMONSTRATION of Bohemian glass blowing by Miss Grace Howell will highlight 100th Anniversary Week at the Winchester Savings Bank June 14-18.

Veterinarians' Meeting Attended By Dr. Sandler

Dr. Arthur Sandler of the Winchester Animal Hospital, 831 Main Street, returned recently from a small animal practitioner convention in Miami, Florida.

Dr. Sandler is a practitioner affiliate member of the American Animal Hospital Association, an association of veterinarians specializing in small animals and animal hospitals and concerned with the progress of current information and knowledge in veterinary medicine and to the improvement of its practice.

Seminars conducted by eminent veterinarians and other qualified professionals afforded all attending the opportunity to become familiar with current knowledge in improved hospital, medical and surgical procedures.

Dr. Sandler also visited several greyhound breeders and kennels in Florida and newly built animal hospitals in order to acquire new concepts in animal hospital construction.

She has demonstrated her creativity on a number of top television variety shows including a guest appearance on the Johnny Carson "Tonight" Show.

According to Miss Howell, there are only five families left in America who work in the colored glass novelty field. Three of these have no one to carry on the craft.

Miss Howell, who can trace an interesting history in glass from its beginnings in the sands of Egypt and Phoenicia, works with colored glass rods from the Corning Glass Company containing ingredients from the four corners of the world.

Her fascinating process includes twirling and twisting the glass rods between gas flames which produce a cross-fire of 3200 degrees.

Miss Howell always starts her daily performance with the "Bluebird of Happiness." This special multi-colored piece, which she fashions as a prelude to her demonstration, consists of a tiny "crocheted" glass nest which houses a worm-carrying mother bird, two unhatched eggs, and a baby bird.

A miniature masterpiece just one inch big, the "Bluebird" was originally created over 30 years ago by Miss Howell for Shirley Temple. One of them sits forever in Shirley Temple's movie, "The Bluebird," while another perches on Mamie Eisenhower's treasure shelf. Two of them are reported to be housed in Queen Elizabeth's doll house.

Miss Howell has exhibited at the old reconstructed village of Sturbridge, created the decorations of a well-known Westchester, New York restaurant, and has pieces including a bell, decorated flower vase, a replica of a 2000 year-old pitcher, and her famous "bluebird," all on exhibit in the Corning Glass Museum.

Visitors will have an opportunity to take home a free piece of Miss Howell's glass artware by donating three dollars to the Winchester Scholarship Fund, according to bank officials.

Each visitor will also receive a free memento of 100th Anniversary week. There will be free lollipops for children.

Sandy Beach Murder Case Is In Court

On the morning of November 29 the body of a 33-year-old Hull man was discovered in the Sandy Beach area of the Mystic Lakes. In the recent court cases of two men charged with the murder, one has received a finding of "not guilty," while the second will submit to penalties on two lesser charges.

On Friday, May 21, in Middlesex Superior Court, Cambridge, Michael D. Whittier, 23, of Somerville was found "not guilty" of murder after five hours of deliberation by the jury.

A "no prosequi" decision was made on a murder charge for Joseph Fitzpatrick, 20, of Dorchester that Friday. On Monday, May 24, according to the State District Attorney's office, he pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact and to the unlawful carrying of a firearm. For the first offense he received one year in the House of Correction, committed; for the second, three years minimum, five years maximum in Walpole State Prison, suspended. He will be on probation for two years after serving the House of Correction stay.

The case has been prosecuted by the State District Attorney's office, with Assistant District Attorney Leonard Frisoli appearing before the jury and Judge Francis L. Lapin on Friday.

Investigation during the past six months has been carried out by the detective's division of the Wellington Circle Station, Medford, Metropolitan District Police. The Sandy Beach Shore is under the jurisdiction of MDC police.

Police and legal action originally began with that November morning discovery by a passer-by. The victim, James E. Teehan, 33, of Hull, had been shot twice in the head.

Fellowship Won By Dr. S. Hood

Dr. Stephen B. Hood of the Speech and Hearing Clinic, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio, has been awarded a clinical fellowship in the Institute of Stuttering Therapy, to be held in July and August at Northern Michigan University in Marquette, Michigan. Dr. Hood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Hood of Winchester.

Dr. Hood was one of 15 fellows selected from among applicants from colleges and universities throughout the United States. He is assistant professor and director of the stuttering program at Bowling Green. The announcement of the award was made by the Speech Foundation of America of Memphis, Tennessee.

In 1969, Dr. Hood received his doctor of philosophy degree in communicative disorders from the University of Wisconsin.

During the five-week institute, he will be participating in intensive observational and therapeutic sessions with stutters, conducted by master therapists, and several well-known consultants in speech pathology from major universities.

The Speech Foundation of America has previously sponsored seven bi-annual conferences on various aspects of the problem of stuttering.

The heart and blood vessel diseases now claim the lives of more than 1,000,000 Americans yearly, being responsible for about 53 percent of all deaths.

Scouts Collect 13,000 Tin Cans

Witness did not dampen the efforts of several Boy Scout troops and packs from Winchester, Stoneham, and Woburn from collecting over 13,000 cans, weighing over three-quarters of a ton in Scouting's Save Our American Resources tin can drive Saturday, May 22. The cans were deposited in a truck at Atlantic Gelatin in Woburn to be transported to a can company for metal recycling.

Troop 525 of the Vinson-Owen School was one of three troops credited with collecting the most cans in each of their respective communities. Information of future collections will be announced.

Engraving Project Is Precaution To Summer Thefts

According to statistics gathered by the Winchester Police Department, July and August are two of the three peak months in which burglaries occur in this town. This year, however, local property owners may take a precautionary measure by participating in the Homeowners Engraving Identification program.

The project, for which there is no cost to participants, was initiated on May 20. Property owners are urged to borrow engraving tools from the Winchester Police Department for a period of three days to inscribe their social security numbers on a permanent part of each selected item, usually near the manufacturer's serial plate.

Such valuable items and their descriptions are then registered with the Police Department. Stickers warning burglars that "All valuables on these premises have been marked for identification by Law Enforcement Agencies" are then distributed and should be adhered to conspicuous locations on doors and windows.

Police find that their greatest problem when investigating thefts is in obtaining an adequate identification of stolen items. If property has been marked and registered through this project, it not only can be more easily traced, but also carries a stigma which may prevent it from being "marketed" by the thief.

Property which recommends itself for engraving are those valuables which can be readily converted to cash by the burglar, such as televisions, radios, stereos, recording equipment, musical instruments, typewriters and business machines, musical instruments, cameras, lawn, gardening, and power tools, etc.

Initial funds for the project have been provided by the Winchester Rotary Club. As a part of the Federal grant "Comprehensive Attack on Burglary" program, the Homeowners Engraving project will be subjected to the same evaluation procedures.

Local officers will provide additional information or assistance to those inquiring about details. This form of involvement by the community is beneficial not only to the property owner, but also to the Police Department.

It is especially timely for those who will vacate local residences at some time during the approaching summer. At the same time the chances of being a burglary victim are greatly increased, the odds that a case will be satisfactorily solved due to the owner's absence are decreased.

HOUSEBREAK

The Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 in October of 1970 for the project "Comprehensive Attacks on Auto Theft and Burglary." In connection with this heightened focus on burglary, the Department will present "Housebreak," a column suggesting ways in which Winchester residents may assist these efforts against crime in weeks to come through the pages of The Star. Look for it.

"Wolf! Wolf!" The moral of the fable which these words recall (that if you treat serious matters lightly you will lose in the end) applies to housebreaks, also, specifically to burglar alarm protection.

The Police Department receives several false burglar alarms each day. Though we respond to all calls, nine times out of ten we find that the alarm was caused by carelessness or mechanical defect. Please cooperate with your police in their efforts to protect your lives and property. Stop crying "Wolf! Wolf!"

Saturday Marks Missionaries' Lawn Party

The annual Summer Lawn Party of the Medical Missionaries of Mary will be held on Saturday, June 5, on the grounds of the Sisters at One Arlington Street.

Open from 9 to 9; the party will offer many new attractions to its patrons, from generous supplies of home-cooked delights to valuable gifts, antiques, and a very special assortment of summer things. Amusements will provide fascination for all comers, from the toddlers' fishpond on the south lawn, to the fast-rolling ballgames for adults.

The catering department is offering, from 11:30 a.m. until closing time, a roast beef dinner at a low, low price. The department will be prepared to serve patrons until 8 p.m. Evening church-goers are invited to come in after the early service, or before the late one.

The M.M.M. cake table will again be supplied by donations from many Winchester friends, as well as by the Sisters' own Irish bread and elegant brownies. Many of these treats will also be served in the catering department, for those who prefer.

In the White Elephant House, antiques and works of art will elude the amazing variety of objects for sale, all of them useful, many very decorative, and most of them desirable for home or sport. Among the unusual items are: new exercise and golf equipment; engraved goblets; an 1863 newspaper sheet reporting President Lincoln's death; a wallpaper print from a press captured at Vicksburg; several old china-head dolls; old and sought for picture frames, inkwells, costume jewelry and toys. This section will be located in the annex.

Patrons are again encouraged to avail themselves of a shuttle service between the center of the Lawn Party and the parking facilities. For parking, it is recommended that direct approach be made through Arlington Street and Wood Lane, to the Fernway entrance. There service will be available for quick transport to the main entrance.

On hand to welcome guests will be Sister Anne E. Comiskey, Superior of the Medical Missionaries of Mary in Winchester; Sister Joanne, who is in direct charge of the Lawn Party; Sister Rosalind, who has recently arrived from the Turkana Desert, Kenya, via her native Scotland; Sister Teresa Quinn, who has come from Tanzania, where she has been missioned for eight years; and Sister Clair O'Leary, now in this country on an International Hospital Administration Fellowship.

Booths at the Lawn Party will be staffed by volunteers from various organizations: The M.M.M. Guild, which is serving in this capacity for the 20th consecutive year; the Men for the Missions; The Cabrini Nurses' Guild; Wakefield High School Peace Corps; and various local Courts of the Catholic Daughters of America.

Proceeds from this annual event will be devoted to the medical, surgical and maternity work of the M.M.M. Sisters, who render their skilled services in areas of the world as yet lacking in trained personnel to care for their own needs. Of particular urgency this year are two special areas: The Turkana Desert, Kenya, which has again suffered a severe drought, resulting in starvation for the nomad people who roam the area; and the leprosy work of the M.M.M. in Africa, particularly in East and South Nigeria, where reorganization of care and healing is still underway after the destruction suffered in the Biafran conflict.

ATTENTION!

A REPORT TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

There will be NO INCREASE in the cost of either of the two types of our service contracts for the coming year.

Call for further information.

Garden Club Officers Elected

The 40th annual meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held on May 27 in the home of Mrs. Hazen H. Ayer.

At the business meeting conducted by President Mrs. Robert M. Smith, it was voted to purchase some plants, probably dwarf evergreens and flowering shrubs, to re-new the Japanese rock gardens on the Winchester Common.

A real effort has been made to reach the school children at an early age, to make them aware of the problem of litter. Since the showing of the film "Litter Monster" in all the elementary schools, kindergarten through grade six, tangible results of the children's awareness of the problem have been noted by the Club.

The following officers were elected for the coming year:
President—Mrs. Robert M. Smith
Vice-President—Mrs. Walworth B. Williams
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Hazen H. Ayer

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Lewis L. Wadsworth Jr.
Treasurer—Mrs. William J. Speers Jr.
Chairmen of committees for 1971-1972 are:
Anti-Litter—Mrs. Philip P. Wadsworth

In a double-ring ceremony mid-afternoon Saturday, May 19, in the Three Village Community Church, East Setauket, Long Island, New York, Miss Judith Anne Abramov, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Abramov of Glen Oaks, New York, was married to Wayne J. Thorburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thorburn of 399 Washington Street.

Officiating at the service was the Rev. William L. O'Byrne Jr., a reception immediately followed in the Holiday Inn, Centereach, Long Island.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of white satin trimmed with white fur. A shoulder-length veil and bouquet of mixed flowers complemented her ensemble.

Miss Ronda Mansford of Stony Brook, New York, was maid of honor.

Warren J. Thorburn of Lexington, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Lawrence Lynn of Washington, D.C., and Ronald B. Dear of Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Stony Brook University. Mr. Thorburn was graduated from Tufts University and received a master's degree from Pennsylvania State. He is currently completing work on a doctorate in political science at the University of Maryland.

They will continue their evaluation of proposals for providing additional elementary school space, and their support for pupil services at the elementary school level.

It was also voted to support measures to establish the Town Manager Form of government, to encourage short and long range planning by Town boards, and to work for the preservation of open land space in Winchester and the upgrading of the Aberjona River.

Other officers elected are Mrs. William Wells, first vice-president; Mrs. Arpad von Lazar, second vice-president; Mrs. Richard Sampson, secretary; and Mrs. Clarence Feldman, treasurer. A graduate of Camden County Vocational and Technical High School, class of 1967, Mr. Schindler served four years in the U.S. Navy and is presently working as a printer in Boston.

The wedding will take place in May of 1972.

Revised Zoning By-Laws SectionThe text of the revised section on non-conformities from the proposed Zoning By-Law has been released by the Planning Board. The
By-Law will be considered at a Special Town Meeting at 7:45 p.m.
Wednesday evening, June 16, at Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium.Highlights of the changes were, The changes were published in the recently outlined to the Board of May 20 issue of the Star.
Selectmen by the Planning Board. The revised section follows:SECTION 3 — NON-CONFORMING LOTS, NON-CONFORMING USES OF LAND, NON-CONFORMING STRUCTURES, NON-CONFORMING USES OF STRUCTURES AND PREMISES,
AND NON-CONFORMING CHARACTERISTICS OF USE*3.1 Intent3.11 Within the districts established by this by-law, or amendments that may later be adopted, where exist

- (a) lots,
- (b) buildings and structures,
- (c) uses of land and buildings and structures, and
- (d) characteristics of use which were lawful before this by-law was passed or amended, but which are or would be prohibited, regulated, or restricted under the terms of this by-law or future amendment, it is the intent of this by-law to permit these non-conformities to continue until they are removed. It is further the intent of this by-law that non-conformities shall not be enlarged upon nor used as grounds for adding other structures or uses prohibited elsewhere in the same district, except as specifically provided in this section.3.12 To avoid undue hardship, nothing in this by-law shall be deemed to require a change in the plans, construction, or designated use of any building on which actual construction was lawfully begun prior to the effective date of adoption or amendment of this by-law and upon which actual building construction has been carried on diligently. Actual construction is hereby defined to include the placing of construction materials in permanent position and fastened in a permanent manner. Where excavation or demolition or removal of a building, such excavation or demolition or removal shall be deemed to be actual construction, provided that work shall be carried on diligently.3.2 Non-Conforming Lots of Record3.21 If two or more lots or combinations of lots and portions of lots with continuous frontage in single ownership are of record at the time of passage or amendment of this by-law, and if all or part of the lots do not meet the requirements established for lot width and area, the lands involved shall be considered to be an undivided parcel for the purpose of this by-law, and no portion of said parcel shall be used or sold in a manner which diminishes compliance with the requirements stated in this by-law, except that such lots may be used or sold separately where each lot is occupied by a structure designed for a use which is permitted as a principal use in the district.3.22 In any district in which single-family dwellings are permitted, a single-family dwelling and customary accessory buildings may be erected on any single lot of record at the effective date of adoption or amendment of this by-law, notwithstanding limitations imposed by other provisions of this by-law. This provision shall apply even though such lot fails to meet requirements for area or width, or both, that are generally applicable in the district, provided that yard dimensions and requirements other than those applying to area or width or both, of the lot shall conform to the regulations for the district in which such lot is located. Such lot must be separate in ownership and not of continuous frontage with other lots in the same ownership. Variance of yard requirements shall be obtained only through action of the Board of Appeals.3.3 Non-Conforming Uses of LandWhere at the time of passage of this by-law, lawful use of land exists which would not be permitted by the regulations imposed by this by-law, the use may be continued so long as it remains otherwise lawful, provided:3.31 No such non-conforming use shall be enlarged or increased, nor extended to occupy a greater area of land than was occupied at the effective date of adoption or amendment of this by-law;3.32 No such non-conforming use shall be moved in whole or in part to any portion of land other than that dedicated to such use at the effective date of adoption or amendment of this by-law, unless such moving will result in a structure complying with the yard requirement of the district;3.33 If any such non-conforming use of land is discontinued for any reason for a period of more than 24 consecutive months, any subsequent use of such land shall conform to the regulations specified by this by-law for the district in which such land is located;3.34 No structure not conforming to the requirements of this by-law shall be erected in connection with such non-conforming use of land.3.4 Non-Conforming StructuresWhere a lawful structure exists at the effective date of adoption or amendment of this by-law that could not be built under the terms of this by-law by reason of restrictions on area, lot coverage, height, yards, its location on the lot, or other requirements concerning the structure, such structure may be continued so long as it remains otherwise lawful, subject to the following provisions:3.41 Alterations, major repairs or additions which enlarge the exterior dimensions of a non-conforming structure being used for a purpose permitted in the district, shall be permitted if such alteration, repair or addition meets all of the requirements of the district.3.42 Should such non-conforming structure or non-conforming portion of structure be destroyed by any means to an extent of more than 75 per cent of its replacement cost at time of destruction, it may be rebuilt notwithstanding the lot area and frontage requirements of the district, providing the reconstruction meets all the other requirements of this by-law.3.5 Non-Conforming Uses of Structures or of Structures and Premises in CombinationLawful uses of structures, or structures and land in combination, which existed at the effective date of adoption or amendment of this by-law, that would not be allowed in the district under the terms of this by-law, may be continued so long as it remains otherwise lawful, subject to the following provisions:3.51 Any structure being lawfully devoted to a use not permitted by this by-law may be altered, repaired or reconstructed for the same use, or for any other use as permitted in subsection 3.53, provided such construction or reconstruction does not increase the floor area or the lot area covered by the structure;3.52 No non-conforming uses may be extended throughout any parts of a building that were not arranged or designed for such uses at the time of adoption or amendment of this by-law, and no such uses shall be extended to occupy any land outside such building;3.53 Any non-conforming use of a structure, or structure and premises, may as a special exception be changed to another non-conforming use provided that the Board of Appeal, either by general rule or by making findings in the specific case, shall find that the proposed use is equally appropriate or more appropriate to the district than the existing non-conforming use. In permitting such change, the Board of Appeal may require appropriate conditions and safeguards in accord with the provisions of this by-law;3.54 Any structure, or structure and land in combination, in or on which a non-conforming use is superseded by a permitted use, shall thereafter conform to the regulations for this district, and the non-conforming use may not thereafter be resumed;3.55 When a non-conforming use of a structure, or structure and premises in combination, is discontinued for 24 consecutive months, or for five years in the case of an agricultural use, the non-conforming use shall be deemed to have been abandoned and shall not thereafter be used except in conformity with the regulations of the district in which it is located;3.56 If a non-conforming structure or portion of a structure containing a non-conforming use becomes physically unsafe or unlawful and is declared by any duly authorized official to be unsafe or unlawful by reason of physical condition, it shall not thereafter be restored, repaired, or rebuilt except in conformity with the regulations of the district in which it is located.3.6 Uses Under Special Exception Provisions Not Non-Conforming UsesAny use which is permitted as a special exception in a district under the terms of this by-law (other than a change through Board of Appeal action from a non-conforming use to another use not generally permitted in the district) shall not be deemed a non-conforming use in such district, but shall without further action be considered a conforming use.Regional School

Summer Program
Schedule ReadyAn open admission policy has been established for a special six-weeks intensive vocational summer program at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School.In announcing the summer school program Superintendent - Director
Douglas J. Tilley said it was designed to serve a wide variety of needs and admission will be open to all high school grade levels.The Northeast summer program will begin on June 29 and continue for six consecutive weeks, Monday through Friday, from 8:15 a.m. to 12:35 p.m. Bus transportation will be provided on a scheduled basis as it is for the regular school year.Applicants for the summer program will be accepted in the vocational area of their choice until each program is filled. The following vocational instructional areas will be offered for the summer session: applied design, auto body repair, auto mechanics, basic electronics, cabinetmaking, carpentry, electricity, food service, graphic communications, machine drafting, machine shop, metal fabrication, plumbing and pipefitting, and sheet metal.For those students not accepted into the regular full program, the summer school has been designed as an on-going program enabling them to participate in the evening program one night each week through the school year for a total of three years full-time summer and part-time winter attendance.For those students accepted for the full term, the summer school is designed to give them a head start in preparation for their exploratory program in the ninth grade.
Students enrolled at Northeast are being encouraged to participate voluntarily in the summer program by taking vocational courses in allied trades as an adjunct to their regular course of study.High school students who intend to continue college preparatory programs or general courses at their local high school are also being urged to enroll in the Northeast summer school. According to Superintendent Tilley, the six-week intensive program, and the one-night-a-week evening program beginning in the fall, could equip them with basic salable skills for part-time employment during school years. This program will include 12th grade students graduating in June, 1971.Registration for the Northeast summer school will be held at the regional school on Saturday, June 12, beginning at 9 a.m. Bus transportation will be provided for applicants and their parents from central location in each of the 12 communities. The bus schedule will be announced prior to registration day.The instructional and guidance staff will welcome parents of summer school applicants on registration day while the applicants are being registered. A five dollar registration fee is the only requirement for enrollment, according to the Superintendent.In an effort to assist in registration for summer school, the Flors Bus Company, which provides transportation to Northeast during the school year, has donated buses to take those applicants and their parents to the regional school for registration who otherwise would have no means of getting to the school located in Wakefield.GOT CAR PROBLEMS?*RENT A FORD

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

Life insurance loans are unquestionably the easiest, fastest and least expensive to negotiate of any other borrowing method. Any policy that accumulates a cash value qualifies for a loan. What is meant by cash value is the money you could get by surrendering your policy — a cash value that is as good as cash itself. As a rule, term insurance policies do not qualify for loans because they have no cash value.

The interest rates are comparatively low — generally five or six percent on outstanding amounts.

Your insurance agent can arrange for a loan up to the full cash value less the interest due, for the balance of the year to the anniversary date of the policy.

On Life Insurance"

Tribute To Leon Atwood Smith

By Cynthia L. Barone

Mrs. William D. Barone of 1 School Street initiated the idea and served as chairman of the First Congregational Church's "Appreciation Party for Ruth and Leon Smith" in 1964, which drew to 3,000 persons attended. Mrs. Barone wrote the tribute below in memory of the church's sexton, who died recently. Editor's Note.

Several weeks ago we were saddened by the sudden passing away of Leon A. Smith of the First Congregational Church staff. Shortly after the unusual funeral service, so thoughtfully prepared by various groups within the church, I reminiscently thumbed through the several bulging folders of working material accumulated by me seven years ago at the time of our church's "Appreciation Party for Ruth and Leon Smith."

Looking over the letters received at the time, noting the long list of volunteer workers for the party, scanning the names of those who contributed toward the gifts for Ruth and Leon, reading the clippings from front-page stories about Leon in Boston papers, the editorial in the Winchester Star, and writings in other local papers, renewed for me the factual proof of Leon's widespread following.

My husband and I, together with our children, had experienced a close relationship with Leon over the 23 year period during which he was affiliated with the church and it became apparent, once the reception plans were underway, that many, many other families felt the same way about him.

The Appreciation Party was held on March 15, 1964, "Because," as our letter to the congregation stated, "Leon, with his warm personality, his constant eagerness to help, and his incomparable knowledge of the workings of First Church, holds a special place in the minds and hearts of all who know him."

It was my privilege to receive and edit the over 350 letters which friends sent to Leon from near and far. These were incorporated into a bound volume for Mr. and Mrs. Smith and at that time I copied and saved from the letters approximately 50 excerpts which especially appealed to me. I would like to share some of these with Winchester Star readers for I believe that they serve (better than any other words one person might write) as a loving tribute to our friend, Leon Atwood-Smith.

Excerpts from letters to Leon Smith:

"... a smiling greeting that is both friendly and sincere is just about the finest welcome that a parishioner can receive."

"... we never consider a visit back to Winchester is really complete unless we catch a glimpse of you."

"... whenever I try to think of people who are real Christians, your name is one of the first to come to mind."

"... you are the world's greatest organizer of weddings... whether dealing with beautiful brides, nervous grooms, or panicky parents, you are able to keep everything under control... it would seem doubtful to us that any wedding conducted without your supervision would be legal."

"... all over Winchester Center... down the street, past the banks, the drug store... you meet all with a smile of recognition. Everyone says, 'Hi, Leon!'. 'How are you today, Leon?'... you always have a pleasant word and smile."

"... In a world that gets itself too busy, too occupied with big deals, there is one man who never is too busy to help someone... who is never too rushed to be kind to older people, to be sure flowers go to the sick, that people in trouble are helped... Leon, to me, is what I call, the greatest Christian of us all."

"... One little boy in public kindergarten was asked by a small friend where he went to church and he replied... 'I go to Leon's Church!'"

"... I was teaching a class of four-year-olds. Our stories centered about Jesus and what a wonderful person He was. We had just finished saying, 'Jesus went around all the time doing kind things for everyone...'"

"... he was a sweet, special person. At that moment Leon walked in to get something. He tickled a little girl, ruffled a little boy's hair and went out. A little voice sang out, 'Teacher, was that Jesus?'"

"... You have responded with a service of love... love of your work and love of meeting and serving people has in turn taught all to love you."

"... when I was a shut-in you brought me the sermons after church."

"... how anyone could be so unselfishly cheerful I don't know but it's the kind of gospel Christians are apt to talk about but often fail to show in their lives."

"... at one time you thought of studying for the ministry... you have served our Church with such Christian grace, warmth, unfailing devotion, loyalty and good cheer that you have ministered to our people as effectively as if your first wish had been fulfilled."

"... you have shown us all, by practice, that the pleasure of doing good is the only one that will never wear out..."

"... Leon has given a living example of the injunction to go the second mile. The eight hour day means nothing to him when something needs to be done."

"... Sunday wouldn't be Sunday without your smiling greeting to our family on our way to Church..."

"... behind every good man is a helping, patient wife... our love to your wife for sharing you with us for 23 years..."

"... Leon Smith and the Congregation Church are synonymous"

"Truly you have influenced and helped more lives than you know... when any of our widespread family comes home and wants to see the church... it's 'the Church and Leon' that they're dropping in to see..."

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

"Survey our empire, and behold our home." — Byron, English poet.
(1788-1824).

Your best social security number is your house number.

Owning your own home creates a safe feeling. You know it is a safeguard against inflation. If prices go up, so does the value of your property.

Your home is an investment. Your mortgage payments are buying something. You are not just paying rent.

Owning your home gives you a tax advantage. Your real estate taxes are deductible when figuring income tax. The interest on your mortgage or land contract is also deductible.

Owning your own home makes you a substantial part of the community. It also gives you a good credit rating.

Many people have started on the road to financial independence through home ownership.

A well-bought home is like a savings account.

Watch Next Week For "Restrictive Covenants"

Whether a buyer or seller, you will have complete confidence in Ann Blackham and Company. We offer you a complete real estate service, and handle both residential and commercial real estate. We'll be happy to serve you at Ann Blackham and Company, 11 Thompson Street, phone 729-1663. Open daily 9 till 5, evenings and Sundays by appointment.

THE CORCORAN BROTHERS

St. Mary's Club "Coe au Vin" Is June 12

On Saturday, June 12, at 8:00 p.m., the Mr. and Mrs. Club will sponsor a "Coe au Vin" dinner for St. Mary's Parish. The barbecued chicken repast will be accompanied by an appropriate wine, to be held outside, under lights, in the festively decorated parking area.

Highlight of the relaxed evening will be "The Corcoran Brothers" who have entertained audiences throughout New England, New York, New Jersey, California, the British Isles and locally at the Harp and Bard Restaurant.

John recently wrote a musical score for the segment of the CBS program "60 Minutes." Their success has just seen the release of a new record album "For A Few Lovin' Minutes." Their unusual playing and singing style will provide an enjoyable evening.

Following the recent success of the "Fantasies," so much enjoyed by the parish, tickets for "Coe au Vin" are moving quickly and should be reserved as soon as possible from any of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burns, 729-0219; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ellis, 729-6724; Mr. and Mrs. Jack McInnis, 729-7949; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lyon, 729-4962; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ulwick, 729-6323; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Welch, 729-3651.

ATTENTION ALL STUDENTS

A Round Trip Student Fare from $200 to $220 is now being offered by Pan American and Sabena Belgian Airlines for direct flights between New York and Brussels.

This low fare is available to bona-fide students between the ages of 12 and 22. Tickets will have the normal validity of one year and, since there are no minimum stay requirements, students can travel either to attend school or for vacation. Reservations for these special fares can be made only within 72 hours prior to departure. Naturally this stipulation also applies for the return flights.

In practical terms, a student will be able to combine this new fare with Intra-European flights or surface transportation and thus significantly undercut to lowest existing fares, such as the 29/45 Day Excursion to many European destinations. However, the greatest advantage still remains that the student ticket has the validity of one year.

There is no question that this time the carriers have been able to find a meaningful way to combat the erratic, unpredictable and all too often illegal charter flights to Europe.

John Tello Is UMaine Frose Team Captain

by John F. Parrell

John Tello, a member of last year's Winchester High School baseball team, has had a fine season as a member of the freshman team at the University of Maine. Head Coach Jack Butterfield is hoping that he will continue his good performance as a member of the varsity during the next three years.

Playing under freshman coach Dick DeVarney, John led the team in batting, home runs, and runs batted in. He also caught every inning of every game. As a result of his overall performance he was selected as captain for this season.

The coaches send this appraisal of John, "A good, solid, steady young man, who gets the job done."

Girls' Tennis Team Undefeated

Winchester's Girls' Tennis team completed an undefeated season. The team, led by co-captains Kathy Lisberger and Sarah Bates, defeated all of its Middlesex League opponents and Newton and Lincoln-Sudbury. A match scheduled with Jackson College ended 3-3.

Playing number one singles was Sue Goodwin, the brilliant local tennis star. Kathy Levinson and Tricia Johns played second and third singles. Sue and Trisha were undefeated. Trisha's come-from-behind three-set victory over her Lexington opponent was one of the highlights of the season.

Kathy Lisberger and Sarah Bates were the number-one doubles team. Their victory at Lexington, overcoming a 0-5 first-set score, clinched the match of the team.

Carol Anderson with Eileen Brennan and Janet Lisberger, formed the number-two doubles team. Carol and Eileen as a team were undefeated.

Additional matches were played with most schools. Chris O'Connor, playing with Eileen Brennan and Janet Lisberger, was undefeated. Other girls who were active members of the team are: Kathy Wynn, Gwen Seferian, Karen Roche, Robin Fahey, Ellen Cunningham, Pam Speers, Mary Young, Maryanne Bates, Terry Monahan, Emily Stebbins, Karen Murphy, Mary Powers, Kathy Raleigh, Nancy Higgins, Beth Roche, and Mary Bannister.

Penta Twirls Two-Hit Game, Edging Stoneham

by John F. Parrell

Larry Penta, who lost his last game when the defense collapsed behind him, finally got the victory he deserved when the Sachems nosed out Stoneham, 2-1. Larry limited the Spartans to two hits, a single and a double, to run his record to only five hits by the opposition in the last 13 innings he has worked. The win brought the Sachem season record to 6-11 and marked the second time this season that Stoneham was beaten by them in a tight game. Coach McGillicuddy of the Spartans must feel that either his team has a fixation or that Winchester has a hex on them.

Coach Bill Colella's nine went right to work in the first inning as Bob Salvucci reached on a throwing error which also allowed him to get to second base. A bunt by Bob Carroll was misplayed and he was safe with Salvucci going to third. Ben Dolan then hit to the infield and Carroll was forced, but Salvucci had tallied the game's first run. This held up until the fifth inning when the home team knotted the count.

An error by the Sachem infield put Len DeSimone on second base and he went west to third on a passed ball. However, Jay Phelan doubled for the first base hit off Penta's offerings and the game was deadlocked. A single by DeSimone in the final inning was the only other Stoneham hit, and Penta bore down to retire the side. It was a well pitched game for Larry who had excellent control and gave only a single base on balls.

Ben Dolan swung a big bat for Winchester with a double and a triple. Besides driving in the first inning run he also scored the winning marker as he tripled in the sixth inning. Tom James was walked and up came Dana Peterson. He dropped down a perfect squeeze bunt and Ben bombed across the plate to insure the victory. A seventh inning Winchester threat went by the board as an error, and a single by Bob Salvucci put John Procopio on third only to have the latter caught in a throw third and home after a pickoff attempt at first base by the Spartan pitcher.

The box score:

Boys', Girls' Tennis Teams Sweep To Middlesex Titles

by John F. Parrell

It is one thing to win a championship and another to go undefeated, but when both girls and boys from the same school achieve the same distinction, it is indeed a rarity. Such was the performance of the Sachems in tennis. Both dominated all team Middlesex opposition to score victories over every rival and easily walked off with the title. Don Stangel was coach of the boys' team while Miss Jan Collins directed the girls in their efforts.

Co-captains Sarah Bates and Kathy Lisberger led the girls' court group, which not only bested all nine Middlesex opponents but also defeated two outside powers, Newton and Lincoln-Sudbury. Seven of the matches were taken by shutouts. The only close ones were with Lexington, Belmont, and Melrose, in which the Winchester girls prevailed, 3-2.

The players for the Sachems were:

Singles: Sue Goodwin, Tricia Johns and Kathy Lisberger Doubles: Sarah Bates and Kathy Lisberger; Carol Anderson and Eileen Brennan; Janet Lisberger and Chris O'Connor

The season's record:
Winchester 5, Woburn 0
Winchester 5, Wakefield 0
Winchester 3, Lexington 2
Winchester 5, Watertown 0
Winchester 3, Melrose 2
Winchester 4, Newton 1
Winchester 3, Belmont 2
Winchester 5, Stoneham 0
Winchester 5, Lincoln-Sudbury 0
Winchester 5, Concord-Carlisle 0
Winchester 5, Reading 0

Coach Stangel's boys team was equally successful in league play and shutout Wakefield, Watertown, and Stoneham. In four of the other league matches the tally was 4-1 in favor of Winchester. The only close league contest was with Belmont and the Sachems won 3-2. They also played tonight non-league teams and although they were not so successful in these contests the experience gained served them in good stead against Middlesex League opposition.

State Title At Stake At Longmeadow Saturday

by John F. Parrell

Coach Gene Bouley takes his Winchester lacrosse team to Longmeadow Saturday afternoon to play Longmeadow, the defending state champions. The Longmeadow team, champions of western Massachusetts, took the finals last year as they overcame a big lead by the Sachem stickmen to take the title by a single goal.

The Winchester team has swept Governor Dummer, and Rivers School to run their record to 14 straight.

With last year's disappointment still ranking in their minds, the Sachem squad, down to the last reserve, is resolved to even the score with Longmeadow. Their only satisfactory solution is a convincing win on Saturday to nail down the state championship for 1971.

Lacrosse Team Now Has 14 Wins

by John F. Parrell

The Winchester lacrosse team finished off its schedule with high school teams as they chalked up their tenth win of the campaign by beating a good team from Framingham North, 8-1. The score might have been much larger but for some excellent work in the goal by John Yaeger of the visitors. He turned in many difficult saves but the heavy pressure of Coach Gene Bouley's boys on attack resulted in eight well deserved goals. The Sachem defense was in good form and foiled all Framingham efforts except for a lone break away goal. Rick Murphy in the Winchester nets had 19 saves. The final score favored Winchester 8-1.

WINCHESTER SCORING

| | G | A |
|----------------|---|---|
| John Thomas | 2 | 1 |
| Larry Knowlton | 1 | 0 |
| Gary Fincke | 1 | 2 |
| Phil Sampson | 2 | 0 |
| Curt Woodward | 1 | 0 |
| Mike Desher | 1 | 0 |
| George Evans | 0 | 1 |

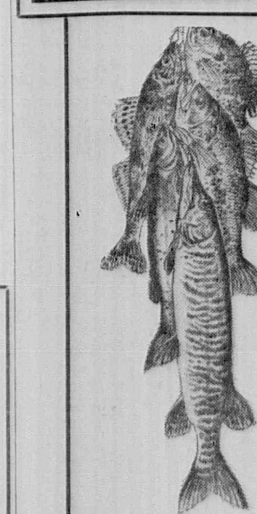

The following day the Winchester stickmen downed a scrappy Rivers School team, 9-4. The home team threw a scare into the Sachems during the first half, but the local team kept pressing the attack to go on to their 14th straight win. Rick Murphy was bombarded by 40 shots taken by the preppers and had to be at his best to keep the score down.

An early goal by Captain Phil Sampson put Winchester in front, but a minute later Rivers had a goal to deadlock the count. On the ensuing faceoff the prep school team scored again for a 2-1 lead. This held up until there were only 30 seconds left in the first period. Gary Fincke set up Curt Woodward at this point and the latter chalked up the equalizer.

Gary Fincke got his goal to put Winchester ahead, but Rivers was still far from finished and soon rallied to make it a 3-3 game. Jackie Brennan came off the bench and made it 4-3, and this was the half time score. The third period saw Sack of the home team hang up his third goal to deadlock the count once more. However, after only 30 seconds had elapsed Gary Fincke gave the Sachems a 5-4 lead, which they never relinquished.

During the final six minutes Winchester put on a sustained assault on the Rivers cage. Curt Woodward scored, with George Evans getting the assist and Gary Fincke passed to Phil Sampson for another tally. Fincke and Sampson each added an unassisted goal to make the final score 9-4.

The team played Winchester last Saturday in the final game of their regular schedule and the Bouley men are eagerly awaiting their state championship date with Longmeadow in the Western Massachusetts town on Saturday. They vow that they will avenge last year's state championship loss and bring the title back with them when they come home to Winchester.

Relay Victory Gives Sachems Win Over Woburn High School

by John F. Parrell

Coach Manny Marshall's tracksters broke the ice after a discouraging season by besting their arch rivals, the Woburn Tanners, 66½-64½ in their annual outdoor track meet. The result came right down to the final event, the relay, and the Sachem runners put forth a superb effort to take the event and the meet. Steve McManus, Maurice Ponti, Frank Dattilo, and Paul Curran carried the Winchester colors to victory and left the frustrated Tanners still seeking their first victory. Curran ran the anchor leg against Woburn's talented co-captain, Christian and held off every attempt of this fine runner and held the lead to the tape by three yards.

The Winchester team was overjoyed at the dual success of breaking their losing streak and at the same time downing the Tanners. Coach Manny Marshall said that it was like winning the NCAA title. This marks the second consecutive year of defeats for the Woburn team in this annual event and by this time they must be developing a fixation about it.

The Tanners took eight of the 14 first places in the individual events, but they failed when they lost the big one, the relay. Winchester's scoring was helped immensely by their 10-4 edge in the second places. The only event that was not hotly contested was the discus, in which Winchester gathered all nine points.

Co-captain Christian was a double winner for Woburn, taking the long jump and his specialty, the half mile. Bruce Hill galloped to victory in both hurdles events to lead the Winchester scorers.

Taking everything into consideration the victory was most certainly a team triumph. The boys have been doing their best all during the spring season, but they have been outscored largely because of the lack of depth. Spring track does not attract a sufficient number of candidates, largely because there are so many boys competing in other athletic activities. This is clearly shown by the fact that there are less than ten sophomores who are participating in this sport. It is hoped that with the coming of the new school, with better facilities, and a possibility of junior high school track, there will be a surge of interest which will enable the school to have a truly representative team.

The most stirring event, other than the relay, was the half mile in which Christian, who has been Woburn's most consistent winner, tangled with Sachem sophomore, Charlie Tatarian. The latter never once faltered as he pushed the Woburn co-leader every step of the way, only to lose by a single stride in the highly creditable time of two minutes, two and eight tenths seconds. With added growth, strength and experience, Tatarian should surely be breaking two minutes by the time another season rolls around.

The summary:

Shot Put: Smith (Wo), Emery (Wi), Hallisey (Wi), 45'5".

High Jump: Hicks (Wi), Davaney (Wo), Adams (Wi), 5'8".

Long Jump: Christian (Wo), Hicks (Wi), Dattilo (Wi), 19'4½".

Discus: Emery (Wi), Tarbell (Wi), Devries (Wi), 114'7".

Javelin: Tortella (Wo), Devries (Wi), Gallo (Wo), 137'7".

Pole Vault: Miele (Wo), Wild (Wi), 10'8".

Soccer Bantams Make Playoffs

Winchester's "B" entry in the Boston Area Youth Soccer League, sponsored by St. Mary's C.Y.O., placed fourth in the standings, losing to Wellesley 3 to 0 Saturday but remained eligible for playoffs.

The three goals by Wellesley were scored within a five-minute period in the first half at 2:12, 2:15, and 2:17. However, it was a well played game by both teams.

Last year there were ten teams in this division. This year there are 14 teams, divided into North and South.

Playoffs begin Saturday among the top four teams of the North and the South.

On June 9th there will be the usual second-Wednesday-of-the-month section for newcomers-to-duplicate.

Familiar names filled the winners list for Section A's nine tables. In the North-South direction Ex and Bob Blackford won a close one, half a point ahead of Ruby White and Ruth Hagan, while East-West the matched up-at-the-door partnership of Elodie Flewelling and Jack Olmsted were first by a country mile.

East-West
Elodie Flewelling and Jack Olmsted 132½
Manny Malkin and Sam Burwen 120
Dolly Pasquale and Gay Scheiber 115
Polly Wheelock and Adeline Mingolli 105
Kay McConnell and Jerry Bell 105

Section B featured a close match North-South, Leo and Frank Gonsalves squaring off against Rose Hickey and Lillian Sheridan, the gentlemen winning by a mere half-point. In the East-West direction a repeater took over: Ralph Atkinson and Mike Portonova were in first place for the second week in a row, followed by a solid phalanx of winning gentlemen.

North-South
Leo and Frank Gonsalves 71½
Rose Hickey and Lillian Sheridan 71
Donna Redpath and Miggs Root 65
Pinky and Al Samoiloff 63½

East-West
Mike Portonova 78½
Jim Bushee and Jack Goodwin 76
Tom Barry and Don Howard 74
Phillip Cade and Darrell Root 65

Amidst an amazing string of wild cards Wednesday in Section B, Board 26 was a relatively mild one, distributionwise. Everyone was vulnerable, West the dealer with the hand rotated for convenience.

At our table the bidding went:

West 1C North 2H South 2H
P 2S P 4NT
P 5D P 5NT
P 6H Double All Pass

East made a very astute double of North-South's 6H bid, asking his partner to lead the first suit bid by North, in this case clubs.

So West dutifully leads the 10 of clubs, covered by East's Jack, the trick taken by North's Queen. At this point East has the slam set if he finds the neutral lead of a heart or spade, for South will eventually have to give him the King of diamonds. South's luck holds, however, for East returns the Ace of clubs, ruffed by South.

Now South takes out the trumps, plays the Ace of spades, finesses the Jack of spades, and discards the King of spades and the King of clubs.

It's a tricky hand; six of the seven North-Souths bid the slam, three making and three going down. At one table West leads the Jack of diamonds which North takes with the Ace, and after trumps are drawn, South can discard his singleton club on North's King of spades, losing only the King of diamonds to make the slam.

Two Extra Inning Games In Cap League Contests

by James R. Stewart Jr.

Two extra inning baseball games featured last weekend's Cap League contests, where the scores went from the sublime to the ridiculous.

On Saturday, May 29, the first extra inning game of the year was also the longest of the season as the Cardinals beat the Warriors, 14-10.

At West Side Field 3, the Blue Jays continued undefeated as they squeezed by the Red Sox, 14-8.

In the third game at West Side, the Hornets defeated the Apollos, 11-6.

On Ginn Field No. 1, the Bobcats almost brought home their first win against the Tigers.

Bobby Brownell pitched no-run baseball for the last two innings, but the die had been cast. Tigers 8, Bobcats 5.

At Ginn No. 2, the Golden Hawks marched to their first win with an impressive defeat of the Yankees, 6-3, in an excellent ball game.

In the sixth game of the day, the Orioles blasted the Eagles, 12-1.

The usual Sunday rain merely delayed the second half of last weekend's Cap League play as the 12 teams rescheduled their games for the following holiday, Monday, May 31, so the make-up games of the last three weeks were not increased by one, fortunately. That day saw the second extra-inning game of the weekend and the season as the Warriors, losers of the nine-inning game of Saturday, were not to be denied. The Warriors defeated the Blue Jays, 12-11.

An unfortunate mixup in somebody's signals provided the Hornets with a 6-0 forfeit win over the Red Sox when the Red Sox failed to show up for the game.

The Golden Hawks rekindled their suddenly found batting power at West Side Field on Monday, and won their second game in a row, an 11-6 victory over the Bobcats, still looking for their first win.

In the Cardinals-Yankees game, the fourth inning produced all the runs as Eddie Pratt homered with two on base and Shawn Mandeville doubled home two more runs, later. These two dominated the 5-0 game as they were also the pitchers who hurled shutout ball for three innings each. Jimmy Gibbons made some fine fielding plays behind his pitchers and Gary Cooke contributed an unassisted double play to the win. The Cardinals thus became the only undefeated team in Cap League thus far. The Tigers won their fourth game in five by beating the Orioles 7-5.

In the longest game of the season, the Eagles benefited by many, many walks as they outlasted the Apollos by — get this — 32-24, as best can be determined by the beleaguered score keepers.

Miss Andree Blanch recently joined the statistics and assistants branch of Cap League from Cornell University. She reported the following standings as of May 31:

EAST DIVISION

| Team | W | L |
|---------|---|---|
| Tigers | 4 | 1 |
| Eagles | 2 | 3 |
| Bobcats | 0 | 5 |

WEST DIVISION

| Team | W | L |
|--------------|---|---|
| Hornets | 4 | 1 |
| Golden Hawks | 2 | 3 |
| Red Sox | 1 | 4 |

NORTH DIVISION

| Team | W | L |
|-----------|---|---|
| Blue Jays | 4 | 1 |
| Orioles | 2 | 3 |
| Apollos | 1 | 4 |

SOUTH DIVISION

| Team | W | L |
|-----------|---|---|
| Cardinals | 5 | 0 |
| Warriors | 2 | 2 |
| Yankees | 2 | 3 |

With six more games to play, the entire standings could easily be upset. League Officials and the Cap Leagueers hope that more and more parents and friends will come to the games at Ginn Field and West Side Field, every Saturday and Sunday afternoon, weather permitting, to cheer on any team they desire as well as partake of the refreshment stands, staffed by the women. Volunteer umpires are serving tirelessly and pleasantly under constant stress in a thankless job.

The match provided only a small test for the stronger and more experienced Winchester booters as Errol Burke led a host of scorers. Burke contributed four goals with two from Jamie Burns and singletons by George Casey, John Scott, Peter Gajewski, and Allyn Stillman. Due to an opening game defeat by Wellesley, Winchester finished the season in second place with a record of six wins and one loss, one point behind Wellesley. Next Saturday the Winchester lads face Dedham in the first leg of a three-game knockout tournament. The final round of this tournament should see Winchester paired against Wellesley, with the match possibly being played at Boston University Field on Saturday, June 19. Winchester Squirts Defeat Melrose, 4-3

The Winchester Squirts hockey team performed great hockey style in winning over Melrose, 4-3.

The first period started with Rich Blanch digging the puck out of the corner, flipping in the first goal of the game.

Minutes later, the hustling line of Christopher McCarthy, Buddy Pronski, and Mark Fazio playing their positions very well. Buddy Pronski gained possession of the puck from a Melrose player, passed it to Bubba Sandford, who drove it home to make the score 2-0, Winchester.

Mike Schromm attended goal the first half of the game, doing a fine job. Tony Donlon went off for delaying the game. It was on this penalty Melrose capitalized and scored their first goal, 2-1.

The second period was action-packed. The Strazzullo, Stillman, and Blanch line, highest scorers on the team passed well, checked well, and it was Allyn Stillman who dug the puck from behind the goal, circled the net, and stuffed the puck in, taking the goalie by surprise, making the score 3-1.

Shortly after Allyn's beautiful goal, Melrose came back fighting, getting their second goal of the game, 3-2. Allyn came back and gave a repeat performance, circling the net and stuffing it in to make the score 4-2, Winchester.

In the third period, aggressive Peter Mahoney went off for tripping. It was Melrose again which capitalized, scoring, making it 4-3, Winchester.

Melrose played exceptionally well the last five minutes. The goalie was lifted the last minute, but Winchester was able to hold off the six attackers.

Steve Ferrullo attended goal the second half of the game, performing for playing professional style. Two game pucks were awarded, one to defenseman Mike Jackson and the other to Paul Mahoney.

A pat on the back to Dana Kawa, Ed Doherty, and Tom Galante for playing exceptionally well. Winchester has had a successful season. The entire team has progressed. Winchester will play their last game Saturday, June 5, at Hockeystown, U. S. A., in Melrose.

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL'S Class of 1971, the 121st to be graduated, received diplomas at Manchester Field Sunday afternoon, June 6. (Star Staff photo)

Winchester High 1971 Graduates Honored Sunday

Members of the class of 1971 of Winchester High School moved through the traditional steps of graduation exercises Sunday afternoon, June 6, at Manchester Field. "Pomp and Circumstance" joined the breezes of a perfect June day to form the preface to orations, the delivery of diplomas, and presentation of awards.

Extending the "Welcome" was Class President, Dennis O'Donnell, followed by the "Senior Address" given by Janina Wankowicz. As Principal Vincent E. Larocco called out the names of the approximately 530-member class, Mrs. Mary E. Mears, member of the Winchester School Committee, presented each graduate with their diploma.

Beginning the distribution of awards was Mr. Larocco. The Elizabeth L. Naven Award was given to Jane Thompson, a National Honor Society member. The highest ranking senior who attended Noonan School receives this award from the Noonan School Chapter of the Community School Association "in memory of Miss Elizabeth L. Naven" who taught in the Winchester schools for 40 years. This was the 31st award since 1939.

The Winchester College Club Award was presented to Martha Ann Nowell. The girl who is recipient must combine high scholastic record with outstanding abilities and plan to attend an AAUW accredited college.

The Winchester Youth Hockey Scholarship Award was given into the possession of Dennis O'Donnell. This award is reserved for a deserving graduate who has participated in the youth hockey program.

The Mystic Valley Association for Retarded, Inc., Award was handed to Barbara Doe as a deserving graduate who has done outstanding work with retarded children through the Youthmare Program.

The Zella Giggie Award was indicated for Ellen Fenoglio. The second award to be reserved for a high ranking senior who attended Noonan School, this honor is given in memory of this former Noonan teacher with the hope that the graduate will choose education as a career.

Leadership

The Winchester Jaycee-ettes Leadership Award, a plaque, was designated for Jacqueline deMars. As the corresponding Jaycees' award, the recipient must exhibit outstanding leadership, excellence of character, scholastic achievement, and service to both school and community.

Miss deMars' qualifications include secretary of Student Council, yearbook, Red and Black, radio station, Pep Squad, and intramurals, all at the High School.

Sachem Stickmen Win Bay State Title, 10-2

by John F. Parrell

State championships in any athletic endeavor are few and far between. It is hard to recall when Winchester High School last won one. But Coach Gene Bouley's lacrosse team crushed Longmeadow, 10-2, to remain undefeated and become undisputed state champions.

It was a complete team victory as offense, defense, midfield, and goalie all played roles to perfection, completely outplaying their vaunted western Massachusetts rivals on their home field. The Sachems left no doubt as to which was the better team as they rolled to five first period goals, and battled through two furious middle periods, before applying the coup de grace with four goals in the final quarter.

Playing on Longmeadow's spacious, well maintained turf, the only difficulty experienced by Winchester players was in maintaining footing and picking up the ball from the lush surface. They dominated play, much to the surprise of a large gathering of home fans.

A characteristic question by late arrivals was, "What's the score?"

When told that it was 5-0, they would casually ask "Longmeadow!" as though it was a foregone conclusion that the previously undefeated defending champions were a shoo-in to be winners. More than 1,000 attended the game, including a large gallery of both student and adult supporters of the Sachem cause.

Bouncing out to a five goal first period advantage Winchester completely took the offensive away from Longmeadow from the outset. Gary Fincke netted the first goal at the 3:30 mark, with Bill Logan getting the assist. Continuing to apply the pressure, Larry Knowlton popped one in at the 7:15 mark and Captain Phil Sampson tallied the first of his two goals just over a minute later. Rangy Curt Woodward banged one home at 10:43, and with only 29 seconds left to play, the Fincke-Logan combination reversed itself, with Bill running the margin to five as the period ended.

"Irresponsibly Hostile" Public Undermining American Defense, Dr. Metcalf Warns At Seminar

America's defense posture is being seriously undermined by an "irresponsibly hostile" public, Dr. Arthur G. B. Metcalf of 45 Arlington Street has declared.

Dr. Metcalf, speaking to a capacity crowd at an Operation Alert seminar sponsored by the American Security Council in Anaheim, California, warned, "No nation's greatness lasts forever. That is the message of history."

The Soviet Union already controls the "heartland of the island earth," he noted. Whoever controls the heartland controls the world, he added.

"If Communism is not checked," he declared, "and if the satellites over which Russia presently is able to exert control are not restored to their original condition of self-determination before their consolidation is a fact, a mechanism will have been created which cannot be resisted in a conflict of global dimensions or a long-time war of attrition."

The fall of South Vietnam could lead to the fall of Indonesia, the Philippines, and other points, he said.

Soviet Russia is "well on the way to enjoying world domination," he observed.

"The Soviets need only the undisturbed passage of time until that domination can be implemented to the point where she can impose her will on the only territory with ability to resist and worth consideration — the continent of North America."

Dr. Metcalf described Vietnam as "the first serious attempt to call a halt to the systematic engulfing of the Free World."

"But it's been outflanked by Communist psychological attacks enlisting the support of much world opinion, some members of our own government, and most of the 'intellectual' or 'liberal' components of our citizenry," he continued.

"We have scuttled what may be the last military stand to contain Communism," Dr. Metcalf added.

Dr. Metcalf is a corporation executive, author, and consultant on geopolitics and aeronautics. He holds degrees from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston University, and Harvard University.

He was a lieutenant colonel in the Army Ordnance Corps. He served as officer-in-charge of procurement for the Boston Ordnance District. He was a staff officer in the Office of the Secretary of War and General Staff Corps and was advisor on national manpower to the Secretary of War.

Town Meeting Will Act On Proposed Zoning By-Law At Special Session Wednesday

The proposed Zoning By-Law will be the major issue facing the Special Town Meeting at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday, June 16, at Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium. If more than one session is needed to consider a seven-article warrant, the Selectmen will recommend that Town Meeting Members vote to reconvene at 7:15 Thursday evening.

Months of meetings, discussions, and controversy will end when Town Meeting Members act on Article One, the proposed Zoning By-Law. In preparation, Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick and Town Counsel Leonard J. Mullen Jr. this week announced procedural guidelines for Town Meeting Members' use. The recommendations are published in this week's Star.

An informational meeting will be held at 8 tonight, June 10, in Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium, by the Planning Board to answer remaining questions on suggested zoning changes. Chairman Otto E. Schaefer Jr. said that he hopes for a large attendance.

This is the second informational meeting which has been scheduled by the Planning Board. In addition, the town body has met with smaller groups and with individuals. Articles explaining the Planning Board's views on the proposed Zoning By-Law have appeared in the Star.

A second and final session on parliamentary procedure will be conducted from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 15, in the Winchester High School cafeteria by Moderator Chadwick. Mr. Chadwick emphasized that Tuesday's class is a continuation of one held Tuesday evening, June 8, rather than a repeat. He had recommended attendance at both by Town Meeting Members.

The Selectmen are considering the cost impact if Article One were approved. Chairman John J. Sullivan said that he had conferred with Town Comptroller James J. Costello, Town Engineer John J. Ciarcia, Executive Secretary Edward F. Donnelly, and Finance Committee Chairman Vincent A. Giarrizzo "to determine who was going to do what" in compiling information on the financial effect of apartments should Article One pass.

Each town department will estimate what costs it would incur if the article is approved, Chairman Sullivan said. Several department heads earlier guessed how their organizations would be affected financially by passage of Article One, as reported in last week's Star.

The Finance Committee voted Tuesday evening not to develop figures on the cost impact of Article One, Chairman Giarrizzo advised the Selectmen's office this week. As a result, figures used will be those submitted by various departments.

Special Town Meeting Ground Rules Are Set By Moderator, Counsel

Special procedures have been established by Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick and Town Counsel Leonard J. Mullen Jr. for considering the proposed Zoning By-Law at the Special Town Meeting.

The "complexity" of Article One, on zoning, requires such advance planning, Town Moderator Chadwick explained. Seven articles will face Town Meeting Members at the meeting at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday, June 16, at Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium.

Club Liquor Applications Are Available

Announcing that club liquor license applications were available at the office of the Board of Selectmen, board members this week set a timetable for issuing licenses and established operating procedures.

Public hearings will be held on applications received on Monday evening, July 12, the Selectmen decided. The board will make its licensing decisions on Monday evening, July 26.

A $100 annual license fee was adopted by the Selectmen. Clubs will be allowed to sell and serve liquor to club members and guests from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. normally. The exceptions include Sundays, when the hours will be 1 p.m. to 1 a.m., and New Year's Eve, when an 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. schedule.

Committees Organize

In other business Monday evening, the Selectmen met with the newly-appointed Snow and Ice Study and Solid Waste Disposal Committees.

Selection Of Superintendent Is Approaching

The search for a new superintendent of schools for Winchester is reaching into the final stages with a decision possibly forthcoming by mid-June.

Stephen R. Parkhurst, chairman of the School Committee, offering the feasibility of a June appointment, states that eight candidates, consisting of the six recommended by the consulting team in May and two from the "inside," have been interviewed. Thus far, one "finalist" will be returning for a second visit with the Committee, while a reply from a second is anticipated soon.

The job of whittling down the 113 applicants to the six recommended by the consulting team was completed three weeks ago. "Our part is over," Dr. Dana M. Cotton remarked. Joining Dr. Cotton, acting dean and director of placement, Harvard University Graduate School of Education, on the three member team were Chairman Dr. Jack Childress, dean of the Boston University School of Education, and Dr. Carroll F. Johnson, director of the Institute of Field Studies at Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York.

Superintendent Dr. Donald A. Klenner's resignation is effective as of August 31. Hope had been expressed in the past that the terms of the two men might overlap, allowing a period of guided orientation for the new superintendent.

Property Owners Told That 90 Percent Of Them May Be Affected By Law

About 40 Town Meeting Members and 150 other residents heard Winchester Property Owners Association officers discuss the proposed Zoning By-Law at a meeting at Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm on Monday night.

Attorney Margaret C. Mahoney charged that 90 percent of the property owners in Winchester will be affected by the by-law if passed.

She said that older homes which have been divided into apartments with two or more families living on an 1,000-square-foot lot, will be required to register their non-conforming usage with Town Hall or be subject to a $50 fine per day.

She pointed out that many other houses on small-sized lots will become non-conforming structures and be prohibited from enlarging, building a garage or enclosing a porch.

One association member stated that an average of ten out of 33 Town Meeting Members in each precinct contacted by the association lived in houses that would become non-conforming. He said that many didn't realize that their own homes will be adversely affected by the by-law.

Town Meeting Member Jeremiah McCarron, Precinct 6, said of the proposed by-law "The thing is so complicated and so fouled up the only answer is no." He suggested that "the whole damn thing be indefinitely postponed."

Margaret Mahoney urged that instead a vote to kill the proposal would be more in order. She said that will give the Planning Board a mandate to end it and not come back in the fall with a slightly changed version.

Parliamentary Procedure Talk Set For Tuesday

The second session of a class in parliamentary procedure for Town Meeting Members and other interested persons will be held from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 15, in the Winchester High School cafeteria.

Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick said that the meeting will be a continuation of a session held Tuesday evening. The second session had originally been scheduled for tonight. It was postponed to avoid a conflict with an informational meeting on the proposed Zoning By-Law to be held at 8 tonight, June 10, in Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium.

Meeting Slated For Tonight On Revised Zoning

A public informational meeting on the proposed Zoning By-Law will be held at 8 tonight, June 10, in Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium.

Planning Board Chairman Otto E. Schaefer Jr. said that his group hopes Town Meeting Members and concerned citizens will take advantage of the chance to ask questions that they might have about the suggested zoning changes.

Pilferage And Breaks Deplete Cemetery Items

Pilferage and two breaks at Wildwood Cemetery have discouraged the Cemetery Commission from leaving watering pots and trash disposal baskets at the cemetery, Chairman Dean W. Carleton announced.

Responding to complaints about the lack of these items, Chairman Carleton advised that watering cans are available at the office for those who wish to borrow them. Any trash which is not carried away can be left at the office where a receptacle will be available, he said.

He noted that it was "economically unfeasible to continue the practice of leaving these items around the Cemetery grounds."

Engraving Project Is Undesirable, As Thief Sees It

It is not difficult for a burglar with any professionalism to determine when a home has been left vacant by summer vacationers. His surprise might come, however, when he finds that the owner has left him a personalized message on doors and windows, "Warning, ... All items of value within have been marked for ready identification by Law Enforcement Agencies."

If he decides that the owner is only bluffing, jimmies the rear door and enters, take pleasure in his frustration on seeing the owner's social security number etched into some permanent part of such attractive items as televisions, radios, stereos, typewriters, etc.

Then if he refuses to allow his efforts to go unrewarded, he must convince the handler of the stolen property whom he contacts, to accept the marked items or take the time to file the number away, still leaving a tell-tale identification mark.

Participants in the Homeowners Engraving Identification project enjoy this protection. While not foolproof, these precautions can mitigate losses or possibly prevent a theft from occurring at all.

There is no cost to those participating. Four engravers which will write on almost all materials (glass, metal, plastic, etc.) are available at the Winchester Police Station. They may be borrowed for a period of three days.

When a citizens, home or store owner, signs for the engraver at the station, he is supplied with instructions and a form on which to record those valuables which have been marked. Officers will demonstrate or assist in any possible way with the operation of the engraver which is used like a pencil.

When the person returns the engraver to the department, the list is copied, if desired, so that a record remains with police and with the property owner. Stickers citing the "warning" are then issued and should be displayed conspicuously on windows and doors.

Initial funding of the project has been undertaken by the Winchester Rotary Club. It is an integral part of the Winchester burglary attack now being implemented and continuously evaluated. The entire program is proceeding under the guidance of Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler and Officer John W. McKinley, project director.

These choruses are volunteer groups from grades 4, 5, and 6. They rehearse once a week outside the regular school time. They will present a program of classical, semi-classical, and popular selections. In addition to the combined choruses there will be three vocal solos and a selected group of 12 voices. All music lovers are invited to attend.

Local "Y" Swim Classes Begin July 2

The Burlington YWCA have swimming classes in the new pool beginning July 2 (no classes July 5 meeting every day at the same time for two weeks. Lessons can be planned before or after vacation.

Members of classes will have a "special plunge time" when they may come to practice. The charge will be very small.

Pick up a schedule at your library or call the Y.W.C.A., 272-3181.

Tickets and maps are going out to those who will be coming to the Garden and Pool tour in the towns of Burlington, Bedford, Lexington, and Winchester. A good attendance is desired at this event, as it will benefit the construction of the new olympic size pool which is now well under way.

A tea will be held from 2-5 p.m. at the "Y" on Spruce Hill Road. To attend this function and maybe collect a few ideas from the many gardens and pools to be seen, just call the Burlington YWCA at 272-3181 for information.

That each parent will want to participate in this group. One of the Friends' projects is running the chuck wagon at home football games for which many volunteers are needed.

Serving All Faiths WITH UNDERSTANDING

The Living

"The funeral is for the mourners. Unless it speaks to their needs in a time of crisis, it does not achieve maximum helpfulness." — Rev. Paul E. Irion, Years before Grief Therapy attained the dignity of a social discipline, we had come to that same conclusion. Our Funeral Home in its appointments, our facilities, our staff, and our service has been built around the idea that our function is to serve the living while honoring the dead.

With visions of history repeating itself (Winchester led last year by 4-0, only to have Longmeadow win out by 7-4) the Warriors roared out for the second period. Changing their defense, and adopting a much more aggressive and physical style, they needed only 50 seconds before Craver set up Peterson for the first Longmeadow goal. Play continued at a fast pace, with Longmeadow battling hard to score again, only to be thwarted by the solid Sachem defensive group. They kept on shooting, but try as they would they just couldn't get the ball past Rick Murphy in the Winchester nets.

At the eight minute mark, Captain Phil Sampson stole the ball and sped down the field, weaving his way through the Warrior defenses. He did get off a shot which trickled in after rebounding off a Longmeadow defender. This brought the half time edge to 6-1.

The third period saw the home team continue to use its man power to control play, and get deep into Sachem territory. However, the defense kept them far enough out of range to prevent damage. The defending champions were frustrated by at least a dozen errant passes and the stubborn Winchester defense. The period was scoreless, even though Longmeadow had many chances as the combination of the defensive group and goalie Rick Murphy held them off.

Down by five goals with only one period left, the Warriors became even more aggressive, but it backfired after an early goal by Bob Peterson on an assist by Southworth had made it 6-2 after 1:56 had elapsed. A costly penalty to an overly enthusiastic Longmeadow player opened the flood gates, and within two minutes the game was beyond reach, with Winchester hanging up four rapid fire goals. Curt Woodward netted the first at the 3:35 point with Cary Fincke assisting, and the finale at 5:35 with John Thomas setting him up. In between came a pretty solo goal by Chris Osgood, and a well played shot by George Evans on which Thomas also assisted.

Thus, the state championship was won by a solid Sachem team, which had beaten every opponent in a 17-game season, and had convincingly trounced the defending champions to be undisputed state titlists. It was a joyous group of Winchester players and fans who made the home trip after the final game of the season.

Rick Murphy had a busy day in the Winchester cage. The Warriors had 35 shots on goal to 34 by the Sachems. However, since Winchester had netted ten of their shots to two by Longmeadow there was no question as to which was the better team. Rick made several sensational saves, and the home team net minder also played well. Captain Gene Hardiman, high scorer and the boy who wrecked the Sachem title thrust last year, was held scoreless by the close covering of the Winchester players. By the irony of fate the two Warrior goals were by a former Winchester boy Bob Peterson, a former member of the Winchester finance committee.

Co-captains for next year were elected. Rick Murphy and Bill Logan will lead the Winchester team in its title defense. It was a happy end to a highly successful season. Coach Gene Bouley, his assistant, Dave Berman, and every player on the squad deserves a full share of credit for their efforts.

The scoring in the championship game:

First Period
3:30 W Fincke (Logan)
7:15 W Knowlton (Woodward)
8:25 W Sampson
10:43 W Woodward
11:31 W Logan (Fincke)

Comprising the Snow and Ice Study Committee are Ralph M. Swanson, Edmund Williams, Harry Cheffo, Robert Beattie, Lita L. Nelson, Richard B. Southworth, and Nolan T. Jones. The Selectmen advised the group that a preliminary report would be due from them on Tuesday evening, September 7. The committee's final report must be submitted not later than the Annual Town Meeting in March, 1972.

Chairman John J. Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen recommended that the committee hold regularly scheduled public meetings, preferably not on Mondays, and that the Selectmen be advised of meeting dates and receive copies of minutes of meetings.

Members of the Solid Waste Disposal Committee include Varkes K. Karaian, William McCall, Albert Mooradian, James Wakefield, and James F. Denton. Chairman Sullivan suggested that the group would need the services of a professional consultant near the end of their study.

Federal and Commonwealth air pollution regulations would require particular attention, Chairman Sullivan pointed out. The committee should consider capital, land, and facilities required for solid waste disposal, Chairman Sullivan noted. Recycling should also be considered by the group, he continued. Chairman Sullivan suggested that the group meet on an evening other than Monday and give notices of its meetings and meeting minutes to the Selectmen. The committee's report is due by the annual Town Meeting in March.

Traffic Problem

Following up last week's discussion of possible traffic problems when the new Winchester High School opens, the Selectmen voted to check further with Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler on parking regulations proposed for Nelson, Spruce and Holland Streets.

A large group of residents from the area attended a hearing with Selectmen and Chief Bowler last week to discuss the situation. The Selectmen informed the citizens that they would be notified when a decision was reached.

Permit Denied

Selectmen denied a permit for storing 5,000 gallons of gasoline at 36 Holton Street. The request by T. Tighe and Sons had been deferred from last week.

Sidewalk curbing orders were signed by Selectmen for Main Street, Allen Road, Yale Street, and Chesterford Road.

Town Engineer John J. Ciarcia and Superintendent of Streets Robert G. O'Brien will advise Selectmen of what remains to be done by the town on the surface drainage situation on Churchill Road.

Specifications for supplying uniforms for Sanitation Department personnel will be rewritten and new bids sought, the Selectmen decided.

Personnel Topic

The Selectmen will meet with the Personnel Board and Attorney Mark E. Gallagher after the Special Town Meeting is concluded to discuss the upcoming expiration of Town Employees' Association and Firefighters' group employment agreements.

Acceptance of a Personnel Board proposal that the programmer — operator in the Data Processing Department be placed in the $8,823 — $11,143 annual salary classification was voted by the Selectmen.

John T. Moore and Stephen A. Moore were reappointed by Selectmen to the Conservation Commission.

The library trustees will be invited to meet with the Selectmen to discuss the Winchester Historical Society proposal to update and make available copies of Henry Smith Chapman's "History of Winchester," which was published in 1936.

A complaint by Mrs. Martha Hutchings of 22 Hancock Street about a dog was referred to the dog officer by the Selectmen.

Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. informed the Selectmen that Park Commissioner Charles C. Parkhurst has offered to donate Christmas lights for Town Hall. One white light will be placed in each window, Selectman Saltmarsh said.

Architect Arthur Rand will be requested to have Town Hall wiring checked for safety while the contractor is renovating the structure.

Markings, Incorporated, low bidder, was awarded a contract for painting center lines at $0.019 per lineal foot. The only other bidder was White Lines, Incorporated, at $0.025 per lineal foot.

VA has allocated more than $13 million for the modernization of five hospitals in Phoenix, Arizona; Long Beach, California; Bay Pines, Florida; Knoxville, Iowa; and Coatesville, Pennsylvania.

School enrollments among Vietnam veterans increased during the 1970 fiscal year by 31 per cent, bringing the number of enrollees in VA training programs to 1,211,000.

Boys, 9, 12, Face Charges Of Larceny

Two Woburn youths, aged nine and 12, were apprehended Monday evening, May 31, by Winchester police on charges of breaking and entering in the daytime and larceny over $100 (two mini-bikes) following an incident at a Main Street automotive dealer's.

According to the police report of Officer Kevin Mawn, the boys were taken into custody after an alert by a motorist passing Johnson Motor Sales, Inc., 925 Main Street. With the help of a neighbor who notified the police station, one boy was apparently caught in the building, while the other was picked up when pushing one of the bikes down Main Street.

The boys were released in custody and scheduled for a court appearance on June 1.

Masons Honor Mortimer French

On Friday evening, June 4, a reception was held at the Masonic Apartments in Medford by Medford Court No. 7, Order of the Amaranth, in honor of Mortimer A. French of 11 Saw Mill Brook Road, Grand Royal Patron of the Grand Court, Order of the Amaranth, Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

There were 175 members and guests present from Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and New York, as well as Massachusetts.

A catered dinner began the evening followed by a reception line and entertainment provided by Edward F. Durbeck III, who sang many familiar semi-classical numbers, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Carlisle S. Peckham of Medford, former organist for the Medford Court.

Mr. French was presented with many gifts and was paid a beautiful tribute to his service in the Order by Mrs. George E. Daum of Tewksbury, Royal Matron of Medford Court No. 7, of which Mr. French is a member.

In Mr. French's remarks he stated that one of the pleasures of being in this position was that of introducing his family: his wife, Rhona M., Grand Page, and very special assistant to him in every way; and his second son, Roger Allan, who took time from his busy schedule between receiving his master's degree from the University of Massachusetts and planning a summer vacation in Europe to be present. Mr. French's first son, Richard Earle, and family of Milford, New Hampshire, were unable to be present.

A birthday cake was cut by the Grand Royal Matron and Grand Royal Patron to honor three charter members.

TAXES—Without fanfare, the State Senate stamped its approval on a $279,775,000 tax proposal recommended by the Senate Ways and Means Committee. The measure, due to be tied up between branches to iron out differences, cleared its big hurdle in the Senate on a 24 to 14 vote. The package is aimed at income, sales and corporate taxes primarily.

Epiphany Begins Concerts With Court Dancers

On Thursday evening, June 17, at 8:30, the Church of the Epiphany will present the first in a series of four Courtyard Concerts. Last year's programs were so enthusiastically received that a varied and expanded series has been arranged for this summer.

A Renaissance Entertainment, presented by the Cambridge Court Dancers, will introduce this year's series. It will be followed by The Chamber Singers on July 8; a flute, trumpet, and harpsichord trio on July 22; and a mixed program on August 12 featuring young Winchester violinist, Scott Knopf, as well as the Two-By-Fours, and ragtime pianist, Jack Gilbert. Refreshments will be served at each concert.

Tickets may be bought at the entrance or ordered in advance from William Hopkins, 729-2865. Sponsors will be given four tickets to each of the four events. More information about sponsorship of the series may be obtained from Mr. Hopkins.

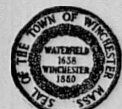

Like their predecessors many centuries ago, the Cambridge Court Dancers are amateurs, literate, musical persons from different life pursuits, brought together by a lively interest in the art of dancing and its history.

Under the direction of Dr. Ingrid Brainard, a musicologist and dance historian whose specialty is court dancing of the 15th and 16th centuries, they have studied and performed a considerable number of court dances from both the early and late Renaissance periods, paying strict attention to the accuracy of steps and movements, of manner and style, of music, and, as far as possible, of costume.

The repertoire of dances which they will bring to Winchester has been reconstructed directly from historical instruction and includes the work of some of the most imaginative and prolific choreographers of the Renaissance. These include the Burgundian basse-danse, Pavane, Italian balli, Galliard, Volta, Tordion, Branles, Canarie, and an English country dance.

In keeping with the Renaissance atmosphere of the program, Elizabethan harpsichord music will be played by James Nicolson of New England Conservatory. Mr. Nicolson will also provide background music for the dancers with a pipe and tabor, a rarely heard ancient instrument which consists of a flutelike pipe, played with one hand, and a small drum, played simultaneously with the other.

VA will pay tutoring fees of up to $50 monthly for a maximum of nine months to prevent eligible vets and servicemen studying under the GI Bill from falling essential subjects.

"To find out if you are one of these drivers, check the month of expiration on the red sticker and on the registration certificate," Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin said. "It is up to the motor vehicle owner to renew his registration before its deadline by obtaining a registration application properly endorsed from his insurance company and taking it to the nearest Registry office during the month of June."

Editorials:

Yes Or No

Next Wednesday the Town Meeting Members will consider the rezoning of the entire town as proposed by the Winchester Planning Board. The subject is controversial.

At least two organized groups of taxpayers and property owners are opposing the plan. It is easy to oppose; it is not so easy to be imaginative, and creative, especially in the area of planning and zoning.

It is the responsibility of the Town Meeting Members to fully understand the proposal before them, listen to the arguments of both sides, then vote according to what they feel is best for the people in their precinct and best for Winchester.

Is this best for Winchester? That is the single most important question they must answer next week.

Whenever people face a difficult decision on a major issue — whether it be at a local town meeting, in the state legislature or the Congress — there are always those who will say "85% of the proposal is good, but I can't go along with the other 15%, so I'm going to vote against it."

We don't like those people. If they can't have something entirely their way, then they won't have it at all. They are unwilling to compromise and often take the most expedient way out by voting negative. We don't want to be put in that category, but we do want to question some of the apparent philosophy behind the rezoning proposal and offer our views for the consideration of Town Meeting Members and the public at large.

Under the General Laws, amendments to a proposed zoning by-law must be greatly limited in scope so as not to change the intent of the article as presented at the Planning Board's legally required public hearing. For this reason, major changes cannot be made on town meeting floor and real compromise is not possible. Town Meeting Members are faced with a basic yes or no vote.

Why should a town rezone its land? To encourage development that will benefit the community more than the development that could take place under the present zoning?

Not necessarily. That is often the argument presented whenever an individual property owner seeks a change in his zoning. If you give me the zoning I can build a store, office, or dwelling that will provide a service to the people and give you back so much in taxes as well, the developer says. And it's true, but in many instances it is not enough.

The only answer as to why a community should rezone the land is: to obtain the best possible use of that land for all the people. Not just better use of the land — best. That is the key word; and it is increasingly more important as the amount of available land in the community diminishes.

In this case, is it best for Winchester? Not just better than what we have now, but best.

If the consequences of inaction are going to be intolerable, then we must act immediately to prevent an undue burden from falling on the people of the community. If that is not the case, then we must act only when we are satisfied that the progress we can achieve will far outweigh the problems we may create and the individual injury we may do.

The decision to submit a complete Zoning By-Law in a single package for a yes or no vote is not a wise move on the part of those who wish to see a new by-law passed. Nor is it fair to all concerned.

The proposal is so complex and its ramifications so far-reaching that it makes it extremely difficult for even the most conscientious Town Meeting Member to fully comprehend its technicalities and its implications.

We think that a by-law could have been developed and presented in such a way that Town Meeting Members could vote to accept or reject individual sections of the proposal.

It is not an easy thing to do — draft a by-law in separate logical divisions which are not interdependent so that if some are rejected you still have a workable ordinance. But we think it could be done.

Each major section of such a by-law would then have to be acted on under separate articles. As written, the present proposal does not lend itself directly to this approach, but it does suggest some logical divisions: districts, permitted uses, non-conforming structures and uses, parking, signs, enforcement, board of appeal authority and procedures. And most important, individual rezoning of particular parcels of land from one zone to another.

In essence, we recognize the many hours and months of effort that went into the proposal as it stands, but we do not feel that the Planning Board has been realistic in expecting the townspeople to swallow such a large bite without choking a bit.

As awkward as it is in a single package, we do not feel that this is the most significant defect in the proposal as recommended by the Planning Board. Our major concern is what affect this new by-law will have on future land use in Winchester.

If a community should rezone only to obtain the best possible use of the land, then we believe this by-law fails the test.

In our opinion, garden apartment zoning is an inadequate use of land — any land. Garden apartments simply occupy too much land in relation to the tax revenue they produce for the community. And figures developed in conjunction with this zoning proposal graphically illustrate this.

At present, Winchester has approximately 650,000 sq. ft. occupied by apartment buildings of various types which produce $235,000 in tax revenue per year.

If the zoning by-law is passed, the town will rezone 5,532,000 sq. ft. to garden apartment use. That's just about 127 acres which will yield $1.2 million in new tax revenue, plus about 200 children for the schools.

In addition, the proposed law will rezone 245,000 sq. ft. to mid-rise apartment use (10 stories). That is 5.5 acres and will produce $1.6 million in taxes and no children for the schools since, statistically, this type of apartment is not occupied by families with school age youngsters.

From a purely business standpoint, 5.6 acres producing $1.6 million in taxes is a far better use of land than 127 acres producing only $1.2 million. The difference is incredible. The mid-rise will return $235,700 per acre while the garden apartments will yield only $9,150 per acre.

Garden apartments are an unacceptable compromise for a town which needs to raise tax revenue and has a limited amount of land available. If aesthetics are a factor, a small area covered with a high-rise or mid-rise building with underground parking is, in our opinion, much more of an asset to the community than a series of two or three story buildings spread out over many acres with a network of roads and parking lots.

How badly the community needs new tax revenue is the first question to be answered. But we do not believe that garden apartments is the answer in any case; too much land is used up too fast for too little return.

We are not proposing that mid-rise or high-rise apartments be constructed instead of garden apartments in the areas presently designated for the new zoning. Developed as single homes these areas would produce about $600,000 in tax revenue — half of what garden apartments would produce. But some of this land, particularly that off Cambridge Street, might be adaptable to mid- or high-rise apartments which could be set far back from other residential property and surrounded with large green areas.

What we are saying is that if the town needs tax revenue, other alternatives to garden apartments should be used. If it doesn't need the revenue badly enough to feel that mid-rise or high-rise buildings need be developed, then let's forget the whole thing. Not only are garden apartments not economically attractive, but the examples we've seen in Arlington, Lexington, and other nearby communities leave a lot to be desired aesthetically as well.

Each parcel of land should be considered individually on its own merits and not as part of a take-it-or-leave-it package. This is not to suggest that the choice of what type of development should go where should be left entirely up to the property owner or developer. We agree that it is the responsibility of the Planning Board to initiate rezoning, but feel that Town Meeting should consider each area independently, with knowledge of the Board's overall plans and long-range objectives.

In summary:

Unused land is a valuable town resource. Any rezoning of under-used land should be the best use of the land, not just a better use than at present. If mid-rise apartments are built where high-rise would be best suited, or if garden apartments are constructed where more tax revenue could be obtained from well-designed mid-rise, Winchester will be the loser in the long run.

Any buildings built now will be with us for many years. You just can't have them torn down and start over again if you don't like what you get. We reiterate that the $1.6 million tax return for 5.6 acres of apartments is a far better buy than $1.2 million for 127 acres of apartments.

Because the proposed by-law attempts to be so comprehensive, there are many more controversial aspects of it than we have discussed here. Each point deserves full and fair discussion at Town Meeting and careful consideration.

The decision is to be made by the people of Winchester and the Town Meeting Members acting in their behalf. We do not necessarily expect you to agree with our views or the premise on which we have made these observations. We only expect you to ask, "Is this best for Winchester?"

—C.P.J.

(Note: In view of our editorial position this week it would be appropriate to point out that The Winchester Star, incorporated, and the property it owns at 3 Church Street would not be unduly affected by passage of the proposed Zoning By-Law as printed in the warrant. This determination has been made after consultation with the Planning Board, which has been most cooperative in this matter.)

Mr. Lord Has Memorial Day Observations

Editor of the Star:

The great grandfather of this writer was a soldier of the Civil War who never came back to East Cambridge, Massachusetts, as he was reported as one of the missing. The house on Spring Street is still standing. John C. Clarke, on the distaff side of my mother's family; John Clarke's widow married a Cassidy and lived to be over 90 years, ending stone deaf and stone blind.

Before I commenced to write this short episode on Decoration Day, the phone rang and a male voice asked if I was Herbert Lord and answering in the affirmative, said male complimented me on the ramrod posture in the parade today, in addition to mentioning being Dartmouth man. A small thing to do but said male made this writer feel that the parade was well worth while, showing a respect and true feeling for those who have given their lives in the service of their country. Those who did serve overseas in particular, have a different viewpoint.

In World War I, William Jennings Bryan, in defense of no draft law, pontificated that there was no need for a draft law as he proclaimed that one million men would spring to arms when war was declared by the Congress for President Wilson; and how many do you think responded? 10 percent or 100,000 men. That is par for the course; the last draft had more loop holes than ever; exempting for study but when the Congress passes a law dealing out benefits for the veterans, what a rush for the handouts, although one of the best laws passed by Congress at any time was the Bill of Rights, whereby the veteran was aided in his education pursuit, to which this writer heartily agrees.

Declaration Day was started in 1868 for the decorating graves for widows, mothers of the North but not for the South and as part of an editorial in the Boston Herald Traveler today the graves of the South were barren of decorations but during the night a wind blew the flowers from the graves of the North to those of the South making things even. The Soldiers Home in Chelsea was in the beginning privately owned for the veterans of the North before the State took over. The service there is such that if they, the doctors, cannot do anything for you, no hospital care; a most efficient organization.

Now back to the original thought for this Memorial Day of 1971; I enjoy marching in a uniform made in 1917 for one thinks of those who have given their all in the service of their country; this writer is proud and happy to be able to march in Winchester in the Memorial Day Parade and as long as these legs hold out, I will be there as my viewing public would be disappointed and that I could not stand (fat head).

But as a saving grace I say Vox Clamantis In Deserto.

Thank you for listening.

Memorial Day Committee Head Extends Thanks

Editor of the Star:

The Memorial Day Committee would sincerely like to thank all those who participated in making the Memorial Day observance such a fine success.

Our Board of Selectmen gave the Committee the utmost in cooperation in carrying out our plans. To Chief Edward Bowler of the Police Department, to Chief I. Francis Amico of the Fire Department, many thanks for the largest turnout of police and firemen. They are a credit to the town.

Our deepest appreciation is extended to Rev. John J. Bishop of the Church of the Epiphany and to Rev. Bernard Hoy of St. Mary's Church for delivering the Prayer and Meditation at Calvary and Wildwood Cemeteries.

Our thanks too, for the Commanders of the Veterans' of Foreign Wars, James Rae, and Walter Appleton, Past Commander of the American Legion.

In the music department we had our fine Senior High School Band and the Elementary School Band under the direction of Frederick J. Murray. A special thanks to Lynne Duffy, Thomas Belden, Al Sampson, and Phillip Tavies of the Senior High School Band who played taps at Calvary and Wildwood Cemeteries as well as at the War Memorial at McCall Junior High and the Honor Roll at the Town Hall.

letters to the editor

We had three new units participating in this year's parade. We would like to thank Mr. William F. Quinn, General Manager of the Marlborough Drum and Bugle Corps; Rev. William C. Kendrick, Director of St. William's Prep Band; and Mr. George McGrath, Manager of St. Patrick's Drill Team. These units added much to the music of the parade as well as color.

We would like to express appreciation to the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts for their participation. They had one of the largest turnouts ever and their troop leaders should be commended for training and keeping the Scouts in such perfect marching order.

A special mention of thanks to Sergeant Ernest Reardon who helped in acquiring the participation of the 94th Army Reserve Unit from the Boston Army Base. This unit also provided the Firing Squad at the cemeteries. The other military unit which participated was the Woburn National Guard Company D, 101st Engineers Battalion which was led by Lieutenant Fred Della Russo. I would like to thank members of the Auxiliary Police and Fire Departments for their turnout and for their assistance.

To Superintendent Robert O'Brien of the Highway Department, Herbert (Babe) Mullen of the Park Department, William Conlon of the Water Department, and Harold Moran of the Cemetery Department, thank you for your cooperation.

To all units which participated, a final thanks for a job well done. This year's parade included 580 in the line of march. It is not our intent to slight anyone, yet, we feel that we should try to single out those organizations and individuals who contributed to the success of the parade.

A special thanks for the members of the Memorial Day Committee who devoted and contributed to the success of the day: James Rae, John Welch, Ralph Fiore, Arthur Collins, Walter Appleton, and Gordo H. Horn Jr.

Firefighters Are Hailed For Courtesy, Care

Editor of the Star:

The residents of 130 Cambridge Street would like to publicly express our thanks and appreciation to the Fire Department of Winchester for their very prompt and courteous aid during the fire we had on May 28.

We are grateful for their speed and care in protecting our home and belongings. They were also very efficient and friendly.

Thanks to these wonderful men we suffered almost no property loss and very little damage to the house itself. The firemen were also kind enough to tarpaper the broken windows and burned roof. Once again, many thanks to this fine crew.

Mr. Stewart Jr. Asks Repair To Playing Fields

Editor of the Star:

I would like to go on record as endorsing the letter from Mrs. William Sizemore about the conditions of playing fields in Winchester. Her letter in last week's Star, epitomizes the serious oversights we are making in planning for the future. It affects not only the young people of the town, but the ecology of what few open areas we are still fortunate to possess in the form of, for instance, Ginn Field, West Side Field, Leonard Field, and McDonald Field.

West Side Field is no longer suitable for Pee Wee Football, for instance, due to the rocks, glass and other "fill in" ground that is now at the surface. A short walk on this field will convince even the greatest skeptics. The look at the backstops at Ginn Field — leaning pillars of rotted wood with splinters just waiting for some child or adult to impale himself and rusty wires that could cause painful damage to any body, arm, leg, or whatever.

Leonard Field is in somewhat better condition, probably due to its use by the High School championship Soccer and Lacrosse teams and the town Softball League, but improvements could be made here, too.

McDonald Field is more "fill in" ground similar to West Side. Manchester Field is a disgrace as the baseball field of the Winchester High School Varsity baseball team.

Compare Winchester fields with any other even less affluent town recreation areas and you will see how derelict we have been in our upkeep and maintenance. As Little League Fields, for one, we are far below minimal standards for safety and conditions.

When I was president of Winchester Little League, two years ago, I submitted a five-page proposal, including cost estimates, to put the Winchester fields into at least a start of improvement, including specific estimated costs over several years so that money and time would be economically spent for the benefit of all Winchester. Due to inactivity on the part of those who could do something about these conditions, the proposal was passed from one to the other until time had run out, and nothing at all was done. I still retain a copy of these proposals, available to anyone in authority or anyone who cares to investigate.

Now is the time to implement plans for the future — perhaps the compost at the incinerator could be used for reuniting the ground as a start — State and Federal Government money is available for retaining natural resources; the MDC is willing to cooperate. When will the town "Fathers" cooperate?

Memorial Day Incidents Told By John T. Horn

Editor of the Star:

I am writing to you in regard to incidents which occurred during this year's Memorial Day Parade. As I reported to the Board of Selectmen, there were incidents of boys riding their bicycles into members of participating bands, spitting on the uniforms of band members, and also a drum head was broken by means of a bicycle ramming into it.

Never before have we had any trouble during our Memorial Day Program. Father Kendrick, the Spiritual Director of St. Williams Band, came to me after the parade and told me he would never have his unit parade in Winchester again. This, to me, is humiliating for a town of Winchester's calibre.

In hope that these incidents will not occur again, bicycles will be banned along the parade route as is done in many other cities and towns.

I was also disappointed at the small number of veterans which participated in the parade. Our ceremonies at the War Memorials and cemeteries were dedicated to the honored dead of all wars. Special emphasis was made in regard to ending the Vietnam War and John Sullivan, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, paid tribute to the Winchester Vietnam veterans who gave their lives to their country. For this reason, I think all of Winchester's veterans should have participated in honoring these men.

I would also like to state my disappointment with this year's coverage of the Memorial Day Parade by the Winchester Star. There was nothing in their editorial regarding the meaning of Memorial Day as has been done in years past, nor any coverage by a reporter except for what information I submitted to the Winchester Star.

I am hoping that these incidents will be taken care of in time for the 1972 Memorial Day Parade.

Proposed Limits On Recreational Items Criticized

Editor of the Star:

Regarding the proposed new zoning by-laws, Section 5, Paragraph 5.5, "Parking, Storage, or Use of Major Recreational Equipment:"

Are the Planning Board members aware that restrictions on such storage have been declared unconstitutional? On September 24, 1970, in the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois, Second Municipal District, the Honorable Peter Bakakos, judge, declared in the case of Skokie vs. Vance that [a similar] "ordinance in question is not in its entirety based on reasonable grounds relating to the public health and safety."

"... a municipality does not have the right to deprive, prevent or abate nuisances."

There is also attached to the right of the municipality, a certain restriction of power, that is, a determination must be a necessary act to protect the health, safety and welfare of the people.

If there is no such relationship, then an Ordinance speaking on the subject is unreasonable and arbitrary, and, therefore, would be invalid."

In most cases, laws limiting or prohibiting the parking of recreational vehicles in the driveway of one's own property are based on aesthetic considerations. Such laws are unconstitutional. Town Meeting Members take note.

BOOK REVIEW

by Ann M. Anderson
Winchester Public Library

INDEXES AT THE LIBRARY

The definition of "index" for purposes of this review is an alphabetical listing, with concise information, of names, places or topics. The library, one of whose functions is a source of information, has many indexes. The card catalog is the most obvious one; it is a tabulation of the library itself. It files alphabetically all the authors whose books are in the collections, all the titles of these books, and all the themes which they cover, and it gives the location of each book by subject number. There are also separate catalogs of the recordings and of the films and filmstrips which the library has on hand.

Another in card form is the Index to the Winchester Star. This is a listing of articles of interest to the townspeople from the Star and it goes back to the very beginning of that newspaper in 1881. It is the work of many different hands so there are some gaps and there are differences in what each indexer considered newsworthy. The other card catalogs in the library have much greater uniformity.

In addition to that in the card indexes, all sorts of indexed information is available in book form. Suppose you wish to find out about a particular title which the library does not have. Books in Print which comes out every year lists those which are currently being published, by author and title with price and publisher. If your book is not in print Cumulative Book Index with all its supplements is a comprehensive listing of all the books published in English in the United States and Canada, and a selected list from other countries from the beginning of the century. Your book should be here somewhere. Now you would like to find a commentary on it. Book Review Digest contains excerpts of book reviews from more than seventy-five periodicals. It started in 1905 and continues up to the present.

If it is a magazine in which you are interested Ulrich's Periodicals Directory is an indexed and classified guide to current periodicals. Ayer's Directory has a similar function for newspapers. Articles published in magazines are indexed in Readers' Guide. The New York Times Index of course, indexes that newspaper. We find this useful even without back copies of the paper itself.

Many students come into the library looking for college information. We have several indexes in this category. Lovejoy's College Guide, Barron's Profiles of American Colleges, American Universities and Colleges, The College Handbook — all these present concise summaries of most colleges in the United States. There are similar publications which deal with junior colleges, prep schools, vocational schools and special schools of various kinds.

Numerous indexes of a literary nature are available. Nearly everyone goes to Bartlett's to look up a quotation but do you know that there are several more if Bartlett's fails. If you are trying to track down a particular poem, Granger's Index will help you. There are, similarly, indexes to plays, to short stories, to essays, to biographies. These are all helpful in finding authors, titles, publishers, and collections in which the particular work appears.

Many biographical indexes are here — general ones like the Chamber's Biographical Dictionary which covers famous men of all nations and all times to more specific ones like DNB which lists all deceased noteworthy inhabitants of the British Isles up to 1950, to Who's Who which deals with celebrated living Englishmen. There are also those like The American Medical Directory, Twentieth Century Authors, American Men of Science, etc. which are still more specific.

This is merely a sampling of the various kinds of indexes available at the Winchester Public Library. There are many more, both general and also relating to special interests. The person on reference will be glad to offer any suggestions or help with the application of these useful volumes.

Mr. Perkins Pays Tribute To Mrs. Mears

Editor of the Star:

Through you and your medium, I would like to express my sincere thanks to Mary Mears for her fine display of compassion and personal concern in representing the School Committee at the graduation exercise for the Class of 1971. I had the very good fortune of serving, albeit briefly, with this fine woman. Mrs. Mears demonstrated in a very practical way the interest the School Committee has in the students of Winchester.

Library Group's Contribution To Davis Fund Hit

Editor of the Star:

Is it the intention of Winchester taxpayers to contribute to the cause of Angela Davis?

The town pays, on behalf of its librarians, annual dues, publication subscriptions, and conference fees to the American Library Association, whose convention opens in Dallas June 20.

The Executive Board of ALA, overruling its Executive Director, has voted to reimburse one E. J. Josey, of the association's Social Responsibilities Round Table, for her $200 personal donation to the National United Committee to Free Angela Davis. This unique, executive action by ALA to support a federal prisoner under indictment was possible because of ALA's tax umbrella and financial lifeblood of membership dues, raised primarily from public librarians across the country.

Briefly, the contribution to NUCFAD was made without clearance by an ALA subcommittee, which dunned the organization's comptroller last March. The gift was disallowed by the Executive Director, whose decision was reversed at the end of April at a three-day appeals hearing. The forthcoming trial of Miss Davis was called an "intellectual freedom issue" for a prisoner denied library privileges, and whose incarceration represents "repression, censorship, and danger to the rule of law" (My exclamation mark).

The American Library Association is a ponderous, often ineffective collection of over 30,000 librarians, trustees and some other rare birds with the usual goals of idealism and public relations. In frustration many librarians have turned to special or regional library organizations. Not unlike the Red infiltration into labor unions a quarter century ago, radical left and Underground groups have moved in on the clumsy ALA (one man's trash . . .). A belated "conservative" reaction is making no headway.

Does a librarians' intramural squabble matter? With three- and four-day workweeks looming, for example, our physical labor must be in large measure replaced by mental occupation. The demand for many and specialized information services should skyrocket. Control of the nature, access to, flow and storage of information is an important power in a free society.

If, therefore, Winchester refuses to take note or act in the matter of librarians' national support for Angela Davis, some implications are reasonable. The town tacitly approves the revolutionary involvement of ALA and will continue to support it financially, even when the antagonist is the federal government. In that case

Winchester's stance will be brought to the attention of national law enforcement bodies, members of the United States Congress, and those officials who decide the award of federal and state funds.

Planning Board Head Responds To APPL Views

Editor of the Star:

So that your readers may consider the facts on the proposed Garden Apartments, the Winchester Planning Board would like to respond to the letter from the APPL Steering Committee which was in last week's Star.

1. The density controls in the proposed Zoning Law are carefully designed to produce a good balance between one-, two- and three-bedroom apartments. Again, the density controls will permit approximately 1,000 apartment units of all kinds — not 2,500 garden apartments. Furthermore, existing apartment buildings in Winchester have 0.02 school children per dwelling unit in the Winchester public schools, as compared with 1.18 per dwelling unit for the town as a whole. Clearly then, the apartments would appear to promise a smaller total number of additional pupils than the single family homes which could be built in the proposed apartment areas.

2. Based on the population in existing Winchester apartments, the proposed apartment zones when fully developed should add between 3,000 and 4,000 to the population — an increase more nearly 15% than 35%. Again, full development is very unlikely to occur within 10 years, hardly a "sudden" increase.

3. The growth in rubbish disposal problems may not occur if the apartments provide their own. If they do not, the officials responsible for operating the incinerator estimate that a modest increase in personnel to operate the incinerator longer hours will be required.

4. As already indicated, the increase in population will not be "huge." Preliminary estimates from various town departments indicate that some increases in fire and police department personnel can be attributed to the proposed apartments, and some additional fire fighting equipment will be required. The probable dimensions of these increases are currently being carefully studied by the Selectmen.

5. In the opinion of professional planning consultants existing access to the presently proposed apartment districts is adequate. Several other sites that are otherwise suitable have either been removed from the original proposal or were never recommended because of access problems.

6. The Planning Board does not believe the changes attributable to the new zoning are "monumental." It further believes the enactment of the proposed zoning law is essential if the pressures for change are to be prevented from gradually eroding the pleasant environment the town now enjoys.

Most of these facts have been given in public meetings previously. Citizens who sincerely wish to get the facts on the zoning proposal are cordially invited to attend the informational meeting to be held by the Planning Board this coming Thursday evening, June 10, at 8 p.m. in the High School Auditorium.

Clean-Up Includes Fire Drills

Everybody takes a new lease on life when spring rolls around. And that lease on life — for each person and his family — will be more certain if they've planned and practiced a family fire drill.

"This is another kind of Spring Clean-Up Action — cleaning up any misunderstandings about what to do if fire should strike your home," says Fire Chief Amico. "National Fire Protection Association records show that more than eight of every 10 lives taken by home fires might have been saved if people had planned and rehearsed ways to escape."

"So plan and practice today — for a safer tomorrow."

Here are pointers to help plan:

1. Carefully figure out at least two routes to the outside from every room in the house, especially bedrooms. Allow for blocking of stairways or halls by fire.

2. Particularly for nighttime fires, remember that closed bedroom doors will hold back fire and smoke, allow extra time for escape or rescue.

3. For upper floor escape, use any available porch and garage roofs, ladders and trees as ways down to safety. Be sure exit windows work easily, and that they are low and large enough to get through.

4. Pick an outside assembly point where the family will meet for a "roll-call," and be sure everyone knows the rule "once out — stay out."

5. Know how to call the fire department, by street box or neighbor's phone and do this as quickly as the house is clear of people.

6. Plan who will look out for infants and the infirm, and how.

Once plans are made, urges Fire Chief I. Francis Amico, it's important for all the family — including children — to rehearse it carefully and regularly.

Ground Rules

"It has been suggested that the Planning Board and persons offering motions to amend not be required to adhere to the regular rules limiting debate. I shall ask the Town Meeting to vote on this suggestion. The difficulty of presenting such a technical problem as the proposed change in our zoning by-law is obvious. I intend to see that there is full and fair discussion of all points of view and ask your cooperation to this end," the Moderator concluded.

Attorney Mullen issued guidelines for properly drafted amendments to the proposed Zoning by-law. He pointed out:

"General Laws, Chapter 39, section 10 provides in part that the warrant for all town meetings shall state the subjects to be acted upon and no action shall be valid unless the subject matter thereof is contained in such warrant. This means that the subjects to be acted upon must be sufficiently stated in the warrant to apprise the members of the nature of the matters upon which the meeting is authorized to deal. It does not require that the warrant contain an accurate forecast of the precise action which the meeting will take upon those subjects."

"A zoning by-law may be adopted and from time to time changed by amendment, addition, or repeal, but only in the manner provided by General Laws, Chapter 40A. No zoning by-law shall be adopted, changed or amended until after the Planning Board has held a public hearing thereon after due notice given and has submitted a report with recommendations to the meeting, or until 20 days shall have elapsed after such hearing without the submission of a report."

"A town meeting may adopt, reject and in certain circumstances amend and adopt any such proposal contained in the warrant. However, any amendment offered at the town meeting to the proposal contained in the warrant will not be proper if such amendment changes the character and identity of the proposal contained in the warrant."

"An amendment is not proper if it is a fundamental departure from the provisions of the article to be acted upon. Any amendment offered at the town meeting, if otherwise acceptable, should be specific in detail and if it involves the transferring of certain land from one district to another such motion should specifically designate and identify the land and districts involved."

"Any action taken by a town meeting if not within the purview of the warrant contained in the warrant would be invalid," Mr. Mullen concluded.

Mount Auburn Offers Program On Breast Cancer

Eunice Dragone, R.N., of 22 Blossom Hill Road, director of in-service education at Mount Auburn Hospital, Cambridge, has initiated a campaign to orient Mount Auburn Hospital employees to the detection and prevention of breast cancer, the most prevalent form of cancer in American women.

Mrs. Dragone is working with the American Cancer Society in setting up the program.

On Monday, June 30, a teaching program will be held for all female employees. A film depicting BSE (breast self examination) will be shown continuously and a team of Mount Auburn Hospital physicians and nurses will provide free breast examinations and answer any questions.

Vital statistics concerning breast cancer speak strongly for implementation of programs such as that Mount Auburn Hospital is undertaking. For example:

—over 30,000 women die from breast cancer every year — many of them needlessly.

—about 85 per cent of women with breast cancer will be alive and well five years after treatment — if the disease is discovered while still localized and properly treated.

—95 per cent of all breast cancers are discovered by women themselves.

Thus it is obvious that all women should have regular breast check-ups and learn BSE techniques. Free information and pamphlets teaching BSE techniques are available free from the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society, 138 Newbury Street, Boston.

Accidents Occur At Two Parkway Intersections

Motor vehicle accidents were recorded during the past weekend at two locations on Mystic Valley Parkway, intersections with Highland Avenue and at Waterfield Road.

Mid-afternoon Saturday, June 5, Officer Donald E. Pigott responded to the Highland Avenue site. Damage to the automobile operated in a southerly direction on Highland by William N. Paglia of 20 West Chardon Road were to the entire front end. The whole left side of the vehicle driven by George A. Rossi of Somerville, who was coming out of the Parkway, was damaged.

On Sunday, June 6, a motorcycle tangled with a motor vehicle at 7:10 p.m. at the Waterfield intersection. Joseph Donisi of Arlington was transferred to Winchester Hospital where he was treated for elbow, knee, and ankle injuries, and released. Robert Gillingham of Medford was operator of the car.

Officers William Gammon and Frank Vozella of the Winchester Police Department summoned the Middlesex Falls Division of the Metropolitan District Police. Officers John Pagliuca and Richard LaVerde responded.

Music Club Holds Student Concert

The Winchester Music Club presented its third annual student concert on Sunday evening, May 23, in Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church.

The concert, arranged by Miss Ruth Haydon, Winchester piano teacher, presented student members of the Winchester Music Club in ensemble and solo performances of acknowledged classical music. Students were selected by their teacher because of their musical skills.

The program opened with the "Concerto in A Minor" by Vivaldi, featuring Kathy Levinson as principal violinist with other violinists: Michael Cammarata, Jean Cornacack, Douglas DeNatale, Lisa DeNatale, Lynne DiRocco, Vernon Fritch, Alexandra Kincaid, Caroline Mooney, Amy Radford, and Jane Thompson. The ensemble was assisted by Mrs. Carl E. Thomas, violinist; Mrs. John Morris, violist; and Sally W. Kincaid, cellist.

The solo performances that followed offered the same variety of instruments that has made the monthly student meetings of the Music Club so interesting. "The Merry Month of May" by Merkel, played by Christine Chan, pianist; "Suite for Two Clarinets" by Beethoven, Christopher Neurath, Edward Mitchell, clarinetists; "Violin Concerto in E Minor" by Nardine, Jane Thompson, violinist with Mrs. John W. Lynch, pianist; "Intermezzo in E Major" by Brahms, Sandra Groll, pianist; "Intermezzo in A Major" by Brahms, Laura Lee Downs, pianist; "Violin Concerto in A Minor" by Accolay, Douglas DeNatale, violinist, Mrs. John Lynch, pianist; "Dorata No. 6 in G Minor" by Vivaldi, David Demsey, saxophonist, Mrs. Norton Demsey, pianist; Sonata for Clarinet and Piano" by Mendelssohn, Thomas Page, clarinetist, John Willis Jr., pianist; and Sonata in C Major" by Beethoven, Jonathan Redpath, pianist.

The program concluded with "Concerto Grosso in D Minor" by Vivaldi for violin ensemble. Violinists were: Douglas DeNatale, Jane Thompson, Kathy Levinson, Jean Cornacack, Amy Radford, and Vernon Fritch with pianist Laura Lee Downs.

Teachers represented by the student performers were Albert Horn, Christopher King, Edward Mitchell, Attilio Poto, Doris Thomas, and John Willis Jr.

A table set by Mrs. Joseph DeNatale and her committee provided a festive occasion for performers and audience to mingle after the concert.

All look forward to the next annual student concert already in the planning stage for the coming year of the Winchester Music Club.

Three Sentenced In Assault, Battery Case

In a decision of the Middlesex Superior Court, Cambridge Thursday morning, June 3, three Somerville men were each sentenced to 18 months in the House of Correction on each count of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon and of assault with intent to murder. Charges arose from an attack on a Sylvester Avenue man last August.

Testifying in court were the victim, Wilfred L. Ferguson, 53, of 122 Sylvester Avenue, and Inspector-Sergeant William T. Haggerty of the Winchester Police Department, who received a commendation for his investigation which led to the apprehension of the three men. Prosecuting for the County was District Attorney Rowe.

As a result of the jury-waived trial sentences, to run concurrently, will be served by Lawrence Logan, 23; Richard A. Kneeland, 19; and William L. Walsh, 18, all of Somerville.

Testimony alleged that Mr. Ferguson was beaten by three men wielding a wrench, shovel, and the handle of another instrument on the evening of August 26 while he was in his yard trimming hedges. The three were reportedly pursuing another man.

Mr. Ferguson was released from Winchester Hospital approximately 10 days following the incident and has subsequently undergone surgery for injuries received.

One man was apprehended at his Somerville home several days after the assault by Sergeant Haggerty, while the other two were taken into custody at the hospital while apparently trying to see Mr. Ferguson.

Thomas A. Morse Is Commencement Speaker In Hub

Thomas A. Morse, coordinator of instructional aids and special programs for the Winchester School Department, has urged graduates of Andover Institute of Business and Pierce Secretarial School in Boston to "resist the temptation to retreat to the safety of self."

Speaking at combined commencement exercises at the Hotel Lenox in Boston, Mr. Morse told the 43 graduates of the business college, "Your world is not one of peace and serenity... universal disaster seems to be constantly in evidence. By necessity, it seems that the only solution lies in retreat to oblivion, retreat to the safety of self, retreat that will cut out the world that we cannot or will not cope with."

"The premise of escape must be reversed," he stated. Borrowing the words of Cervantes, he said, "You are obligated to right the unrightable wrong, to bear with unbearable sorrow, to run where the brave dare not go."

Besides holding his assignment with the Winchester School Department, Mr. Morse is an instructor at Northeastern University and at Boston College's Graduate School of Education.

Republicans Plan Upcoming State Activities

Winchester was represented at the recent Republican State Committee meeting by Cynthia Barone of School Street and William Barnstead of Arlington, elected members of the Committee for this district.

Mark Ames of Abington, a 17-year-old potential Republican, now president of the Massachusetts Teenage Republicans, was elected Deputy Chairman for Youth, to assist Committee Chairman Herbert Waite with youth activities. Young Ames spoke to the group during the dinner hour and was warmly received.

Representative Martin Linsky, assistant to Minority Leader Francis Hatch Jr., was in attendance and summarized important legislative bills for members.

Mrs. Ann Witherby, State Committee woman from Boston, was elected Massachusetts Republican Finance chairman, reputed to be the first woman to hold this office. As last year's general Finance drive hit a new low with a large percent of cities and towns failing to raise their state quotas, Mrs. Witherby received good natured warnings coupled with sincere thanks for her willingness to accept the Finance post.

Also discussed was the year's fund-raising dinner to be held at the Chateau de Ville, Framingham

Fortnightly Members Back Bloodmobile

Mrs. Richard Sheppard, president of The Fortnightly, has urged members to participate in the bloodmobile scheduled to be at St. Mary's Hall from 2 to 7 p.m. Monday, June 21.

Appointments may be made by calling the Red Cross Chapter House at 729-2300.

LWV Elects Six Directors

Six additional directors were elected at the June 4 board meeting of the Winchester League of Women Voters. They are Mrs. Richard Dollase, Mrs. Nolan Jones, Mrs. William Meader, Mrs. David Mortensen, Mrs. Clifford Orman, and Mrs. David Turnquist.

The meeting, followed by an informal luncheon, was held at the home of Mrs. Phillip Blumberg of 35 Foxcroft Road.

on Monday, June 14 with Governor Ronald Reagan as guest speaker. Instead of the usual $100-a-plate affair traditional with political parties, the tickets will be "two for $100." Both Mrs. Barone and Mr. Barnstead are promoting ticket sales in this district again this year.

Leon Smith Memorial Fund Has Been Founded

Gifts for the Leon Smith Memorial Fund will be welcomed from every person who knew and loved this unusual man. Leon was always doing something to help others.

Checks made payable to the First Congregational Church, Leon Smith Memorial Fund, will be destined for the needs and wishes of his family.

A Winchester resident of another church wrote the following note to accompany her gift:

"Just a small remembrance (wish it could be far more) in honor of Leon. I know of no one more beloved in this town — a friend to all and truly a great man."

St. Eulalia Group To Give Original Play On TV June 13

A seventh grade religious education class from St. Eulalia's Church will present an original play, "Let's Go To New York" or "Let's Cut Out Of Here" at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, June 13, on WBZ-TV, Channel 4. The presentation will be the first on a new half-hour program series, "A Show of Faith." Sunday's production will be the first prepared by the Boston Catholic Television Center since its facilities were destroyed by fire last October.

The class is taught by Joseph DiMartino, a store manager and St. Eulalia's parishioner. Telling the story of the Prodigal Son in modern terms, the drama is ad-libbed as the youngsters experience the contents of the Gospel parable in their own language. It is a new device, conceived by the layman for capturing the youths' attention and causing them to reflect on the message of Christ's story about a loving father whose arms are outstretched to a wayward son.

The play is simple, describing a Vermont boy who leaves his father's farm and becomes involved in drugs and robbery in New York City. While in prison, the youngster reflects on his actions and upon release returns to his father. The dialogue between the father and the errant son, ad-libbed, is different each time the play is presented.

Appearing also on the program will be Eleanor Boylan, a nationally known puppeteer who has been active in children's theaters for 25 years. The authoress of a book "How to be a Puppeteer" and an avid devotee of the use of puppets for entertainment, education, therapy, and social satire, Mrs. Boylan will use puppets to tell the Gospel parable in traditional terms.

The Catholic segment of this new theory will have as its theme "Jesus Christ is alive. Since His resurrection, He has passed into a new and glorious dimension of life, where by the Power of the Spirit He permeates all Creation. Primordial, His Goodness shines in many colors and intensities through the many people who surround him. The effects of the performance are Reflections of the Living Lord."

The host will be the Rev. Frank McFarland of the Catholic Television Center.

Just received a report of an ad which says: "T-Bone, 75c. With meat, $12.95."

Swainbank-Clark

A Saturday afternoon, May 22, ceremony was performed in St. Eulalia's Church for Miss Claudia Sue Clark, daughter of Mrs. Winston F. Clark of 9 Myopia Hill Road and the late Dr. Clark, and John Jay Swainbank III of Ithaca, New York, son of Mrs. Constance Swainbank of Ithaca and John Jay Swainbank of Utica, New York.

Rev. John L. Barry, S.J., uncle of the bride, officiated at the service. Guests later congregated at the Winchester Country Club for a reception.

MRS. JOHN J. SWAINBANK III

Escorted down the aisle by her brother, Winston B. Clark of Arlington, the bride appeared in a peau de soie gown with empire waist, bishop sleeves and a court train. Alencon lace and seed pearls accented the front. A Camolot cap with matching lace and pearls held her cathedral-length veil in place. White roses, stephanotis and baby's breath formed her bouquet.

Acting as maid of honor for her sister was Miss Marylee Clark of Winchester. Floral print voile in shades of pink and lavender was styled into a scoop neck, three-quarter puff sleeves, and ruffled cuffs and hem. The flowers worn in her hair were complemented by her bouquet of lavender daisy pom poms, pink miniature carnations, pink roses and sea foam.

Bridesmaids, attired as the maid of honor, were Katie (Catherine) Clark, sister of the bride, Kimberly Adams, and Sue Dalton, all of Winchester; Mrs. Winston B. Clark of Arlington; and Suzanne Shepard of Quincy.

Having the honor of best man was Todd Swainbank of Ithaca, brother of the bridegroom. Joining the wedding party as ushers were Richard H. Clark of Winchester, brother of the bride; John Baumann of New York; and Robert Deeley and Edward Moy, both of Ithaca.

A member of the Winchester High School class of 1966, the bride was graduated from Ithaca College in 1970 after concentrating in speech pathology and audiology. She will begin graduate studies in this field in September at Southern Methodist University. She is a member of Gamma Delta Pi social service sorority in which she has served as recording secretary.

Mr. Swainbank is a graduate of Ithaca College with a major in radio and television. He acted as social chairman and vice president of Pi Lambda Chi while there. Mr. Swainbank is presently a sales representative for Van Buren, Heilbrun, and Company, Inc.

Army Commends Alan MacDougall

Alan M. MacDougall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. MacDougall of 11 Rangeley Ridge, has been officially commended by the United States Army in Korea. A civilian employee, he has been given an Outstanding Performance Rating and Sustained Superior Performance Awards for his service from March 1, 1970, to February 28, 1971.

The citation received by Mr. MacDougall read: "During this period, Mr. MacDougall, as an Intelligence Research Specialist, Current Affairs Division, Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G2, Headquarters, Eighth United States Army, demonstrated an unusually high degree of initiative, knowledge and skill in carrying out his assigned duties.

"His deep and perceptive knowledge of his subject area, combined with his unusual ability as an intelligence analyst to quickly, clearly and concisely collate basic material into predicates for 62 policy and position papers have established his exceptional value to his organization far beyond the norm. This talent, added to his outstanding skills in verbal and written expression, have contributed immeasurably toward the successful accomplishment of the command's assigned intelligence objectives.

"His outstanding dedication to duty reflects great credit on himself, his organization, and the United States Army," the citation concludes.

Colonel Fred R. White, Assistant Chief of Staff, Eighth United States Army, signed the commendation.

Mr. MacDougall has returned to Seoul, Korea, from a three-week tour of the Far East, which he led as a councillor of the Korean branch of the Royal Asiatic Society, a cultural organization.

Class of '71-a beginning

The Class of 1971. It is a different world they enter compared to the world of 1967 when they entered college. And in large measure they had a part in the change.

Those who have plugged their way through engineering or related fields will have a difficult time finding a job in one of those exotic industries along Rte. 128 this year.

And yet this is what the Class of 1971 has moved for all along. When they entered college the Vietnam war was at its height. There were 500,000 American servicemen in Southeast Asia. The makers of the war machine were pumping out the bullets, the rockets and the radar sets. There was a barrel of research and development money around for the makers of new weapons. And everyone was fat. But the Class of 1971 was not happy.

Class of '71 changed that. In '67 and '68 effective demonstrations against the war in Vietnam began. There were few middle-aged ladies in sneakers or gentlemen with attache cases at those affairs in those days. Mostly, they were college students who opposed the war alone. And by 1968 the class was out to defeat a President to change the United States' policy in Vietnam. The target that year was Lyndon Johnson and they defeated him. They could not elect a candidate of their own.

But they did change the policy and now there are 14,500 men being brought home every month from Vietnam. Again, the Class of 1971 may not be pleased with the progress but there is no doubt about the final outcome.

When the Class of '71 came back from the political campaign in '68, they began to change their colleges.

In the process, they changed some college presidents and made other major changes on the campuses.

Class of '71 backed a new hero whose name was Ralph Nader, who has been called, with his college "raiders", the fifth branch of government, if you count the press as the fourth.

And so the Class of '71 has changed our minds about war. We are now coming home from Vietnam. We have begun to make limited progress on the talks for arms limitations with the Soviet Union. We have begun to care a little more about our rivers and our air. We are trying to give the consumer a break. For a change we have regulatory agencies in Washington being made to think about regulating.

The Class of '71 had a hand in all this. It may be the best commencement yet.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

"The ownership of a home, the feeling of independence which comes with the possession of a bit of the earth are among the most powerful incentives to high civic interest and usefulness."—Calvin Coolidge.

Undoubtedly, your property is subject to various local zoning laws. In addition, there are probably clauses, called covenants, in your deed. These are agreements placed there by the original subdividers. They may prohibit any number of things.

For instance: Do you own a one-story house? It may not be possible to add a second floor. Probably, you cannot build within a certain distance of the property line. You may not be able to rent part of your home.

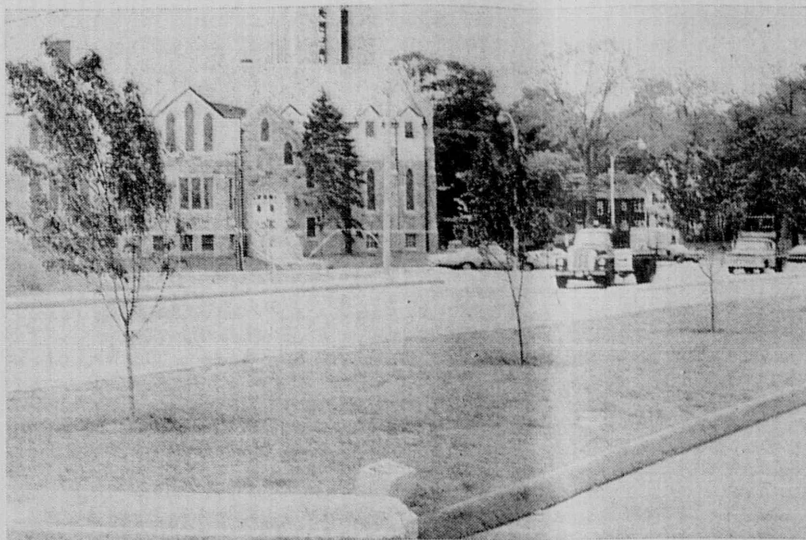

The law enforces restrictions which are in the public good. Be sure you know what restrictions have been placed on your prospective home.

Your Real Estate Agent can tell you about these zoning laws. Just ask him.

Republicans Hear Reports, Discuss Plans

The Winchester Republican Town Committee met last Tuesday evening at the Woodside Avenue home of member Carol Johnson.

Chairman Garry Yagjian led the meeting calling for reports from Vice Chairman Helen Shasta, Secretary Carol Johnson, Treasurer George Little Jr., Membership Chairman Margaret McCreery, and State Committeemen William Barnstead and Cynthia Barone.

A finance report from Cynthia Reynolds was given by Mrs. Barone including an announcement of the Republican State Committee dinner to be held on June 14 with Ronald Reagan as guest speaker.

Committee members discussed the prospect of holding a local money-raising affair during the summer months. Lawrence Smith suggested that to avoid confusion, State Finance drives should be held during the same month every year.

Representative Harrison Chadwick recently agreed to be the official liaison between the State House and the Town of Winchester, supplying information every few weeks. Representative Francis Hatch Jr., minority leader of the House, is circulating newsletters among Republican leaders in an effort to better inform them of State House activities.

After a discussion concerning future meetings, it was voted that, for the remainder of the year, the Republican Committee hold its meetings on the second Tuesday of each month with the exception of December and March. Some would be work meetings while others would be for speakers and discussions. Ted Shasta Jr., presently a student at Harvard University, was elected to associate membership. The next meeting will be on July 13.

Training Institutes Are Well Peopled

Several Winchester residents and four staff members of the Winchester public school system are participating in a training institute for teachers of emotionally disturbed children based at the McLean Hospital in Belmont.

Local participants are Mary L. Bowen, Barbara C. Bryant, Frieda Lang, Dwight MacKerron, and Sally MacKerron, and school personnel Thomas Budzewicz, Karen Kimball, W. Howard Niblock, and Constance Trickett.

The designers of the training program for teachers anticipated an average course attendance of 25 people. Nearly triple that figure are enrolled in each of 151 long-term courses.

The designers expected that trainees would come from communities in the greater Boston area. Over 80 communities, including towns as far west as Amherst and Adams, as far north as Lowell and Gloucester, and as far south as Plymouth and New Bedford are represented to date.

The designers also planned on a preponderance of teachers. Instead, each session has drawn a "mixed bag" of professionals — social workers, counselors, psychiatrists, nurses, students and school administrators.

"We knew the need existed," says Dr. Helen Kenney, director of the training institutes for the Education and Comprehensive Care of Emotionally Handicapped Children and Youth, "we just underestimated its scope and intensity."

The need is described by one teacher enrolled in the year-long program, as "that boxed-in feeling." Many teachers become isolated within the four walls of their classroom, using the same techniques and making the same mistakes year after year, she explains.

The institutes provide "a fresh outlook on some old situations." New teaching methods and new psychological theories are presented and discussed.

Discussion is made more provocative by what Dr. Kenney calls the "professional mix," a factor that has been built into the program.

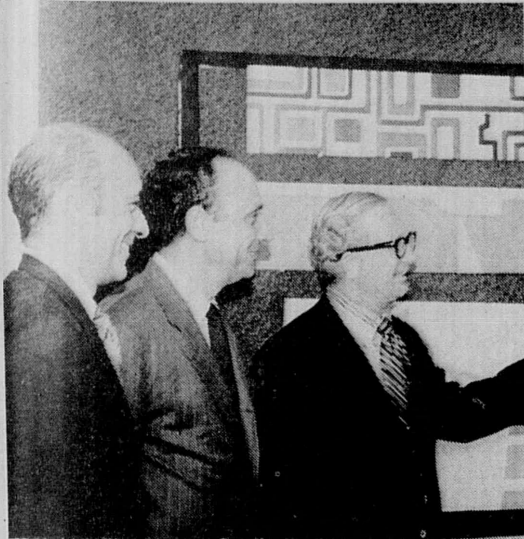

It is evident in the Institutes' choice of speakers as well as in the make up of the trainees. Psychiatrists, sociologists, school administrators, testing specialists, teachers, and psychologists have led courses during the year. According to a trainee, the beauty of the "mix" is that it offers a variety of interpretations and approaches to one subject.

Dr. Kenney points out that fifty speakers and trainees demonstrated their eagerness to understand and share with other professionals by devoting a weekend to a group encounter experience.

"This is new stuff," says one trainee. "We are hearing theory and case studies that will be published two years from today."

All courses are held on Friday afternoons and evenings and Saturday mornings. "What impresses me most," says Dr. Kenney, "is the dedication of people who work a full, and often exhausting week, and then devote a large slice of their leisure time to professional training."

She points out that academic credit, by arrangement with one of six affiliating universities, and in-service credit are available. Approximately 100 trainees are earning credit, while the majority attend courses mainly for their own betterment.

May Form Group Mystery Ride Offers Scouts Problem Advice Fun, Food

The Social Concerns Committee of the Winchester Unitarian Church will present Gerald Walliek, a leader in the formation of several employment action groups in Massachusetts, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, June 13, in the Symmes Room of the Unitarian Church.

Mr. Walliek, an unemployed engineer, will describe the personal and social consequences of unemployment, and the range of services and activities of the Employment Action Group which he heads.

EAG is an organization of unemployed technologists in communities in Massachusetts and Rhode Island concerned with the immediate and long range problems of unemployment. It is an information center dealing with the privileges and rights of the unemployed such as tax, legal, medical, and food stamp benefits. It serves as a clearing house for prospective employers. In addition, the group has set up baby sitting services and a surplus food depot.

All interested people are invited to attend.

Mid-afternoon Thursday, June 3, the eight cub scouts of Den 5, Pack 510 of Muraco School, began their mystery outing with Den Mother, Mrs. Alfred Magliozzi.

The first stop was made at Beaver Brook Reservation in Waltham. After some tree climbing, running about, and a snack, the cubs proceeded to a miniature golf course.

Stepping up to the "tee" were Tom Doocey, Robert Fiore, Richard and Robert Magliozzi, Dean Ranzo, Sean Mandeville, Eddie Pratt, and Timmy Miara. Three "holes-in-one" were sunk by Sean Mandeville, Eddie Pratt, and Dean Ranzo.

Rain drove the cub scouts into the bowling alley, where they proved to be much better bowlers than golfers. High scores of 92, 88, and 86 were recorded by Sean Mandeville, Bobby Fiore, and Dean Ranzo, respectively.

The climax of the mystery ride was pizzas, followed by the return home.

Skating Cronies Conclude Season

The Skating Cronies, a group consisting of housewives, retired men and women, teachers, business men, and women of all ages, has concluded its activities for the season. The members ice skate three mornings a week from September through May at the Sports Center in Lynn.

Henry Kirk of 15 New Meadows Road received the group's cup of the year. He won first place in the Dutch waltz contest, Mr. Kirk, a beginner, had joined the group only a few months earlier.

Captain Sampson will play in the middlefield with two other All Americans, Phil Hooper and Dave Frisbee of Andover Academy. The East squad has 26 players representing over 40 high school and preparatory school teams in eastern New England. A similar group has been chosen for the western representatives, including some from the deposed champions of Longmeadow.

Two other Winchester boys who have been playing for private schools, Steve Debra of Holderness and Mark Stabile of Hebron Academy, will play for the East team, with the latter guarding the nets and Steve performing at midfield.

In the afternoon the North-South college all-star lacrosse game will be played on the same field, thus rounding out a full day of top notch action by the cream of high school, preparatory school, and college and university devotees of the stick game.

Hill Scores In State Meet

Bruce Hill, ace hurdler of the Winchester track team, competed in the Class C finals of the State Meet and scored three points. The Sachem timber topper has been a consistent winner in both high and low hurdle events during the outdoor season and also performed well over the shorter indoor hurdles event.

He won his qualifying heat for the Class C finals quite easily and did well in the finals, in which he was placed third. Bruce passed up the State finals because of a working commitment.

Kiwanis Fish Derby Attracts 450 Youngsters And 300 Fish

The 16th annual Kiwanis Fish Derby was a huge success due to the cooperation of many, including the weatherman. Four hundred fifty children participated, along with their parents, to make it a great family day. The hot dogs and soda served by Kiwanis at the "chuck wagon" added measurably to the fishing enthusiasm.

Over three hundred fish cooperated with the children, including a prize-winning 18-inch sucker and a 14-inch trout. The children and Kiwanians were also excited with catching several eels, which were measured with some difficulty, ranging from 17 to 24 inches.

The prizes, consisting of fishing equipment, will be awarded in the near future at a Kiwanis softball game, as follows:

The Club also thanked Rocco Ferraina and his hard-working committee. The Kiwanis Club also praised Charles Koch and the Winchester Sport Shop for their support of the annual Derby.

WHS Girls' Softball Team Closes Great 10-2 Season

Coach Joan Rosazza's Sachemette softballers compiled a 10-2 record this year with an 8-1 tally in Middlesex League play. Their only league loss came at the hands of Lexington, 9-5. This is by far the best season in recent years and was highlighted by victories over Newton and Concord-Carlisle, games in which they were figured as definite underdogs.

The Newton game, taken by Winchester 9-7 and the Lincoln-Sudbury contest, a rout for the local girls by 16-3, were the non-league wins. Their only defeat outside of the league was at the hands of Arlington, which had lost only one game in four years. Leading going into the final inning, the Sachemettes saw their golden opportunity melt, but they succumbed only after giving Arlington the scare of the year.

The team was led by co-captains Debbie Duffy and Beth Klemmer. Varsity players included: Nancy DiZio, cf; Debbie Duffy, 2b; Lynn Duffy, c; Nancy Fontneau, 3b; Beth Klemmer, 1b; Cyndy Lowe, rf; Suzanne Lowe, 3b; Denise McDonald, p; Patty McGinn, p; Noreen Murphy, lf; and Martha Putnam, ss.

Miss Janet Keene coached the JV team, which also had a fine year, with a 6-3 record. They defeated Concord, Lexington, Newton, Reading, Stoneham, and Wakefield. All three losses were by a single run to Woburn, Arlington, and Concord Academy.

JV players included: Jeanne Fay and Chris Troiano, co-captains; and Laurie Abbott, Beverly Cade, Ruth Cincotta, Carol Duffy, Martha Fernald, Sue Friborg, Michele Graffeo, Ann Kelleher, Susie Knight, Polly Kroyton, Mary Livingston, Karen Neergard, Lucille Piazza, Diane Rockas, Nancy Stillman, Debbie Ter Meulen, Debbie Wark, and Rebecca Wolfe.

The varsity league record: Winchester 25, Belmont 5; Winchester 11, Concord-Carlisle 3.

First-round scores: Winchester 7, Dedham 0; Foxboro 5, Sudbury 1; E. Walpole 2, Hudson 1; Wellesley 5, Medford 0.

Town Softball League Summary

There were no games played Monday, Memorial Day.

Tuesday - After losing two games by rather large scores, Bellino's Pizza came back only to lose a close 5-3 game to the S.O.I.

Bellino's played by far their best game and should be ready now to add to the strength of the League. It should be noted that Bellino's were without several key ball players in their first two games.

Jack Carey and pitcher Jimmy Gorman both with two hits led the S.O.I. attack, while timely hits by Billy Hilfinger and Kevin Barry helped the Bellino attack.

Wednesday - The much-improved DiZio's lost to the Elks 3-2 in eight innings in the best-played game to far in the young season.

Tom Lynch's home run in the top of the eighth was the margin of victory for the Elks. George Murphy's single and heads-up base running gave the Elks a 1-0 lead. Joe Marrone's triple and an error allowing him to score tied the game at 1-1. The Elks took a 2-1 lead in the sixth when Jay Rowe singled with two outs and scored on Gene Lane's long triple. DiZio's came right back in the last of the sixth to tie the game on doubles by Mike Donovan and Bobby Nuttle. Jay Rowe with three hits, and Gene Lane with two, led the Elks; while Joe Marrone with a triple and Mike Donovan and Bobby Nuttle. Jay Rowe was the winning pitcher and newcomer Fred Chase was the loser.

Thursday night's game was rained out.

Local Squirts Take Top Spot In League By Beating Beverly

The Winchester Squirts ended in first place, winning their closing game in style as they beat Beverly, 4-2.

The first period started off with a bang as Ricky Blanch scored on a rebound shot off Allyn Stillman's stick to give Winchester a quick lead. Beverly's attempt to bounce back was foiled when Allyn Stillman scored on a breakaway and beat the goalie to make the score 2-0 Winchester.

The middle period was an even battle, which was highlighted with some fine body checks and close saves by goalies for each side until Beverly's center man, Peter Lawless, scored on a low shot which deflected off goalie Mike Schromm's skate to bring Beverly to within one goal closer. Their hopes were dimmed slightly when Bill Strazullo scored to make it 3 to 1, Winchester still in front.

As first place came closer to Winchester, the third and final period was a fast and furious one. Beverly made a mistake by getting a penalty. A short while later, Allyn Stillman scored on a shot which hit the crossbar and deflected in for Allyn. That was his second goal of the game and 33 in all for the Stillman. Strazullo-Blanch line. Extra credit goes to this same line for scoring all four goals of the game for Winchester.

With a few minutes left in the season, Beverly's Pete Lawless scored his second goal of the game to make the score 4-2. Before Beverly could get anything else going, the game was over and Winchester was in first place.

The game pucks were awarded to Dana Kawa and Mike Jackson. Pee Wee officials expressed their thanks to the parents for their help and support throughout the season; to the Saltmarsh Insurance Agency, the team's sponsor, the coaches, and to the players, Ricky Blanch, Ron DeVenzon, Tony Donlon, Ed Doherty, Steve Ferrullo, Mark Fazio, J. M. Gagon, Tom Galante, Mike Jackson, Dana Kawa, Bob Leonard, Peter Mahoney, Paul Mahoney, Christopher McCarthy, Buddy Proski, Bubba Sandford, Bill Strazullo, Mike Schromm, Allyn Stillman, and Jimmy Willing.

He will be in his favorite position in the East-West game to be played on Saturday at Tufts University Field starting at ten a.m.

Mark was also captain of the highly successful Hebron hockey team and its leading scorer, with 25 goals and 33 assists. He plans to attend Norwich University next year.

Watertown Bests Tracksters In Season's Finale

Watertown's track team reached its season's high in performance and the Sachems suffered a letdown after beating the Woburn Tanners. The net result found Watertown out front by the two heavy margin of 97-34. The Raiders dominated nearly every event, taking 11 first places as well as the relay. Bruce Hill, who took both hurdles events, and Charlie Tatarian turned in a fine half mile to be the only Winchester first place winners.

Cap Baseball League Plays Full Schedule

by James R. Stewart, Jr.

With able assistance of fair weather, Cap Leaguers played their full weekend schedule for the first time this season.

First a correction in last week's results. In the wild and woolly game between the Apollos and the Hornets, the Apollos took that contest.

On Saturday, the Blue Jays trimmed the up-to-then undefeated Cardinals, 3-2, with everyone contributing an excellent effort, teamwise. For the Cards, Andrew Brown pitched well. The Cooke brothers, Gary and Robert, contributed good plays, while Kevin Gonsalves and Charlie Adelberger hit well, but John Shattuck and Stephen Marino on the defense were too much for Blue Jay for the Cardinals and they lost their first game of the season.

On Field 3 at West Side, in another well-played contest, the Tigers continued their run at the top spot by defeating the Eagles, 5-1. On Field 1, the Warriors continued to chase the leaders with an impressive 11-1 victory over the Hornets. Jeff McGoldrick was the standout pitcher for the Warriors. He was followed to the mound by a creditable performance from Jeff Cahill to hold back the sting of the Hornets.

On Ginn Field, Apollo pitchers Fran Murray and Jeff Stackpole went through 18 batters without allowing a hit and chalking up 18 strikeouts. Paul Nowell was the backstop mainstay as Jeff Stackpole smashed a grand slam in the fifth inning to wrap it up. Todd Chambers, Tom Masello, and Festus McDonough were the other Apollo stickouts. Jack Bracken and Bobby Brownell did what they could for the 'Cats, but the "Space Men" were not to be denied. Apollos 9, Bobcats 8.

The Yankees poured it on the Red Sox as Steve Lamacara and Tom Stoddard hit to all fields and Steve Gibbons played some heads-up ball to help the Yanks to a lopsided 12-0 victory. The Golden Hawks picked up their second win of the season behind good pitching by Mark Ockebloom and Chris Porter as Ockebloom and Dave Kingsley led the attack with two hits apiece to help the win 11-5 over the Orioles.

On Sunday, before the largest crowds of the season, Orioles reversed their Saturday loss by beating the Red Sox, 3-0, in the feature game of the day. Two runs in the fifth and one in the sixth were too much for the Sox.

In the longest game of the day, walks played a big part in the 17-7 win of the Warriors over the Bobcats. The score was no real indication of the play as there were many outstanding plays in the field and some excellent baseball all around by both teams that had the spectators screaming to the end of the contest.

The Eagles also reversed their Saturday result by edging the Golden Hawks, 5-4, with four runs in the fifth inning. The come-from-behind victory was a solid team effort from the whole Eagle nest.

The feature game at Ginn Field was the Tigers' win over the Apollos 4-3, thereby keeping the Tigers in a tie for the best Cap League

Bantams Lose At Needham, 5-2

In the quarter final of the BAYS Soccer League, the Winchester Bantams matched undefeated Needham's play until the third quarter when Needham got three quick goals to win 5 to 2.

With the kickoff at 2 p.m. in perfect playing weather, Needham scored first at 2:14. Winchester's Peter Martini at inside right tied it at 2:20 but in the final minute of the first half Needham went ahead 2 to 1.

Opening the second half Winchester continued to play perhaps their best game of the season and earned their second tying goal at 2:49 by Rick Mauger from right wing making it a 2-2 game.

But the vision of overtime was soon faded when Needham scored three goals in the last ten minutes. The final score was Needham 5, Winchester 2.

Although great soccer talent was displayed by many team members, one of the contributing factors in the team's fourth-place position in the north division was excellent goal tending by 6ft.-2in. Wayne McNeill. Wayne allowed only eight goals in five games. His initiative, aggressiveness, and talent at this early age of 13 should project him into a successful future as a soccer goalkeeper.

Saturday To Be Field Day For Some Students

Children from the Washington School will be taking over Leonard Field at 10 a.m. on Saturday, June 12, when the annual Field Day takes place. The school's Dad's Club, which schedules a variety of programs for the children every year, traditionally closes its season with this event.

The current Field Day chairman, Howard Goodrow, has expanded the list of assignments this year to include almost every father "in" the school. Arrangements have been made for hot dogs, tonic, chips, and ice cream, which the dads will sell at moderate cost from Winchester's Chuck Wagon. Music and speakers will again be provided with the cooperation of the Town's Auxiliary Fire Equipment.

Races for each grade are scheduled for girls and boys. Appropriate awards will be presented to the winners.

The final event of the day will be the Cap League Game, which begins at 1 p.m.

Mobile Home Standards Of VA Announced

The Veterans Administration has announced standards for its mobile home program, which guarantees up to 30 percent of loans — up to a maximum of $10,000 for mobile homes, or up to $17,500 if the loan is also for a fully developed lot.

The mobile home program was established by PL 91-506. VA has prescribed regulations to govern such items as mobile home sites, construction standards, and written manufacturer's warranties.

There are also qualifications for mobile home park locations, basically the same as those for an average subdivision on which single family homes are built. They must have the same facilities, such as proper geographical locations, water, sewage, and electricity.

The new law empowers VA Administrator Donald E. Johnson to set interest rates at levels to insure adequate capital for mobile home loans made by lending institutions. He set the interest rate at 10.75 percent. The interest rate for money used to purchase a lot and to make improvements was set at 7 percent.

The VA also explained that mobile homes purchased under its program must be at least 40 feet wide, with a minimum of 400 square feet.

Applicants should obtain their certificates of eligibility from the nearest VA regional office, find a mobile home they like and which meets VA standards, settle details for rental or purchase of a mobile home lot, and then apply to a lender for a loan.

Veterans and servicemen with at least 181 days of active service after January 31, 1955, are eligible for mobile home loans as are veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict who served more than 90 days, provided they have not previously used their home loan benefit.

So are veterans discharged for service-connected disabilities, regardless of length of service, widows of eligible veterans, and wives of members of the Armed Forces missing in action or prisoners of war for more than 90 days.

Dr. Arnott's 19th Book To Be Published Shortly

The 19th book by Dr. Peter Arnott of 6 Herriek Street will be available shortly. "The Ancient Greek and Roman Theatre," Dr. Arnott's eighth original work, is being published by Random House in New York. Dr. Arnott has also created 11 translations.

Dr. Arnott is director of graduate studies in the Theatre Department at Tufts University. He also operates an adult marionette theatre which presents Greek and Roman plays at universities throughout the country.

Before accepting the Tufts assignment over a year ago, Dr. Arnott was at the University of Iowa in Iowa City. He was born in England. He was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in the classics and a doctor of philosophy degree in Greek drama by the University of Wales. He also received bachelor of arts and master's degrees in the classics from the University of Oxford.

Dr. Arnott is planning a trip to Turkey to gather material for a book on Byzantine civilization.

The local author — educator is married to the former Eva Schenkel. They have two children, Catherine, 11, a sixth grade pupil at the Muraco School, and Christopher, ten, in the fourth grade at the Mystic School.

Mystic Valley Installs Officers

The May meeting of the Mystic Valley Association for Retarded, Inc. was held on the 20th in Waltham. An award of merit was presented to Jerome Lynch, deputy superintendent of schools in Woburn.

The award, presented by outgoing president, Richard N. Binnall, was in recognition of Mr. Lynch's activities in the field of education for the retarded.

A message of gratitude to Mr. Binnall for his two years of service while in office was matched by Mr. Binnall's appreciation for those who had assisted him.

Richard MacDonald, third vice president of the Massachusetts Association for Retarded Children, Inc. and past president of the South Middlesex ARC, was present.

The following officers were then installed by Mr. MacDonald: President, John M. Sullivan of Woburn; First Vice President, Richard B. Moff of Lexington; Second Vice President, Philip L. Gatchell Jr. of Woburn; Treasurer, Elinor Gieking of Burlington; Burlington Director, Claire Croke; Lexington Director, Robert Caterino; and Woburn Director, Dale Wesgan.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

When the past meets the future, they both admit that insurance is the best policy.

Speaking of borrowing on your life insurance policy, you can just about count on a loan equal to 94 percent to 95 percent of the cash value.

Cash value on your life insurance policies begin to accumulate in the second year in which the policy has been in existence. Each policy shows a schedule setting forth exactly how much you can borrow during the life of the coverage.

One of the outstanding features of borrowing on your life insurance policy is in the lack of crimson tape. There is no fuss. Simply sign a non-complicated form and your check should be forthcoming in a few days.

Watch Next Week for . . .

Would you believe a real free offer if you saw one?

Then take a good look at this one. It only happens once a year.

We'll install a gas conversion burner in your present furnace or boiler. We'll let you use it for a year. And we won't charge you a cent. All you pay for is the gas you use.

At the end of a year, we'll remove the gas burner free, if you're not satisfied. Or, you can stay with clean, dependable gas heat.

We made a lot of new friends with last year's offer. Ask your gas company for a list of people in your area. Again this year, our offer is for real — for a limited time only. Take advantage of it before the offer is withdrawn!

Full Camping Program Offered By Mistick Side

Camping at the Mistick Side Girl Scout Council camps is fun, whether it be at the day camps at Rice Moody in Reading or Toploft at Cedar Hill in Waltham, or resident camps at Sherwood Forest in Jaffrey, New Hampshire, or Menotomy in Meredith, New Hampshire. The camps run from July 4 through August 28 at the resident camps, and July 6 through August 26 at the day camps.

Day camping is a special kind of camping offered to girls who want to have fun and learn new skills in the out of doors, but who want to return home at night. Older girls who are ready to put these skills to use on an overnight camping experience are given this added opportunity. Campers are placed in units based on both their age and camping knowledge and experience.

Girls participate in their own program planning, learn the importance of good troop government, and have an opportunity to be creative. Program offered to day campers is almost endless in its variety — swimming, hiking, campcraft, singing, dramatics, fire building, outdoor cooking, sports, pottery, weaving, folk dancing, badgerwork, nature crafts and special conservation projects which will help to develop an appreciation for our natural environment. The day camp fee includes transportation, milk, camper insurance, some food for snacks and cookouts, program materials and swimming instruction.

Bus transportation to Toploft will be provided for Winchester, sessions one, two and three. Miss Sandra Driscoll will be the camp director again this year.

Counselor-in-training programs are offered to Senior Scouts at both Sherwood Forest and Menotomy. Special interest programs offered at Sherwood Forest are beginning canoe caravan, advanced canoe caravan, junior and senior life saving, backpacking and pioneer camping. At Menotomy special interest programs are international unit, beginning canoe waterland, advanced canoe waterland, junior and senior life saving, mariner "eight" and White Mountain excursion.

There is also a wide variety of activities in which all campers can participate at both camps — hiking, archery, boating and canoeing, swimming, whitening, mountain climbing, campcraft, arts and crafts, outdoor cooking, dramatics, folk dancing, and adventure days to nearby places outside camp. Miss Renee Sack is the director at Sherwood Forest and Miss Patricia Nisonger is the director at Menotomy.

Mistick Side Girl Scout Council, Inc. is a member of the United Community Services and receives funds from the Massachusetts Bay United Fund.

Sealed proposals, plainly marked on the envelope "Proposals" addressed to the Superintendent of Streets, Town Hall, Winchester, Massachusetts, will be received at the office of the Superintendent of Streets on or before Wednesday, June 23, 1971, at 10:30 A.M., at which time proposals will be publicly opened and read.

Detailed information may be obtained from the Office of the Superintendent of Streets, Town Hall, Winchester, Mass.

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals or to accept such proposal as is for the best interest of the Town of Winchester.

How high would you bid with the North hand? West might pass, open with 1H or use the weak 2H opening, so North's problem would vary from table to table.

The key decision for North, though, comes not originally but after East-West find their 4S game contract. Should he bid the 5D sure to be doubled? If he can hold the set to down two for a -500, he's ahead of the game, for East-West can make 4S for a North-South score of -820. It's a ticklish decision, for down three for a -800 would be a bottom board.

In actual play, eight East-Westers were allowed to play in 4S making four for the -820 score. Only two Norths pushed to 5D, one doubled and down the -500 and one really cashing in by setting the 5S bid by the opponents. And two North-Souths were doubled at 3D and 4D on the way up to collect excellent scores.

So, this time it paid off for North to be optimistic, thanks to his partner's hearts.

IF YOU DON'T know WHY YOU SHOULD OPPOSE THE PROPOSED ZONING BY-LAW, ASK US.

We will say

Our business growth will be stymied

Our property will lessen in value

Our taxes will increase

Our liberties will decrease

Because we believe our town's outstanding character and living style have been deeply influenced by the zoning by-law now governing us, we urge the defeat of the proposed zoning by-law in order to preserve for those who are to come the Winchester we cherish for its life, beauty and promise.

Achievement Tests Report Is Aired

A report on 1971 achievement scores for the elementary schools, including the Stanford Achievement and California Test Batteries, as prepared through the office of the assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction, was aired before an audience requiring the space of the High Street School auditorium on Monday evening, June 14.

Generally stated both test batteries indicated for the particular groups examined an above national norms achievement in the language area. Concerning arithmetic, concepts and application range from the national norm to above this median. In computation "our grade level medians range from a low of three months below national norms to a high of one month above national norms" in the Stanford test, while the actual score in the California test is given as the national norm of 4.5.

Several cautions in accepting the analysis were offered to the School Committee and parents by Assistant Superintendent Dr. Walter P. Gleason. While acknowledging a two to two and one-half year standard error for such achievement tests, he stated that scores were "only an indication" of proficiency. They can not be used as the only measure of a system, and suggested that they are relied upon too much because they are "easy to talk about."

The Stanford test is administered in grades two through six. The California test, given for the first time this year, was applied only to fourth graders, a total of 369. "Not all scores from both batteries are reported since the Winchester curriculum does not correspond closely enough with science and social studies fact tests." Reading and arithmetic skills were stressed.

Stanford Tests

In the reading skills section of the Stanford tests the word meaning and paragraph meaning areas "went up in every grade level except one, indicating a definite positive trend here. Paragraph meaning scores from each school and each grade level range from a low of six months above national norms to a high of eight months above national norms." Scores by grade level in the language section were "at a median of from three months above national norms to nine months above national norms."

Concerning arithmetic, centered around computation, concepts, and application, "we value the application and the conceptual understanding more than the calculation. We estimate that the number of hours needed to maintain a high level of calculation ability are better spent learning now to apply the mathematical skills intelligently. Our scores reflect this decision."

The reflection is that in computation Winchester's grade level medians span a "low of three months below national norms to a high of one month above national norms." In the remaining arithmetic categories scores are recorded from the "national norm to eight months above national norms."

"In arithmetic computation there was an increase over last year in median grade scores in every grade level but one, indicating an upward trend in this section. There is no trend of score changes from 1970 to 1971 in conceptual understanding and application."

California Tests

An added feature of the California tests is a "regression analysis" which provides a predicted score based on the I.Q. of the persons taking the test. The following results are reported in grade equivalent scores (decimal figures indicating year and month of achievement). The national norm in each category is 4.5.

| Category | Expected | Actual |
|------------------------|----------|--------|
| Vocabulary | 5.2 | 5.4 |
| Reading Comprehension | 5.3 | 5.9 |
| Language Total | 5.2 | 5.1 |
| Arithmetic Computation | 4.7 | 4.5 |
| Arithmetic Concepts | 5.0 | 5.4 |
| Arithmetic Application | 4.9 | 5.1 |

Considering the 5.9 actual score in reading comprehension, it is noted that a curriculum organization in reading, consisting of three specialists who meet weekly and who supervise half time, is currently used.

Single Sessions At Muraco School Weighed For Fall

Presentation of a pilot program for a single session day to be implemented at the Muraco School in the fall of 1971 was made to the Winchester School Committee at its Monday night session, June 14. Committee members agreed to study this plan and its related aspects for more definite consideration at their first meeting in September.

The program has been proposed by the Muraco School Parents Association, represented Monday evening by President, Mrs. Jeanne Amico. It has received the sanction of Muraco Principal, Richard H. Young, and his staff.

The spur to the creation of this project is the probable State law mandating school lunch programs by towns as of September of 1972. However, the Association is not proposing an "in-lunch program," but rather a lunch which students would bring from home and eat in the classrooms.

Basically the program involves shortening the lunch period and the school day. As presently outlined the school day would begin at 8:45 and end at 2:15, allowing for a lunch period between 11:45 and 12:15. Kindergarten sessions would be equal for the first time, running from 8:45 to 11:15 and 11:45 to 2:15.

The main objection voiced to the schedule at this time concerned the 30 minute reduction in the school day which would take place at only one school. Committee Chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst noted this variance, and was seconded by Dr. Walter P. Gleason, assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction, who was "very much opposed" to the time loss at one location.

Mr. Parkhurst, who stated that there were "good features" to the program, added that the present contract with teachers allows them a free lunch period. Volunteers for lunchroom supervision would be necessary. Further, it was his own hope that lunches would be eaten in the auditorium, rather than in individual classrooms.

30 Minutes

Mr. Young, reiterating a point made in the proposal of the Association, said that the 2:15 closing of the school would allow time for an "extra-help" period or additional instruction and enrichment. Another means of making up this half-hour per day discrepancy would be the elimination of consultation periods at Muraco, while retaining them at other institutions.

As rationale for initiating the single session program at Muraco, the Association cites four particular problems. "Only this school of all the elementary schools cannot be considered a 'neighborhood school.'" Over 90 students are presently bussed to Muraco, while more than 100 pupils are said to already be eating their lunches in school as of this year. "The 65 minute lunch period has caused many problems."

School Committee Tables Action On Pupil Transfers

The Winchester School Committee gave consideration at its Monday night session, June 14, to the possible necessity for transfers of Mystic School sixth graders and Muraco kindergartners. The proposal was tabled.

A large audience was attracted to the meeting by such agenda items as the achievement tests report, Muraco School single session pilot program, transfers proposal, and report of the Differential Staffing Committee.

The shuffling of students due to projections of overcrowded conditions in specific areas within the school system has become a perennial problem. The recommendation of Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald A. Klemer for implementation in the school year 1972-1973 revolves about changes among Mystic sixth graders and Muraco kindergartners.

Under this proposal Noonan and Lincoln School fourth graders currently assigned to Muraco would remain there into the fifth and sixth grades. McCall seventh graders assigned to Lynch Junior High School would continue at Lynch. Concerning the McCall pupils the administration will be notifying these parents that due to budget reductions "we will discontinue the policy of transporting these children, all of whom fall within the established walking distance for secondary students."

Town Employees' Association Now Part Of AFL-CIO

Winchester Town Employees Association members recently voted to become affiliated with the Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO, according to Secretary Walter W. Prue.

The local group has been independent since its formation four years ago. It includes about 70 Highway, Park, Water and Sewer, Cemetery, and Sanitation Department workers.

Medford municipal employees belong to the same organization which local association members have voted to join.

Firefighters' Testimonial Is June 25

A retirement testimonial for Firefighter Henry P. O'Melia of 16 Loring Avenue will be held on Friday, June 25, in the Sons of Italy Hall, Swanton Street.

A social hour from 7 to 8 p.m. will be followed by dinner and dancing until 12 midnight. Tickets may be obtained at the Winchester Fire Station or by contacting Lieutenant Bernard F. Stygles or Firefighters Charles R. Moran or Robert W. Swymmer.

Four Reasons Cause Aberjona Pollution, Students' Report Says

What is causing pollution of the Aberjona River?

Four major reasons exist, two Winchester High School 1971 graduates maintain. Their findings, gathered for an independent study project in a Modern Problems class at WHS, were recently published.

Jonathan Pease, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pease of 6 Wilson Street, and Per Enge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Enge of 26 Prince Avenue, claim that the loss of flow rate, litter, raw sewage, and chlorine create the Aberjona's pollution problems.

Their half-year study was submitted to their instructors, Evan French Jr. and Paul T. Mulloy of the Social Studies Department.

By September, Mr. Pease and Mrs. Pease will be in college. Mr. Pease will major in chemistry at the University of Vermont. His long-range goal is a post as a research chemist in pollution control. Mr. Enge will study electrical engineering at the University of Massachusetts but has not firmly decided on future career plans.

What They Found

Mr. Pease and Mr. Enge noted that the Aberjona originates in West Reading, flows through Woburn, into Winchester Center, and then into the Mystic Lakes. Ten miles long, its depth varies from one to ten feet, except for a few ponds that are part of the river. Its width ranges from six feet at the star to 20 feet at the mouth. "The belief that factories pour their wastes directly into the Aberjona is false," the researchers reported. "Several chemical tests proved conclusively that such action does not exist. Industries in this area divert their waste materials to the sewers."

"The fear that the Aberjona is thermally polluted is also misguided. It is true that several industries along the Aberjona use water for cooling purposes and consequently return water to the river, which is hotter than that which they removed. However, this action is not large enough to raise the temperature of the river to the point where life in the river is threatened," the report continued.

Priscilla's Work Featured On TV Special

Mrs. James N. Kidder of 18 Brooks Street, known professionally as Priscilla of Boston, appeared on a television special, "Preview of Tricia's Wedding," Friday evening, June 11, on Channel 5, Boston, and CBS-TV. White House Correspondent Dan Rather and Reporter Marya McLaughlin co-anchored the special report. Mrs. Kidder described her work for TV viewers.

Mrs. Kidder designed the bridal gown worn by the former Tricia Nixon at her wedding Saturday, June 12, to Edward F. Cox. The local woman also created the former Luci Johnson's wedding dress for her marriage to Patrick Nugent in 1966.

The gown worn by the former Julie Nixon at the nuptials for her and for David Eisenhower was also planned by Mrs. Kidder.

At a White House party celebrating Mrs. Richard M. Nixon's 59th birthday and her daughter Tricia's engagement, Mrs. Nixon and her two daughters each wore one of Mrs. Kidder's gowns.

Persons seeking further information or wishing to make appointments may call the Red Cross Winchester Chapter at 729-2300.

Selectmen Appoint Firemen And Police

Several fire and police appointments were made by the Selectmen this week.

Named on a provisional basis to the Fire Department, as recommended by Fire Chief I. Francis Amico, were Herbert S. Cogan Jr., Kenneth P. Duffy, William F. Duran, and Kevin M. Yore. Appointed firefighters, subject to the usual six-month probationary period, were Francis D. Mawn, George J. Moran, and Robert F. McNamara.

Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler received authorization from the Selectmen for four special police officers. Named were James Lindsay of 35 Harvard Street, Richard J. Anselmo of Somerville, Kevin R. Hannaford of Stoughton, and Charles F. Greene Jr. of Woburn.

Chief Bowler advised the Selectmen that he was awaiting certification from the Massachusetts Division of Civil Service for employment of the four men as temporary patrolmen to fill in during summer vacations.

Mr. Gangi Praised

Paul Gangi, town incinerator foreman, will be invited to the Selectmen's meeting at Town Hall Monday evening, June 28, to be commended by board members. Chief Bowler informed the Selectmen that Mr. Gangi recently had observed a gasoline station being broken into and entered, and aided the police in apprehending those charged with the crime.

"This type of action on the part of a citizen and employee of the town is in keeping with the community involvement that we are trying to arouse in connection with our burglary project. I wish to bring to your attention this commendable endeavor by Mr. Gangi," Chief Bowler wrote.

At Chief Bowler's suggestion, the board broadened Mr. Gangi's territory as special police officer to include the incinerator and its vicinity.

Zoning Discussed

Chairman John J. Sullivan maintained that construction of apartments, as authorized by the proposed Zoning By-Law, would not affect the tax rate, in a discussion of the topic by Selectmen. He did not see the financial impact of the law as being a principal factor in consideration of the measure, he observed.

Estimates compiled by Chairman Sullivan were presented to the Selectmen. Chairman Sullivan said that a base saving of $2.50 in the tax rate could be arrived at by not including capital expenditures.

Badge For Selectman

Chief Bowler presented a police commissioner's gold badge to Selectman Arthur E. Dunbar, who was elected to the board in March.

Selectman Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. reported to his colleagues on the delivery status of a new police ambulance. His investigation determined that the vehicle should arrive by next week, he explained.

Sidewalk curbing orders were signed by the Selectmen for Loring Avenue and Chester Street.

The New England Telephone Company was authorized to install underground conduit on Washington Street, Forest Street, Maple Road, Chisholm Road, Great Road, Laurel Hill Road, Polk Road, Forest Circle, and Churchill Road, following a public hearing on the petition.

Chairman Sullivan announced that the Forest Street construction project was on schedule. Barring unforeseen circumstances, the new road should be in use by Christmas, he said.

Rent on the town-owned house at 11 Linden Street will be increased to $85 a month without utilities, the Selectmen decided.

To See Representative

State Representative Harrison Chadwick will be invited to appear at a future Selectmen's meeting to discuss the Commonwealth's tax picture, the board voted.

The Selectmen received a letter from United States Senator Edward W. Brooke which claimed that many communities had not taken advantage of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968.

MDC Rink Site Out

Board members commented on newspaper reports that the Metropolitan District Commission had ruled out a site near the Winchester line for the proposed MDC $1,000,000 artificial ice skating rink in Medford. Locations now under consideration include the Medford Shell and a site near Medford High School, the Selectmen said.

Selectman William G. Chapman press the MDC for improvements on South Border Road, regardless of whether the rink is to be situated there. The board concurred with Selectman Chapman's viewpoint.

Executive Session

Building Commissioner William B. MacDonald's request for an executive session, closed to the press and public, was granted by the Selectmen. Commissioner MacDonald explained that he wished to discuss the former New England Laundry site. He said that he foresaw possible future litigation concerning enforcement of regulations affecting the property.

Over 200 Attend Planning Board Zoning Meeting

Over 200 persons attended the second of two informational meetings on the proposed Zoning By-Law. Otto E. Schaefer Jr., chairman of the Planning Board, presided at the session, held Thursday evening, June 10, in Winchester High School Memorial Auditorium.

The primary purpose of the meeting was to explain "what we're trying to do for the town with this proposal," explained Mr. Schaefer. He spoke of efforts made in the mid-50's and early 60's to zone land for apartments where such had not been permitted. The sense of the Town Meeting in 1965 was to delete apartments as a permitted use until the Planning Board could present a proposal for changes in zoning to allow them, he declared.

A population growth study indicated that the old Zoning By-Law of 1924 "was not the best instrument on which to graft on or attempt to rewrite amendments," Mr. Schaefer maintained. "The old zoning law had failed to generate either a healthy business or industrial climate," Mr. Schaefer charged.

He saw a lack of compatibility in areas where multiple uses had been permitted, plus a number of ambiguities. The law had been amended 20 or more times, he continued. Enforcement was difficult, he went on.

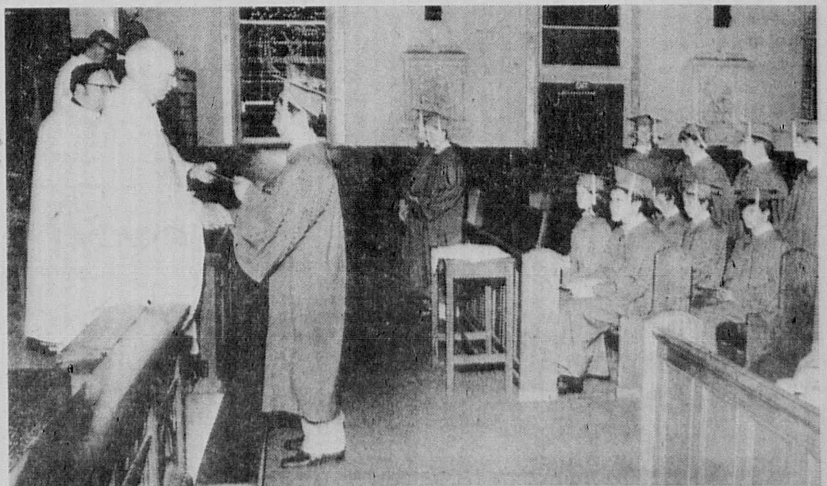

In 1924, the principal means of transportation for people and goods in Winchester was by rail, Mr. Schaefer declared.

"People went to work by foot or by public transportation," he pointed out. "The majority did not own cars — certainly not two of them."

The old Zoning By-Law, with a "gross lack of requiring off-street parking" was not "well drawn" for today's needs, he said. "Nearly four years ago, we set out to write a new zoning law," Mr. Schaefer recalled.

The Planning Board asked, "Should Winchester have apart-

Mrs. Alba Heads State Hospital Friends' Group

The name of Mrs. Josephine Alba of Winchester as president was on the slate of officers accepted at the annual meeting and luncheon of Community Friends of the Metropolitan State Hospital, Incorporated, Waltham, held at Mrs. Alba's home on Wednesday, June 9.

The group's annual Fall Bazaar and Food Sale will take place in the volunteer rooms of the hospital on October 5 and 6. Officers may be contacted for the pickup of donations.

Dr. William McLaughlin, hospital superintendent, extended the hospital's thanks to the board of Community of Friends and to all volunteers and briefly reported on hospital conditions. He indicated that there would be an increasing need for new and used furniture and furnishings, especially unstuffed chairs, small tables, and floor lamps. Mrs. Kathleen Woods, director of adult volunteer services, may be contacted further regarding donations.

More than one million veterans were in job-training or enrolled in schools and colleges this spring under the current GI Bill — a 36 per cent increase over last year.

Death is the eternal inevitability, the most real of all realities. Yet, it is, perhaps, the hardest of all realities to face. The funeral director, more than most people, has a sympathetic understanding of the nature of grief. He is there, a consoling support, when a bereaved family needs someone to be there. . . . Someone who cares.

UNEMPLOYMENT — The House GOP Leadership, led by Representative Francis W. Hatch of Beverly has proposed extending eligibility for unemployment from the present 39 weeks to 52 weeks. The move is designed to curtail swelling of the welfare rolls, they said. They pegged the cost estimate, which is absorbed by employers, at $30 million.

CIGARETTES — Without debate the House killed bills which would have banned the sale of cigarettes in Massachusetts or repealed the law prohibiting the sale of tobacco in any form to minors.

DON'T BUY ANYTHING

Members of S.C.E.F. (Society for the Commercial Exploitation of Fathers) will probably picket our Elegant Emporiums, and gift buyers will probably stay away in droves, but Harry and I feel that Father's Day (and Mother's Day — but we didn't have the guts to object to that) is just a gimmick to shame the public into buying "Dear Old Dad" a bunch of stuff he doesn't need and won't use even if he had it. If you love your father, just tell him so — and not just on Father's Day.

Enterings Reported

Police investigated two complaints of theft on Thursday morning, June 10, following enterings which appeared to have taken place the previous night.

Officer William H. O'Neil, responding to McCall Junior High School, found that a small pane of glass on a door had been removed to gain entrance to the building. The door to the Main office was then forced. Known to be missing at that time were a total of two electric and three manual typewriters.

Answering a call at the Winchester Salvage Company, 195 Swanton Street, Officer O'Neil discovered that a rear door had been forced. Once inside the intruder(s) ransacked the office and obtained a small radio.

Shortly before 1 p.m. Monday, June 14, an Arlington Road resident returned to her home. While in the garage she heard footsteps upstairs and proceeded to the rear of the house. She later informed Officer Kevin P. Mawn that she then heard someone running down the driveway.

Entry had been made through a previously torn screen on the porch and then through a rear door which activated an alarm in the Police Department. Officer Mawn was sent to investigate. A Masonic ring and a watch were reported missing at that time.

The following day a Lewis Road woman reported a diamond ring, a watch and other small jewelry missing. There was no sign of forced entry according to the initial police report of Officer Daniel C. Pearson Jr.

Woburn Bank Marks Remodeling With Open House

The remodeling of the interior of the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank is completed.

A large officers' platform has been created on one side of the banking floor where customers may discuss their banking business comfortably and privately. The tellers, on the opposite side of the bank, are now all purpose to eliminate the need of going from one window to another.

The floor has been carpeted throughout with blue-green and gold Acrylic carpet. An entirely new concept in ceilings, first of its kind in New England, has been installed, consisting of five foot modules embracing the lighting as well as the acoustic qualities needed. The carpeting and the ceiling combine to markedly reduce the transmission of sound.

Forty one years ago when the bank was reconstructed the interior walls and columns were covered with "Florida" marble from Spain, which has been retained. The supporting columns, however, have been covered with a rich and warm walnut wood which serves to enhance the marble walls.

A new trustee's room has been installed on the second floor of the bank. This room has been carpeted wall to wall in maroon with maroon drapes.

The lower level of the bank contains the employees' dining room and women's and men's lounges paneled throughout. Here, too, the floors have received wall to wall carpeting.

To enable the customers and friends of the bank to see the remodeled bank, open house is being held for two weeks. A free gift will be given to everyone. A color RCA television, on display in the bank, will be awarded to some lucky person whose name will be drawn on Wednesday, June 30 at 2 p.m. Additionally, an imported women's umbrella will be given without charge for every new account of $25 or more or if $25 or more is added to an existing account. The supply of umbrellas is limited.

The trustees, officers, and employees are proud of their new facilities and hope that the public will visit during open house.

Sharp Rise In Electrical Use Is Anticipated By This Summer

In what shape will Middlesex County be this summer with respect to its electric power needs? Will the local area be faced with the power shortages that are in prospect in many sections of the country?

The situation is so critical, nationally, that President Nixon called his cabinet into special session recently to devise steps that might be taken to ease the expected summer crisis and to discuss ways and means to provide for the steadily rising demand for electricity.

The demand doubles in the United States every 10 years or so, the Federal Power Commission's figures show.

In the area embracing Middlesex County, residential consumption alone rose about 61 percent in just five years.

Despite the efforts made by most utility companies in the country to add new generating units to cope with this rapidly expanding demand, they have been unable to keep abreast. It takes a long time and a big investment to build new power facilities.

As a result, according to John A. Curver Jr., of the Federal Power Commission, "a crisis exists right now. For the next three decades we will be in a race for our lives to meet our energy needs."

In Middlesex County, the amount of current required for residential consumption has jumped because of the great increase in the number of electrical appliances that have come into use in recent years.

In five years the rise in the local area was from 1,187,000,000 kilowatt hours annually to a high of approximately 1,915,000,000 kilowatt hours. Per household, the average went from 3,191 to 4,566.

Elsewhere in the United States, the average consumption per household is 6,430 kilowatt hours. It is 5,155, on average, in New England.

The figures are exclusive of the amount required for commercial, industrial and municipal purposes.

Shortages are expected to occur this summer in many parts of the country. Voltage drops may affect TV reception, air conditioners, electric razors, elevators, X-ray machines and other equipment.

Simmons' Graduates Are Noted

Simmons' College's (Boston) 66th commencement exercises were held on May 30 in the John B. Hynes Civic Auditorium, Boston. Among the 400 receiving degrees were three Winchester women.

Included in ceremonies were Sharon Keith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Keith of 7 Indian Hill Road; Kathryn Lindbo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lindbo of 223 Ridge Street; and Susan Patch, daughter of Mrs. Barbara L. Patch of 14 Lochwan Street.

JOHN J. GIULIANI JR., son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Giuliani of 27 Middlesex Street, received a bachelor of arts degree in government and law from Lafayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania, in commencement exercises on June 4. A 1966 graduate of Winchester High School, he was a pledge trainer, secretary of his fraternity, and band member while at Lafayette.

College Club Awarded Scholarship

The Winchester College Club presented a scholarship award at the Senior High School graduation on June 6 to Martha Ann Nowell as the girl graduating with the highest scholastic average.

Miss Nowell came to Winchester High School two years ago, having already been elected to the National Honor Society while at Marycliff Academy. She has also received the Latin award and the Good Sportsmanship Trophy.

Her activities while there included the Math Club, French Club, Glee Club, Les Troubadours, Student Council, dramatics, gymnastic, and intra-murals.

Outside of school, Miss Nowell has worked at the Winchester Hospital as a candy stripper, with church youth, and in charity fund raising. She has held a number of jobs.

She plans to enter Jackson College, Medford in the fall.

A bill proposed to Congress by the Administrator of Veterans Affairs would permit the VA to give premium pay to VA nurses working nights, weekends, and holidays.

WHS '18 To Hold Youth Charged After Chase From Station

The 53rd year reunion of the Class of 1918 of Winchester High School will be held Saturday and Sunday, June 19 and 20, at Cliff-Mar Resort in Meredith, New Hampshire, at Lake Winnepesaukee. The home is the summer residence of Richard M. Clifton of 4 Summit Avenue.

A picnic cruise to Sandy Island will take place Saturday afternoon. A banquet will be held at Hart's Turkey Farm Restaurant on Route 3 in Meredith, at 7 p.m. Festivities will continue throughout Sunday when several more scenic cruises are planned to other islands on the lake.

Local Women Are Recognized By State College

Two Winchester students were among those receiving degrees on June 6 at the 132nd commencement exercises of Framingham State College in Framingham.

Awarded degrees were Betsy A. Cantella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent M. Cantella of 53 Swan Road, and Valerie L. Rossi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Rossi of 3 Brantwood Road.

FREDERICK W. THAYER of 30 Johnson Road was graduated with honors in social relations from Colgate University on May 30 at the Hamilton, New York, campus. Secretary of State William P. Rogers delivered the address.

One of approximately four youths was apprehended mid-afternoon Tuesday June 8, following an auto and foot pursuit down Mystic Valley Parkway into West Medford. The subsequent charge was using a motor vehicle without authority.

While assigned to patrol duty on the Parkway Officer Joseph N. Perritano was hailed by off-duty Officer, Peter R. Morgan, who was in the vicinity of Manchester Field. He reported the suspicious behavior of some youths at the Winchester Railroad Station parking lot.

At that point a car came out of the station lot and headed down the Parkway. Officer Perritano gave chase for three miles when the rear tire of the front vehicle blew out and the occupants scattered in different directions.

While investigating the area the officer was informed by a woman of the identity of one youth. The 15-year-old from Cambridge was arrested. They returned to the abandoned vehicle, which was later towed, where Juvenile Officer Richard W. Beaton and Officer Kevin P. Mawn gave assistance.

The youth was released into his parent's custody. Another automobile, stolen from Cambridge, was located in the Winchester Railroad lot.

Punishment Fits Crime

Two local youths performed a dubious service for the Town Sunday morning, June 13. They washed Winchester's 196 parking meters.

The task was the result of a decision by Judge Francis P. Cullen in Fourth District Court on Wednesday morning, June 9, in a case involving charges of larceny under $100 (parking meter). According to Officer Donald E. Pigott, who apprehended the two boys with Officer Jasper F. Asaro on May 12, the finding was an option to a guilty sentence. The case has been continued until June 30.

The incident occurred on May 12 when the police were informed that a parking meter located on Main Street near the Converse Bridge was being loaded into an automobile trunk. By tracing the vehicle the two youths were taken into custody.

Officer Pigott notes that the "under $100" charge and the option were attempts to allow the two youths, one of whom was graduated from Winchester High School three days previous to his court appearance, not to acquire records.

The boys were supervised by Officers Asaro and Pigott as the weekly coin collection from the meters was undertaken.

Bachelors Accepted By Local Women

Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley conferred bachelors degrees on two Winchester women at the 134th commencement exercises held on May 30.

Congratulations, Graduates

An overwhelming number of releases from schools and universities are coming into the Star office this month to inform us of the honors and achievements earned by Winchester students.

We are proud of these graduates and congratulate them on their efforts. At this time we ask for patience both from students and their parents in our reporting of these events.

The Star's policy on graduations follows:

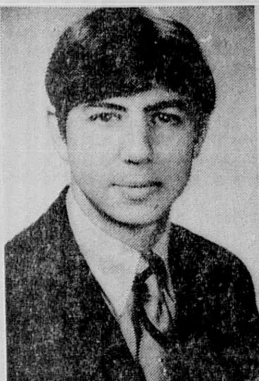

1. Notice of graduation must come from a school or university unless a parent has been requested by the institution to notify his newspaper, or if the parent feels after a lapse of time that the school has not informed the Star.

2. Pictures are used as they come from the institution. In such an event that only three photographs are received for five graduates of one institution, no pictures will be used in an effort to be less discriminatory.

3. Due to space limitations stories are necessarily brief. Information is used as it comes from the institution. Again activities, offices, etc., can not be printed for only three of five graduates of one school.

Things Not To Burn

With the cookout season soon to be in full swing, Fire Chief I. Francis Amico and his department are hoping that items to be baked this year are confined to morsels of food rather than such things as houses or people.

The photograph above shows what happened to one residence here after a porch cookout fire got out of hand Easter evening two years ago. Heat generated by the burning of this building ignited an adjacent home. Both structures have since been razed, although one has since been rebuilt.

Despite the publicity given this blaze, another serious porch cookout fire occurred last year, fire officials noted. Last week, lighting fluid started to burn at a similar cookout, although no damage was done.

The Fire Department states the message clearly. Cookouts should be held outdoors, not on porches or in garages. If it should rain, wait for the sun to reappear or reschedule the cookout for a clear day. Good judgment can help protect lives and property. Play it safe.

Hail Principal, Teaching Staff

Editor of the Star:

As the school year comes to a close, I would like to express my complete satisfaction with the High Street School.

The staff is excellent. Never before have I met a principal of a school (public or private) with such insight and perception.

These qualities are evident when one meets the teachers at High Street School. They are dedicated, enthusiastic individuals.

Circumstances have made it necessary for my children to attend five elementary schools, and in all honesty, never ever have they been lucky enough to attend a school that meets the quality of excellence that High Street does. Never before have I seen an entire staff of excellent teachers.

Mr. Forest possesses leadership qualities rarely found in public school principals. I believe he is the prime force behind all of those excellent teachers.

All of the children I know are extremely happy at High Street School. They feel comfortable in their relationships with their teachers and Mr. Forest.

Mr. Witwicki, Miss Morehouse, Mrs. McIndoe, Mrs. Reynolds, and Mrs. Matson (to name only a few) have been the highlights of my children's year.

We'd like to thank everyone who worked so hard to give us such an exceptional school.

Mrs. Comfort Extends Thanks To Youngsters

Editor of the Star:

Thank you, boys and girls. The Junior Room at the Winchester Public Library is gay with drawings, puppets, book ends, colored rocks, letters, stories, poems, giant bugs, a puzzle, book marks, an oil painting, and a shadow box of the Junior Room. You made them and presented them to me at the party, June 6.

It would be impossible to write each child a "thank you" but I can say "thank you" in the Star. Every artifact is very special to me along with memories of all our get-togethers in Library activities.

Head Of Finance Committee Tells Of Budget Slash

Editor of the Star:

Through the Star, the Finance Committee would like to respond to several letters sent to our committee and the Cemetery Commissioners relative to the writer's displeasure of the appearance of Wildwood Cemetery.

The Finance Committee reviews budgets and makes recommendations to the Town Meeting in an amount we feel is sufficient with judicious management.

The Town Meeting actually appropriates the necessary funds. The 1971 budgets in general were all cut severely in an effort to hold this year's tax rate increase to no more than 20 percent over last year's large increase. This town action was mindful of the probable effect, namely curtailed town services for the year.

We members of the Finance Committee appreciate and share your concern and look forward to the day when all boards and commissions will be able to manage their departments without such difficult financial restraints.

Vito A. Giarrizzo
Chairman, Finance Committee

Letters to the Editor are welcome and encouraged. However, only signed letters will be considered for publication. On rare occasions, and to avert what might be damaging personal repercussions for the writer, the Star will, on request, withhold the writer's name.

All letters must be typed and double spaced for consideration and should not exceed 500 words. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and are not necessarily those of the Star.

DEADLINE: Monday, 5 p.m.

Tail Wags Dog, Dr. Grassi Says Of Zoning Issue

Editor of the Star:

For a Board to zone to everyone's pleasure is obviously impossible, but the logic of zoning to the potential disaffection of approximately 70% (in the conformity area alone) escapes me.

At no time in the debate, has it seemed that the Zoning Board reflected an interest in the feeling of the people of Winchester as to how they wish their town to develop. In the apartment area, for example, agreeing that an increase in apartments is needed, where did the Board get the mandate for 2,000 units? At Thursday evening's hearing, "economic pressures for land development" emerged as the chief reason. This reason is just not good enough without considerably more definition, explanation, and justification to the people of Winchester. In it, we seem to have a rather purposeful tail wagging an unwilling dog.

Students Praise English Teacher

Editor of the Star:

We would like to thank Miss Smith, our English teacher of Winchester High School, for her help in making us better writers and readers. She taught us how to write creatively and to value other people's opinions.

We have read such classics and novels as "Macbeth," "The Great Gatsby," "Red Badge of Courage," "Death of a Salesman," and many others, which were very enjoyable.

She will be greatly missed by many of her students and fellow teachers, and we wish her the best of luck in the coming years.

Dr. Metcalf's Speech Prompts Reader Comments

Editor of the Star:

I am curious as to the meaning to be attached to the front page spread given to Dr. Metcalf's views (6/10/71). Is one to assume that the Star endorses the views expressed? If not, why the editorial decision to give the story such prominence rather than burying it in later pages?

At least, to the extent that Dr. Metcalf's position is accurately reported in the Star, I do not find it very helpful in trying to think through an excruciatingly complicated question. This is not because he does not say anything that is helpful, even though it is not new.

Two things turn me off. First, there is the tendency to consider one aspect of the problem as the total problem, simply ignoring other relevant matters. Second, above all, there is the characteristic device by means of which the serious thinking of others is brushed off by labelling it irresponsible, which, to say the least, is condescending and simplistic.

If there are irresponsible aspects in the public hostility to the Vietnam war, as there are, it is also the case that there are irresponsible ways of supporting the war. This kind of stance thwarts rather than helps serious thinking about the issues, regardless of who embodies it. To the extent that the Star contributes to this avoidance of grappling with the issues, I find it a cause for regret.

ENDANGERED — Fifteen "included in legislation to prohibit the sale or manufacture in the Commonwealth of clothing or goods made from the animals. The bills heard by the Committee on Natural Resources are designed to protect such species as alligators, snow leopards, and mountain lions. Conservationists appearing before the lawmakers noted that the animals are theoretically protected by their native countries but that Massachusetts, acting along with other states, could make it unfashionable to wear or carry products made from the skins of vanishing breeds.

DEFICIENCY — The Senate gave initial approval to a $74.7 million deficiency budget containing $73.5 million for welfare items. The Senate Ways and Means Committee had cut the medical assistance program by 25 percent to $15 million following Welfare Commissioner Steven Minter's statement that 25 percent of those receiving it were ineligible. Also cut were four millions of dollars for aid to families with dependent children.

POLLUTION — Senate President Kevin B. Harrington of Salem appointed Senators William Bulger (D) of Boston, Joseph C. DiCarlo (D) of Revere, and Fred Lamson (R) of Malden to the joint special commission on air pollution.

MALDEN — The House advanced legislation to increase the membership on The Malden School Committee from five to seven. Rejected by the Representatives was an amendment proposed by Representative David Liederman (D) of Malden to eliminate the provision that the mayor serve as ex officio member and have the right to vote.

FLUORIDATION — Dr. Alfred L. Frechette, Commissioner of Public Health, announced that it will order the fluoridation of public water in Boston and 31 surrounding communities served by the Metropolitan District Commission. Dr. Frechette said 26 of the communities have already ordered fluoridation for their 1.6 million people.

KINDERGARTENS — The House by vote of 143 to 82, gave initial approval to legislation by-passing the mandatory kindergarten edict of the Board of Education, and extending to cities and towns the option of accepting the decision. The board had ruled that kindergartens be mandatory by 1973.

NO HIRE — The House, by informal vote, gave preliminary endorsement to a bill providing for attrition of state employees until December, 1972, by limiting vacancies that may be filled in state service.

CIGARETTES — The House, without debate, advanced legislation calling for a four-cent increase in the tax on cigarettes. Of that amount, two cents would be applied to servicing the state debt, and two cents would be applied to the operations of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority. In related action, the State Administration Committee was urged by Representative Paul J. Cavanaugh (D) of Medford to ban the sale of cigarettes in state buildings. Opposition was registered by the organization of blind refreshment stand operators in the State House and State Office Building. They termed the bill ridiculous and said it would only waste time because state workers would simply go elsewhere for cigarettes.

GAS TAX — The House, without debate, approved a bill to increase the state gasoline tax a cent a gallon.

EMPLOYMENT — Former Representative John McGlennan asked Director Herman LaMark of the Division of Employment Security to establish a job opportunity center in the Fitchburg-Leominster area to be patterned after the center established by the division on Route 128 in Waltham. The Waltham program assists unemployed professionals from the area in finding new jobs. Mr. McGlennan noted that some 4000 persons, nearly ten percent of the working force from the Fitchburg area, are unemployed.

DRUGS — A group of Natick High School seniors lent support to bills before the Education Committee to mandate drug education programs in all levels of the public schools.

SST — The State Senate gave initial approval to legislation banning the SST aircraft from landing or taking off from Massachusetts airports. Meanwhile the House, acting on a similar SST ban proposal, voted 111 to 106 to kill the provision for an SST ban from the Commonwealth.

MBTA — Representative John J. McGlennan (D) of Medford asked the Transportation Committee to approve his bill to have the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority operated by a private corporation on a contract which would be renewed annually. Such corporations, he said, run transit systems in Dallas, Providence and Schenectady, N. Y.

SALARIES — Without debate the House killed bills which would have increased the Governor's salary from $40,000 to $60,000 and the Executive Councillors from $4,000 to $6,000.

THIS TOWN NEEDS A DOCTOR

by Libbie Block

Joshua Levy wanted to be a doctor, a general practitioner, a small town family doctor. He wasn't a brilliant student, his family had no money, he married the fair and lovely Clara Van Vranken. They changed their name to Glover, together they struggled through medical school and one-year internship. There was no time or money for a residency. Without a residency most hospitals would not admit the doctor's patients. Without a hospital, what good was a doctor.

Point King George on Massachusetts' North Shore needed a doctor, any doctor. The position they offered carried with it a house, a car, an office, a town full of prospective patients and the problems an outsider might expect when coming into a small New England town. The population was a mixed group of proper-gossipy church ladies ringed by the super rich and the less fortunate as well.

"This Town Needs a Doctor" belongs to the medical novel genre (recently almost as popular with writers as the sexy pot-boiler). In contrast with William Block's Dr. Johnie Shoemaker in "G. P.," whose mid-career quandaries were surrounded by medical trivia (canker sores, runny noses, diaper rash), Dr. Joshua (ex Levy) Glover is ringed by a plot of extreme complexity. One cannot tell whether the deviations from chronology are always artistically planned or whether the plot is beginning to outrun the author. At any rate, there are enough major characters to fight a skirmish — Francey, an amputee at three; Mrs. Nullian, who runs a prosperous resort-motel and grows herbs for doctoring; Moss, epileptic and rich; Epwee, 18 and in 8th grade with dreams of a car of his own.

There isn't much medicine in this one. Neither the hospital nor the doctor's office reeks of antiseptic. The tale, however, is engrossing and if one views doctoring (as Dr. Glover would have you do) as treating the whole man and his environment too, then there is doctoring aplenty to be done.

Pollution

Water Flowout

"In fact, the largest danger to the health of the Aberjona River is the tremendous loss of water the river suffers each day," the report went on. Every day, industries and towns remove over 14 million gallons of water from the river and return only 1.8 million gallons. This action cuts the flow of the river greatly and causes many problems as a consequence.

"The first problem caused by the outflow is stagnation. Since the flow of the Aberjona is slow, the river cannot clean itself. Materials which fall into the river are not washed away. The problem is that these materials sit there and rot."

"Another consequence of the flow cut is that the river accumulates an excess of dirt suspended in the water. Once again the river finds it difficult to wash away this suspension. Tests showed that the Aberjona contains eight times as many suspended particles as a healthy river. . . . This suspension poses a threat to fish. . . ."

"The final effect of the flow cut is its attack on aeration. Fish breathe oxygen gas, which is dissolved in water. However, this oxygen will react with suspended materials in a chemical attempt to break them down. When there exists a large amount of suspended material in the water the threat is obvious: there will not be enough oxygen left for the fish. This situation exists in the Aberjona River," the report stated.

Solving the flowout problem would be difficult, the youths acknowledged. One-half of the water removed is used by communities to flush sewer systems and to supply fire hydrants. Some industries recycle the water which they remove.

The students recommended the use of advanced recycling equipment by Aberjona businesses.

"Another way to deal with the flowout problem is to attack some of the contributing factors," they commented. "One suggestion is to keep litter to a minimum. Another is to try to prevent dirt from falling into the river. One way to do this is to plant shrubbery along the banks of the river. This would cut down on erosion of dirt into the river."

Litter

"Efforts must be taken to enforce the littering regulations," the report urged. "The efforts taken by organizations, such as the Boy Scouts, to clean up the river are highly commendable, and should be continued."

Sewage

The study indicated that some sewage overflows from the secondary sewer system, which handles raw sewage from homes and industries, into the watershed. Parker N. Blanchard of the Water and Sewer Board advised Mr. Pease and Mr. Enge that there were two reasons for this, they said.

"The first is faulty construction of the system. When it rains, water leaks into the sewer, via cracks and holes in the pipes and manholes, and causes overflows," they observed. "The second is the manner in which homeowners occasionally empty their flooded basements. After it rains, many people find that the easiest way to empty their basement is to flush the water into the sewers (easily accomplished by turning a spigot)."

Action being taken by towns against these two flaws was termed "highly commendable" in the report.

"The Highway Department is constantly searching out and repairing the flaws in the sewer system," the study noted. "And there is a law forbidding the emptying of water into the sewers by homeowners. The Police and Fire Departments enforce this law to the best of their ability."

"The danger of raw sewage in the Aberjona is obvious. It provides a home for bacteria. . . . the report went on. "Plants, fish, and humans suffer under attack of bacteria."

School Committee

A high percentage of road salt used to clear roads in the winter eventually finds its way into the Aberjona River on the Mystic Lakes. Mr. Pease and Mr. Enge stated.

The most common way for salt to end up where it does is via the road drainage system, with the salt washed by rain and melting snow into sewers by the edge of the road, the study observed.

Another way is through ground seepage. Some of the salt washed into the ground finds its way into the water table, and is transported by underground springs to the river of Mystic Lakes, the study said.

A third way is to dump salt-saturated snow, plowed from the roads, directly into the river. This was not done by Winchester last winter, the report pointed out.

To lessen the problem of chloride pollution, Mr. Pease and Mr. Enge suggested that the minimum amount of road salt necessary to keep the streets safe should be used. The also recommended use of calcium chloride, which, although more expensive than salt, is required in smaller quantities.

"It is not necessary that the use of salt be totally eliminated as was done by Burlington this winter. Although this would be advantageous for the environment, it would be impractical in terms of human safety," Mr. Pease and Mr. Enge maintained.

"Even though the solutions for these problems are discernible and efforts are being made in these directions, more enthusiasm and attention should be generated. There is no reason that the Aberjona should not be a beautiful plus to the landscape of Winchester and surrounding towns," the report concluded.

Tests

Interpretations

Discussion with school principals and curriculum directors of the scores has suggested that in the future perhaps more independent study in reading for middle and upper achievers, balanced by more classroom time spent on composition and math by these students might be undertaken. Pupils exhibiting deficiency in reading and arithmetic could then concentrate on diagnostic and prescriptive work. More individual study materials would be needed for this program.

Mrs. Nash, who submitted the original request with the School Committee for a report on the achievement tests, felt that she was still "confused" about the math computation score and wondered about the effect of this below normal ability on students as they entered the secondary level program.

Dr. Gleason stated that in talking over test results with educators from other Greater Boston towns a corresponding low in computation was seen in those systems. An investment of time in the development of rapid computation abilities, rather than in application and concepts as at present, would remedy these scores.

The test results should not be taken alone, he stressed, but should be combined in analysis with college admittance records, college board scores, and observation of certain personality "dimensions" and skills.

School Committee Chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst reiterated that individual scores would not be released publicly. From a "layman's view" he characterized the concern over computation versus application and concepts by educators and parents as a pendulum, whose emphasis swings back and forth over the years, just as teaching methods and stresses within the system have moved.

School Committee

It was suggested that 11 Mystic School sixth graders be transferred, three to Washington and eight to Lincoln. This is an attempt to adhere to the 25 pupils per elementary class policy. Secondly, six of the 56 Muraco School kindergartners would be transported to Lincoln, thereby creating approximately equal classes of 50 at each school.

At each location transfers would be made on the basis of those students within the easiest walking distance from each school following a request for volunteers. Efforts are generally made not to shift a child between traditional and an open space concept schools.

The proposal was tabled at this time, however, parents interested in volunteering their children for any of the suggested transfers may indicate this to school administrators. Their names will be kept on file.

Conversation hesitated in this matter over the classroom space available at Lincoln School, just under 600 square feet, as compared to the students per class policy. Mrs. Phyllis Williams of Mystic Avenue, speaking for herself, suggested that her figures could possibly mean a per classroom load at Lincoln of 26 students might necessitate a new bus route from Mystic to Lincoln, and possibly more lunchroom supervision at the latter school. Another parent wondered at what point a class would be considered "too big" at Lincoln.

Those comments, along with those recommending the employment of paraprofessionals at specific locations, must be considered in light of strict budget requirements. The 600 square footage quoted for Lincoln, added William F. Clark, assistant superintendent of administrative services, applied to each of Winchester's 1920's elementary schools, such as Noonan and Mystic.

Differential Staffing

The report prepared by the Differential Staffing Committee was presented at this meeting. Differential staffing, which was defined as an "instructional organizational pattern utilizing teachers and non-professionals in specifically designated roles," could ideally mean an improvement in educational equality without appreciably increasing the costs of education.

The School Committee formally approved the recommended guidelines for further study. These guidelines and the preliminary findings of the Staffing Committee as outlined Monday night will be reported in the June 24 issue of The Star.

Summer Plans

Dates which will be examined for possible School Committee meetings during the summer are July 12 and August 16. Other preparations for summer procedures included the approval of the traditional motion, "the Superintendent is authorized to accept resignations and to fill vacancies, also to award bids during the summer months when the School Committee will not meet, which elections, resignations and bid awards will be voted by the Committee retroactively."

Stephen R. Parkhurst, chairman of the School Committee, was authorized to sign the payroll during this time.

Vandalism

The present status of the court case involving nearly $1,350 damage in window breakage at the Vinson-Owen School last winter was reported by Assistant Superintendent Clark. The vandal alarm system had alerted police at that time, leading to the apprehension of four youths.

Two of the four accepted restitution of the total cost of damages in lieu of being judged delinquent. Payment is anticipated. The remaining two did not accept the recommendation, were found

Lost Geraniums Discovered In Unexpected Spot

TWA Clipped Wings with Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Florist for 100 pink, red, and white geraniums to be used for "Up, Up, and Away," a luncheon-fashion show for the benefit of Human Growth, Inc. The geraniums were to be delivered to St. Eulalia's Church Tuesday, May 18, the day before the benefit.

At 4 p.m. the chapter president of Clipped Wings, Alice Curran, was at the church hall to make a few deliveries, and check on the set-up progress. There was no progress and no geraniums.

At 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Curran returned to the church hall to begin decorating for the benefit. On driving up to the church she noticed some pink, red, and white geraniums planted in front of the church that weren't there at 4. The thought passed as quickly as it came.

Meanwhile the custodian was busily setting up tables for the benefit in the church hall. When Mrs. Curran entered the hall and didn't see any evidence of the 100 geraniums ordered, she inquired: "Didn't Mahoney's deliver 100 geraniums for the show?"

The custodian stopped dead in his tracks and said: "Were they your geraniums?" Thinking they were a donation they were speedily planted, all 100 pink, red, and white geraniums. Motorists can view them while driving by St. Eulalia's!

Government officials noted that VA and veterans service organizations have received complaints from recipients of such advertising literature. Complaints from veterans about allegedly deceptive advertising have also been received.

Similar complaints have been received by the Department of the Army's office of Chief of Support Services, which provides gravesites to honorably discharged veterans in national cemeteries on a space available basis.

There are 85 national cemeteries around the country. Thirty-nine have been closed due to lack of space, and six others are expected to be closed within five years, according to Army officials.

Some private cemetery operators use this lack of space in national cemeteries in their advertisements or solicitations to veterans.

Although it is acknowledged that many offers are from reputable firms, veterans are advised to make sure they thoroughly understand any contracts they sign. Veterans often find there are costs and additional expenses they did not anticipate.

VA is urging employers to develop GI Bill on-the-job training opportunities for returning veterans. If interested, contact the nearest VA office for information.

Zoning Meeting

ments and where should they be?" are almost certainly and inevitably going to get apartments Mr. Schaefer declared.

"Winchester and other suburbs whether they want them or not," Mr. Schaefer observed.

Mr. Schaefer said that the proposed Zoning By-Law would encourage development of land but would not permit overcrowding or congestion.

"Ten or 15 years ago, the business center was not in a very healthy trend," Mr. Schaefer continued. "When Filene's withdrew, a definite vacuum occurred there. The business center needs some kind of a hard look to see what can be done about it."

A study undertaken under Planning Board direction indicated not enough evidence of a demand for office buildings here, Mr. Schaefer pointed out.

Concerning shopping developments, Mr. Schaefer said that there was "no reason to think the town should or could compete with the Burlington Mall."

The researchers did find a "strong and active demand for rental housing of the type found in high-rise apartments," Mr. Schaefer declared.

The mid-rise apartments proposed by the Planning Board would be confined to Winchester Center. Mr. Schaefer said, and would not be wall-to-wall but would have sufficient open space.

Mr. Schaefer acknowledged that besides the issue of apartments, other controversial areas in the proposed Zoning By-Law were changes in zones and non-conformities.

A "lot of study" by the Planning Board was given to non-conforming uses, Mr. Schaefer declared. He mentioned elimination of the clause, "but not encourage their survival" as one response to residents' objections to the initial proposal.

Mr. Schaefer declared that he believed that passage of the proposed Zoning By-Law would "benefit the tax rate and benefit it significantly." He declared that high-rise apartments, not recommended by the Planning Board, would "greatly alter the character of the town."

Answering a question from a resident concerning non-conformities, William H. Holland, Planning Board member and Realtor, said that 172 pieces of property at Winchester Estates are non-conforming. Originally priced from $24,000 to $27,000, they are reselling at from $35,000 to the mid-40's, without prospective purchasers being refused a mortgage by financial institutions.

Responding to another question, Chairman Schaefer said that it would be unnecessary to register a non-conforming structure with the zoning administrator, but only a non-conforming use. Even then it would not be required, he continued, although a certificate of

Single Sessions

The difficulty in obtaining lunchroom supervisors must always be overcome, even with the $700 stipend. Finally, "the time that these children are now arriving home after school varies from 3:15 for the children living in the immediate area, to after 4 o'clock for others. Morning departures vary correspondingly, making a long day for some students."

Stressing the fact that he feels the plan is "educationally sound," Mr. Young points out the support of his assistant principal and his staff for the proposal. Only one of the 17 teachers involved in the plan expressed a preference for the present schedule.

In a telephone poll conducted by the Association it was found that 180 families out of approximately 300 were "wholeheartedly" in favor of this plan, while 23 were opposed. Those parents which could not be reached and those of current sixth graders were exempted in this tally. "The parents of the Muraco School students are almost unanimously in favor of such a plan."

A request by Mrs. Mary Pronski of Washington Street that the School Committee jointly study the possibility of single sessions during the deep winter months for all schools was termed an "aspect of the puzzle" to be considered.

Chairman Parkhurst emphasized that the School Committee would have to be assured of a "clear consensus" among parents before implementing the program at a school. In light of the proposed legislation for mandatory school lunch programs and possibly for obligatory single sessions in all Massachusetts public schools by September, 1973, the "only course of action is to prepare for it."

Considering the school lunch law, the chairman reminds, it will be necessary to equip the system's nine schools to provide such meals. In this program, which will probably cost Winchester "thousands" government is expected to reimburse the town for food, but not for facilities or personnel.

At present and for the next few weeks the Winchester Cooperative Bank is showing the photographic works of Doctor Harry L. Benson, in addition to being a practicing physician, is also an accomplished photographer.

He has been interested in photography since receiving a camera when in high school. During his surgical training at Boston City Hospital he did some medical photography. Then during World War II he became official photographer for his ship. After one torpedoing Doctor Benson administered the wounded and then took pictures of the ship's damage which the Captain included in his report to Washington.

Doctor Benson uses a 35 millimeter camera. The scenes on display in the bank are of Port Clyde, Maine; Burnett, Vermont; the Old Mabry Grist Mill in Virginia; and of Winchester.

Speaker Urges Recognition Of Divine Power

Needs of the whole family can be met through individual spiritual recognition of divine power, the new chairman of The Christian Science board of directors, Mrs. Lenore D. Hanks, declared at the denomination's annual meeting in Boston on Monday, June 6.

It is not too late, Mrs. Hanks told the gathering, for the individual to learn about the spiritual resources which enable mankind to repair the ecology, reverse the population explosion, and arrest drug abuse, war, crime, injustice, apathy, and greed.

"Peoples everywhere," she said, "need to get the feel of irresistible divine power, of divine activity going on all over the world. We must never allow human action to overshadow the recognition of divine action."

Those attending the meeting heard a report on the progress of the massive building development in the Christian Science Center in Boston, read by Carl B. Rechner, development consultant.

It was reported that new construction at the Christian Science Center is now more than half completed: a 550-car underground garage is in use; the Sunday School building is in its final stages; the Colonnade Building should be occupied late this year; and the new Administration Building is scheduled for occupancy late next year. Construction adjacent to the Center is being done by private developers with their own funds on land made available by the denomination. This perimeter construction includes the largest apartment building in New England and an eleven-story motor hotel.

WILLIAM ROGERS of Winchester, president of Tech-Pak Incorporated of Chelsea, is welcomed to Logan International Airport, East Boston, and an inspection of American Airlines 747 LuxuryLiner by Howard O'Neil, a freight official with American. Mr. Rogers' firm makes many of the cartons, including containers for live lobsters, used in shipping freight upon the huge airplane.

Woburn Clinic Speech Therapy

The New England Rehabilitation Center and Clinic in Woburn has announced the start of a summer speech and language therapy program for pre-school and early elementary school children.

The program is conducted by the Center's speech pathology department, which consists of Martin S. Hananapole, director; Mrs. Dorothy Eisenhauer, speech pathologist; and Miss Jeanne M. Thiel, speech therapist.

The special summer program is designed to provide speech and language activities for those children who might benefit from such stimulation during the summer months. The groups are composed of five children between four and six years of age.

The children receive a half hour of individual therapy on Tuesdays, and an hour of group therapy on Thursdays. The program also provides regular seminar sessions for parents.

The Center's department has presently been helping children with delayed speech, language and articulation problems.

During the spring, in an affiliation program with Northeastern University and Boston College, three graduate students in speech pathology observed and participated in diagnostic therapy under supervision, three days each week. The clinical training with the schools will begin again in the fall semester.

Tribute Is Paid To Miss McGowan

Miss Sarah McGowan, a teacher at Noonan School for 44 years, was guest of honor at a well-attended reception in the school auditorium on Sunday afternoon June 13.

Miss Paula Caffrey, principal of Noonan, spoke warmly of Miss McGowan's devotion to her profession and to the children she has taught throughout the years, praising in particular, her "high standards, compassion and generosity."

An inscribed Paul Revere bowl and a check were presented to Miss McGowan by Miss Caffrey as small tokens of the love and appreciation of her many friends, colleagues, students and former students. She was also given a guest book, signed by all in attendance, especially designed for the occasion by Mrs. William Diegleman.

In the receiving line with Miss McGowan and Miss Caffrey were Miss Lenore Rich, former principal of Noonan and presently principal of Washington School; Mary Sullivan Doherty, a friend and former Noonan teacher; Miss McGowan's two sisters, Mrs. McGinty and Mrs. Downey.

Herman Greene, elementary music specialist at Noonan, sang three selections, "Le Violette" by Scarlatti, "Old Mother Hubbard" and "Danny Boy." He was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. William Baldwin, who also provided background music for the reception. Sixth-grade hostesses assisted at the refreshment table.

Miss McGowan is looking forward to traveling and perhaps will continue teaching at the Maryknoll Mission School in Honolulu, Hawaii. Wherever she goes, she will carry with her the warm wishes and hearty thanks of countless local citizens for devoting her teaching career to Winchester children.

Veterans and dependents attending school under the GI Bill must return their certification of attendance cards to VA during the last full month of their current enrollment period.

HOUSEBREAK

The Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 in October of 1970 for the project "Comprehensive Attacks on Auto Theft and Burglary." In connection with this heightened focus on burglary, the Department will present "Housebreak," a column suggesting ways in which Winchester residents may assist these efforts against crime in weeks to come through the pages of The Star. Look for it.

Here are some hints for locks and catches. When you move into a new home or apartment, change the locks immediately. If your keys become lost or if you become uncertain of the reliability of workmen or domestic help who may have access to them, alter the locks or tumblers.

Remember, snap locks can be easily opened with a celluloid strip or credit card. Nor are window catches a cure-all. A glass cutter can remove a small piece of the pane, allowing the catch to be manipulated. Protect all windows that are on the ground floor or facing fire escapes. Let a hardware store suggest the best lock or catch for your doors and supplementary devices for windows.

Dairy Display Slated For Mall

A unique dairy farm in North America is coming to the Burlington Mall June 28 - July 3 for six days. A complete dairy barn, milk room, and milking parlor will be on display. Cow milking demonstrations, milking contests, Dairy Princesses, and all the fun of a dairy festival will be open to the public from 10:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. daily.

Dan Hurd, master of ceremonies of the Boston Common Dairy Festival for 15 years, will conduct shows throughout the day showing hand milking of cows, machine milking, and operating the modern machinery of a present day milking parlor.

The dairy barn will have four gentle bobbies plus a playpen of calves for all to pet and enjoy. Not only does the barn contain the animals but feed, water, and bedding for the cows are stored right in the barn. In addition to regular milking demonstrations there will be educational demonstrations on the dairy cow held in a corral near the barn.

This is another in a series of educational and public service displays brought to this area by the 53 store complex.

Youngsters, adults or groups interested in entering the milking contests should call the Mall Office at 272-5833 for reservations.

Secondary Studies Ended By Three Boys

At the 150th commencement ceremonies at New Hampton School, New Hampton, New Hampshire, three young men from Winchester were awarded their diplomas on May 29.

Participating were David Marshall Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Windsor Carpenter of 28 Loretta Road; Mark Paul DesMeules, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. DesMeules of 378 Main Street; and John Duncan MacLeod Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John MacLeod of 25 Myopia Road.

THIRTEEN STUDENTS from the University of New Hampshire made more than 420 personal calls on Sonesta Hotel clients in a four-day sales blitz in Boston. Here, Robert McGrail of Winchester, Sonesta's vice-president-marketing, left, discusses sales strategy with Pamela Beckhorn of Penn Yan, New York, center, and Martin Sweeney of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, right. The students, guests of Hotel Sonesta in Cambridge and Hotel Sonesta at Logan International Airport during the sales blitz, attend the Whittemore School of Business at the University of New Hampshire.

En Ka Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting and picnic luncheon of the En Ka Society was held recently beside the pool at the Westgate Road home of Mrs. Winthrop S. Knox Jr.

Mrs. William M. Hopkins, president welcomed all members and especially new provisionals who were attending their first meeting. These new members are: Mrs. Mac Carter Adams, Mrs. Robert W. Armstrong Jr., Mrs. James E. Barger, Mrs. Robert C. Crockett, Mrs. James E. Grassi, Mrs. Justin M. James, Mrs. E. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Victor H. Jonas, Mrs. Wallace N. Knutsen, Mrs. James P. McGoldrick, Mrs. Richard L. Sampson, Mrs. Joseph W. Saylor, and Mrs. Hiram L. Smith Jr.

Mrs. William C. Platzkoeder, membership chairman, then presented the 1970 provisionals with En Ka badges signifying their full membership in the Society. These include: Mrs. Ralph W. Detra, Mrs. Robert F. Goldhammer, Mrs. Frank M. Gunby, Mrs. Clifton W. McNeill, Mrs. Ronald E. Stillman, and Mrs. James F. Walsh.

For 25 years of active service to En Ka Mrs. Raymond J. Dickman and Mrs. Frederick M. Ives Jr. were honored with silver pins. Of great interest was the announcement that Mrs. Franklin J. Lane has just completed 60 years of service to the Society and is still one of its hardest working members.

The 1971 Street Fair Chairman, Mrs. Russell B. Strout, received a standing ovation from the membership for a well-done job of planning and executing the Penny Candy Fair in its new location.

Mrs. Edward W. H. Little, finance chairman, reported the following recipients of En Ka donations during the final quarter of the year: Winchester S.P.C.A., for the care and boarding of Winchester stray pets; Winchester Recreation Department to help defray expenses of the Annual Swim Awards night; Winchester Homefronters to get a start on their Christmas packages; and the Winchester Recreation Department for Project Potential, a very successful experience for adults and the young. Letters of sincere thanks for En Ka gifts were read from the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association and the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

Mrs. William W. Townner headed the civic committee this year. Among the services rendered to residents at the Home for the Aged are transportation to appointments and church, monthly suppers served by En Ka members and a home-made decorated cake for each member of the Home family on her birthday. Christmas gifts and Easter plants are also presented to each. The civic committee also has charge of the library book cart which offers patients at the hospital a selection of new books to be borrowed. The Winchester Hospital Continuing Care Unit receives volunteer workers through this committee.

Directed by Mrs. William F. Hickey Jr., the social services committee helps those who have need in Winchester. Working closely with the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association and the Welfare Department En Ka provides necessary clothing, household items and "special needs" which arise from time to time. Thanksgiving and Christmas food baskets are distributed as well as Christmas gifts. Last summer 60 children were sent to camp.

The following slate of officers for next year were presented by the nominating chairman, Mrs. Herbert F. Ross, and duly elected by the membership:

President: Mrs. William M. Hopkins; Vice President: Mrs. William M. Beal; Secretary: Mrs. Richard N. Carr; Treasurer: Mrs. George H. Gowdy; Assistant Treasurer: Mrs. Gordon L. Sidebotham.

Mental Health Group Chooses Local Directors

New members on the board of directors of the Mystic Valley Mental Health Association, Incorporated, from Winchester include Edward Goodwin, Mrs. Robert Grenzback, Mrs. John Patten, and the Rev. Leonard Pelletier.

The High School Tutoring Volunteers, under Nancy Torti, staff social worker, received award certificates for service at the annual meeting of the Winchester M.V.M.H.C. Tutors and assistants are Susan Holahan, Elizabeth Rasmussen, Karen Sylvester, and Sara Kay Bourne in art class.

The old barn that stands behind the Mental Health Center has been renovated. Last year the trustees of the Schrafft Trust in Winchester granted the Association $5,000 to provide one large meeting room on the ground floor. The work was completed by Waterfield Construction Company of Winchester through John Finamore's efforts.

The barn is now the gathering place for all professional staff, directors, and a variety of group meetings. On display around the walls are samples of art created by some of the children in the art group conducted by Mrs. Arlayne Peterson at the Center.

Watch your language on the hunt, especially upon sighting a rabbit

We disclosed in a Sunday piece on Bassett field trials that the Master of the Hunt insisted all and sundry there should shout "Tallyho!" upon sighting a rabbit.

(After the rabbit is seen, the hounds are set upon his or her trail and the judging begins.)

We remarked that we felt damn silly running through the woods shouting "Tallyho" after a pound-and-a-half fuzzy bunny.

Well, we seem to have offended a member of the Bassett Crowd, who thinks we were poking fun. Not at all.

Field sports, even more than other sports, should have a precise language. Obviously, you can't have a bunch of beaters roistering through the woods yelling whatever comes to mind. Things are confusing enough.

And field sports involve dogs and wild animals, both of which deserve respect. (More so than some hunters, but that's another problem.)

Respect involves using the right word. The umpire at Fenway, after all, could just stroll out and say "Alright youz guys, let's get this game over with."

But he doesn't, he says "Play ball". Thus are traditions preserved.

The language of field sports tries to do two things at once: be precise, and be respectful.

And hares deserve just as much respect as foxes and stags. For none of these is it either precise or respectful to yell "There goes the little runt!"

For hares, properly, one has two and only two shouts to shout: "Gone away!" (modern and common), or the traditional "Le voy, le voy!" which is bad French for "It is seen." And, very precisely, the "it" that is seen is a hare.

If you didn't know that, back in England, you just weren't a gentleman. You were, in fact, a churl.

Well, no one is going to be a churl these days just because he goes around yelling "Tallyho!" at rabbits. Nor will shouting "Gone away!" make him a gentleman.

But it's part of the fun, the tradition, the hunting coats, stirrup cups, soft sheen of oiled leather, voice of the hounds, all the good things.

Library Summer Hours Announced

The Winchester Public Library will continue to be open Saturdays through June 19. It will be closed all day on Thursday, June 17, Bunker Hill Day, which is a holiday for town employees.

Beginning Monday, June 28, there will be a change in library hours for the summer to permit greater utilization of the air conditioned Junior Library and to avoid any increase in personnel cost as requested by the Finance Committee.

The Adult Department and the Junior Library will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. The entire library will close at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

On Fridays, the Junior Library will open from 9:30 to 5:30 and the Adult Department from 9:30 to 9 a.m. is the practice now.

The library will be closed Saturdays from June 26 through September 4.

The Library Trustees and Staff welcome public reactions to these hours. Part of the intent is to facilitate greater use by families when daylight hours last longer into the evening and children's bed times are more elastic because they can sleep later in the morning, library officials said.

A single female wasp produces enough venom to kill 227,175 caterpillars, or approximately 50 pounds of insects.

Ice Cream Is Topic Of Mrs. Began

The June/July issue of "Jack and Jill" features an article by Mrs. Charles Began of 18 Pine Grove Park, author of children's stories. Called "The Dessert of Kings," the article traces the development of ice cream from the time of Nero to the present.

Mrs. Began's particular interest is in the Indians of New England. In her article, "A Gift from the Indians," which also appeared in "Jack and Jill," she told the story of corn, the amazing cereal grass cultivated by American Indians centuries before the coming of white men. "Pasuckquahowauog, Anyone?," published by "Yankee," described an incredible football-like game the Massachusetts Indians played on the beach with up to a thousand braves on each team.

A native of Winchester and graduate of Winchester High School, Mrs. Began attended the Northeastern University Writers' Workshop where she won first prize in the juvenile division in June, 1970.

YOU LIKE CLEAN CARPETS? YOU OUGHT TO SEE WHAT BOSTON HOSPITALS LIKE.

That's why they now use CarpeTech carpet cleaning. Maybe you should, too.

Hospitals like their wall-to-wall carpets hygienically clean. (They even run bacteria tests to check.) That's why some of Boston's most highly regarded hospitals now call in CarpeTech.

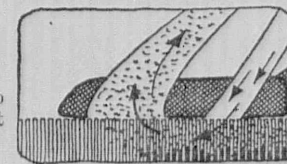

What's the difference between the CarpeTech System and the other wall-to-wall carpet cleaning methods?

The other methods don't go beyond surface dirt — the dirt you can see. They can't get the deep dirt — the dirt that grinds down into your carpet backing and fibers. Dirt that kills your wall-to-wall carpeting, and contaminates your rooms.

(Another thing. Those other methods use coarse brushes that wear down wall-to-wall carpets, and shampoos that leave a dirt-attracting residue. Or they scald the life out of your wall-to-wall carpeting with steam.)

Now about CarpeTech. CarpeTech jet-sprays every fiber in your wall-to-wall carpeting. CarpeTech goes clear down to your carpet base with a special solution. Then CarpeTech removes all the dirt and leaves your wall-to-wall carpeting bright, fluffed-up, hospital-clean, longer-lasting — and ready for almost immediate use.

How CarpeTech works The CarpeTech System was developed in one of the nation's foremost aerospace labs. Twenty-two nozzles jet-spray carpet fibers from different angles. Each fiber is cleaned down to its base. Then both dirt and solution are removed by powerful suction and drying action.

Hospitals like that. So do housewives. So do people with allergies. So do people with wall-to-wall carpeting in their place of business.

One final point: how much CarpeTech costs. Our prices compare favorably with those of other wall-to-wall carpet cleaning methods. As a matter of fact, everything considered — longer carpet life, cleaner carpets, less-frequent cleanings — CarpeTech costs far less than the other methods. Call us for a free estimate. CarpeTech, 2401 Revere Beach Parkway, Everett, Mass. 02149. Serving New England and Pennsylvania; and soon in Washington, D.C., Los Angeles, and other major cities.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

What do you look for when buying a home? The prime requisite of course in home-buying is suitability to your needs.

Building construction and maintenance costs are very important. Since investment in a home as a rule is a long term affair, judicious care should be taken in its choice.

Lot size and deed restrictions on the property are factors to be considered carefully. Your Realtor can be of great assistance in this matter. He is more knowledgeable about the area.

A well-kept and desirable neighborhood helps to keep up property values. The surrounding view should be attractive.

High on the lists of factors to be considered are nearness to schools, churches, shopping centers and available transportation.

One fact is certain. The things that help you to buy a home will also help you to sell it when the time comes.

Honorary Degree Given Dr. Leo Beranek

Dr. Leo L. Beranek of 7 Ledge-wood Road received an honorary degree of doctor of engineering from the Worcester Polytechnic Institute on June 6. The award cites "his invaluable contributions in areas of scholarship, leadership, and teaching."

DR. LEO L. BERANEK

The citation reads in part, "His career has been noticeable for both the depth and breadth of his creative work and for his inexhaustible, almost Promethean energy."

"His excellent rapport with students in his communication engineering course is matched only by his well-known ability to persuade individuals from different backgrounds to work together for a common goal."

"In his early directorship of the Acoustics Laboratories of both Harvard and MIT, and in his work as president (for 16 years), director, and chief scientist of the consulting firm of Bolt Beranek and Newman, Inc., he has excelled in all aspects of acoustics. Before the phrase was even coined, he was leading the battle against noise pollution."

Dr. Beranek is the author of six books and more than 100 scientific and technical papers. He is a member of the national Academy of Engineering and a fellow of IEEE, the American Physical Society, the Acoustical Society of America, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the Audio Engineering Society. He has served as president of the Acoustical Society (1954-55) and of the Audio Engineering Society (1967-68).

Dr. Beranek and his wife, Phyllis, are residents of Winchester. His hobbies are skiing and early music.

Seek Artifacts For Teaching Social Studies

The Social Studies Council of the Winchester Schools, in cooperation with the Winchester Historical Society, is seeking artifacts used in everyday life in 18th and 19th century America. These artifacts are to implement the social studies kits that have been developed in the study of Winchester as a community at the third grade level.

As an inductive approach to learning about the history and growth of the town, one method is the introduction of realia to the children for examination and inquiry. A simple implement used by early farmers may clearly show the ingenuity of the settlers as well as the difficulty of their tasks, a spokesman said.

The item, preferably small, might include such things as tools, clothing, books, toys, and household utensils. Anyone willing to donate "something old" for this study, may contact Mrs. May Davis (729-5718) or William O'Connor (729-2007).

Kadesch Reaches Quarter-Finals
Phil Kadesch, number one singles player for the Winchester High School boys' tennis team, did well in the annual Eastern Massachusetts schoolboy tourney. He progressed through the trial rounds successfully. In the round of 16 he eliminated Peter Sirois of Scituate in three sets 6-1, 6-7, 6-2.

However, he lost out in the quarter finals to Greg Hills of Wellesley in a hard fought duel that went to three sets, with the final one going into extra games before Hills emerged the victor. The scores were 6-3, 4-6, and 7-5 with every game of the match a tight one, filled with plenty of give and take action.

Winchesterites Shine In East's Lacrosse Victory

by John F. Parrell

The lacrosse season for the Winchester High state champions, coached by Gene Bouley, came to a triumphant end Saturday morning at Ellis Oval, Tufts University, when the Sachems did more than their share as the East defeated the West in the all-star game. Curt Woodward and Gary Fincke were the scorers, and Captain Phil Sampson had an assist while playing an all around good game. The final score was 7-6. The local high schoolers were every bit as effective as the more experienced prep school players.

Winchester High players who were members of the East team were: Captain Phil Sampson, Gary Fincke, Curt Woodward, Chris Osgood, and Mark Lombardi. Other local boys who played were Steve Detra of Holderness School and Mark Stabile of Hebron. The former did some good work advancing the ball and Stabile played in the nets. Osgood and Lombardi turned in some good strong defensive work and made the opposition know that they had been in a real tough game.

Some 2,000 fans on hand saw plenty of fast rugged action. Andover Academy's All American midfielder pair, Bob Frisbie and Phil Hooper, played sensationally for the East. It was the latter's two goals late in the fourth quarter that assured the victory for the East squad. Coaches for the East were Paul Doty of Tabor, Bob Hubbard of Andover, and Gene Bouley, the Sachem mentor. By a strange coincidence every goal scored by the East came from boys who had played for the coaches' teams this year. Bert Fett of Tabor netted a pair as did Frisbie. There were singles by Woodward, Fincke, and Billy Joe Campbell of Tabor.

The second half saw some sensational work by both goalies, Jim Bennett of Exeter, for the East, and Laurie Thompson of Hotchkiss in the West nets. Both were under almost constant pressure. Their fine work kept a 4-4 half time game tight right up to the final gun.

Three other boys from Andover worked hard for the winners, Greg Meserole on attack, and Dana Seero and Stan Livingston on defense. Ed Craver and Gene Hardiman of Longmeadow's scrappy team, Chris Myhrum of Choate, and Gordon Rutledge of Lenox did yeoman work for the West team.

It was a hard fought, but clean, game. The excellence of the passing was matched only by the stalwart defensive work of both teams. It marked the first time that the Winchester High players had been aligned against so much talented opposition. They did not suffer by comparison.

Many Winchesterites were on hand for the game. The crowd was on its feet throughout the match. There was a large group of college coaches present for the North-South all-star college game in the afternoon. They were high in their praise of the upcoming athletes.

There was no mercy while the game was being played. The players hit hard and pressed the attack up to the final whistle. The West team had Pete Howe of Loomis tallying with only 47 seconds left to play. They kept the heat on right to the end. But when the final gun sounded the players of both squads socialized and complemented each other on the excellent game.

The scoring:

THE STATE CHAMPIONSHIP was won by Winchester High School's lacrosse team after an undefeated season under the leadership of Coach Gene Bouley.

Statistics Show Why Sachems Became Champs

Final statistics on the Winchester lacrosse team's season, capably compiled by Manager Mike Varley, clearly show why the Sachems are undisputed champions of the state. While winning 17 straight games under the direction of Coach Gene Bouley they tallied 172 goals against 61 for the combined opposition. This averages out to better than 10 goals per game for Winchester to about 3.6 for their opponents.

The championship finale against Longmeadow's defending champions found the attack performing almost exactly as they had done all year, but the rock ribbed defense was even more stubborn than usual as the excellent upstarts were limited to only two tallies, both by Bob Peterson, a former Winchester boy who moved to Longmeadow less than five years ago.

Co-captain-elect Rick Murphy was a tower of strength in the Sachem goal as he made 263 saves while allowing only 54 to be scored against him. The extreme pressure of the Winchester attacking forces found them outshooting the opposition by 836 to 507.

The individual scoring records show:

| | G | A |
|-----------------|----|----|
| Gary Fincke | 32 | 33 |
| Phil Sampson | 32 | 10 |
| Curt Woodward | 30 | 1 |
| John Thomas | 22 | 6 |

There were two unusual assists as Mark Lombardi broke downfield to assist Curt Woodward in a goal against Framingham South. He also garnered another assist against Governor Dummer when he set up John Thomas. The defensive alignment, which saw Mark Lombardi, Dave O'Leary, and Dick Rossin in action most of the time, made a total of 353 clears as they combined with Rick Murphy to get the ball across the midline to the attacking group.

The bulk of the scoring was by the first and second attack and midfield groups. The first attack, made up of Gary Fincke, Curt Woodward, and John Thomas, had 84 goals and 50 assists, while the second attack, which included Greg Sacca, Phil Tavares, and Jack Brennan, were responsible for 6 goals and 4 assists. Captain Phil Sampson, Chris Osgood, and Captain-elect Bill Logan chalked up 59 goals and 24 assists, with the second midfield of Larry Knowlton, Mike Deshler, and George Evans credited with 15 goals and 7 assists.

The season's record en route to the championship shows:

The bidding at our table went: West 2D, North 1C, East 1S, South 2D, West 3H, North 4H, East 4S, All Pass.

Judging by high-card points alone, you may feel South was a little aggressive, but the more East-West bid diamonds and hearts, the more he sensed a two-suited black hand North-South. However, there's no need to let East-West in on this, so South hides the club fit.

As you can see, 4S is a good spot. You have to lose the two red Aces, and the normal play of trumps, — King of spades from North, followed by the Jack, picks up East's Queen, so there's no decision about a finesse.

This hand, incidentally, points up one of the extra dimensions in duplicate. In rubber bridge it wouldn't matter whether North-South made game in clubs or spades. In duplicate, however, those extra points for being in the major suit really count.

The traveling score slip showed that five of the eleven North-

Souths playing the hand bid the 4S, four of them making five and one only four (probably finessing the spade on the first round instead of playing a high honor first; after all, you might catch the Queen singleton). Two others were in spades but stopped short of game, and four North-Souths chose the longer club fit.

As a matter of practice, do you automatically check the East-West hands to see if there is a worth-while sacrifice? Actually, 5H should go down only one, losing two spades and one club to give North-South less than their game score, but it's a dangerous bid when vulnerable.

Three Weekend Shutouts In Cap League Baseball

by James R. Stewart Jr.

Cap League Baseball games over the past weekend featured three well-played shutout scores including the game of the season at Ginn Field No. 2.

The Cardinals, leading their division, and with the best record of all teams, had to battle it out down to the wire with the resurgent Eagles before they won their eighth game, 1-0. The Eagles, sporting a so-so 3 and 5 won-lost record up to Sunday, battled the highly favored Cardinals tooth and nail throughout the entire game. Cardinal pitchers Eddie Pratt and Shawn Mandeville held the Eagles scoreless, but had to rely on a bases empty home run by Mark

Levett for their only telling tally. Through the final inning, the game could have been won by either team, and, at the end, both teams received a well-deserved round of applause by the spectators for a finely played contest.

Next door, on Ginn Field No. 3, the Hornets were marking up the second shutout of the day as they romped over the Bobcats, 11-0 in a game that had many thrills in spite of the apparent lopsided score.

On Ginn No. 1, the Warriors won their sixth game of the season by upsetting the Tigers and matching the favored Tigers in the won-lost records 6 and 3. The Warriors blasted out of their Saturday slump as George Parker and John Buckner batted in several runs a piece while pitchers Jeff McGoldrick and Jeff Cahill held the Tigers vaunted attack at bay, the Warriors coming out on top, 14-5.

Winchester Reds, Maine Teams Plan Play For Weekend

The Bangor Brewers and the Old Town Braves of the Maine Coast League will be hosts for the recently-organized Winchester Reds baseball team Saturday and Sunday, June 19 and 20.

Adjustments in positions have been made by Coach Jim O'Brien of the local entry in the Intercity League. The present starting team includes Jim Ferruzzi, shortstop; Sandy Milley, leftfield; John Tello, catcher; Ron Castignetti, rightfield; Dana Peterson, third base; Steve Swanson, centerfield; Tom Anderson, second base, and Peter Tello, first base. Pitchers are Mark Fitzgerald, George Greenwald, Len Gentile, Chuck Rotondi, John O'Kane, Jack Pierce, and Bob Johnson.

Coach O'Brien says that the boys are facing "age, wisdom, and experience." He believes that it will take "patience and team effort" for the team to achieve success.

Through the light drizzle that turned into fine sunny weather at West Side Field, on Sunday, another extra-inning game was chalked up as the Blue Jays came through with a 5-3 victory over the stubbornly resisting Orioles. Lenny Rallo and Sammy Kenton pitched three good innings each for the Jays as Jimmy Mortenson helped keep even with a third inning home run. Then, in the seventh, the same Jimmy Mortenson pitched a runless frame to preserve the victory.

The Yankees kept pace with the runners-up with their sixth win in nine games as they defeated the Apollos, 6-3, behind the fine pitching of Ed Kirkpatrick and pitching of Ed Kirkpatrick and Jim Campbell and the stout backstopping of Steve Lamarche. Brendon Nolan kept the Apollos close with some spectacular play around second base, and first baseman Ricky Boland fielded well, but the Apollo attack did not function well in spite of the efforts of Scott Chambers, who smacked out two hits, one of them scoring two runs.

The Red Sox notched their second win of the season with seven big runs in the first inning and thereafter coasted to a 9-4 victory over the Golden Hawks.

On Saturday, the Host Blue Jays apparently had too much morning Field Day events at Leonard Field as the Hornets brought the Jays nothing but stingers and buzzed off to an 11-5 win. In spite of home runs by Kenny Goodrow to lead off the game, and later another four-bagger by Parsek Nalbadian, plus a two-run double by Bobby O'Brien in the sixth, the Hornets kept stinging along, featuring seven runs in the first inning, and three in the fourth, to keep the Blue Jays out of the win column.

The Golden Hawks evened their season record at four and four with an impressive 11-0 shutout of the toothless Tigers at West Side Field, while the Apollos also crept up to .500 with a close 12-9 defeat of the Orioles. In this contest, the Apollos iced the cake with nine big runs in the third inning as Mark Merritt and Bob Lynch slammed out run-scoring hits and Tom Masello hit a booming triple, scoring John Kisil and Billy MacMillan. Paul Kelly, Russ Leach, David Lawton and Steven Noble played errorless tight ball in the outfield to keep the Orioles at bay.

In the Yankees 9, Warriors 3 game, Dave Ergott was the hitting star, while Ron Dokus and Todd Gibbons did some masterful pitching, aided by slick fielding Dick Russo and Ken Kirk. Eddie Pratt was the big gun as the Cardinals blasted the Bobcats 14-7. Eddie hit two three-run homers while John McKinley and Doug Oran also contributed timely blows.

In other games, the Eagles outlasted the Red Sox in an extremely close game, all the way by 5-4 and the Golden Hawks blanked the Tigers 11-0.

Next weekend, barring rain, the Cap League will hold its final games of the season. Officials hope for a large crowd to pay tribute to all the boys who have learned so much over the past six weekends about baseball, team work, and good sportsmanship.

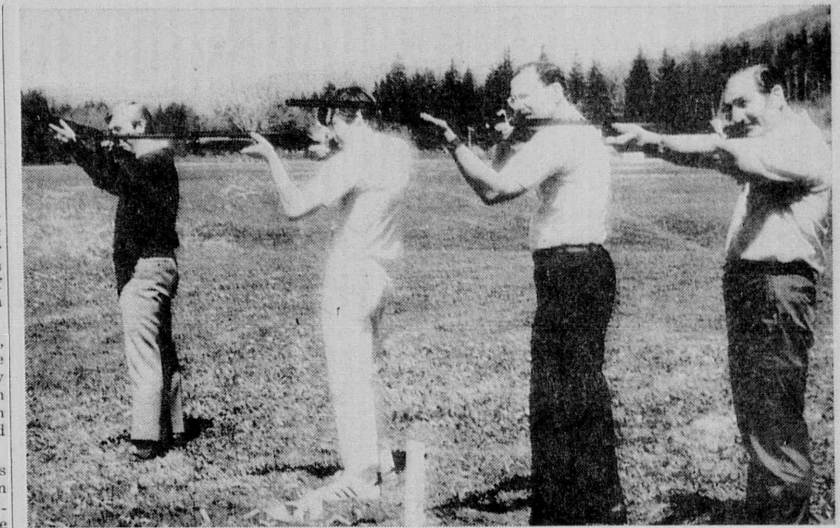

Games scheduled are: Saturday, June 19: West Side Fields 1, 2, and 3, respectively, Red Sox vs. Bobcats; Tigers vs. Blue Jays; Orioles vs. Yankees.

At Ginn Fields 1, 2, and 3, respectively, Hornets vs. Eagles, Apollos vs. Warriors, Golden Hawks vs. Cardinals. On Sunday, it's Ginn Field with Blue Jays vs. Golden Hawks, Tigers vs. Hornets, Warriors vs. Red Sox; At West Side, Orioles vs. Bobcats, Yankees vs. Eagles, Apollos vs. Cardinals.

Standings through June 13th: South Div: Cardinals 8 wins 1 loss; Warriors 6 wins, 3 losses; Yankees 6 wins, 3 losses.

North Div: Blue Jays 6 wins, 3 losses; Apollos 4 wins, 5 losses; Orioles 3 wins, 6 losses.

West Div: Hornets 6 wins, 3 losses; Golden Hawks 4 wins, 5 losses; Red Sox 2 wins, 7 losses; Eagles 3 wins, 6 losses; Bobcats 0 wins, 9 losses.

Winchester Reds Playing In Fast Intercity League

Something new is being offered players and spectators with top grade baseball play every Monday and Friday evening at Manchester Field. The newly-formed Winchester Reds perform against eight other Greater Boston teams in the Intercity League, taking the place of the Lynnfield entry of last year.

The Reds are composed of 15 Winchester baseball players, featuring many Winchester High School stars and other local talent who have been seen in past years on Little League teams. Although the Winchester team is short on experience, compared to most of the other performers, they give 100 percent in every game and are considered good competition by other teams.

Other teams in the Intercity League are the Hosmer Chiefs, Boston Typos, Arlex Oilers, and representative teams from North Cambridge, Malden, Medford, Wakefield, and Woburn — a truly representative assortment of name players many of who have been seen on the football field as well in recent years.

The Winchester Reds play host on Monday and Friday evenings and travel to the other cities for games on the other three days. The Intercity League started its two month season on June 1, while the Winchester home schedule was initiated on June 4th. At the end of the season, a Shaughnessy-type play-off tournament is conducted, in August, between the top four teams.

This Saturday and Sunday, in order to give the team some relaxation, and at the same time competition, the Reds will play the Bangor Brewers and the Old Town Braves of the Maine Coast League, respectively, in those Maine cities in a short exhibition series.

Every member of the Winchester Reds plays in every game, and, even in the abbreviated length of time they have been playing against this tough opposition, a marked improvement in play has been evidenced. Before the season ends, the Reds should prove that they are not destined to be a "pat-ty" for long.

Among the rival players is Doug Lenz of Woburn, the arch villain who wrecked the undefeated Sachem grid slate in 1969, and who batted .600 in the strong Maine league, and who is a member of the Wakefield team. Coach Joe O'Donnell of the Hosmer Chiefs, a former Harvard star, is assistant to Coach Loyal Park with the Harvard varsity nine, which played in the league. The experience that the Winchester youngsters are getting should aid in their development.

A new trophy emblematic of the Intercity League championship is being offered this year in memory of Harold "Red" Butland, founder of the league, who passed away recently.

Swimming Classes Available At "Y"

Swimming is available for all persons in this area at the new Olympic-size pool at the Burlington Y.W.C.A. Classes have been scheduled for all age groups and skill levels plus a block of time for recreational swimming by families.

The Stay Home Camp for girls is an important part of the summer schedule. This is especially designed for grades two through six (in the fall). The setting of the Burlington Y.W.C.A. is conducive to a program emphasizing the creative and performing arts.

A class in Yoga will be held on Thursday evenings from 8 to 9. Beginners must wait until fall. Call the Y.W.C.A., 272-3181, or better still, come in to look. The "Y" is on Spruce Hill Road off Lexington Street in Burlington.

Winchester Town Softball League

On Monday the Elks beat the S.O.I. 13-2 behind the three-hit pitching of Jay Rowe and the hitting of Gene Lane, Kevin Mawn, Bobby Gray and Tommy Lynch, each of whom had two hits for the Elks. Skip Strange was the losing pitcher.

Tuesday night's game was rained out.

On Wednesday the Elks beat Bellino's by a score of 12-0. Jimmy Tracey pitched a one-hitter over the first five innings with Jay Rowe pitching the final two innings. Gene Lane continued his heavy hitting for the Elks with a home run. Rickie Casalinovo had two hits for the Elks. Bobby Foley and Paul Reardon had the only hits for Bellino's.

On Thursday the S.O.I. came from behind and beat DiZio's by a score of 9-8 on the strength of Joe Bellino's three-run homer. Joe is playing softball in the Town League for the first time and is sure to help the S.O.I. during the season. Billy Murray was the winning pitcher for the S.O.I. with Cecil Ballard taking the loss.

Congratulations to DiZio's Richie Rogers, who was married May 29 and is now back from his honeymoon and has returned to the lineup.

Squirts Hold Splash Party At Mahoney Home

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mahoney of Soerates Way, opened their home for an end of the season splash party and cookout for the Winchester Squirrt Hockey Team Friday evening, June 11. The Squirts, composed of 8 to 10 year old boys, had completed a successful season, finishing first in the Middlesex Squirrt League. This was the team's first year together. The team was organized and coached by three ninth grade boys. The youthful coaches won the respect of the team and the parents of the players for their time, effort, and dedication.

Manager Kevin Pronski and Assistant Coaches Jake Casey and Frank Levesque presented trophies to the team. In appreciation, Senior Coach Anthony Pronski, and team sponsor Sherman Saltmarsh Jr. were also presented trophies by the boys.

A dozen long stemmed roses were given to Mrs. Pronski and Mrs. Casey by their sons, for giving so much of their time to the team.

The Squirts' 1970-71 team included:

Rick Blanch, Ron DeVenzenzo, Tony Donlon, Ed Doherty, Steve Ferullo.

Mark Fazio, J. M. Gagon, Tom Galante, Mike Jackson, Dana Kawa.

Enterings Reported

Recent complaints of breaking and enterings to the Winchester police began with a Highland Avenue resident's report on Tuesday, June 1, that a glass pane on his rear door had been broken, but an attempt to enter was apparently unsuccessful.

The following day, Wednesday, Officer Francis R. Manzie noted in his report that a Mystic Valley Parkway home had been entered by an unlocked rear door. Known to be missing at that time was $30 in cash and a watch.

Officer Joseph N. Perritano had responded earlier in the day to the Winchester Carton Corporation, 50 Cross Street where the office manager had reported that seven cases of mixed soft drinks were missing. Though the method of entry was unknown, three cases were later found in a clump of brush located at a back corner of the lot.

Friday morning, June 4, a pane of glass on a door at the Craftsman Construction Corporation, 24 White Street, was discovered to be shattered. The intruder (s) had apparently reached inside and unlocked the door; a procedure which yielded two electric typewriters, according to the report of Officer Erwin Nurnberger.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

Could you pay for a college education for your children from your current earnings?

If you can't, life insurance can help you provide for your children's education.

It takes about $1,500 per year for a child to attend a state-supported institution. A private college or university will cost close to $2,000 a year. A four year college education can cost up to $10,000. That's over twice what it cost in 1940. In a few years, it will probably be even higher!

One of the basic financial needs a family faces is their children's education. Many large numbers of families save for education through life insurance.

Individual circumstances dictate the type of policy to buy. Your insurance agent is your best advisor on the right policy for you.

Foreign Languages Shift With Funds, Enrollments

The foreign languages curriculum at the secondary level for Winchester public schools undergoes an annual modification which is governed by budgets and priorities and student interest.

Recent proposals to affect course offerings this fall have centered around German, Latin, and Spanish. All courses decided upon by the School Committee at this time could be altered under further budget deliberations.

Two languages will be offered this September for grades seven through nine according to Dr. Walter P. Gleason, assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction. At the School Committee meeting of May 24 the innovation of Spanish I at the seventh grade level (not in the ninth grade as reported in the May 27 issue of The Star) was deleted in the light of budget considerations. It is hoped that Spanish I in the seventh grade can be offered by September of 1972.

The phasing out of German due to low enrollments will begin this fall. Originally recommended by a citizens' advisory council, Dr. Gleason notes that this language has consistently attracted few students. Continuations of German will accommodate those pupils who previously started the language in the seventh grade, however, no new German I classes will be scheduled.

The proposal to eliminate Latin from the High School curriculum was defeated at a School Committee meeting of May 10. Despite projected low enrollments Latin I and II will continue to be offered.

It is also anticipated that in some future year French I and II and Spanish I and II will be made available to students in grades seven through nine.

Subject to further change Dr. Gleason cites the following foreign language offerings at the secondary level for September of 1971:

French I is scheduled for grade seven. A continuation of this French I class will be conducted in grade eight based upon the audio-lingual method of teaching and the different levels at which students accept the language.

In grade nine French I and II are listed. It is hoped that most pupils will complete the second year of this language by the ninth grade. The last classes in German will be offered for those already studying the language. No Spanish will be offered.

In grade 10 the curriculum includes French I and II, Spanish I, German II, and Latin I.

In grade 11 French II, German II, Latin II, and Spanish II; French III; and independent study in German IV (This program is primarily for seniors.) will be taught.

This fall seniors at the High School will probably select from French IV; Spanish III; and independent study in German IV.

Summer Stock Cast Includes Carol Vallee

Carol Vallee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Vallee of Taft Drive, will be performing this summer with "The Off Broadway Theatre" at Pine Ledge, York, Maine, opening June 30.

MISS CAROL VALLEE

Miss Vallee will play the title role in "Touch of Venus" and second leads in several of the 10 scheduled musicals. She is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1970, and has just completed her freshman year on the dean's list at Boston University's School of Fine and Applied Arts where she is majoring in drama.

St. Paul's Graduates Mr. Spencer

Among 80 young men who received St. Paul's School, Concord, New Hampshire, diplomas at the 115th graduation exercises on May 30 was Earle F. Spencer III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle F. Spencer Jr. of Glen Road.

Mr. Spencer was also awarded the Pelican Medal as editor of that school publication.

Army Offers Korean Duty Enlistment

The Army has announced that an individual may now enlist for and receive a guaranteed assignment to Korea. According to SFC Wally Evers, local Army recruiter, all qualified applicants for this program can also select the Army post they wish to attend for basic training.

Eight Army installations conduct basic training. Fort Ord, California, is the most popular choice. Following the 13-month tour of duty in Korea, the individual is further guaranteed an assignment to Europe; Hawaii; Alaska; Panama, or one of seven Army posts in the United States for the remainder of the three-year enlistment.

This new option lets the enlistee know where he will be stationed for his entire three-year commitment. For further details contact SFC Wally Evers, 49 High Street, Medford, or call 396-5777.

Cub Pack 508 Marks Record Webelos Awards

Cub Pack 508 of Noonan School concluded its indoor meetings for the year Friday night, June 11, by staging a circus. Skits and side-shows proved to be the most popular attractions, and games of skill and chance tested all the cubs. It was a busy night for the pack, due to the charter presentation ceremony and the large number of advancements.

A landmark in the history of both the pack and the Minuteman Council was the conferring of 14 Webelos Awards. This award is the highest achievement in Cub Scouting, and is usually received by only one or two boys a year. Those receiving the Webelos Award were Charles Began, John Breen, Thomas Connolly, Alan Doughty, James Fallon, Thomas Foley, Mark Lawton, Gerald Meuse, John Nowell, Mark Pasillo, Mark Simpson, and Brian Wood.

Special thanks were extended to the four Webelos Den Leaders, Charles Began, Jack Noble, John Pasillo and Bob Simpson — for helping the boys achieve this remarkable record.

Other advancements were as follows: Bobcat — Mark Cogan, Tim Cummings; Wolf Badge — Russell Leach, Wayne Simpson; Bear Badge — David Russell; Gold Arrow — Mark Amey, David Lawton, Wayne Simpson; Silver Arrow — Tod Chambers; Craftsman — Charles Began, Daniel Rae; Forester — John Breen, Thomas Connolly, Alan Doughty, James Fallon, Thomas Foley, Gerald Meuse, John Nowell, Mark Pasillo, Mark Simpson, Brian Wood, Naturalist — James Fallon, Brian Wood.

Traveler — Charles Began, John Haggerty, Robert Hermann, Daniel Johnides, Mark Lawton, Jack Noble, Daniel Rae.

Outdoorman — John Breen, Thomas Connolly, Alan Doughty, James Fallon, Thomas Foley, Gerald Meuse, John Nowell, Mark Pasillo, Mark Simpson, Brian Wood, Naturalist — James Fallon, Brian Wood.

The Summer program for Pack 508 includes three outdoor meetings to be held at the Lynch Junior High School field starting at 6:30 p.m. These events are scheduled for June 18 (Field Day), July 16 (Father-Son Softball game) and August 20 (Father-Son Softball game).

Y.M.C.A. Day Camps Stress Growth

During years five to 12 a child does most of his or her growing, learns many of his individual capabilities, and creates that storehouse of memories. This is a time for helping a child mold and build his future.

Placing a child in the care of someone else is not an easy thing for a responsible, loving parent to do. That's why a summer camp staff should respect a child's rights to develop himself to the limit of his capability, to accept himself as he is, and help him learn through love, understanding and open communications, not through fear. A child should have a camp experience which improves him in mind, body and spirit.

As a means to these goals, Y.M.C.A. camps offer a diversity of individual and group activities including: nature study, archery, camp crafts, arts and crafts, music, sports, Indian Lore, instructional and recreational swims, field hockey, slides and swings. Rainy days are set aside for films, or bus trips which are instructional as well as pleasurable.

Youngsters should never have to utter, "Gee, Ma, there's nothing to do..." Especially with openings in all four two-week sessions in two Y.M.C.A. Day Camps.

Camp Innitout, centered in the North Suburban YMCA Building in Woburn, serves boys and girls ages five through seven. Bus routes reach into Winchester.

Camp Cabot, another Greater Boston YMCA Day Camp in Waltham, serves boys and girls six through 12 years of age. Camp Cabot buses pick up and return children from 17 of the neighboring cities and towns.

Each child must have a medical examination, prior to the first day of camp, register, and take out a Y.M.C.A. membership card. Then a child is off to many memorable hours of creative fun. Don't allow a child to be deprived of summer fun and memories he or she will cherish forever. Call North Suburban YMCA today for more information about this summer program — 935-3270.

Relatively Small Allotment Of Federal Grants Given Here

In the distribution of Federal funds to communities across the country, via the various grants-in-aid programs, how has Winchester been making out?

What portion of the grants made during the past year, totaling $23.5 billion, went to the local area?

Judging from state-by-state figures compiled by the Tax Foundation, a national non-profit organization that watches government taxation and spending, Winchester's allotment was relatively small.

During the past fiscal year, an estimated $2,805,000 was awarded for local purposes under a number of aid programs.

Throughout Massachusetts as a whole, the grants totaled $716,000,000, the Tax Foundation reports, based upon figures it obtained from the Treasury Department.

The grants were made to help the state and its communities with such needs as urban renewal, roads, school construction, child welfare, health facilities, and education.

The amounts, it is explained, refer only to grants-in-aid and do not cover other Federal spending in local areas, such as for goods and services.

On the other side of the ledger is the cost of these benefits to the local communities. They are paid for out of Federal income and excise taxes that are collected from local residents and allocated to the aid programs.

Winchester's contribution for such purposes in the past fiscal year was approximately $2,917,000, a breakdown of the foundation's figures show. The statewide total came to $746,000,000.

In most parts of the country, the grants and the costs do not balance out equally. There is no attempt to make them balance. The determining factor in awarding grants, it is explained, is each community's needs and requirements, weighed against the needs of other localities.

As a result, in some areas the contributions to the aid programs far exceed the return in the form of grants. In others the reverse is true.

The extent to which the grants have multiplied in size in recent years is indicated by the Treasury Department's figures which show that they have climbed from nearly $7 billion in 1960 to $23.5 billion last year. (Park Row News Service)

Fruit, Flower Mission Adjusts With Times

The day of the horse and buggy is gone; trains run less frequently than they once did; but the summertime tradition known as the Fruit and Flower Mission goes on. This year marks its 102nd birthday.

On Tuesday mornings between 8 and 9 o'clock this year, as in the past, citizens of Winchester will carry fruits, flowers, homemade jellies or baked goods to the Winchester Railroad Station. Mrs. Neil Borden of 58 Winford Way, general chairman for Winchester, will then take these contributions to the Orchard Park Service Center in Roxbury, where they will be distributed to people who will appreciate them.

Donations from the gardens and kitchens of Winchester used to be sent to Boston by train. They were then distributed in the slum areas by horse and buggy. Curtailment of rail service and the difficulties of distribution in Boston changed this, and for several years Mrs. Borden has taken the gifts to Roxbury in her own car.

Led by Mrs. Borden of the Unitarian Church, women of other Winchester churches cooperate by being responsible for the Fruit and Flower Mission for specific days. People who are unable to deliver their contributions to the railroad station may call the church representatives for assistance.

This year's activity started on June 8. Mrs. Lester Godwin of the Methodist Church was chairman on June 8 and 15. On June 22 and 29 Mrs. Albert Crockett (0849) of the Church of the Epiphany will serve as chairman. Mrs. Stanley Seaver (1044) of St. Mary's Church will be in charge on July 6 and 13.

On July 20 Mrs. Ralph Swanson (2423) of the Baptist Church will be chairman. On July 27 Mrs. Robert Watson (4788) of the Second Congregational Church will serve. Mrs. Janet Mossman (1978) of the First Congregational Church will be chairman on August 3 and 10. And on August 17 and 24 Mrs. Thomas Kuhn (2386) of St. Eulalia's Church will serve as chairman.

The telephone number of Mrs. Borden, general chairman, is 2092.

Choral Concert Set For June 17

A concert by the combined choruses of the Mystic, Noonan, and Vinson-Owen Schools will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 17, at McCall Junior High School Auditorium. Herman Greene, elementary music specialist, will conduct the program.

A program of classical, semi-classical, and popular selections will be presented. In addition to the combined choruses there will be three vocal solos and a selected group of 12 voices. The public is invited.

PRICE FIFTEEN CENTS

MONSIGNOR JOSEPH M. FITZGIBBONS of 30 Wedgemere Avenue, 87, recently marked the 60th anniversary of his ordination to the Roman Catholic priesthood. He was pastor of St. Mary's Church from 1920 to 1927. (Star Staff photo)

Local Monsignor Priest 60 Years

Every morning around 7, a Roman Catholic priest approaches a Winchester altar to celebrate a Mass. There's nothing unusual about that, but both the setting and the celebrant do merit attention.

The scene is a private chapel in an 11-room house at 30 Wedgemere Avenue. The clergyman is 87-year-old Rev. Msgr. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons, P. A., who observed the 60th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood on June 9.

Dedicated to the memory of Msgr. Fitzgibbons' late sister, Miss Julia Fitzgibbons, the Julia Chapel is a tiny second floor room in the large Fitzgibbons family home. It is not far from the room occupied by the monsignor's sister until her death in August, 1968.

Was Pastor Here

Msgr. Fitzgibbons has resided on Wedgemere Avenue since he retired on March 31, 1967, after 33 years as pastor of St. Jerome's Church, serving Arlington and Belmont parishes. He was pastor of St. Mary's Church here from 1920 to 1927.

He was born in East Boston, son of the late William P. and Catherine A. (Neal) Fitzgibbons. He attended Boston Latin School. In 1902, he was graduated from Boston College High School.

That same year, he was honored by receiving a prize offered by Oxford University in England to students for a 1,000-word original work in distichs, done entirely outside of class. The composition alternated two-line English sentences with their Latin translations.

Sixty-five years ago this month, Msgr. Fitzgibbons was graduated from Boston College. He and the late William Cardinal O'Connell were the only two recipients during B. C.'s first 100 years of the sublime degree, Filius et Pater Almae Matris, which Msgr. Fitzgibbons was awarded on June 9, 1961.

After attending St. John's Seminary in Brighton, Msgr. Fitzgibbons was ordained a priest on June 9, 1911, by Cardinal O'Connell. Msgr. Fitzgibbons was a curate at St. Mary's Church in Brookline for three years.

His next assignment was at St. James' Church in Salem in 1915. He became pastor of St. Mary's Church in Winchester in 1920. During his seven years here, 13 parish organizations were active. Championship baseball and basketball teams played under St. Mary's banner.

In 1927, he took charge of five small churches in the Gloucester-Essex area. The blessing of fishing vessels was one of his weekly spiritual acts while there.

Monsignor Honored

Cardinal O'Connell assigned him as founder and pastor of St. Jerome's Church, planned to serve parishioners in Arlington and Belmont, in 1934. Msgr. Fitzgibbons was named dean of the Woburn district of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Boston, with 29 parishes as his responsibility, by the late Archbishop Richard J. Cushing on May 29, 1952. The late Pope Pius XII elevated Msgr. Fitzgibbons to the rank of domestic prelate on July 1, 1952.

Town Meeting Continues On

Sessions three and four of the Special Town Meeting were scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday evenings, June 23 and 24, as Town Meeting Members continued consideration of the proposed Zoning By-Law. Two evenings of discussion had already taken place on the controversial zoning proposal when the additional sessions were voted. The measure is one of seven articles on the warrant.

Wednesday

Much remained to be said about garden apartments, the first item of several categories to be considered under the proposed Zoning By-Law, when the Wednesday session of the Special Town Meeting was adjourned at 11 p.m.

Otto E. Schaefer Jr., chairman of the Planning Board, acknowledged that "it would be good to amend the Zoning By-Law piece by piece if it were possible." He said that the proposed Zoning By-Law was "no whim of the Planning Board."

"Planning and zoning must work together," he maintained.

It will "take all the wisdom and courage we can bring to bear on the decision," he continued, in a general statement to the Town Meeting.

He noted that Richard Duttig, formerly of Winchester, and Richard Sawyer, former member of the Planning Board and the Board of Health, had contributed their efforts to the proposed Zoning By-Law, as had the present members of the Planning Board.

Mr. Schaefer declared that the present Zoning By-Law "has basically outlined its usefulness as to format and philosophy. Attempts to amend it have led into several blind alleys," he observed.

Property Owners

Miss Clara Hewis, secretary of the Winchester Property Owners Association, introduced its president, John Coakley, to Town Meeting Members.

WEDNESDAY, ctd. page 7

Monday

Planning Board proposals that garden-type apartments be constructed on the Lombard land on Pepper Hill Drive and the Moss area on Cambridge Street were defeated at the Monday evening, June 21, session of the Special Town Meeting. Foes of the proposed Zoning By-Law won their victories by successfully amending the measure to permit the land to revert to present zoning categories.

A continuation of the discussion on garden-type apartments had been anticipated for Monday evening. Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick announced, however, that the topic had been concluded, except for voting on amendments, and Town Meeting Members would consider mid-rise apartments.

Mid-Rise Apartments

Chairman Otto E. Schaefer Jr. of the Planning Board noted that his group had recommended a possible 60-unit mid-rise structure at the former New England Laundry site on Converse Place and a suggested 334-apartment development on the westerly side of Main Street at the Main and Vine Streets — Elmwood Avenue area.

"Wall-to-Wall" apartments, which Mr. Schaefer described as a "curse," have been avoided by the Planning Board's proposal, he maintained.

The apartments planned would be of fireproof construction, with built-in fire protection systems, Mr. Schaefer explained.

Garden-type apartments would be economically unrealistic downtown, Mr. Schaefer continued, which led the Planning Board to favor mid-rise structures for that location.

Friends Buy Fontaine Home At IRS Auction

Frank Shilosky, an Arlington real estate man, has purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fontaine at 407 Highland Avenue, from the Internal Revenue Service. Mr. Shilosky is chairman of the Friends of Frankie Fontaine Committee.

An IRS spokesman said that the amount bid by Mr. Shilosky and the number of bids received would not be revealed. Mr. Shilosky's bid was the highest submitted, he said. The IRS spokesman noted that in taking over the property, Mr. Shilosky also incurred "all encumbrances that go with it," including a mortgage.

The public auction of the home, originally scheduled for Tuesday, May 25, was postponed by the IRS to Friday, June 18, "in the best interests of the government." The auction took place at the Federal Building in Lowell.

The property was seized by the IRS for nonpayment of delinquent taxes. The Fontaines have continued to live in the home during the IRS proceedings.

No Post Office Saturday Hours During Summer

Postmaster Charles R. Hill announces that the Winchester Post Office will be closed for the transaction of business on Saturdays, July 3 through September 4.

The parcel post and stamp service windows will be closed. The lobby of the post office will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays for the convenience of post office box holders.

The stamp vending machine located in the lobby of the post office will be in operation for the purchase of postage stamps by customers.

There will be a delivery of mail by letter carriers to residents on Saturdays.

As in past years, this Saturday closing arrangement has made it possible for many postal employees to enjoy summer weekends with their families, the same as employees in private industry, Postmaster Hill explained.

Recreation Needs Faced By CONCERN

Dr. Howard Niblock, new chairman of CONCERN, said at the group's meeting last week that its original purpose was "to aid and abet any educational programs and thrust to prevent drug abuse in the young people of this town." Members agreed that additional places and kinds of recreation are needed for this purpose. Its committee on recreational needs, headed by A. Paul Forgetta, junior high school guidance counselor, has been researching this.

Duane M. Belden of the Recreation Committee outlined what the committee hopes to provide this summer for recreation for the young people. The Rev. Charles Hoffman moved that CONCERN approve the proposal from this committee in principle and appoint a committee to implement it.

The committee appointed included Gene Prior, chairman; the Rev. Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Forgetta, Dr. Niblock, Mr. Belden; and students Richard Swanson, Jay Zerwekh, Betsy McDonough, Mark Hennessey, Maria Malatesta, Pam Morgan, Beverly Cade, and Lauren Layton.

Mark Hennessey and Holly James were chosen to represent CONCERN at the monthly meetings of the recreation committee.

At the request of the Rev. Everett Waters, five members of CONCERN will meet with the Ecumenical Association committee to plan a youth services conference and workshop either in late September or early October. Those who will serve on this committee are Dr. Niblock, Mr. Forgetta, Richard Swanson, Jay Zerwekh, and Betsy McDonough.

Former chairman Dr. Donald McLean said, "Winchester has been recognized throughout the state as a place which faced up to the drug problem and which is doing something about it."

Twin Laboratory Schools Offered This Summer

The Winchester School Department and Lesley College are cooperating efforts to open two identically staffed laboratory schools this year offering a balanced curricula especially designed for summer activities.

The high cost of busing and the difficulties of transportation have prompted the school administration to open laboratory school programs at both the Vinson-Owen (west side) and Washington (east side) Schools. Travel will be reduced to a point at which most resident pupils will be able to walk to and from school.

Trust Company Branch Office To Open June 24

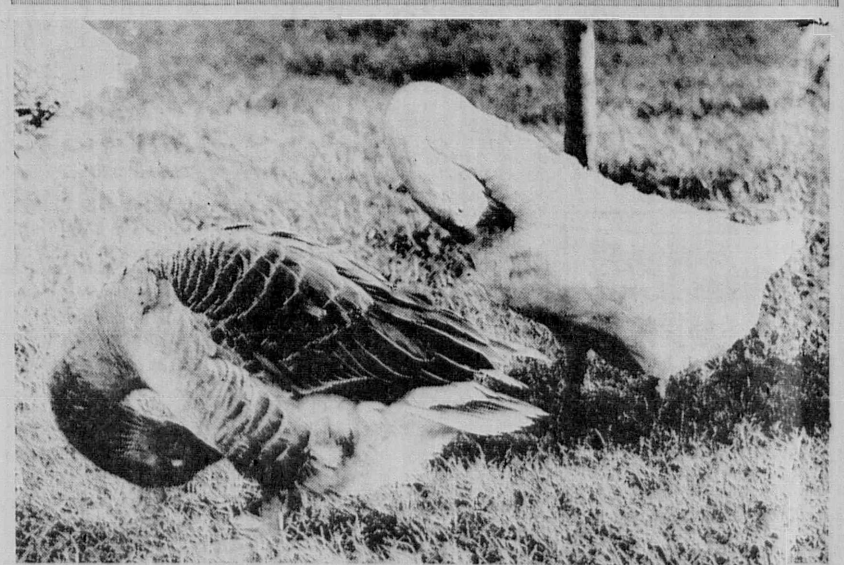

James M. Olivier, president of Winchester Trust Company announces the grand opening of a new branch office at Main Street and Skillings Road on Thursday, June 24.

Mr. Olivier declared, "There has been an apparent need for a drive-up banking facility in Winchester for some time and Winchester Trust is happy to be of service to the residents of Winchester and environs with the opening of this new drive-up branch office."

"Convenience is most desired by busy banking customers today," continued Mr. Olivier, "and our new drive-in branch, centrally located adjacent to the First National Store will fill this need with two drive-up windows, two walk-up windows, and ample parking for fast, come as you are, efficient service."

Office hours are an important consideration, he said. A poll was taken recently of Winchester Trust customers, asking for their opinion of most desired office hours, he noted. The new hours — Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Thursday and Friday 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Saturday, commencing in September, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, reflect customers' wishes as recorded from this poll.

With the opening of this new branch the old branch office at Mount Vernon Street will be closed. Main office facilities are maintained at 35 Church Street in Winchester Center.

Mr. Fisher will be involved in on-campus work in physics on the detailed design of a new experiment to make a precision cross section measurement for the photodisintegration of the deuteron near threshold. Vehicles Tangle On Town Roads

In the midst of the Cambridge Street (Route 3) evening commuter traffic Wednesday, June 16, two Winchester residents became involved in a rear-end collision. Margaret P. Cade of 24 Ginn Road, traveling south, was stopped when contact occurred with a vehicle operated by Marc W. Harrington of 19 Cabot Street.

Mrs. Cade was transported to Winchester Hospital for complaint of "whiplash" to the back and neck. Her car was towed. Officers Richard W. Fisher, William E. Nash, and William H. O'Neil responded.

On Thursday, June 17, police located the operator of an overturned convertible at Grove Street and West Chardon Road in the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford. The station was alerted to the situation at about 1:30 a.m. Efforts to locate the owner ended when Medford called to inform them that William R. Moriarty of 6 Priscilla Lane was being admitted to the hospital. Officers John Oliver, Andrew Saraco and Frank Tranchita investigated.

Complaint of a hit and run accident at Cambridge and Pond Streets was the object of police research the following day. Mary E. Copley of 18 Ardley Road informed Officer John E. Guarente that she had been stopped at this intersection when an unknown vehicle moving north on Cambridge, turned into Pond, struck her car, and continued easterly on that street.

A witness recalled the license plate number. Ownership of the automobile was traced to an Arlington man who was located through the Woburn Police Department. A citation was issued for leaving the scene of an accident.

Differentiated Staffing Study To Be Continued

Guidelines evolved by the Differentiated Staffing Committee were approved for further study by the Winchester School Committee at its meeting of June 14. A preliminary report on this organizational plan was also presented at that time.

The committee has formulated an operating definition of differentiated staffing as, "an instructional organizational pattern utilizing teachers and non-professionals in specifically designated roles." Basically, it means that the traditional method of employing certificated teachers for a specific group of students is varied by the use of student-teachers, interns, aides, etc. for the same group.

The committee, which has been in existence since October of 1970, is composed of Winchester School Department personnel: Andrew Allan and James Smith, co-chairmen; Thomas Badewicz; Dr. Clare Corcoran; Richard Elliott; Robert Foster; Dr. Walter Gleason; Mrs. Betty Reynolds; and Richard Young.

The promise of such an organizational policy could be a more effective use of teachers' talents and experiences, thereby benefiting students without (ideally) appreciably increasing the costs of education.

Nine guidelines were approved. Points (1) through (8) were recommended by the committee. Point (9) is an addendum of Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald A. Klemmer.

(1) Principals are encouraged to develop with their staffs plans to better utilize funds for the staffing of their individual schools.

(2) Such plans would be developed by the principal and his staff.

(3) Before presentation to the School Committee on the recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools, such plans will have the support of those participating in the specific proposal.

(4) Proposals will have specific outlines of objectives and description of the processes by which the objectives will be evaluated on a yearly basis and reported to the School Committee and school staff.

(5) If the evaluation indicates that a staffing pattern should be modified or discarded, the participating school shall have the option to do so.

(6) Plans will not revolve around the cropping of any existing school staff members (persons, not positions) for its implementation.

(7) A school's budget proposal should stay within reasonable range of its proposed budget for that year.

(8) None of these plans will go into effect until recommended by the superintendent of schools to the School Committee and the School Committee retains the right to accept or reject these plans.

(9) Where a teaching team is provided with clerical help or paraprofessionals in lieu of additional professional staff, the third step of the clerical-paraprofessional scale will be applied against the average teacher replacement cost utilized in the budget for the next school year by the assistant superintendent for personnel and approved by the School Committee.

During the year and one-half of its study, the committee has worked through a program which began with identifying the needs of this school system. Research and review was conducted through literature, outside professionals, and principals and staff members of the Winchester schools. The progress report was shared with the Administrative Council and the representative council of the Winchester Education Association.

Working objectives were then tabulated as a background to those examples of differentiated staffing which were gathered. These objectives included: (1) meeting individual instructional needs; (2) more teacher constructed materials for small groups; (3) teacher diagnosis of student problems; (4) matching materials to learning styles; (5) evaluating performance in relation to goals; and (6) utilizing individual strengths of teachers.

Emphasis on the patterns cited as "examples" was made because "no one pattern fits all situations and relevant selectivity and flexibility are essential characteristics in adapting patterns for a real situation."

Patterns included in the progress report which could come under further study for possible implementation in Winchester were a class assistant plan, tutorial plan, curriculum council plan, team-option plans for elementary and high schools, and variations on university plans.

Several comparisons were offered of plans utilizing differentiated as opposed to conventional staffing in which total costs for the innovative model were less than or equal to the traditional program.

Winchester is already implementing forms of differentiated staffing in its present use of the curriculum council for kindergarten through grade 12 and in its liaison with the student-teacher and re-

Winchester Home Owners Reach 75.8 Percent Mark

Compared with some sections of the country, home ownership in Winchester is at a high level.

According to the latest official figures, the proportion of local families that own houses in which they live is relatively large.

The findings are based upon an analysis of reports released by the Department of Commerce, based upon data gathered during the recent Census of Housing.

It shows that no less than 75.8 percent of all dwelling units in Winchester are now owned by their occupants. It compares with 58.9 percent in the United States and 57.8 percent in the New England States.

Most of the upward trend in home ownership took place in the eight years or so prior to 1968, when there was little unemployment, when incomes were moving higher, and when the availability of mortgage money at favorable rates made it possible for many families to attain their goal — a home of their own.

The figures for the local area show a total of 6,541 year-round dwelling units, of which 4,960 are owner-occupied.

Nationally, the number of home owners rose 7.1 million in the 10-year period, going from 32.8 million to 39.9 million, the Department of Commerce reports.

However, because of the increase in population during those years, the percentage of families in the United States who were living in their own homes was only slightly higher in 1970 than it was in 1960.

Although there has been much trading up in recent years, with people selling their homes to buy bigger and better ones, there has also been much money spent on improving the older dwellings through extensions, alterations, and repairs.

During the past year alone, owners spent $14.8 billion on such upkeep and improvement, the government's figures show.

Because of inflation and the decline in housing construction in recent years, home values have been zooming in most areas.

In Winchester, on the basis of the median price asked for local homes, $33,800, the total value of owner-occupied property comes to approximately $167,648,000.

Youths Face Drug Charges

Two youths apprehended by Winchester police Monday night, June 21, were arraigned in Fourth District Court on charges of possession of narcotic drugs and being present where narcotics were found. The cases were continued until June 28.

Police received a report of two suspicious youths in the area of Everett Avenue at 8:40 p.m. from an off-duty officer, John E. Guarante. Officers Francis R. Manzie and Richard W. Fisher found two youths, 15 years of Winchester and 20 years of Pittsfield, Maine, on Myopia Hill Road.

Two pipes and a vial containing "herb" to be analyzed were confiscated.

Disappears From Epiphany Garden

Among incidents of property damage reported to Winchester Police recently was the loss of a contemporary sculpture of man from the garden of the Church of the Epiphany. The statue, which had been bolted down, is considered relatively valuable.

A Winchester youth was arrested Saturday night, June 19, for malicious destruction of school property. Officer Joseph M. Crowe Jr. while on patrol heard the breaking of glass at McCall Junior High School. Responding to the site, he gave chase to several boys. One was later apprehended.

More than 2,500 gallons of water may evaporate from an acre of forlorn destruction of school property in just one day.

Bachelor's Accepted By Local Women

Two Winchester residents were awarded bachelor's degrees by Ithaca College, Ithaca, New York, at the 76th commencement exercises on May 15.

BEVERLY A. ALBA

Beverly Anne Alba, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Alba of 5 Myopia Road, received a bachelor of science in physical education. During her undergraduate career, she was a member of the Women's Athletic Association and the Physical Education Majors Club.

Miss Alba was a three-year member of the women's varsity lacrosse team. She has been awarded a graduate assistantship in anatomy by Ithaca College for the next year.

NANCY S. CLARK

Nancy Sargent Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Clark Jr. of 16 Hillcrest Parkway, earned a bachelor of arts in sociology. She served as an orientation counselor and was named to the Freshman Advisory Board. She was also elected fire warden of her residence hall and was a member of Delta Phi Zeta Sorority.

An attempt in 1692 to provide scheduled mail delivery among the American colonies went bankrupt because roads often were impassable and conflicting laws and coinage prevented establishing uniform postal rates.

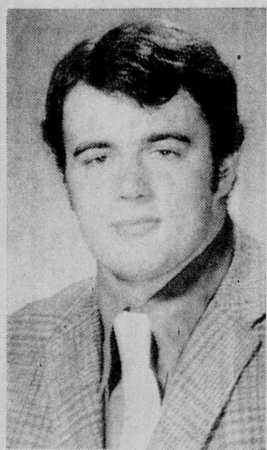

Congratulations, Graduates

An overwhelming number of releases from schools and universities are coming into the Star office this month to inform us of the honors and achievements earned by Winchester students.

We are proud of these graduates and congratulate them on their efforts. At this time we ask for patience both from students and their parents in our reporting of these events.

The Star's policy on graduations follows:

1. Notice of graduation must come from a school or university unless a parent has been requested by the institution to notify his newspaper, or if the parent feels after a lapse of time that the school has not informed the Star.
2. Pictures are used as they come from the institution. In such an event that only three photographs are received for five graduates of one institution, no pictures will be used in an effort to be less discriminatory.
3. Due to space limitations stories are necessarily brief. Information is used as it comes from the institution. Again activities, offices, etc., cannot be printed for only three of five graduates of one school.

Mr. Martin Is Awarded Bachelor's

Thomas H. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Martin Jr. of 16 Albamont Road, earned a bachelor of arts degree in French from Williams College, Williamstown. Commencement exercises were held June 6.

While at Williams, Mr. Martin received numerals in freshman baseball and spent his junior year abroad in France.

Local Students Complete Studies In New Hampshire

WHITNEY A. GAY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gay of 58 Westland Avenue, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in English from Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, on June 6. He was a four-year letterman in football and golf captain for two years.

Endicott Cites Kathleen M. Ryan With Associate's

Kathleen M. Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frances E. Ryan Jr. of Salisbury Street, one of the 300 members of the graduating class at Endicott Junior College in Beverly, received her degree of associate in science at the 31st annual commencement, June 5, at Bierkoe Auditorium on the college campus.

Miss Ryan also participated in the activities of Baccalaureate and social events honoring seniors and their parents during commencement.

A major in general education, Miss Ryan has completed off-campus work experience in her major field during the regular college internship period. She was named to the dean's list while at Endicott.

Mr. Pepper Earns Degree From M.I.T.

Among the 1,240 seniors and graduate students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's (Cambridge) 105th commencement on June 4 was Robert M. Pepper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Pepper of 8 Robinson Park.

Mr. Pepper received the bachelor of science degree in aeronautics and astronautics.

Being a Genie isn't all glamour, you know. Grants wish after wish (and some of 'em are beauties) can really wear a Genie out!

I'll have to admit, tho, that carpeting wishes are a breeze! Everyone's first wish is for free advice, then they want luxurious carpeting that resists peanut butter and jelly stains and won't cost a life's savings. They wish for professional installation, and after that's done they still want more...someone who can service it later on!

Granting these wishes is easy...I tell them to go to see Harry, Leo or Michael at Koko Boodakian, and when you do, tell them Genie sent you.

Library Articles Recovered

The theft of several items from the Winchester Public Library was averted Thursday night, June 17, when a Winchester couple struggling at the rear of the building surprised two youths.

According to the police report of Officer Frank Tranchita, the two noticed the boys carrying "something" at about 11:30. They called out to them, at which point the youths dropped an electric typewriter and ran up Mount Vernon Street.

Police later found two electric typewriters, a projector, and a sterling silver trophy. A small amount of money was missing.

Shortly after 9 a.m. Monday, June 21, Officer Robert Palmer responded to Brigham's Inc., 530 Main Street, where it was discovered that a rear door had been forced. A sum of money was absent from the safe.

Serving The Community For 90 Years

Town Meeting Comments

The invocation for the first session of the Special Town Meeting Wednesday evening, June 16, was given by the Rev. John J. Bishop, rector of the Parish of the Epiphany.

Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick advised Town Meeting Members Wednesday evening that he had "no illusions that this is going to be an easy meeting to conduct." He termed zoning a "very complex" and "very technical" subject, meriting "serious consideration."

Acknowledging that "there's been a good deal of emotion about this issue" Town Moderator Chadwick reminded Town Meeting Members that "it is not permitted to attack an individual or groups of individuals, such as a board or committee." The reference to attacking a board brought a light moment to the Wednesday session.

"We are a brave town to consider rezoning the town in one meeting," observed Moderator Chadwick. He pointed out that Winchester was one of the first communities in the Commonwealth, if not the nation, to adopt a comprehensive Zoning By-Law. Winchester did this on March 10, 1924, putting the regulations into effect on April 11 of that year. It has been amended since.

Some humor was added to the Wednesday session when Town Moderator Chadwick called a short recess at 8:20 p.m. to settle a procedural matter "because I'm confused already."

Town Moderator Chadwick explained to Town Meeting Members that he had "assigned the better part of the remainder of my life to conducting this meeting if that's what it takes."

The procedures set by Town Moderator Chadwick for the Special Town Meeting included accepting the Planning Board's report on the proposed Zoning By-Law and placing it on file, a general discussion, followed by discussions of each category of the proposed Zoning By-Law, beginning with garden apartments.

Otto E. Schaefer Jr., chairman of the Planning Board, in a discussion of time required for consideration of the proposed Zoning By-Law, said that he would "probably enjoy better getting out of here than anybody in this room."

Vito A. Giarizzo, chairman of the Finance Committee, referred to the fears of some opponents of the proposed Zoning By-Law about whether possible fires could wipe out non-conforming businesses. "If all these fires developed, it would be second to the Chelsea fire," Mr. Giarizzo commented.

Although a short recess took place early in the Wednesday session, the normal mid-session recess did not occur. Town Meeting Members continued without further interruptions until adjournment at 11 p.m.

The Rev. Herbert K. A. Driscoll, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, gave the invocation for the second session of the Special Town Meeting Monday evening, June 21.

One individual who eluded police and slipped into the section of the auditorium reserved for Town Meeting Members Monday evening was a dog. As the animal stepped down the aisle, one observer commented, "You've got another vote."

Town Moderator Chadwick advised relieved Town Meeting Members that proposed amendments to the Zoning By-Law had been pruned from 36 down to a "manageable number."

Confusion at the rear of the hall and in the lobby during Wednesday evening's session prompted Town Moderator Chadwick to ask for the cooperation of those attending the Special Town Meeting to eliminate such disturbances.

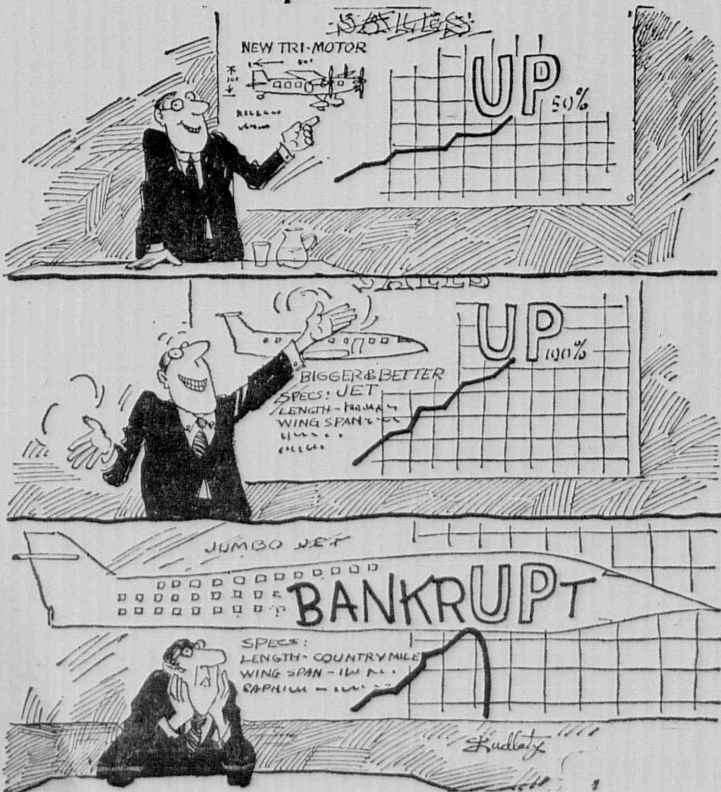

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Herberich of 17 Sheffield West is the second woman member to be named to the Finance Committee. Mrs. Herberich has joined Mrs. Rita McGonigle of 360 Cross Street on the committee. Mrs. Herberich has served as president of the Winchester League of Women Voters and as a Town Meeting Member from Precinct Five. She is attending her first Town Meeting as a Finance Committee member.

The hour was late and those attending the Monday session of the Special Town Meeting were wearying. So tired was Chairman Otto E. Schaefer Jr. of the Planning Board, that he acknowledged that he was embarrassed to admit that he had voted yes on an amendment to the proposed Zoning By-Law when he had intended a no vote. Mr. Schaefer's comment brought a welcome breather to an otherwise serious discussion.

New Town Meeting Members taking office at the beginning of the initial session of the Special Town Meeting included Miss Clara M. Hewis of Precinct One, Sherman B. Russell of Precinct Two, Richard A. Richmond of Precinct Four, and Raymond J. Kenney Jr., former chairman of the Finance Committee, Precinct Five.

Attendance figures for the Wednesday evening, June 16, session of the Special Town Meeting, as reported by Mrs. Elsie Nelson, town clerk, showed 199 present and 26 absent. For the Monday evening, June 21, session, there were 163 Town Meeting Members in attendance.

Ups and Downs

Planning Board Head Disagrees With Editorial

Editor of the Star:

The Planning Board is pleased to note that the new owner and publisher of the Star is already showing an active interest in Town affairs and read his editorial with considerable interest — and some disappointment.

We are disappointed because his two main reasons for objecting to the proposed Zoning By-Law reflect a lack of understanding of the complexities of the problem.

First, his analysis "from a purely business standpoint" of the difference between garden apartments and mixed use is seriously oversimplified. The difference in gross revenue certainly looks attractive, but neglects completely the cost of servicing the nearly six-fold increase in population it would promote. The Planning Board's proposal has carefully considered the capacity of the Town's service to handle the increased population. Its proposal could generate, and is confident a financial benefit will result from the recommended zoning. It is equally confident that the high density zoning advocated in his proposal would result in a financial loss to say nothing of the effect on traffic and the amenities of this community.

Second, the idea of rezoning on a parcel-by-parcel basis, or enacting a new set of zoning regulations one at a time has proved unwelcome over the past 15 years. The fact is you can't enact a new by-law one section at a time, much as you might like to.

The Planning Board has studied this problem for the past five years with the aid of the best professional advice available. The proposed Zoning Law is a good one similar to those which have been adopted by many progressive communities throughout the country.

The Town badly needs a modern Zoning Law aimed at the future, not the 1920's. This is a complex proposal, but zoning is a complex matter and we urge the Town to carefully consider its merits and the thoughtful study it has been given by the members of the Planning Board.

Winchester Planning Board
Otto E. Schaefer, Chairman

Tribute Paid To Mrs. Aseltine

Editor of the Star:

Winchester has lost another of its fine citizens through the death of Mrs. Frederick Aseltine. Grace contributed so much to her community and to the people around her, and her greatest contribution was the cheerfulness with which she gave.

When, at the age of 90 she was honored by Governor Sargent for her life-long work, she was as gay and effervescent as a teenager. As she went through the Winchester Hospital, arranging flowers, she left each sick person she saw with new hope and happiness. Children responded to her as though she were one of them, and the love she gave to others was returned a hundredfold.

The membership of the Winchester Women's Republican Club made her their first Honorary member in recognition of the many years she had helped their party's cause. They join in saying to her family that she will be long remembered by all who knew her.

Seek Artifacts To Aid Children

Editor of the Star:

We are writing this letter as a reminder to your readers of the request made by the Social Studies Council and the Winchester Historical Society for artifacts used in 18th and 19th century America as appeared in the Winchester Star of June 17.

The kits as used now in our third grades in the Winchester schools are providing materials such as slide tapes, maps, booklets, activities, and samples of products made in Winchester and are serving as an invaluable resource unit for the teachers. However, here is a time when the curiosity of young children is really apparent and objects and articles of the past (tools, clothing, etc.) would be a most interesting addition. Please contact Mrs. May Davis (729-5718) or William O'Connor (729-2067).

We do hope we will receive the cooperation of the Winchester community in this endeavor.

Zoning By-Law Is Mr. Lord's Topic

Editor of the Star:

The fight on rezoning is on with great gusto. One of the speakers at the opening session talked about or simply mentioned "The Establishment" and was asked to define said expression which he was unable to do. Is the Haves versus the Have-nots the answer? Or is it the big boss of the so-called underworld?

Maybe it reverts back to the time in Winchester when a Town Meeting was unnecessary as it was all decided at the Congregational Church before going through the motions at the town meeting.

It reminds this writer of the term justice — ask anyone to define justice and in my experience as a lawyer, solicitor, I have never heard a good definition of justice — depending upon which side of the aisle one sits.

Privately one hears many definitions of words which one would not dare to use at a town meeting as the danger would be to hurt another's feelings. Too bad that we humans cannot let down our hair (if you have any) and speak directly without what one feels; the only creature who is able to do this is one's spouse when her ire is up; take off for the hinter lands until the boss of your household cools down.

If the Town Meetings henceforth do not speed up, the Town Meetings will not be finished before Labor Day and zoning will be killed for another year. There is much opposition to this rezoning as every landowner thinks of himself, which is natural, but if the landowners keep their feet on the ground and not speak emotionally but from a common sense point of view, the Town Meeting will accomplish what it set out to do, rezoning with profit or with a balance in favor of the town for reducing the tax rate.

It has been the understanding of this Town Meeting member that the main purpose of rezoning and rules and regulations concerning the use of the land was to find new revenue to keep the tax rate down and a long range for the betterment of the town, for business, the home owner, and the tenants. Seems simple to do but it seems that too many throw road-blocks in the way, looking at the problem solely from their own selfish viewpoint and are out to kill the whole idea.

The Planning Board Chairman, Schaefer, has shown infinite patience without a ruffle and is to be commended for his efforts. It appears that love thy neighbor is not working very well but whoever thought it would.

People do not change and probably haven't since man came on Earth. The 90 percent of the humans on earth are bigotted but we do not speak of the way we did speak of years ago when Catholics need not apply for a job, advertised in the Star.

I am just shooting off my hazy as the number of readers in the Star who read these letters is increasing or so it appears and this writer does not want to disappoint said readers; the same can be said in the Memorial Day Parade.

Tallyho! There will always be an England as long as we are here.

Moderator's Course Pleases Michael Saraco

Editor of the Star:

Mr. Harrison Chadwick, our Town Moderator, conducted a two-evening course on parliamentary procedure at the Senior High School on Tuesday, June 8, and June 15, which was attended by approximately 35 to 40 interested citizens.

As one of those that attended, I would like, through your paper, to publicly thank Mr. Chadwick for the wonderful job he did and for giving us two evenings from his busy schedule for our benefit.

I would like to point out that even though the hours of the course were from 8 to 9:30 p.m., each evening, every one remained until well after 10:30 p.m. on the last evening, because of their interest.

I know that those citizens that attended join with me in saying, "Thank you, Mr. Chadwick."

Hail Umpires Of Cap League

Editor of the Star:

The Winchester Cap League Baseball season 1971 is now history. With more than 320 youngsters participating and the able assistance of more than 35 adult coaches and refreshment stand operators, we feel it was a great success.

One group of people, however, always in the background in their volunteer "profession," deserve a big vote of thanks for their willingness to cooperate and their unfailing attendance at every one of the 66 games. As spectators, players, and coaches always knew, they were only human, and they took some good natured kidding along the way, but we feel that we were fortunate indeed to have such an excellent crew of umpires for our games.

We would like to thank them from the bottom of our hearts for their thankless work under sometimes trying conditions, as each one of them displayed enthusiasm, forthrightness, and sound judgment in the performance of their assigned task. Without competent umpires, the game loses a lot of its dignity and fun, and our umpires displayed true spirit in their handling of their every decision, contributing much to the purpose of Cap League — teaching baseball, teamwork and good sportsmanship.

We honor Cap League's 1971 Umpires: Jim Aylward, Dr. Borden Brown, Bob Baron, Tom Doucey, Harry Downs, Howard Goodrow, George Kingsley III, Harry Rothmann, and Phil Stackpole.

Aberjona Study Is Praised By Mrs. Ver Planck

Editor of the Star:

I was delighted to read about the fine studies on the Aberjona River by High School students Jonathan Pease and Per Enge. Congratulations also to the Social Studies Department and teachers Mr. Malloy and Mr. French. I do hope the prime users of the Aberjona Watershed, the City of Wrentham and Atlantic Gelatin, will take note. It is hard indeed to know what remedial steps they can take.

Those of us who worked very hard on the Sierra Club Aberjona canoe trip were disappointed that the Star did not also report this unique event with accompanying pictures also after the big event. The purpose of the trip was also to bring attention to our river and that such trips can be enjoyable even now despite certain badly polluted areas.

Chairman of the Selectmen, Mr. John J. Sullivan, Conservation Commissioners John Moore, David Turnquist, and Nolan Jones were among the paddlers of the 22 canoes that left from the corner of Skillings Road and Shore Road on Saturday, June 12. Paddlers (also including former Mayor Kurker of Medford) had to make three brief portages on their way down the Aberjona River, through the Mystic Lakes and Mystic River to the Monsignor Condon Shell in Medford, where all stopped to enjoy their picnic lunches and refreshments.

Six canoes paddled onward down the Mystic River to Chelsea.

The Mystic River Watershed Association wished that this endeavor might start regional efforts to clean up the entire watershed and bring support to their new program.

Reading Woman Grateful For Good Deed Here

Editor of the Star:

In talking to Mr. Jordan of your paper, I was told to write a note to you, and I hope the young man mentioned is a resident of Winchester.

I was on an errand from Reading to 106 Main Street, Winchester, yesterday and was on my way home. I stopped at the corner of Forest and Washington Streets, where a young man in a car behind me stopped to tell me I had left my handbag on top of my car. I was so startled and upset that I did not thank the young man properly and would like to express my appreciation in a personal way, if he will call me at 944-5744.

I am an older woman and thought it was wonderful that this young man was so kind, like so many young people today about whose good deeds we never hear.

'POPULATION CONTROL' THROUGH NUCLEAR POLLUTION

by Arthur R. Tamplin and John W. Gofman

"Thus, as a result of medical and industrial uses of radiation and atom bombings, a large number of humans have been exposed to radiation. If the side effects (as for example, cancer or leukemia) had been immediate, the AEC would have been embarrassed many years ago. For reasons not yet understood, such side effects of radiation exposure as cancer or leukemia require 5 to 20 years to manifest themselves. Side effects such as irreversible damage to the genes will appear only in future generations of the individual radiated. This delay in manifestation of side effects has proved enormously useful to the AEC (Atomic Energy Commission), for it has been able to carry on activities involving radiation of humans for many years, and each year point out that the humans are still alive (at least until the five to 20 years had elapsed and the leukemias and cancers became obvious to everyone)." So have written the authors in this very necessary book about the hazards of nuclear activity to human health. Both authors are distinguished for their work in the nuclear field.

Cancer and leukemia are the major hazards through the use of atomic radiation. Dr. Linus Pauling has pointed out that there will be damage to the genes as well.

There is no safe threshold in the matter of radiation. The promoters of atomic energy technology had hoped that evidence would be developed that such a "safe amount of radiation exists."

Let us quote again from the book: "In the human the demolition of the 'safe' threshold idea for radiation is infinitely more devastating. We owe this contribution to humanity to the works of Dr. Alice Stewart and her collaborators in England. Her studies, first published in 1956, deal with the effect of diagnostic radiation of pregnant women, which, of course, also means radiation of the fetus in utero. The amount of radiation (of X-rays no different from the ionizing radiation of atomic energy activities) to the infant in such examination is only about 2 rads per average examination. And Dr. Stewart found that children who had been radiated in utero had a 50% increase in the number of cases of cancer in various forms, as well as leukemias, during the first ten years of life. This represents an enormous sensitivity to radiation."

This is a long way from the 100 rads the AEC promoters are so fond of speaking of still as the lowest dose where evidence of cancer is seen in human beings due to radiation, according to the authors.

The pollution tolerance as far as they are concerned should be zero. The amount of radiation a citizen may legally receive would ultimately result in the following: 32,000 extra cancer plus leukemia deaths annually for the current population of 200 million people; and, 150,000 to 1,500,000 extra deaths from genetically determined diseases annually for a future population of 300 million. The annual health cost could be $1 billion to $100 billion per year.

The authors, in their discussions of AEC, Project Plowshare, nuclear reactors, nuclear waste, the power, political and otherwise of the atomic industry and its technology, and uranium mining have provided provocative and stimulating reading on one of the most controversial areas in our civilization. Both authors in their research have become aware of the grave dangers of nuclear pollution.

Laboratory

Both locations will conduct classes for elementary grades K-5, as well as a pre-kindergarten class for those students entering school for the first time this September.

Offerings in the laboratory schools will be varied, including mathematics, reading, social studies, art, music, and science. Special emphasis will be given to nature trail explorations at Smith and Long Ponds.

This phase of the summer program stresses curriculum enrichment rather than remedial instruction. Methods of instruction will highlight the individual needs of the child as he approaches the learning process.

Lincoln Program

Programs being held at Lincoln School this summer include remedial and developmental reading, as well as the Lesley College learning disabilities program. These courses are being offered for pupils presently completing grades 1-6. Diagnosis of skill deficiencies is an integral part of these programs, enabling teachers and pupils to concentrate on the most troublesome aspects of the individual pupil's development.

A varied selection of secondary school subjects is planned at McCall Junior High School. These courses, listed for students presently completing grades 6-11, are English review; English I, II, III, and IV; creative writing workshop; remedial-developmental reading; French I and II; Spanish I and II; review arithmetic; preview of algebra; algebra I and II; plane geometry; theatre workshop; personal typing; and driver training.

All programs and courses in the Winchester Summer School begin on Tuesday, July 6, and end on Friday, August 13. While strict attendance is required for those students seeking credit at the secondary level, flexible attendance accommodations can be arranged for elementary school programs by contacting the Summer School Director, Frederick J. Murray in advance at 729-8130.

Brochures and application forms can be obtained at the Division of Instruction, 15 High Street. Be sure to use Lesley College applications for Lesley programs and Winchester application forms for Winchester courses only.

Meeting times for all programs and courses can be found in the brochure. Citizens are urged to register their children as soon as possible.

Monsignor

He marked his silver jubilee as a priest while at St. Jerome's in 1961. He was invested with the papal honor of protonotary apostolic by Pope Paul VI on November 9, 1964. On March 31, 1967, Msgr. Fitzgibbons retired to his parental home on Wedgemere Avenue after 56 years of parochial responsibilities.

Cardinal's Friend

Msgr. Fitzgibbons said that he "prided" in the friendship of the late Cardinal O'Connell. The cardinal had ordained him to the priesthood, gave him his early assignments, and appointed him as his lecturer and emissary. Fellow clergy often referred to the then youthful priest as "the boss" because of his closeness to the cardinal. Msgr. Fitzgibbons described the cardinal, who died in 1944, as "the dearest man I knew."

Douglas Friendship

While in charge of five churches in the Gloucester-Essex area, Msgr. Fitzgibbons formed a friendship with the late author, Lloyd Douglas, who wrote "Magnificent Obsession," "Forgive Us Our Trespasses," "The Robe," and several other novels. The novelist and his wife, ill with tuberculosis, had a summer home at Bass Rock.

Mr. Douglas, while dining with Cardinal O'Connell, had sought his advice on whom to contact for reference material on Roman Catholic doctrine and practices as background information for "Forgive Us Our Trespasses." Cardinal O'Connell referred him to "my boy, Joe Fitzgibbons."

The friendship of Msgr. Fitzgibbons and Mr. Douglas, who had been a clergyman and physician before turning to writing, lasted until Mr. Douglas' death in his sleep in Las Vegas, Nevada, several years ago. Msgr. Fitzgibbons said that material appearing in the Douglas book, written in 1933, prophesied religious happenings which are occurring today.

Msgr. Fitzgibbons has autographed copies of several Douglas novels. He said that Mr. Douglas was a "wonderful man."

Last Of Family

Msgr. Fitzgibbons is the sole survivor of his family. A brother, John, died when the monsignor was very young. Their mother died in 1923. Their father passed away in 1927. A sister, Kathryn A., died in 1935, another sister, Elizabeth, in 1944; a brother, Maurice, in 1951; another brother, William A., in 1961, and Julia, in 1968. Since none of the Fitzgibbons children had married, Msgr. Fitzgibbons has no nephews or nieces.

Dream Manse, the family's summer home in Jamestown, Rhode Island, is still owned by Msgr. Fitzgibbons.

In addition to devoting time to religious services and private prayer, Msgr. Fitzgibbons busies himself with reading, writing, and visits with friends.

Msgr. Fitzgibbons' health is good. He is mentally alert, and looks considerably younger than his 87 years.

An interviewer finds that the monsignor possesses warmth, friendliness, a sense of humor, and generosity. Together with these attributes, there remains a strong devotion to tradition and faith in the face of a changing church and a confused world.

The U.S. Government first minted five cent pieces in 1749. Today, Americans spend the equivalent of 68,000,000 five cent pieces a day for their newspapers.

Wednesday Town Meeting

The Winchester Property Owners Association is composed of citizens, homeowners, and business men "who live throughout the town in every precinct who are opposed to this," Mr. Coakley explained, in referring to the proposed Zoning By-Law.

Mr. Coakley saw "many inequities" and "a lot of radical changes" in the measure.

"A lot of business people are going to suffer," he maintained. He claimed that businessmen were "mostly against this."

"We think we know what's good for the businesses we own," Mr. Coakley continued.

Mr. Coakley felt that the town would suffer because of tax abatements to be sought by "a lot" of property owners.

"Over 75 percent of the area, if it goes through the way it is now, is going to be non-conforming," Mrs. Coakley maintained.

Winchester Property Owners Association members are "not totally against apartments," Mr. Coakley noted. They consider some areas acceptable for them, he explained.

"The association doesn't plan to offer a single amendment," Mr. Coakley concluded, but favors voting against the entire proposal.

APPL Represented

E. Charles Iana, president of the Association to Prevent Pollution in Living, asked Town Meeting Members to consider several questions. These included:

"1. What kind of community do we want to be ten years from now?"

"2. Are apartments in the best interests of the whole town?"

"3. What is the definite need for them?"

He noted President Richard M. Nixon's view that no community should be forced to accept low-cost housing if it doesn't want it.

Mr. Iana said that the town's present Zoning By-Law permits housing for the elderly if the town wishes it.

"Will apartments stabilize the tax rate?" asked Mr. Iana. "Evidence seems to indicate the opposite is true," he maintained.

He referred to a written report concerning proposed apartments on the Moss property on Cambridge Street, which he said that the Planning Board had prepared on November 7, 1968.

The report had indicated that one truck and six firetrucks would be added for fire protection; some extra costs, although not estimated, would be incurred for police protection for the 2,000 or more persons who would have resided in the apartments, and that sewer facilities might not be adequate, he said.

Questions raised in the Planning Board report have "not been answered," Mr. Iana maintained.

Mr. Hewis Objects

Town Meeting Member Arthur J. Hewis Jr. of Precinct One objected to granting Mr. Schaefer 25 minutes to speak on only one section of the proposed Zoning By-Law, that pertaining to garden-type apartments.

"We have tried, many of us, to limit and try to control the debate," Mr. Hewis commented. He objected to allowing "one person to speak for 25 minutes under one particular section."

"The question should be before this meeting as the main motion," he added. "Then there should be full debate."

Town Moderator Harrison Chadwick noted that he had 66 motions to amend the proposed Zoning By-Law in his possession for action during the Special Town Meeting.

Mr. Hewis' motion for reconsideration of the plan to give Mr. Schaefer 30 minutes to speak on garden apartments alone lost 151-52.

Garden Apartments

Mr. Schaefer explained that he would have preferred to have no apartments in Winchester, since he likes the town as it is "mostly." However, he maintained that adequate density controls would be provided in areas set aside for apartments under the proposed Zoning By-Law.

Apartment units were being suggested for areas with "difficult topography" abutting commercial or industrial land, or adjoining land for such purposes in bordering towns, with adequate access, he declared.

The proposed apartment site on Bellevue Avenue, he commented, would have "very fine homes on one side" but Route 93 and a Stoneham industrial park would be on the opposite side.

The primary purpose of apartments would not be to improve the tax base, Mr. Schaefer declared. Apartments would, however, "make some contribution to the tax base" and "help ease the pain," he explained.

Cost Questioned

Town Meeting Member Robert P. Watson of Precinct One asked what the cost to the town would be if the proposed Zoning By-Law were adopted.

"As a Town Meeting Member, how can I vote on this when I have no idea what the cost will be?" he questioned.

"There isn't a nice simple answer," responded Mr. Schaefer.

Selectman's Views

Chairman John J. Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen stated, "The proposed zoning plan and apartment houses will not bring large scale tax relief to Winchester. The decision should be based on matters other than possible financial advantages."

He saw "no substantial tax benefit" to the town if the proposed Zoning By-Law were approved.

Housing For Elderly

Miss Hewis said that even if Town Meeting Members turned down the proposed Zoning By-Law, provisions could be made for housing for the elderly. Board of Appeal approval could be sought to erect such structures, with a public hearing necessary. If the Housing Authority's application were turned down by the Board of Appeal, an appeal could be made to the Housing Affairs Council of the Department of Community Affairs, she explained.

We do not need to have an apartment house zone in order to have the Housing Authority build housing for the elderly, Miss Hewis declared.

Mr. Hewis maintained that a developer of garden-type apartments, restricted to build on only 30 percent of his land area, "will go to court" if he finds the project unprofitable.

"The Planning Board must realize now that they're not going to make it now on a two-thirds vote," he commented.

Legal Opinions

Town Meeting Member Justin M. James Jr. of Precinct Five noted that "non-lawyers" were making legal points. "He suggested that Attorney Leonard J. Mullen Jr., town counsel, give his opinions on legal issues raised."

Attorney Mullen said that non-conforming structures may be sold. He expressed doubt that a developer could overturn the proposed Zoning By-Law requirement that he build on only 30 percent of his land in a garden-type apartment development. The economic factor alone would not be sufficient to make such an action successful, he declared. Housing for the elderly could be constructed without passage of the proposed Zoning By-Law, but additional Town Meeting action would be necessary, Mr. Mullen said.

Session Adjourned

Chairman Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen moved that the Special Town Meeting be adjourned until 7:45 p.m. Thursday, June 17, a town holiday. He observed that by completing action on the seven-article warrant as rapidly as possible, there would be less interference with vacations and other activities planned by Town Meeting Members.

Miss Hewis amended Chairman Sullivan's motion to call for adjournment until 7:45 p.m. Monday, June 21. She recalled that the Selectmen had set the first session for Wednesday, June 16, instead of Thursday, June 17, because June 17 was a town holiday and town offices were closed.

Miss Hewis' motion to amend Chairman Sullivan's motion was approved, 80-73. Town Meeting Member Joseph McCareon of Precinct Six, in his traditional role of moving for adjournment, moved that the Special Town Meeting be adjourned until 7:45 p.m. Monday, June 21. Town Meeting Members concluded the first three-hour session of an anticipated several such gatherings at 11 p.m.

Area Discussed

Town Meeting Member Robert P. Watson of Precinct One asked why amendments to the proposed Zoning By-Law could not be discussed together.

Attorney Leonard J. Mullen, town counsel, said that there would be less of a legal problem if they were discussed separately.

Town Moderator Chadwick said that a majority vote would be necessary to approve or defeat such amendments.

Pepper Hill Drive

The first amendment to be considered called for keeping the Lombard land on Pepper Hill Drive in a general residence district, rather than permitting garden type apartments.

Ernest A. Phillips Jr., chairman of the Water and Sewer Board, said that the developer would have to pump sewage up to Ridge Street to tie in with the town system if apartments were constructed, since Arlington would not accept sewage from the proposed apartments.

Mr. Schaefer said that the Lombard land, acquired from Arlington, was zoned for 6,500-square-foot lots. It has severe, irregular grades, he declared.

Several years ago, Town Meeting Members turned down a proposal that the land be taken for conservation purposes, Mr. Schaefer recalled. Garden-type apartments would be the "best potential use for that land, he observed."

Mr. Schaefer said that the 14.1-acre site, protected by density controls, could have 169 garden-type

Monday Town Meeting

Mr. Schaefer said that a study indicated a demand for high-rent, multi-family housing downtown. He spoke of the central business district's problems, as unearthed in the Planning Board's Center Plan.

He said that mid-rise apartments would increase the tax base and construction would be a step forward. He felt strongly that mid-rise apartments should be confined to Winchester Center, he said. Otherwise, the town would be swamped with traffic problems, he maintained.

Areas proposed for mid-rise apartments "are in some kind of trouble economically," Mr. Schaefer declared, and "seem to be going downhill."

Town Meeting Member Clarence S. Borggaard of Precinct Three asked about the possibility of the former New England Laundry site being the location of a civic center.

Mr. Schaefer said that it would be an "extremely expensive piece of real estate."

"In view of burdens on the taxpayer, we did not believe it was feasible to ask the Town Meeting to appropriate money to buy it," he stated.

Zoning for mid-rise apartments would make the property "more marketable over and above the businesses that are on it," he continued.

John T. Looney referred to a March, 1967, report which showed that only 83 of 142 acres zoned for business in Winchester were so used.

Mr. Looney said that zoning, which first had been instituted in Pennsylvania in 1790 and in Massachusetts in the 1920's, was originally designed to aid conservation. Zoning has been historically against apartments higher than two stories, he maintained.

Mrs. Sarah R. Cincotta, Town Meeting Member from Precinct Four, asked how the Finance Committee had voted on the apartment question.

Chairman Vito Giarrizzo of the Finance Committee explained that his group had voted in favor of the proposed Zoning By-Law as presented, 9-6; on the question of deleting garden apartments and leaving mid-rise in the business district, 7-4, with one abstention, and on the text only, unanimously in favor.

Mrs. Lenore Frazier, Town Meeting Member from Precinct Five, said that she could not foresee the possibility of widening Route 3 "without taking people's front porches."

Mr. Schaefer predicted that when the Massachusetts Department of Public Works completes widening of Route 93 to either the Central Artery or the Inner Belt, a "significant part" of Route 3 traffic will be diverted to either Route 93 or Route 2.

Plans have been abandoned "on paper, at least," Mr. Schaefer noted, for Route 3 to become a superhighway entering Boston. He maintained that "two or three bottlenecks exist on Route 3, mentioning the Wildwood Street and Church Street intersections as examples."

"Does that mean landtaking?" questioned Mrs. Frazier.

"I don't see how they could alleviate the trouble at Church Street without some widening," replied Mr. Schaefer. "It might involve some landtaking and it might not."

Town Meeting Member Robert P. Watson of Precinct One asked why amendments to the proposed Zoning By-Law could not be discussed together.

Attorney Leonard J. Mullen, town counsel, said that there would be less of a legal problem if they were discussed separately.

Town Moderator Chadwick said that a majority vote would be necessary to approve or defeat such amendments.

Town Meeting Member George W. Sarney of Precinct Four declared, "Winchester ought to maintain its residential character. It's one thing it has, along with its high taxes."

The amendment defeating garden apartments for the Moss area was approved, 80-63.

Sessions Scheduled

Chairman Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen moved that the next session of the Special Town Meeting be held at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, June 23 and 24.

Town Meeting Member Arthur J. Hewis Jr. of Precinct One moved to amend Chairman Sullivan's motion by eliminating the Wednesday session. He said that Town Meeting sessions traditionally have been held on Mondays and Thursdays in Winchester. Mr. Hewis' motion lost, 84-51.

Town Meeting Members approved Chairman Sullivan's motion, without amendment, adjourning until Wednesday evening, June 23. A follow-up session was slated for Thursday evening, June 24.

About 1,500 Neighborhood Youth Corps teenagers will participate in a unique national tutoring project this summer, using the television series "Sesame Street." They will act as teachers and engage in play-type activities geared to preparing the preschooler for elementary school.

Mr. Schaefer said that the 14.1-acre site, protected by density controls, could have 169 garden-type apartment units, or 12 units an acre.

Mr. Phillips acknowledged that the apartments would add a load to a sewer system "that is marginal at the present time." If garden apartments were approved, the Water and Sewer Board would seek Town Meeting approval for an engineering survey of the area, he observed.

Chairman John J. Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen said that his group unanimously recommended favorable action on the amendment. The amendment was approved, 96-45, rejecting garden-type apartments for the Lombard land on Pepper Hill Drive.

Cambridge Street

Town Meeting Members next considered amending the proposed Zoning By-Law to reject garden-type apartments for the Moss area on Cambridge Street and to retain its present residential zoning.

Miss Margaret Mahoney, counsel for the Winchester Property Owners Association, said that if Cambridge Street were to be widened, "some businesses might suffer." She declared that while the developer pays initially for such expenses as water and sewer extensions, "who pays for upkeep?"

"We are being asked to subsidize a developer," she maintained. Mr. Schaefer said that the Moss area was a "very troublesome area."

"The Planning Board is not interested in bailing out anybody," he continued. "We are trying to figure a course that will be of the best interest to the town. In addition to a topographical problem, the property borders on Waburn land zoned for commercial use."

The area has a potential of 101 single-family homes, Mr. Schaefer declared, with a possibility of one-and-one-half to two children for each house, "a clear source of a considerably increased load on the school system," he went on.

Planning Board members believed that garden-type apartments at the Moss area would provide the "best control over the developer" and would benefit the town, he added.

Chairman Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen declared, "This zoning plan will not result in a significant reduction in the tax rate. Our analysis also shows that construction of apartments, as proposed by the Planning Board, most probably will not result in a tremendous increase in the tax rate."

He noted that adding approximately 2,000 apartments could increase the town's population by 4,000.

Referring to Selectman William G. Chapman Jr., Chairman Sullivan continued, "Mr. Chapman feels strongly that it is in the best interest of the town to develop apartments."

"We feel the need for apartments in Winchester is for senior citizens," Chairman Sullivan continued. "These are the people we should be building apartments for." He said that, with the exception of Selectman Chapman, "we will not support garden-type apartments, especially those in present residential areas."

Mr. Schaefer commented that the Planning Board had "found out just this minute what the Board of Selectmen's position is on this."

"The town will be making a grave mistake if it walks away from this meeting without making a decision," Mr. Schaefer warned.

Planning Board Member Michael Boskian noted that "the biggest tax load is going for school children." He said that three and four bedroom single family residences would add to the school population.

"Just remember what the Planning Board told you," he urged.

Town Meeting Member George W. Sarney of Precinct Four declared, "Winchester ought to maintain its residential character. It's one thing it has, along with its high taxes."

The amendment defeating garden apartments for the Moss area was approved, 80-63.

Sessions Scheduled

Chairman Sullivan of the Board of Selectmen moved that the next session of the Special Town Meeting be held at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, June 23 and 24.

Town Meeting Member Arthur J. Hewis Jr. of Precinct One moved to amend Chairman Sullivan's motion by eliminating the Wednesday session. He said that Town Meeting sessions traditionally have been held on Mondays and Thursdays in Winchester. Mr. Hewis' motion lost, 84-51.

Town Meeting Members approved Chairman Sullivan's motion, without amendment, adjourning until Wednesday evening, June 23. A follow-up session was slated for Thursday evening, June 24.

About 1,500 Neighborhood Youth Corps teenagers will participate in a unique national tutoring project this summer, using the television series "Sesame Street." They will act as teachers and engage in play-type activities geared to preparing the preschooler for elementary school.

Mr. Schaefer said that the 14.1-acre site, protected by density controls, could have 169 garden-type

The Selectmen discussed the possibility of installing three air conditioning units on the lower floor of Town Hall.

Odor Complaint

Selectmen received a copy of a letter from Anthony R. Grassia of 85 Brookside Avenue concerning an odor condition to the rear of his property. Copies of Mr. Grassia's letter went to the Selectmen, the Board of Health, and Myles A. Sweeney, assistant civil engineer, Division of Waterways, Massachusetts Department of Public Works in Boston, and the Star. It read in part:

"Returning home one afternoon last April, I was encountered with an unusual noise in my backyard. After careful investigation I discovered that an apparatus called a derrick was solely responsible for disrupting my normal routine day."

"This particular machine was engulfing large quantities of water and 'water muck' and depositing said subjects in large piles around the river. Naturally, I was happy and surprised to think that at last the Aberjona River was going to be improved by cleanliness and by flood control."

"The men left after a few weeks, and I was left to view the 'muck piles' every day wondering when they were going to be removed. Finally one day a fleet of eight or 12 busy ant trucks did an excellent job removing part of one side of the river. I waited for their return, but to no avail. Now when we have glorious summer days, I have to sit in my backyard and endure the 'muckpiles' and an aroma that the devil would welcome."

"I feel that these piles should be removed now because of health hazards, but how does one go about this?"

"Mr. Sweeney of the waterways department in Boston said that it was not a state contract job, and the Board of Selectmen's office claim that it was the duty of the state department to 'cart' the 'water muck' away."

"Now, I am enduring the patience of Job, but I feel that perhaps Pandora will come to my rescue soon, for what is the beauty of a backyard when one cannot see beyond ten feet or when one must endure strange odors?"

"Officials and Gods, please help."

The Selectmen voted to have Mr. Donnelly inquire into the state of the project and advise Mr. Grassia when it is to be completed.

Realty Firm Sponsors Camp For Retarded

A Burlington realty firm recently donated a sum of money sufficient to insure the operation of a four-week day camp for multiple-handicapped retarded children under the supervision of the Mystic Valley Association for Retarded, Inc.

Cannon Realty Associates of Burlington was the donor. Although many communities now have summer camps for the retarded, they do not have adequate facilities for therapy and training of non-ambulatory children.

This day camp for non-ambulatory children was begun last year under the direction of Mrs. Jean Friswell. Public sources promoting the program last year were unable to continue their aid this season. Private donors were sought. Cannon Realty responded.

The Association states, "We of the Mystic Valley Association for Retarded, Inc. wish to thank Cannon for their interest and foresight in aiding this program. It is our belief that the better educated and trained the retarded child is today, the better adult he will be tomorrow."

adopted at the May convention of the Massachusetts State League. The purpose of the study is to evaluate the judicial structure and its procedures and practices to determine the system's effectiveness in providing justice for all citizens.

The second item on the new state program is the study of the laws on birth control and abortion in Massachusetts. Mrs. Raymond Simpson will act as local chairman.

Committees of League members are being formed by the two chairmen to gather information in preparation for next season's unit discussions.

Chairman Named To Homemaker's Committee

Harold W. Knox has been named chairman of the North Metropolitan Homemaker Services Committee, it was announced by S. Raymond King Jr., program director.

Mr. Knox succeeds Mrs. Alfred E. Fernald who resigned to take a supervisory position with North Metropolitan Homemaker Services. Mr. Knox, a resident of Stoneham, was graduated from Atlantic Union College with a bachelor of theology.

Mr. Knox presently serves as the director of social services for the New England Memorial Hospital. Prior to this assignment he has served as hospital administrator, personnel manager and chaplain at the Fuller Memorial Sanitarium in South Attleboro. Mr. Knox has also served as pastor to the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Athol, Natick, Lynn and South Attleboro.

Mr. Knox has received specialized training at the Institute on Coordinated Home Care, Montefiore Hospital, Washington, D.C.; the Institute on Hospital Planning, American Association of Hospital Consultants; the Institute of Scientific Studies on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, International Commission for Prevention of Alcoholism, Washington, D.C.; and the Institute on Mental Health for Clergymen, Harding Psychiatric Hospital, Worthington, Ohio.

Besides holding membership in many national and state societies for social workers and clergymen, Mr. Knox has been active in many local civic organizations. He is presently secretary and vice president-elect of the Stoneham Rotary Club; director American Red Cross, Stoneham Chapter; chairman, Professional Advisory Committee, North Metropolitan Homemaker Services; member of Inter-community Coordinating Council of Stoneham; and member of Board of Elders, New England Memorial Hospital, Seventh Day Adventist Church.

The North Metropolitan Homemaker Services provides mature, trained and professionally supervised women who have a genuine liking for people to help families and individuals during periods of stress.

Prior to undertaking assignments in the homes the homemaker-home health aides receive 45 hours of classroom and demonstration training in nutrition, interpersonal relations, caring for children, caring for the elderly, special diets, personal care and budgeting.

Homemaker-home health aides are expected to maintain the household for a temporary period in time of crisis when no other suitable person is available; supervise children when a mother is ill or incapacitated; care for the elderly and convalescent adults; and keep the home in order by doing light cleaning, marketing and meal preparation to enable a wage earner to stay on the job instead of taking time off for family care.

The program has been assigned to the UCS Health Technical Advisory Committee for over-all supervision and technical guidance, but it will maintain close day-to-day liaison with the North Region Division Committee of UCS. Both UCS and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health have collaborated in helping the program to initiate service by providing grant funds to cover its start-up costs.

HOUSEBREAK

The Winchester Police Department was awarded a Federal grant of $28,250 in October of 1970 for the project "Comprehensive Attacks on Auto Theft and Burglary." In connection with this heightened focus on burglary, the Department will present "Housebreak," a column suggesting ways in which Winchester residents may assist these efforts against crime in weeks to come through the pages of The Star. Look for it.

Not all thefts take place while the occupant is away from his home. Occasionally a person will be engrossed in a project in one part of his house as an intruder is slipping valuable through an unlocked door or window in another section.

Even when at home be prepared. Do not leave the door unlocked or ajar. Do not open the door to strangers. Check their identification. Be wary of "wrong number" telephone calls. Often they are made to determine if anyone is at home prior to a breaking and entering.

Sixth Graders At Washington Aid Special Class

Sixth grade classes at the George Washington School have been voluntarily sacrificing their recesses (and sometimes a portion of their lunch period) to work on a one-to-one basis with children in the ungraded, trainable retarded class.

According to Mrs. A. Elizabeth Heiserman, instructor for the special class at Washington, the results achieved this year have been far above all expectations. "It is truly an enjoyable and profitable experience for the children of the class and the teacher."

The daily tutoring sessions of 5 to 20 minutes each have been held throughout the school year. Sixth graders who participated are: Diane Amadeo, Renee Shattuck, Joe Cary, Christine Capocelo, Michael Cavarretta, Elizabeth Claudio, Ginger Chandler, Bobby Blasi, Marjorie Bryant, Janice Gerardi, Gayle Elliott, Joanne Santo, Steven Toomajian, John Scott, Brooke Millward, Deborah Nash, Michele Harris, Paul Smith, Katherine Flavin, Pat Harrington, Gail West, Eileen McCarthy, Karen Sarnie, Pam Penna, Bill Royne, and Donald McKenzie.

Audrey Mortenson, Cathie Baird, and John Murphy are reported to have put a great deal of extra time and effort in the best interests of the non-graded pupils.

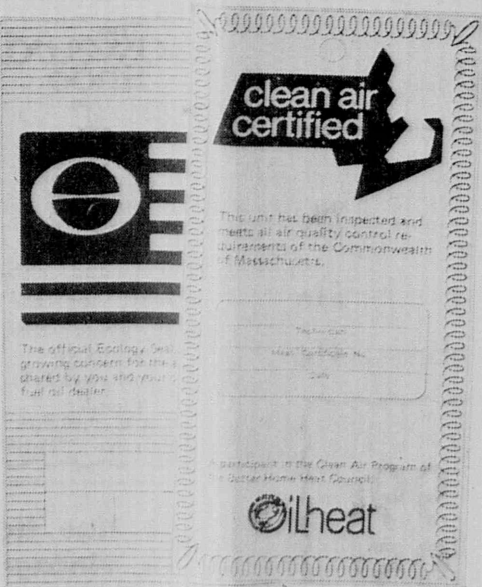

Parents of the special class children have commented on the dedication of the sixth graders to Mrs. Heiserman. They state that it is especially gratifying to them to find so many children who give friendly recognition whenever they meet the non-graded pupils.

The teacher and the children in the trainable class extend deep appreciation to these very generous upper grade pupils.

MRS. THOMAS J. KIMBALL

Performing the service was the Rev. John H. O'Donnell. A reception followed at the Winchester Elks Club.

The bride's beau de soie gown featured an empire waist, high neckline, and floor-length train fastened with a bow. Venice lace and a bow under the bodice provided further accent. A chapel-length bouffant veil and old-fashioned bouquet of white roses and stephanotis tied with floor-length streamers completed her ensemble.

Maid of honor, Miss Janet Connelly of Winchester, selected an empire gown of hot pink silk organza trimmed with lace. Carnations, roses, and stephanotis formed her floral headpiece and old fashioned bouquet.

Bridesmaids, attired as the maid of honor in pale pink, were Miss Mary Ann Kimball, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Joan Connelly, both of Winchester, and Mrs. John W. (Ann) Kimball Jr. of Nashua, New Hampshire. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Jayne P. Canning of Winchester, sister of the bride.

Having the honor of best man was John W. Kimball Jr. of Nashua, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers included Paul Kimball, brother of the bridegroom, Kevin P. Mawn, and Thomas Flaherty, all of Winchester, and Jeffrey Stein of Quincy.

Whitman-Heaton

A marriage ceremony was performed Saturday morning, June 5, in the First Congregational Church for Miss Rhoda Rice Heaton, daughter of Mrs. Virginia R. Heaton of 10 Lincoln Street and the late John L. Heaton, and Paul Beecher Whitman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Whitman of Exeter, New Hampshire.

MRS. PAUL B. WHITMAN

Officiating at the service was Dr. David Kreider. A reception followed at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Heaton III of Lexington.

Escorted down the aisle by her grandfather, Edwin W. Rice of Portland, Maine, formerly of Winchester, the bride appeared in a gown of nylon lace over tulle which she made herself. Embroidered pink daisies edged the hem and waistlines. A lace cap with matching embroidery held her shoulder-length veil in place. White daisies and pink sweetheart roses composed her bouquet.

Maid of honor, Miss Audrey Briggs of Turner, Maine, selected an empire cotton pique gown of pink rosepoint, enhanced at the neckline and short sleeves with lace. A daisy chain headpiece and a basket of pink sweetheart roses and daisies complemented her ensemble.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. John L. Heaton III of Lexington; Miss Mary Whitman of Exeter, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Mary Jane Gray of Melrose. They were attired as the maid of honor in pink and blue rosepoint gowns which they made themselves.

Stephen P. Koster of Chestnut Hill acted as best man. Seating guests were John L. Heaton III of Lexington, brother of the bride; John H. Stiles III of Louisville; Farmer Fuller of California; and Ephraim King of Greenville, Maine.

A graduate of Winchester High School, the bride was awarded her bachelor of arts degree in English from Radcliffe College. She plans to enter the master of arts in teaching program of the Brown University Graduate School this fall.

Mr. Whitman, who received his diploma from Exeter Academy, earned a bachelor of arts degree in economics from Harvard University. He will be commissioned in the U.S. Navy in July as an ensign.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple are residing in Providence, Rhode Island.

Camp Needs Cash, Bicycles, Nurse

Six bicycles, money, and a nurse are needed by a camp serving youngsters from the Columbia Point Housing Project, according to Leon Bennet-Alder of 63 Church Street. Mr. Bennet-Alder is director of the Tufts Columbia Point Health Center. His duties include delivering health services to the 6,000 people in the project through the 170 doctors, nurses, dentists, social workers, and others on the center's staff.

"It's not enough to maintain the health of the youngsters in this neighborhood and then leave them in this ghetto without recreation facilities. They must have a chance to get away from asphalt, concrete, garbage, and depression to a green, open free place with sports and staff," Mr. Bennet-Alder said.

Camp Rolling Ridge in North Andover, under the direction of Frank Meranda Jr., has received most of its money, all of its staff, and most of its equipment, according to Mr. Bennet-Alder.

The camp needs either a registered nurse, licensed practical nurse, or someone expert in first aid. The camp will serve youngsters from 9 to 12 from July 5 through August 14.

Mr. Bennet-Alder has requested that calls from volunteer nurses, or those wishing to contribute bicycles or funds may be made to him at 729-7887 or at his office in Columbia Point, 288-1140.

Meet the real, live Boston

When we drive along Storrow drive in Boston, my wife usually looks up at those expensive apartment houses perched over the Charles River and says after our kids are grown up we should move into the city and live there "because that's Boston. The real Boston."

I've tried to explain to her that Storrow Drive and Beacon Hill and those terribly, terribly smart little shops on Newbury Street aren't the real Boston but only the frills for a fortunate few.

But you can't explain it unless you have seen it yourself, and most of the people living outside of Boston haven't seen it, so I don't try to explain anymore.

Two or three years ago, while on the West Coast, a lawyer learned I worked in Boston, and he said, "When I think of Boston, I always think of Locke-Ober's after the Harvard-Yale game. That to me is Boston."

I said that's nice or something and changed the subject, because anyone who thinks Locke-Ober restaurant is representative of Boston, the real Boston, must also think that Louisburg Square and those Christmas bell ringers are truly Boston. Well, they're not.

When I glance at those arty photo essays about Boston, the photographers have rarely strayed from Beacon Hill and those lovely shadows in the late afternoons on the old houses. They miss the real Boston.

For every resident of Louisburg Square and Storrow Drive, there are 5000 others living in three decker tenements in Dorchester, the brick and cement Columbia Point housing project where some of the obscenities on the walls are misspelled. They live in slums on Worcester St. in the South End and the smell of urine hits you when you walk into the hallway.

And they live in neat and heavily mortgaged Capes, built close together off Roslindale Square, in old Victorian mansions, converted into apartments, on Savin Hill, in rows of tenements in South Boston.

If you want to see Boston, go to the outdoor market in Haymarket Square. But don't go in June, when all the tourists and the amateur photographers are there, because they think the market is cute and just lots of fun.

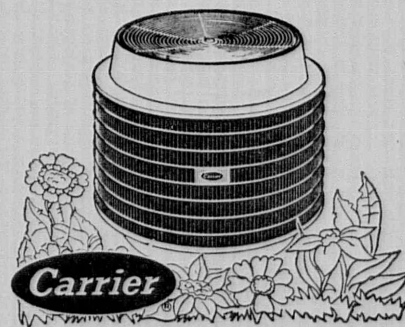

Go on a Friday night in February when the cold is awful, when the guys working the stands — with names like Sal and Moe — put up canvas sheets to break the wind. They burn scraps from wooden crates in big barrels to keep warm.

On a cold night you will see people with old pinched faces shopping at the outdoor market, not because it is quaint, but because they can save a few badly needed dollars until the next Social Security check arrives. They are the true Bostonians, and not those fortunate few who fly to Palm Beach when the weather turns cold.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

by Ann Blackham

How does tight money affect the home-buyer? You'll find that money gets tight whenever the economy is active. Tight money is scarce money. And money becomes scarce when people need it most.

Manufacturers need money to expand their operations. Consumers need money for cars and TV sets. People like you need money to buy new houses.

Where does the money come from?

You borrow it, of course. And as more people borrow, the cost of money goes up. Money, like everything, follows the law of supply and demand. The more you need it, the more expensive it is.

But money is always available for good mortgages. And our homes qualify for the best rates.

INSURANCE INSIGHTS

By Edward R. Ball

What amount of life insurance should you buy?

To determine this, take emergencies into account. Do you have a fund for emergencies? If not, it's generally suggested that you set aside an amount equal to three months' income. You can do this through life insurance.

Financial needs vary from one family to the next. You may have enough medical and hospitalization insurance. If so, you already have part of your emergency fund. But all bills don't always fall under medical plans.

Many circumstances may create a financial emergency. It's difficult to pay extra debts out of a limited monthly income.

One of the advantages of life insurance is that it is a form of saving. Your policy acquires more value the longer you have it. Should you need cash for an emergency, the money is ready and waiting.

Wide Choice Of Dates For Independence Day

"When in the course of human events" Americans celebrate the Fourth of July, they've never been at a loss for words.

But they may be talking about the wrong date.

Independence Day officially is observed July 4, or the following day if it falls on Sunday. It might almost be June 7, July 2, July 8, August 2, November 30, or December 5.

These and other possible dates lay historical claims to the Nation's birthday, the National Geographic Society says.

June 7, 1776, the voice of liberty was first formally heard by the elected representatives of the Continental Congress meeting in Philadelphia. Richard Henry Lee of Virginia put the case:

"Resolved, That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States . . ."

False Prediction

On July 2, the Congress voted approval of the Declaration of Independence. Thomas Jefferson had been asked to draw up John Adams glowingly wrote his wife in Massachusetts:

"The second day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable Epoch in the History of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty.

"It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parades, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other from this time forward forevermore."

On July 4, John Hancock, president of the Congress, signed the authorized version, copies were made and sent to the colonies.

On July 8, the Declaration was first read aloud to the citizenry, a crowd gathered before the State House in Philadelphia.

Agreeably Assenting

On July 9, General George Washington, with his troops in New York, wrote Congress:

"Agreeably to the request of Congress I caused the Declaration to be proclaimed before all the army under my immediate command have their most hearty assent . . ."

His troops assented by pulling down and beheading a statue of King George III, then melting it down into 42,088 lead bullets.

August 2, another copy of the Declaration of Independence — the one preserved in the National Archives — was finally signed by all but a few members, or all those present, of the Continental Congress.

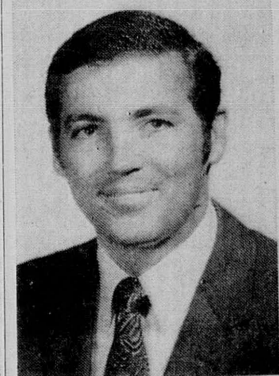

By 1782, after the Redcoats' surrender at Yorktown, American envoy Benjamin Franklin in Paris wrote that the British were "willing to concede almost anything to get home the 30,000 troops who were doing nothing in America at enormous expense. But there were endless complications and delays."

But on November 30 that year, Franklin, John Jay, John Adams, and the King's man signed a preliminary peace treaty in Paris.

Five days later, on December 5, 1782, King George III announced to Parliament that peace had been proclaimed with the American colonies, adding "I declare them free and independent states."

Cardinals Are Overall Cap League Champions

by James R. Stewart Jr.

Coach Charlie Morris of the Cardinal Cap League made good his promise of a championship in 1971 after his team lost out in the finals last year. Despite a drubbing at the hands of the resurgent Apollos 11-0, in the feature game of the final Cap League Baseball schedule, Sunday, the Cardinals posted a 9 and 2 record, best in all divisions for the season.

Fran Murray and Jeff Stackpole fashioned the shut-out pitching for the Apollos, ably assisted by Paul Nowell with the bat, who hit a grand slam in the fourth inning to seal the verdict. Doug Ross' walk in the first, keyed the Apollos to two runs, and it was all down hill from there on.

Defensive stars were Tom Masello at third and strong outfield play by Steve Norris, Paul Kelly, and Jimmy Hudson. The Apollos had started the weekend ominously by banging around four runs in the first inning against the Warriors on Saturday and four more followed in the fifth.

Jeff Stackpole, Paul Nowell, and Bob Lynch engineered the first stanza bombs, while Dave Lawton and Tom Chambers, each with a double, eased the burden for the Apollos pitchers in the fifth. Ricky Norris and Boland made several sharp defensive maneuvers to keep the Warriors from edging closer as the Apollos won out 9-6 despite two home runs by Andy Bowker.

The Yankees did their best to remain with the leaders as they took both weekend games, playing steady, heads-up ball both at bat and in the field. It was plain teamwork that did the trick.

Head Coach Henry Peluso made it a point to tell this reporter that he felt the 8 and 3 record, after beating the Orioles 5-0 on Saturday and blasting the Eagles by 10-2 on Sunday, was not only a tribute to the team players but a kudo to the fine assistants he had, Larry Stoddard, Ed Dukus, and Dick Somerville.

The Hornets also compiled an excellent 8 and 3 record for the season as they outlasted the Eagles 7-5, in eight innings on Saturday and took the measure of the Tigers 7-4.

Sunday's other games showed the Orioles outlasting the Bobcats in a wild one, 15-10, while the Warriors made their season's record 8 and 4 with an impressive 19-3 walk-away versus the Red Sox. In that game, the usual steady pitching of Jeff McGoldrick and Jeff Cahill made the difference as their mates teed off on Red Sox pitching (Cap League, not American League!). Warrior shortstop Charlie Mahoney deserves a line for his fine fielding in this game. And so ends Winchester Cap League for 1971, as plans are already afoot for the 1972 edition!

Women Golfers Open Title Play

This week marks the beginning of qualifying rounds for the club championship among women golfers at the Winchester Country Club. It will also serve as a basis for the annual play for the Spring Cup.

The tournaments will continue until the eventual winners are determined. This is expected late next month.

Afghan Club Match Hosted By The Edgells

Perfect June weather arrived for the May 23 Annual Spring Fun Match of the Colonial Afghan Hound Club held at the Scituate summer home of the Stephen Edgell family of 8 Sheffield West.

Miss Betty Lawrence of Paxton, match chairman, was assisted by a committee for entrees, the ring, refreshments and awards.

Dr. William Moore III of the Moornistan Kennels, Elverson, Pennsylvania, served as judge. Selected best in match was an Afghan Hound owned by Miss Patricia Williams of Weymouth Landing.

A buffet supper followed the judging. With approximately 150 people and 58 dogs present, it seemed to be one of the most successful matches the club has ever held. Dr. Moore praised its location.

More than one million veterans were in job-training or enrolled in schools and colleges this spring under the current GI Bill — a 36 per cent increase over last year.

Winchester Wee Sachems Win Soccer Cup For Area

Winchester's Wee Sachems gained sweet revenge Saturday morning at Boston University Field as they won the Wee Cup of the Boston Area Youth Soccer League by defeating Wellesley 3-0. This victory not only retained the Wee Cup for Winchester but avenged their only loss of the season since the Spitties had defeated the locals 4-3 in the first game of the season. The league awarded each Wee Sachem a trophy to commemorate the championship which was won under a broiling sun on the unprotected Astr-Turf at B.U.

The contest was as closely contested as any one-sided game but as one no score being made until well into the second half, when Will Strazulo bombed a long shot from 20 yards out on the left wing that cleared the leaping Wellesley goalie and landed in the net. Up until this time both teams had several good scoring opportunities, but the defenses foiled each one.

Outstanding while the game was in doubt were center half Chris Morgan and the fine fullback play of John Barous. Chris played himself into virtual physical exhaustion under the hot sun while controlling the play at midfield, while John demonstrated that size is no deterrent to defensive play as time after time he came from nowhere to break up plays that had two, three Wellesley players attacking the Winchester goal with no apparent opposition.

Halfway through the second half the irrepressible Errol Burke took command of the game as he twice went 50 yards with the ball and put the game on ice with soft shots that left the goalie at the other end of the net. Errol controlled the ball for a goodly portion of the game while he was on the field and had soccer balls muttering "that boy is pure dynamite" with his offensive bursts.

Playing extremely well for Winchester were wingers Will Strazulo and Norm Alpert, halfback Frank Stiles, and the aggressive goalie, George Casey, who did not allow a single goal while playing the goal for the major portion of the season.

Following the game the trophy was trotted around the field by the Winchester team which was warmly applauded by the fans of both teams and the members of the older teams which were to play later. Other divisional championships were won by Needham 2-0 over Cambridge in Division B, Wellesley 1-0 over Boston in Division A and Braintree 2-1 over Wellesley in Division AA.

The final overall standings of Division C are as follows:

er teams which were to play later. Other divisional championships were won by Needham 2-0 over Cambridge in Division B, Wellesley 1-0 over Boston in Division A and Braintree 2-1 over Wellesley in Division AA.

The Winchester goal scoring for the season was as follows:

Burke 23, Strazulo 7, Stillman 6, Gajewski 4, Scott 4, Casey 3, Alpert 3, McCroary 3, Barous 2, Driscoll 2, Illinger 2, Burns 2, Cote 1, Waite 1, Mitchell 1.

Reds Divide Maine Games

Although still unable to break into the victory column in the fast Intercity League, Manager George Tello's nine has been showing steady improvement against much more experienced opposition. The local nine is settling down and playing steady baseball and has provided the fans with some interesting games.

Last week's action saw George Tello's team limit the slugger Wakefield entry to three hits, but the three Winchester errors set up all the scoring for the home team. The line scores:

Wakefield 0 0 1 1 0 x—3 6 3

Win.—Greenwich and Swanson.

Wake.—Bugliione and Freeman.

The following evening the Winchester team went to Medford to meet the perennial championship contenders, the Homers.

Tom Anderson, former ace pitcher for Stoneham High, pitched a heady game. He allowed only three hits, but once again a walk and a couple of errors gave the opposition the victory. The game was featured by a long home run into the woods for two Winchester runs. It was hit by Chuck Rotondi, who is fielding sensationally as well as doing his share at the plate.

The line score:

Winchester 1 0 0 2 1 0—4 4 1

Homers 0 0 1 1 0 x—5 3 3

Batteries: W.—Anderson and Swanson. H.—Erickson, Corbett (4) and O'Donnell.

The game played Monday at Manchester Field against Wakefield saw a rally in the bottom half of the fifth inning fall short as a cloudburst drenched players and spectators. Steve Swanson caught.

Len Gentile was the pitcher. The latter allowed only three hits, but two of these were home runs.

The line score:

Winchester 0 0 0 0 2—2 3 2

Wakefield 3 0 0 0 0—6 3 0

The team made its trip to Maine over the weekend and returned home with a win over the Old Town Braves and a heartbreaking loss to the Bangor Brewers in a night game. George Greenwell held the Old Town club to four hits, while his team mates were hanging out 12 safeties. The bulk of the attack was provided by Ron Castignetti, Chuck Rotondi, Steve Swanson, Pete Kelly, Dana Peterson, George Tello, and Sandy Milley. The latter fielded well and did some sensational base running. After the game Coach Phil Stackpole attributed the performance of the team to their great spirit.

Playing at night and under the lights for the first time the Reds dropped a close one to the Brewers.

Senior League Starts Season

The Winchester team in the Northeast Senior League for boys under 18 has finally opened its season. The boys have played three games and have only one tie to show for their efforts even though they have played well. The start of the schedule was delayed by the State high school tourney, which had boys from some of the other teams involved in the title quest.

Both losses were by identical 5-0 scores with Medford and Melrose picking up the wins. The 1-1 deadlock with Tewksbury had an unhappy ending. Ned Keating, on the mound for Winchester, allowed only two hits and fanned 11 of the opposition. In the eighth inning Bob Carroll hit a hard drive down the third base line for an apparent home run, only to have the umpire call the game. He ruled that in the increasing darkness he was unable to rule the ball fair or foul and so the score went back to the end of the seventh inning. It was a disappointing ending for the locals who had played well and had just started to relish their first apparent victory.

Larry Penta twirled the Medford game and held the Mustangs to a single hit over five innings. However, the sixth frame saw four runs cross the plate when a walk and a costly error set the stage for three hits to account for the runs. Medford added an insurance run in the seventh. Winchester outlived Medford, 6-5, but could not make their hits count when in scoring position.

Winchester's entry showed a vast improvement in fielding against Melrose, but the southpaw pitcher for the Raiders was complete master of the situation as he held the locals hitless. The 5-0 setback closed out the first week of action. The boys, all of whom will be back to play for Coach Bill Colella's Sachem nine next season, figure to break into the win column soon.

Len Gentile had control trouble in the fourth inning when walks combined with only one hit provided the home team all three runs. George Greenwell came on in relief and shut Bangor out for the balance of the game.

Sandy Milley turned in a fielding gem and was called out at third base on a disputed play. This bases loaded and might well have been the difference in the final result. The plate umpire called the play. Although it was obvious that he had erred, even to the partisan home crowd, his decision stood and Bangor was declared victorious.

Top State Amateur Qualifier
Winner In Member-Guest Golf

by John F. Parrell

When it comes to picking a partner for the annual member-guest tourney at the Winchester Country Club top honors must go to Bob Zirkel of the local club. His choice was Leo Grace of Charles River. The duo carried off first place by a two up win over Rob Kidder, who went out to Indiana for his partner, W. Welch, who plays at the Old Oakland course in the Hoosier state. However, not only did Mr. Grace aid and abet Mr. Zirkel in the local tourney, but on Monday he carded a 70-73 for a 143 total, which was the best of all golfers attempting to qualify for the state amateur crown. Ken Diskin of Meadowbrook who played with Tom Rawson also qualified with a 153.

The results of the matches:

High Street
Sixth Graders
Mark Graduation

To celebrate the successful completion of their elementary school education, sixth graders at the High Street School were treated to a special "graduation" dinner and a swimming party. Both festivities were arranged by the High Street School Parents Association.

The dinner was held at the school on June 10. Sixth graders, their parents and their teachers enjoyed punch and supper supplied by the parents' committee under the direction of Mrs. Edward Burns. Robert Forrest, principal, chaired the program which followed and introduced the guest speaker, Donald Young, principal of Muraco School. Each member of the class was awarded a special certificate of promotion. The evening concluded with guitar music played by Thomas Witwicki, sixth grade teacher.

On June 16, the class was treated to a cookout lunch and swimming at the Winchester Boat Club. Mrs. Carol Vincent was in charge of arrangements. An afternoon of pool games followed lunch, concluding with a contest between boys and girls to see who could remove a greased watermelon from the water first. Both winners and losers later enjoyed eating the slippery object of sport.

Casablanca is hardly the wild, wicked city portrayed by Hollywood. Buses stop running at 9 p.m. and lights flicker out soon afterward, National Geographic says.

This week we are happy to offer you a double header, one representing a bidding challenge and the other being a problem in play.

♠ A Q J 8
♦ K 9 7 6 5 3
♣ Q 7 6

First, you are sitting South and hold the above hand as dealer with neither side vulnerable. This situation existed on board 30 in Section A of our game on June 16th. It is suggested that you do not read any further than this paragraph at this time. Instead, when you have located your 'favorite partner,' let him or her bid as North on this board.

After your opening bid (as South), West comes in with a call of three spades. Thereafter, the opponents are silent. The North hand is given below. See if your partnership (without peeking at each other's hand) can reach the correct contract.

♠ A K J 9 8

We shall give you our comments on this at the end of the column. Meanwhile, it's time for the problem in play, which has been taken from board 12 in Section A.

♠ A 5

Forget the vulnerability, the bidding, even the opening lead. South is declarer in a contract of four spades. You are asked to show a line of play which will make this contract, and you may assume any (reasonable) line of defense which will make your solution possible. Anyone may enter this contest except the four players actually involved. The first person sending a correct answer to the Star office will be offered a conducted tour of MIT.

As to the bidding problem, we shall not hold you to any single 'correct' final contract. The actual lay of the defensive cards included a doubleton Q 10 of diamonds, which led to final results of seven diamonds, seven clubs, AND seven hearts!

Since a distribution like that cannot be anticipated, give your partnership 'full marks' if you reached a little slam in a minor suit. You rate half credit for a contract of six hearts, although I would not feel too confident as declarer after the obvious spade lead. Give yourself no credit for three no trump, for you will have gone down three and wasted all those beautiful high cards. In the actual field, two pairs did just that and, — get this — at NO table did the bidding go higher than the five level!

The coming of summer weather didn't deter the bridge devotees from their Wednesday night game on the 16th. North-South in Section A's ten tables found the ladies starring again, capturing six of the eight top spots with Dolly Pasquale and Gay Schreiber in first place. East-West Gerry Barrett and Ed Joyce were the winners by a wide margin.

Twelve full tables settled down on the Section B side of the hall. In the North-South field two top tournament players of the area, Carole Benoit and Zavan Garabedian, showed their winning style by posting a fine 70 percent game. East-West, on the other hand, it was a real close race run by the club regulars with Chris and Paul Cowles winning by the proverbial eyelash.

Local Girls
Begin Sessions
At Scout Camps

July means that summer is really here and to the Mistick Side Girl Scout Council it means that it is camp time starting July 4 at Menotomy and Sherwood Forest, resident camps. At the day camps, Rice Moody and Toploft, July 6 is the day.

There is something for every girl, 7 through 17 at a Girl Scout camp. Brownies will attend day camp or resident camp Menotomy in Meredith, New Hampshire; Juniors at day camp or Menotomy, and experienced Juniors at Sherwood Forest in Jaffrey, New Hampshire; Cadettes will attend day camp, Day and Stay Unit at day camp, or both resident camps; and the Seniors will attend day camps as program aides or both resident camps where they have the opportunity to take the counselor-in-training course.

There are qualified adult staff members at all camps but the girls have an active part in planning their own program through the camp council. Girl involvement is not a new concept in the Girl Scouts at the camps the girls can share with adults the responsibilities of planning and carrying out meaningful program.

Attending Toploft for the first session from Winchester are Brownie Scouts Pamela M. Brickley, Marybeth Fennell, Katherine Gibson, Nancy Kaylor, Karin Kreller, Nancy Lane, Elaine Pigott, Diana H. Swanson, Sara Twamley, Caroline Twomey and Carol Vangeli; Junior Scouts Marie Adelsberger, Cheryl Ann Adrian.

At the end of a year, we'll remove the gas burner free, if you're not satisfied. Or, you can stay with clean, dependable gas heat.

We made a lot of new friends with last year's offer. Ask your gas company for a list of people in your area. Again this year, our offer is for real—for a limited time. Take advantage of it before the offer is withdrawn!

I am interested in your gas conversion burner free trial offer. Please give me all the facts as soon as possible.

Dragging For Dragon Goes On

If you wanted to catch the Loch Ness monster, what would you use for bait? This very question was posed by monster watchers to the chairman of the board of International Flavors & Fragrances, Inc., New York, according to the current Chemical & Engineering News.

Intrigued by the thought that some fragrance or taste might be by the monster out, Chairman Henry G. Walter, Jr., took the problem to IFF's chief chemist, Dr. Stanley K. Freeman, who thought it "really not very unusual compared to some of the work that is handed to us."

Dr. Freeman and his associates used a battery of sophisticated instruments to examine water and mud samples from the Loch for traces of pheromones—substances secreted by an animal that stimulate a response in another animal of the same species. None was detected, reports the American Chemical Society weekly.

The researchers consulted the New York Museum of Natural History on what type of mammal or reptile might live in such a location and what his sense of taste or smell might be. Then perfumists, flavorists, and chemists pooled their thoughts and selected materials that might attract such an aquatic beast. One material was an extract from an animal, one was a flavor thought to appeal to fish, and one was a synthetic that had characteristics similar to natural fish attractants.

The attractants were incorporated in a plastic material that would release them slowly. Lures were made, shipped to Scotland, and trolled deep in the Loch. The monster watchers reported some strange underwater swirlings and sonar soundings of rather large objects. IFF researchers are now working on a plastic that will disperse the attractants in hours, instead of days. These will be tried.

Call Mr. Rorer evenings 245-8599 Quick Detection Of Wall Paint Lead Is Possible Lead poisoning in children who live in tenement buildings in large cities is one of today's serious public health problems. Most probable cause of this "disease" is eating lead-containing wall paint. This hazard can be eliminated by removing the paint from the walls or by covering it with a durable and permanent coating. But how can lead paint be readily and economically identified? Environmental scientists Gerard R. Laurer, Theodore J. Kneip, and Roy E. Albert of the New York University Medical Center teamed up with Frederick S. Kent of the city's Department of Health and developed a portable lead-detecting instrument that does not require scraping of paint to obtain samples or complex chemical analyses. These scientists describe this instrument in Science. It contains a source of gamma rays and a germanium detector. Radioactive calcium-109 and its daughter element, silver-109, emit gamma rays that interact with lead atoms and cause them to emit, in turn, X-rays. The germanium detector responds to the rays emitted from the lead and is sensitive enough to detect 3 percent (by weight) of lead per square centimeter of paint in a single coat even when this layer is covered by ten coats of lead-free paint. This new portable detection instrument causes no damage to walls or woodwork; it is safe to operate; and it makes possible quick examination of painted walls where a hazard from lead paint is suspected. |

Most probable cause of this "disease" is eating lead-containing wall paint. This hazard can be eliminated by removing the paint from the walls or by covering it with a durable and permanent coating. But how can lead paint be readily and economically identified? Environmental scientists Gerard R. Laurer, Theodore J. Kneip, and Roy E. Albert of the New York University Medical Center teamed up with Frederick S. Kent of the city's Department of Health and developed a portable lead-detecting instrument that does not require scraping of paint to obtain samples or complex chemical analyses. These scientists describe this instrument in Science. It contains a source of gamma rays and a germanium detector. Radioactive calcium-109 and its daughter element, silver-109, emit gamma rays that interact with lead atoms and cause them to emit, in turn, X-rays. The germanium detector responds to the rays emitted from the lead and is sensitive enough to detect 3 percent (by weight) of lead per square centimeter of paint in a single coat even when this layer is covered by ten coats of lead-free paint. This new portable detection instrument causes no damage to walls or woodwork; it is safe to operate; and it makes possible quick examination of painted walls where a hazard from lead paint is suspected. | TREE SERVICE B & M TREE SERVICE All phases of tree work at reasonable cost Free Estimates Call 665-5238 TAXI SERVICE Green Taxi Service Day & Evening Service Airport Service Flat Rates Please Call 729-3138 WANTED WANTED Antique & Used Furniture China, glass, dolls, jewelry, clocks, oriental items, contents of homes and estates.
